A MOTHER AND HER CHILD BURNED TO DEATH.—We learn from the North Adams (Mass.,) Transcript, that a house on Pearl street, in that village, occupied by Irish families, was consumed by fire on Wednesday morning, and that the wife of Martin Heath, and her child, eighteen months old, perished in the flames. Heath is missing, and it is very strongly suspected that he murdered the woman and child, set the house on fire, and fled. Late in the evening, he was heard by the neighbors quarrelling with his wife, and it is said, was seen to strike her more than once, and she is reported to have been heard to say, "You have killed my child." They were both of intemperate habits, and frequently quaralled. Persons are in pursuit of him.

SENTENCE OF A NAVAL COURT MARTIAL.—Charles Stevens, a seaman on board the U. S. ship Pennsylvania, was recently tried by court martial at Norfolk, charged with assaulting a master-at-arms, while in the discharge of the duties of his office; with using provoking words and menaces; and uttering mutinous words—endeavoring to incite the crew to resistance. The Court found Stevens guilty, and sentenced him to twelve months solitary confinement in the cells of the Gosport Navy Yard, he for thirty days of the term of confinement to be kept on bread and water; to be reduced to the rate of landsman for the balance of his term of enlistment, and to forfeit his pay during the term of his confinement.

The South Carolina Legislature refused to pass the protest against the Compromise measures, which was agreed upon in caucus, to accompany the vote for Pierce and King electors.

George Drager, better known as "Big George," and for the last six years employed in the shops of the Mad River Railroad was killed at Sandusky, on the 18th inst. by the explosion of a barrel into which he had put unslacked lime for the purpose of cleansing it.

AGAIN IN BREECHES.—The New York girl who was noticed about a week since under the names of George Green and Emma Snodgrass, and who donned the pants and was employed for a short time as a clerk in an extensive clothing warehouse in this city, is again in Boston. It will be recollected that a few days since the girl was furnished with proper and comfortable garments, and returned to New York in company with her brother.—On Monday evening Emma, whose surname is not Snodgrass, arrived in this city dressed in a neat frock coat, cloth cap, and black broadcloth pants, and took lodgings at the Washington Coffee House, where she remained until yesterday, when she was identified as the female who was the subject of so many remarks through the papers about a week since. She was taken to the office of the Chief of Police, and last night remained at the house of one of the city officers, who will see that she is again returned to her father's house. What are the motives of the girl for persisting in such improper conduct, has not transpired.—Boston Journal.

A LOST CHILD FOUND.

In Detroit, Michigan, an incident occurred recently, which filled the town with excitement, and called forth many a legend of the kind remembered by the old inhabitants:—

A few boys who had been out on a hunting excursion, called at one of their neighbor's and began shooting at a mark. A little girl about eight years old, who had formerly had an illness that had affected her head, got alarmed at the firing and ran into the woods.

In a short time she was missed, and it was remembered that she had been seen running toward the woods, and consequently a search began; but night came on, and with it rain, which rendered further search for her that night impossible. Morning came, and yet the little wanderer had not returned. Its frantic parents, with one other child, made further search till the sun had passed the hour of twelve, and yet no tidings of the lost one were had. The neighborhood was alarmed, and dogs, horses, and every instrument of the rustic kind, were marshalled for the search; but again night, with its Egyptian horrors, set in, without restoring the little one. Minutes seemed hours with its distracted mother.

At length morning came, and with it a hundred men and boys, who, notwithstanding the still continued storm, went forth into the depths of the woods, in search of the child, with an eagerness that was commendable beyond the compass of words to express; and yet again night set in, and still the lost was not found. What the agonies of the mother were, as the marshalled force returned without her little charge, tears, shrieks, groans, incoherent ejaculations, and a picture of despair, can only portray; words are inadequate. Another dreadful night was passed. An increased force was raised, who marshalled themselves with the dawn of the Sabbath, before the door of the bereaved parents. Prayers were offered to Almighty God, and the aid of heaven invoked to direct in the search. The preliminaries being arranged, a long line was formed upon the section lines, and the march renewed. Hour after hour passed, and not a vestige of the missing was discovered.

Every tree, stump, and log possessing a suspicious cavity, underwent the closest scrutiny; every bush and thicket, thickly foliaged, every fir and cradled knoll, was visited as the band pressed onward. Long and ardent was the search, and many fears for the lost little one were entertained. The sun had far passed the zenith, and was hastening behind the Western hill, when an elderly man and his son, partly discouraged as well as wearied with the search, were drawn as by the hand of an invisible pilot, in an opposite direction, far from the band, and while standing and discoursing upon the propriety of abandoning further search, a distant sound broke upon their ear.

They hastened in the direction whence the sound proceeded, and, having travelled as far as practicable, they halted and listened a few minutes intently; again that sound was heard, and turning a few steps in another direction, what was their surprise, to behold the little object of their search sitting upon the ground, having just awakened, on a bed of leaves, which it had collected by the side of an old log. There the little innocent sat, in her tattered dress; sobs and sighs heaved her little bosom, and large tears rolled down her swollen cheeks.

As she caught the fist glimpse of her deliverers, she asked for something to eat. "Oh," said she, "I have been obliged to go to bed nights without my supper—please to give me something to eat." They took up the little sufferer, and started for home, which was about four miles distant. While passing through a snarl of tall grass, they asked the girl if she passed through any such grass. "O yes," said she, "I have travelled a great way through much taller grass than this—and I would call for my father to come and get me, but he would not; I would then call for my mother to come and get me, but she would not; then I would call for my little brother, and he would not come after me. So I traveled on." On being asked if she slept warm, nights, she said, "yes, but the first night my little brother went to bed with me, and in the night he pulled off all the clothes, and I got cold."

THE ROGER WILLIAMS
COOKING STOVE.
FOR COAL OR WOOD.

THE attention of all in want of a COOK STOVE is respectfully solicited to a consideration of the merits of this most beautifully modeled pattern; equally adapted for coal or wood, and warranted to operate perfectly with either,—which is now offered to the public as the

Most Complete and Efficient

Cooking apparatus ever before introduced in this vicinity. It is an elegant model, with fine smooth Providence castings, fitted together in the most substantial manner. The oven, (by far the most important part of a cooking stove,) in point of capacity, and in regard to its operation, is unsurpassed by that of any other stove now in the market, it being lined with fire-brick to retain and equalize the heat, and provided with valves for the escape of steam, &c. arising from the roasting of meats—rendering it in this respect superior to the old fashioned but universally admired TinKitchen.
The broiling apparatus is constructed on an entirely new and original plan, and will not fail to recommend itself at the first glance, as no smoke or gas arising from that culinary process can escape into the room. The sliding hearth is an improvement not to be found in any other stove.
The popularity of this over all other stoves now in the market, may be inferred from the fact that since its first introduction the last season, over THREE THOUSAND have been put into successful operation in New England and New York City.
Every stove is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction to the purchaser or the money refunded.
Each stove is warranted not to crack for twelve months from date of purchase. It is believed that this stove combines all the improvements that skill can invent, and is by far the most perfect cooking stove ever sold in Portsmouth. And though its price is higher than any other stove offered in the market of late, it is without question the cheapest in the end. All intending to purchase are respectfully invited to give this an examination before purchasing elsewhere.
Also, a variety of Parlor, Cook, Parlor, and Office Stoves, which are offered low.

STANLEY'S Imperial AIR-TIGHT COAL BURNER.

THE above cut represents the most beautiful, durable and economical
STORE, CHURCH OR HALL STOVE
extant. We sold a number of these stoves last season, and they give perfect satisfaction.

The Bay State Stove,
FOR WOOD OR COAL.

THE subscribers are offering this favorite Stove to the public, the present season, would state that a new covered Broiling Apparatus has been added, the flues enlarged for burning anthracite coal, and the Stove otherwise improved—and is now put into the market as in the world. The castings are heavier, more beautiful and durable; the stove has a larger oven, will bake better and with less fuel, than any other stove in use.

These stoves are made from pure metal and are not liable to crack; and we furnish every stove with the best of apparatus—Copper Boiler, &c., and warrant them for one year; should any prove defective it will be made good without charge.
Persons wishing to obtain a good Stove, will do well to buy a BAY STATE. They have been in operation in this city for four years past, and have given perfect satisfaction. For sale at the Store of the subscriber, where may be found a large assortment of COOKING, PARLOR AND OFFICE STOVES, TIN WARE, FUNNEL, &c. for sale cheap for cash. E. A. STEVENS.
Portsmouth, Sept. 9th, 1852.

WHAT-CHEER STOVE.

THE WHAT-CHEER COAL COOKING STOVE, now offered for sale by the subscribers, is acknowledged by all who have examined it to be the best and most economical Coal Stove ever offered to the public.
The castings are heavy, smooth, and very handsome. The Broiling apparatus is a great improvement over all other Stoves, being constructed in such a manner as to prevent the steam from escaping into the room when cooking.
All persons wishing to purchase a COAL COOKING STOVE, are respectfully requested to call and examine the same. Every Stove warranted to work well, or no sale.
We have also a large assortment of COOKING, PARLOR and OFFICE STOVES, &c.—for sale cheap for Cash at our Store,
Corner of State and Water streets,

THE IMPROVED
EMPIRE STATE STOVE.

THIS justly celebrated COOKING STOVE having been improved in every way it could be to make its operations more complete, and its plates beautifully ornamented—no expense, time or trouble having been spared to make this the most complete Cooking Stove ever brought before the public—the subscriber feels assured in warranting the IMPROVED EMPIRE STATE superior to any stove in the market, as hundreds can testify who have used them for the past year.
This Stove has a very LARGE OVEN, which makes it desirable on account of doing more cooking with the same amount of fuel than can be done in any other stove. The flues are large, which ensures a good draft in all cases. The castings are very heavy and smooth, and those parts that come next the fire are extra thick, making it very durable. It is adapted to the use of either coal or wood, and we warrant them to operate as well with one as the other. We furnish them with the very best appanatus; and, altogether, it is the MOST DURABLE, ECONOMICAL and CONVENIENT COOKING STOVE ever made—complete in every respect. We ask the attention of persons intending to purchase a new, or exchange their old stove, to an examination of the Improved Empire State.
We have also on hand a variety of other Cooking Stoves, called the "Banner," "Belle of the States," "King of the States," "Bay State," "Anglo Saxon," "Pearl of Troy," &c.; with a large lot of PARLOR STOVES, such as the Revere Air-Tight, Star, Drum, Cook, Lady Franklin, for Wood or Coal; Shop, Office and Air-Tight Stoves, of different sizes and prices for either wood or coal.
Also an extensive assortment of HOUSEKEEPING GOODS; Wooden, Willow, Glass, Britannia, Japan, Tin, Hard, Enamel, and Brass Ware; Copper, Cast Iron, and Chain Pumps; Window-Shade, Table Oil-cloths, &c.
All the above goods will be sold lower than can be bought elsewhere in this vicinity.

DIALOGUE.

Well! What d'ye think of the New Emperor?

Which?

Why, the Emperor of France. You were thinking of something else.

Yes: I was thinking of the elections on both sides of the water, and did not know which President or Emperor you meant.

Well, I believe they are about equally well prepared for empire in both countries—and this may be said, if it is only uttered by the right man and at the right time.

Now is the time—and the right man is any one who expects no favor from any party.

The following is a report of a portion of the proceedings of the late session of the Legislature of Wisconsin, as given in the Milwaukie Sentinel.

The bill introduced by Senator Allan, on behalf of some of his constituents, exempting a rifle or shot-gun from execution, and which passed the Senate, after being amended, so as to include a powder-flask and a shot-pouch, was taken up in the committee of the whole, the other day, and amended, by including in the exemption a pocket pistol, (restricted to the capacity of a pint,) a brace of pointer dogs, a pair of high boots for wading, and various other things. In this form it was killed, to the great disappointment of the sons of Nimrod, the mighty hunter.

EXTREMES WILL MEET—A RARE SIGHT.—An extraordinary sight, which caused much funny remark and suggested some reflection, was seen in William street at seven o'clock yesterday morning. It appears that a large owl had either become tired "of complaining to the moon," or so disturbed "in its ancient solitary reign," that it determined to fly from the "ivy mantled tower" for ever. It was a bold owl and acted up to its determination. It flew to this city, the busiest haunt of men, and where did it alight? Upon the top of a telegraph pole. There it perched: during the morning the owl looked very staid and solemn, but the spectators thought him in the position he had taken up, the purest specimen of an "old fogie" which they had seen since election day, He was secured by some boys, after much exertion.—N. Y. Herald.

A gentleman in Providence nine weeks since, lost a dog of the King Charles spaniel breed, under the following circumstances: The dog followed him to the Boston depot, and got on board the cars with him for Boston. Just as the cars started, the dog was put out. The dog waited till the next train, and got on board; whether he bought a ticket and had his baggage checked, we are not informed. He was picked up in Boston the next day, by a Mr. A——, and kept for nine weeks. Whether he was satisfied with his quarters or not, is unknown; but last week, the dog unattended by any of his acquaintances, went to the Providence depot, got on board the cars, and returned again to his old master.—Prov. Jour.

Daniel Tucker, who has been so often warned to "get out of the way," is said to have been run over by a train of cars in Arkansas.—Boston Herald.

What, "again?" Why we recollect of writing that same thing about him a year ago, and now he's been under "again!" Old Dan should not only "get out of the way," but stay out.—Lowell News.

"My son," said an old turbaned Turk one day, taking his child by the hand in the streets of Cairo, and pointing out to him, on the opposite side, a Frenchman just imported, in all the elegance of Parisian costume, "My son, if ever you come to forget God and his Prophet, you may come to look like that."

Mrs. Swisshelm says "that a man in regimentals always makes her feel as if somebody had lost a monkey."

In Cincinnati, Mr. Samuel Parker, seventy years of age, has just married his sixth wife. Since his first, he has always married a widow, and never remained a widower longer than six months at one time.

The oldest living printer in the United States, is a man named Carly, in Yorkville, South Carolina; he worked with Ben. Russel on the Boston Sentinel, half a century ago, and he yet sets type by candle light, and is 79 years of age.

Sewing machines threathen to effect a complete revolution in thread and needle operations. About five hundred are in operation in this country—they are ordered faster than they can be made. They are now adopted to sewing boots and shoes.

A man who was severely injured by falling into a carelessly arranged cellar hole in New York, has recovered $4000 damages against the owner of the hole.

It is stated that one hundred families of Methodist Protestants are preparing to go to Oregon next Spring, taking with them the elements of two churches. They are wealthy, and will do a great work for the wilderness.

It is better to sow a young heart with generous thoughts and deeds than a field with corn, since the heart's harvest is perpetual.

DAILY

Morning Chronicle.

PORTSMOUTH:
MONDAY, NOVEMBER 29, 1852.

THE WEBSTER OBSEQUIES.

To-morrow is the day appointed in Boston for the grand funeral pageant in honor of the memory of the late Daniel Webster, who enjoyed the favor of her wealthy and influential citizens to a higher degree than any other man within our knowledge—and whose death is lamented by them with more of truth and sincerity than are commonly found in a public mourning.

Besides the honors paid on this occasion by the numerous civil and military bodies of Boston, and to a great extent of Massachusetts, it is to be honored in a special and extraordinary manner by the attendance, en masse, of the New Hampshire Legislature.—This is, we believe, the first instance of any Legislative excursion beyond the bounds of their own jurisdiction for any purpose.

The railroads between Concord and Boston will give the Legislature a free passage down and up, in a special train run for the purpose, on the morning and evening of Tuesday.—The Sons of New Hampshire will receive them in the State House in Boston, and doubtless entertain them hospitably while there.

There is something very singular in this extraordinary amount of honor paid to the deceased statesman by the democratic government of New Hampshire. Mr. Webster was a Federalist as long as there was a Federal party in organized existence—he was a National Republican while that party had any currency—and was a conspicuous Whig from the day when the party was organized till the day of his death.

The democratic presses and party in New Hampshire profess to be the successors of the Republican party, and have all along professed to believe that there was a great, even a radical difference between them and the parties to which Mr. Webster belonged. Not only so, their partisan artillery has often been aimed at Mr. Webster himself, as an enemy to the country—a friend of her enemies, a Federalist, an advocate of British and Mexican interests, &c. &c. Now one of these two things must be true, either these assertions were false when they were made, or else they are true now. We must not be so misunderstood as to have it supposed we object to honors paid to political opponents! Far from it. We wish rather to express the opinion that nearly all the political oppugnation and objurgation of the newspapers and spouters, is a heap of mere trash. We hope it is not out of place here, to allude to the fact that some papers in New Hampshire accused Mr. Webster last year and the year before, pending an election, of being in some sort of league with Hale and Tuck, in this State, to carry an election. Now an invitation to Mr. Hale, to go to this very funeral, is voted down with contempt in the Legislature.

Was Hale a confederate of Webster then? If so, when did the confederacy cease? Do the Legislature mean now, by going to this parade, to honor a deceased statesman of the federal and whig schools? If so, ought they not also to honor living statesmen of the same kind?

The Concord Capital Reporter takes nearly the same view of this matter that we do. And in the Portsmouth Granite Club, when the question came up, "Shall we dress our Pierce & King flag in mourning for Webster?"—there was a tie vote, and the Chairman gave his casting vote in the negative! All honor to this sturdy old democrat for his bones y and independence. He believed there was some truth in the bad things that his newspapers had been saying about Daniel Webster's politics and morals for the term of forty years. And, so believing, he could not face to the right about so quick, as to mourn in season. But his prospective President went to the real burial as a mourner, on his own account—and now he goes to the Boston funeral parade, as a mourner by invitation of the State.

Mr. Webster's federalism, which was real; his toryism, with which all federalists used to be charged by the Republican papers, of thirty or forty years ago; his whiggery, resting on him to the close of life, offer no obstacles in the way of Mr. Pierce's honor to the deceased. Why? Because he knows that all the changes which have been rung on these words are mere nonsense,—and that Mr. Webster desired the welfare of the country no less than he does. He knows, besides, that half of what the papers have said against himself within a year are false,—and that as large a portion of what his presses have said against his late opponent and former commander, is also false.

To conclude:—we are well pleased to see a disposition to do honor to deceased political opponents, though we dissent entirely from the manner of it in the legislature. And we hope it may lead men of all parties to consider, that, while there will be differences of opinion, there ought not to be any bitterness or hatred in the strife.

MR. POLK'S OFFER FOR CUBA.

We have thought, two or three times, that we would not head another editorial article with the word Cuba, lest our readers might turn away from it as an old story—especially as we did not know that anybody agreed with us, that it is expedient for our government to buy the island if Spain would sell. But within two or three days, documents have been published, showing clearly that President Polk, "taking the responsibility," offered Spain $100,000,000 for the Island, which she promptly refused, and closed the correspondence.

The Boston Daily Advertiser contains half a column of editorial remarks, disapproving the offer, and decrying the purchase, if it had been made.

We have no doubt that Mr. Polk exceeded his constitutional powers when he made the offer; but it should be remembered that he had done the same thing in another form in Mexico, and that Congress sustained him in it! by passing the famous preamble, declaring, that "War exists by the act of Mexico, &c."

Emboldened by such success, Mr. Polk made the offer referred to. If it had been accepted—and if the whigs in Congress and out, had opposed it then, as the Daily Advertiser does now, Mr. Polk would probably have been re-elected—for the popular sentiment is in favor of Annexation and Expansion, by a majority of hundreds of thousands. We do not think it the best policy, in itself considered. But the majority of the voters choose to adopt it—and their will is law in this country. Looking at it in this light, we say again, let our government negotiate, and our merchants and other people pay, for the Island of Cuba—and let us have it in peace, rather than get into a fillibuster war for it first, and then buy it afterwards—(as we did Mexico.)

REV. DR. PARKMAN—No Suicide.—The Boston Times started several days ago a report that Rev. Dr. Parkman committed suicide. Happening to have some personal knowledge of the Dr., we did not believe the report, and did not think it worth noticing.—The Herald of Saturday evening contradicted it by authority.

Let us take occasion to say, that false reports of suicides will continue to be somewhat rife, so long as suicide is regarded as a crime. When it shall be placed to the account of insanity merely, it will lose at once all its mystery and half its horror.

ANOTHER LEMMON FUND.—We have already stated that a subscription to the amount of $5260 has been made in New York to remunerate Mr. Lemmon for the loss of his slaves, freed by the decision of Judge Paine. Another subscription, for the benefit of the destitute negroes, left in a starving condition by their liberation, has been started at the office of the New York Tribune. Seven hundred and fifty dollars had been subscribed on Wednesday.

This is the best slave case we ever heard of. First, the Judge decided as every sound lawyer saw he must do—clearly in accordance with law. Next, the merchants made up a generous purse for the Lemmons. Now the friends of the newly freed women and children give them such "material aid" as their condition really demands.

We have no doubt the generosity of the New Yorkers has saved the Union this time—and would recommend that all such emigrants for Texas should pass through New York.

FRANK PIERCE'S COAT-OF-ARMS.—The Boston Chronicle states that the committee having in charge the building of a carriage for Gen. Pierce, wrote to him to ascertain what was his family coat-of-arms, probably with a view of painting it on the panels of the coach. The President elect replied that the only coat-of-arms which he knew his family ever possessed, was that of his father's shirt-sleeves, in which he fought the battle of Bunker Hill.

The carriage is building at Pittsfield, and will cost $1500.

WEATHER.

We had a Rainstorm here on Friday, P. M., lasting through the night to Saturday morning. On Friday afternoon the air was cool and the rain chilly. But on Saturday morning the air, though filled with rain, was balmy and summerlike, unusually so.

There was quite a jam of floating ice in the Merrimac river, above the Concord free bridge, on Thursday morning.

In New York the rainstorm began on Thursday night at 11 o'clock.

A despatch from St. Louis, Missouri, on Friday, says, we learn from Keokuk, that eighteen inches of snow has fallen in that vicinity. There was a good deal of floating ice, and the river was falling very fast. Ice was also floating in the river opposite this city yesterday.

TO NEW SUBSCRIBERS.—For $2, we will give every person who may subscribe between this time and the first of January, a receipt from the time of subscribing (and paying) to Jan. 1st, 1854.

N. H. General Court—Nov. Session, 1852.

FRIDAY, NOV. 26.

SENATE.—In the Senate, proceedings of no consequence.

HOUSE.—In the House, Mr. Stanley reported reference to the committee on Roads, Bridges and Canals, of the bill entitled "An act to authorise the laying out of one or more highways over the north and south mill-ponds in the City of Portsmouth;" also, reference of the bill entitled "An act to divide the State into Congressional Districts," to the committee having that subject under special consideration.

The bill to amend the charter of the Great Falls and Conway Railroad—ordered to a scond reading and referred to the Railroad committee.

The joint committee presented the arrangements for attending the Webster obsequies.

Another obstruction to the Boston Visit.

Mr. Everett of New London offered the following preamble and resolution:

Whereas, By an act, entitled, "An Act in amendment of the laws in relation to Railroad Corporations," passed June session, 1850, being Chapter 953, section 1st of the Pamphlet Laws, it is enacted "That no person shall be allowed to pass or be carried over any Railroad in this State, without first paying the customary fare; excepting the stockholders at annual or special meetings of said corporations, the officers and agents doing business therefor, and poor persons unable to pay their fares: and

Whereas by the third section of said act, it is enacted, That "any president, director, superintendent, ticket master or conductor, who shall pass or knowingly allow any person to pass or be carried over their road, or furnish any person with a ticket or pass, over their road in violation of the first section of this act, shall be punished by fine not less than ten dollars nor more than one hundred dollars —and

Whereas, an acceptance by us of the offer by Mr. Upham, Superintendent of the Concord Railroad, to the "Executive and Legislative Departments of the government and their officers" of a "free pass" over certain Railroads to and from Boston, would be a direct infringement of the Statute above recited, and now in force. Therefore

Resolved, That we cannot, consistently, and with a due regard to the just observance of the laws of this State, as well as in consideration of the pernicious example of countenancing a breach of the law, accept the "free passes" offered by Mr. Upham, and hereby respectfully decline the same.

Mr. Barker of Westmoreland moved the indefinite postponement of the subject.

Mr. Everett of New London supported his resolution by referring to the Pamphlet Laws, Chap. 953, which provided as specified in the preamble given above, and urging the duty of the Legislature to lead the way in paying respect to its own laws.

Mr Glidden of Unity moved to amend the motion to indefinitely postpone, by substituting a motion to lay on the table.

Mr. Pike of Franklin, and Cragin of Lebanon, severally supported the resolution of Mr. Everett.

Mr. Chase of Conway made a speech, to show that the Legislature, in unanimously committing themselves to certain arrangements, were bound to carry them out in spite of merely factious and frivolous objections.

Mr. Cushing of Charlestown, seeing that an invitation had been extended to the Legislature by an individual—Judge Upham—thought members had no right to interfere with the manner in which that gentleman might purchase the privilege he conferred.

Mr. Everett of New-London, spoke in deprecation of the Legislature conniving at the infraction of a law so evidently binding on them.

Mr. Preston of New Ipswich, thought that as one law had been suspended in connection with this buisness, another (Chap. 963 of the Pamphlet Laws) might be suspended as well. If this was not so, members could go as freight, against which no restrictive laws were in operation to prevent its free transmission, should the officers of Railroads decide in charity it should. This, or the poverty clause, was the only resource of members under the circumstances.

A loose debate ensued—during which it appeared from statements made by Mr. Dodge of Nashua, that the question was only raised in order to show up the narrow system of legislation pursued by New Hampshire, regarding the management of Railroads; and that the implied derelictions of duty charged against Judge Upham had nothing to do with the matter. From subsequent remarks made by Mr. Pike of Franklin, this supposition was pretty clearly confirmed. That gentleman contended that, standing as the law did on the Statute book, members, in accepting Judge Upham's offer, violated, voluntarily, the law, and interfered with the sacredness of the oaths they had taken to observe it in all cases.

The yeas and nays having been demanded on a motion to lay on the table, made by Mr. Bartlett of Portsmouth, they were taken with the following result:—Yeas, 179; nays, 22. Majority in favor of the motion of Mr. Bartlett—167.

Mr. Everett afterwards moved to take it from the table—but the House refused by a large majority. They are determined to go to Boston, without regard to laws.

Board of Prisoners.—A bill to increase the price paid to prison-keepers for board of prisoners, was so amended, (by a vote of 140 to 45,) as to pay 1,75 per week, and then passed to a third reading.

New Liquor Bill.—Mr. Pillsbury of Henniker, introduced a new liquor bill, which he said, had been drawn with an eye to the opinions recently given by the Judges of the Supreme Court of this State, in order that those sections and clauses conflicting with the Constitution of this State and the United States should be stricken out or modified,—and it was otherwise improved. He moved to lay it on the table and print it. The house decided, by a majority of 2 to print it. 78 to 76.

Both houses adjourned to Monday, 3 P. M.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

ALMOST A SAD CATASTROPHE.—The men engaged in blasting rocks for the gas pipes on Market Square, put in one charge which was more powerful than they supposed, and rocks weighing from eight to twelve pounds, were thrown thirty or forty feet in the air, some of them falling directly in front of this office.—A moment before the explosion, several boys were playing where the rocks fell, and if they had remained, we should probably have been under the painful necessity of Chronicle-ing a "sad catastrophe," mournful accident, or something of the sort.

NAVAL.—The ship of the line Franklin has been placed in the floating dock at the Navy Yard in this harbor, and is to be hauled up on the railway immediately.

☞ The Portsmouth Lyceum commences its winter course of lectures, to-morrow evening at the Cameneum. That universal favorite, Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes, is the first lecturer. A few more tickets are for sale.

☞ Quite a smart rumbling noise was heard in various parts of this city, about half-past eleven o'clock on Saturday night—lasting ten or fifteen seconds—supposed to be a shock of an earthquake.

FRAUD.—A gentleman in this city having received a lot of tar last week, on opening one of the barrels, found it to be filled with—mud.

LATEST NEWS!

SAILING OF THE CHEROKEE FOR HAVANA—PURSER SMITH ON BOARD.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.

The steamship Cherokee will sail at 2 o'clock for Havana and New Orleans. Purser Smith goes out in her. Passed Midshipman Davenport has applied for leave of absence from the Navy Department, in order to be at the disposal of the Company during the present trip. Should he receive leave of absence in time he will take the command of the Cherokee; if not, she will sail at the appointed hour under the charge of Capt. Baxter, an officer in the American Navy.

Yesterday evening the Clerks in the New York post office received instructions not to make up any mails for Havana to go by the Cherokee. She takes out no freight or passengers.

A banking house here wished to ship to New Orleans $200,000 in specie, but finding it impossible to get any insurance, held it over.

The Washington correspondent of the Herald states that the Government has determined not to permit officers of the navy to command any of Geo. Law's line of steamers so long as Mr. Smith is retained in the Crescent City.

The Washington correspondent of the Journal of Commerce, speaking of this affair, says that George Law has withdrawn from the public stores 25 or 30,000 muskets, purchased of the government by him.

NAVAL.—New York, Nov. 26.—The sloop-of-war Marion has a crew on board, and is expected to sail for the coast of Africa this week.

The frigate Constitution is awaiting men.

Capt. Mervine, of the Powhatan, has been transferred to the Independence, now equipping at the Brooklyn Navy Yard.

The steam frigate Mississippi was to sail from Norfolk yesterday for Japan. The Powhatan has been substituted for the Princeton, and will sail under command of Capt. McCluney, late of the Mississippi. Capt. Lee, of the Princeton, succeeds to the command of the Mississippi.

[The Princeton appears to be an unfortunate ship. Cannot she come this way and be converted into a proper sea-going vessel?]

SMALL NOTES.—Richmond, Nov. 26th.—The Legislature of Virginia has rejected a bill authorizing the banks of that State to issue notes of a less denomination than $5.

A GIGANTIC RAILROAD SCHEME.—"John Bull" has for once got the start of "Brother Jonathan." The railroad from Halifax in Nova Scotia, to Windsor, opposite to Detroit, is to be built as a government work, and has already been contracted for by an English company, at four thousand five hundred pounds per mile. The road is 1600 miles long, and when finished, will place the western country in close communication with the old world.—The ocean mail steamers will then make Halifax their first point, instead of New York.

Mrs. Smith, (mother of Reuben Smith) 94 years of age, was burned to death in Westfield, Mass. by her clothes taking fire, on Wednesday evening.

A fellow by the name of Dennett, made his escape from the Jail in Dover on Tuesday morning last, by slipping past and turning the key upon the keeper, who had visited his cell for the purpose of conveying him some food. He was pursued, and overtaken.

One of our physicians, says the N. Y. Tribune, asserts that a thousand pounds of opium are sold by retail in this city every week, and that the terrible destructive practice of opium eating is frightfully increasing.

HONORS TO MR. WEBSTER IN LONDON.—A private letter from London says that a meeting was to be held on the 13th, for an expression of respect on the part of the Americans in London, to the memory of the late Daniel Webster.

On the 15th inst., Mr. John A. Mandel, the well known auctioneer, and a resident of St. Louis, went into the printing office of Mr. Wood, situated on the third floor of the building on the northwest corner of Fourth and Pine streets. He was slightly inebriated at the time, and as he approached the stove he stumbled and was precipitated forward, his forehead striking on a sharp projecting corner of a stove, causing his death in about fifteen minutes.

The Boston Times attributes the defeat of the Coalition in this State to the nomination of Mann for the office of Governor by the Free Soilers. It winds up a long Jeremiad with: "A greater piece of electoral folly was never perpetrated since the day on which the bramble was chosen king of the trees."

Is that intended as a side hit at the President elect?—Boston Atlas.

JEREMY TAYLOR suggested that it might be as hard to be born as to die. A great deal harder, if the Whig party is really dead. For it was born with infinite pains, extraordinary efforts, great exhortations, tons of documents, a long and a strong pull. It died without knowing it. And as the Seminoles did not know how to stay whipped, when thoroughly beaten, very likely the Whig party won't know enough to lie still after it is knocked down, nor to stay dead after it is killed.—Banger Whig.

The cotton mills in Amesbury are closed on Tuesday evenings, in season to give the operatives an opportunity to attend the lyceum lectures.

In Great Falls, the lectures are not commenced till after the closing of the mills.

ECONOMY OF TIME.—The favorite motto with Mr. Paradox has always been, "Time is Money." Acting on this principle, he never wastes a single word in conversation. For instance, he meets you in the street, and instead of saying "Good morning! How do you do?"—it is simply—"Morning! Do?" If he wishes to enquire of his wife what she wishes for dinner, he merely says—"Dinner?" And, upon retiring to bed, in lieu of bidding Mrs P. "Good night!" in the customary way, he exclaims "Night!"

Mr. Paradox calculates that he makes a clear saving of thirty days per annum, by this economical system.

A Frenchman giving an account of his travels in the United States, says in a letter, that while on board our steamboats he felt the same degree of security that he would have experienced had he resided in the third story of a house of which the basement was a powder magazine, with the next house burning down.

"Why do you set your cup of coffee upon the chair, Mr. Jones?"

"It is so very weak, ma'am," replied Mr. Jones demurely, "I thought I would let it rest."

THE ROGER WILLIAMS COOKING STOVE.

FOR COAL OR WOOD.

THE attention of all in want of a COOK STOVE is respectfully solicited to a consideration of the merits of this most beautifully modeled pattern; equally adapted for coal or wood, and warranted to operate successfully with either,—which is now offered to the public as the

Most Complete and Efficient

Cooking apparatus ever before introduced in this vicinity. It is an elegant model, with fine smooth Providence castings, fitted together in the most substantial manner. The oven, (by far the most important part of a cooking stove,) in point of capacity, and in regard to its operation, is unsurpassed by that of any other stove now in the market. It being lined with fire-brick to retain and equalize the heat, and provided with valves for the escape of steam, &c. arising from the roasting of meats—rendering it in this respect superior to the old fashioned but universally admired Tin Kitchen.

The broiling apparatus is constructed on an entirely new and original plan, and will not fail to recommend itself at the first glance, as no smoke or gas arising from that culinary process can escape into the room. The sliding hearth is an improvement not to be found in any other stove.

The popularity of this over all other stoves now in the market, may be inferred from the fact that since its first introduction the last season, over THREE THOUSAND have been put into successful operation in New England and New York City.

Every stove is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction to the purchaser or the money refunded.

Each stove is warranted not to crack for twelve months from date of purchase. It is believed that this stove combines all the improvements that skill can invent, and is by far the most perfect cooking stove ever sold in Portsmouth. And though its price is higher than any other stove offered in this market of late, it is without question the cheapest in the end. All finding a purchase are respectfully invited to give this an examination before purchasing elsewhere.

Also, a variety of cheap Cook, Parlor, and Office Stoves, which are offered low.

The Bay State Stove,

FOR WOOD OR COAL.

THE subscriber, in offering this favorite Stove to the public, the present season, would state that a new covered Broiling Apparatus has been added, the flues enlarged for burning anthracite coal, and the Stove otherwise improved—and is now put into the market as in the world. The castings are heavier, more beautiful and durable; the stove has a larger oven, will bake better and with less fuel, than any other stove in use.

These stove are made from pure metal and are not liable to crack; and we furnish every stove with the best of apparatus—Copper Boiler, &c., and warrant them a year; and if any part proves defective it will be made good without charge.

Persons wishing a good Stove, will do well to buy a BAY STATE. They have been in operation in this city for four years past, and have given perfect satisfaction. For sale at the Store of the subscriber, where may be found a large assortment of COOKING, PARLOR AND OFFICE STOVES, TIN WARE, FUNNEL, &c. for sale cheap for cash. E. A. STEVENS.
Portsmouth, Sept. 9th, 1852.

WHAT-CHEER STOVE.

THE WHAT-CHEER COAL COOKING STOVE, now offered for sale by the subscribers, is acknowledged by all who have examined it to be the best and most economical Coal Stove ever offered to the public.

The castings are heavy, smooth, and very handsome. The Broiling apparatus is a great improvement over all other Stoves, being constructed in such a manner as to prevent the steam from escaping into the room when cooking.

All persons wishing to purchase a COAL COOKING STOVE, are respectfully requested to call and examine the same. Every Stove warranted to work well, or no sale.

We have also a large assortment of COOKING, PARLOR and STOVE STOVES, &c.—for sale cheap for Cash at our Store,

THE IMPROVED

EMPIRE STATE STOVE.

THIS justly celebrated COOKING STOVE having been improved in every way it could be to make its operations more complete, and its plates beautifully ornamented—no expense, time or trouble having been spared to make this the most complete Cooking Stove ever brought before the public—the subscriber feels assured in warranting the IMPROVED EMPIRE STATE superior to any stove in the market, as hundreds can testify who have used them for the past year.

This Stove has a very LARGE OVEN, which makes it desirable on account of doing more cooking with the same amount of fuel than can be done in any other stove. The flues are large, which ensures a good draft in all cases. The castings are very thin and smooth, and those parts that come next the fire are extra thick, making it very durable. It is adapted to the use of either coal or wood, and we warrant them to operate as well with one as the other. We furnish them with the Copper Boiler, Funnel, &c., complete, it is the MOST DURABLE, ECONOMICAL and CONVENIENT COOKING STOVE ever made—complete in every respect. We ask the attention of all persons intending to purchase a new, or exchange their old stove, to an examination of the Improved Empire State.

We have also on hand a variety of other Cooking Stoves, called the "Banner," "Belle of the States," "King of the States," "Bay State," "Anglo Saxon," "Pearl of Troy," &c.; with a large lot of PARLOR STOVES, such as the Revere Air-Tight, Star, Revere Parlor Cook, Lady Franklin, for Wood or Coal; Shop, Office and Air-Tight Stoves, of different sizes and prices for either wood or coal.

Also an extensive assortment of HOUSEKEEPING GOODS; Wooden, Willow, Glass, Britannia, Japan, Tin, Hard, Enamel, and Brass Ware; Copper, Cast Iron, and Chain Pumps; Window-Shads, Table Oil-cloths, &c.

All the above goods will be sold lower than can be bought elsewhere in this vicinity.

JAPAN EXPEDITION.

The Exeter News Letter, after giving a table of the names, guns and men of our Japan Squadron, which we publ shed a few days since, remarks,

The above looks very formidable on paper, and the Japanese will no doubt open their eyes with wonder, when they see this powerful fleet approaching Nagasaki. But we are curious to knew by what as yet unpractised tactics a peaceable and permanent communication is to be opened and sustained with this out-of-the-world nation.

Japan is an empire enthroned upon no less than three thousand eight hundred and fifty islands, all of which have been shut for the past two centuries from the vulgar gaze of the "ontside barbarians," excep t the harbor above mentioned, and there strangers are only allowed to land und r certain restrictions.—These islands are inhabited by about thirty millions of people, none of whom have ever understood, or ever dreamed of the nature and worth of "life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness." Such light has never glimmered upon the soul cribbed and confined by the unrelenting and immutable despotism of Japan. The people and rulers are so interwoven with the net-work of government, that both the spiritual and temporal emp rors would fail as readily as the meanest subject, shou'd they make any attempt to subvert the existing laws and customs.

Our fleet will be able to enter and take possession of any harbor in the empire, but we doubt if a hundred such armaments will be powerful enough to compel the natives to enter into a friendly communication with us.—No people in the world fight with greater desperation than the Japanes , none practice more cunning and deception, none are more fixed in their purposes, or more unrelenting in their hostility.

The expedition, it is greatly to be feared, will result in our taking possession of some one of the islands, where we shall be allowed to remain, simply because the natives will be unable to dislodge us, and where all attempts at trade and commerce will be as futile as they have been heretofore.

A more important expedition never left the American shores. It bears the olive branch to a nation more populous than our own, more densely peopled than England, one which cultivated the art and sciences long before Columbus found a path over the ocean, one whose authentic written history runs back more than twenty-five centuries,—an empire exceedingly rich in mineral wealth and abounding in the most agricultural productions, but standing exactly upon the great highway of nations, and calculated by nature as the grand relay station of the world's commerce. The expedition is now the subject of conversation and speculation in every civilized country upon the face of the earth, as it is well understood that its success would be of infinitely greater advantage to commerce al enterprise than the successful termination of Sir. John Franklin's expedition, or any other of modern times.

HIGH LIVING.—The New York Express says, "the prices that are asked, and paid for board in some of the first class up-town hotels, in the city of New York, are such as to make some people stare. Few pay less, we are told, than $25 a week; and one foreign emissary, who has taken rooms for the season, is paying at the rate of $30 per day, besides a very liberal expenditure for the very choicest of antique wines. One gentleman pays $40 per week. The bills of others amount to $200, $250 and $300 per week. The bridal chamber is constantly occupied at the rate of $20 per day."

The Baltimore Clipper remarks on this: "The proprietors of that hotel should have procured a supply of the wines sold last week in this city, at $15 1-2 per bottle. They could no doubt retail them out to their customers for a dollar a drop; as those who would pay the rates named for board, would not hesitate to indulge in wine at that price. Of such people it may be truly said, 'a fool and his money are soon parted.'

DEPOPULATION OF GT. BRITAIN.

The London Times of the 4th of this month, has a leading editorial upon this momentous subject. According to the official quarterly report of the Registrar, there were at least sixty thousand fewer people in the British Isles on the 29th of September than there had been on the 24th of June. In this quarter the births were 151,193, and the deaths 100,497, leaving a balance in favor of the population of 50,696; but in the same period there sailed from the British shores more than 160,000 persons—a fact which implies that the population is decreasing, and that it is decreasing more rapidly than it ever yet increased. A total of some 200,000 or 225,000 a year represented the greatest ordinary amount of gain in this particular, but the loss on the other side is now upward of 100,000 in a single quarter will be left considerably behind by the quarter next to come.

As many men are not employed in the army, navy and militia, altogether as are now leaving England every six months.

A remarkable feature of the event is the diversion of the emigrating stream from the westward to the southward. The population of the American Union is likely to suffer in proportion as what may be some day a New Union is likely to gain. As yet the attracions, principally, no doubt, through family ties, of the United States, still preponderate, and they received 62,579 emigrants out of the 109,236. These, however, were mainly from the port of Liverpool, and the exportations from this quarter consist chiefly of Irish. When we turn to London, which sent forth 21,788, it appears that Australia was the destination of no fewer than 14,956 of the number.

Many large establishments, says the Times, are now, in fact like regiments after a battle, with young hands unexpectedly promoted to the duties of seniors, and vacancies in abundance still. No man can pretend to conjecture where this will end. At every turn and in every department of life we shall encounter the results of a revolution which is almost converting an old country into a young one, which tends to depress capital and elevate labor, which will put prizes at a discount and candidates at a premium, which will abolish the burden of pauperism, extinguish the springs of Socialism, and open fair avenues of advancement to all the middle classes of society. Even if the steam should continue running but for two years longer it will probably deprive Great Brittain of at least a million grown up men, and will create a chasm in the population which ten years of subsequent progress would not fill.—Salem Gaz.

PORTSMOUTH:
TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 30, 1852.

AFRICA.

The continent of Africa must be explored, its rivers navigated by steam, its interior laid open to the knowledge and commerce of the world, its resources developed, its inhabitants civilized and christianized.

In this work the American people have a direct interest, and our government ought to bear an active part. Our former colony (now sister republic) of Liberia, and our Navy, afford us all the facilities we need, for exploring the country, and opening an honest and profitable trade. And through these means, improved as they have been within a few years, we expect to see shortly a large accession to our stock of knowledge about the western shore of Africa, including a goodly slice of the interior, which knowledge will be fruitful in benefits to Africa, and not less so in its benefits to us.

The trip between the United States and Liberia, in sailing vessels, is made in about five weeks; by steam it could be made in two. The colony is indeed but little more remote from us than Liverpool. The fruits and vegetables of this tropical clime may come to usin good order, over this rapid route. And Afric's golden sands, rolled down by her ancient rivers, will probably swell our coffers and increase our trade.

We do not subscribe to Liberia a more important part than she will bear in Africa's regeneration or resurrection. The feelings and views of the ruling powers in this country have changed towards her—and they have changed for the better.

In the early stages of the Colonization effort, the Society which put it forth was looked upon with jealousy, distrust and hatred, by almost the whole South, as it was supposed to be the work of a coalition between the anti-slavery fanatics of the North, and a few misguided or visionary men in Virginia and Kentucky. At a period somewhat later, it was opposed at the North on political, economical and patriotic grounds. The files of the New Hampshire Gazette within the last twenty-five years, contain several long and able essays against the Colonization effort, on account of its abolition and federal tendencies, and the danger to the Union. Other papers of like politics contained similar articles.

But now behold a change. The colony itself has been decried, and the Colonization Society execrated, by the Liberator, the Anti Slavery Standard, and other papers of similar character. And both have been denounced in the strongest terms, by Foster, Pillsbury and nearly all that class of lecturers.

Their enmity, acting with other causes, has secured for the Colony of Liberia and the Colonization Society, the friendship of almost the entire slaveholding interest, which is doubtless the strongest political interest in the country. The leading men in the Southern States are not now afraid of colonization, but look to it as a safety valve for their domectic institution. It has their favor, in Congress and out of it—and although the Ebony Line of steamers has been somewhat ridiculed in the present Congress, it will meet with more favor in the next, unless (as is possible) some costly war project should blow away every valuable scheme of a pacific nature.

We must have more trade with Africa, for which we are better situated than any other country. Whatever may be thought of the Colonization scheme as a remedy for slavery on the one hand, or a support to it on the other, the Colony or State of Liberia is "a fixed fact," and as such is entitled to notice.

President Roberts, its Chief Magistrate, as we learn from a published letter, "recently visited Paris, where he had an interview with Louis Napoleon, who received him in the kindest manner, presented him with a vessel-of-war, and offered him any ammunition, ordnance, or military clothing, that he might stand in need of. The British government also, some time since, presented him with a small vessel-of-war—and both powers have formally recognized the independence of the Republic of Liberia. This duty is yet to be discharged by the United States. Aside from the social and benevolent objects to be accomplished by Lieut. Lynch, his mission possesses interest in a commercial point of view, and will no doubt materially tend to the increase of the trade between Africa and the United States."

Our readers may remember that we published, several days ago, a paragraph stating that the English and French governments had given vessels to Lieut. Lynch. But the above statement is probably correct, and the story about the vessels given to Lt. Lynch is an accidentally perverted statement of it.

It is not to be expected that our Republic will acknowledge the independence of the black republic of Liberia. We have never yet done it for Hayti, and the same reason which prevents the acknowledgement of the latter must also prevent the former, viz.: the fear of having a negro ambassador in Washington.

We have, however, a valuable commerce with Hayti—and we shall have with Africa, even if we do not acknowledge our own fostered colony to have the name among the nations which we know belongs to her.

On this account we rejoice that Lt. Lynch, of the U. S. Navy, the same officer who explored the Dead Sea, is now in Africa or on his way to it. The object of the mission upon which he has entered, under the orders of the government, is to make certain inquiries and arrangements preliminary to an intended exploration of the West Coast of Africa. It is certainly a matter worthy to excite general interest and approbation that the United States have at last determined to investigate the physical character and resources of a country which is rapidly growing into commercial importance, and that so competent an officer has been chosen by the Executive to take the initiative steps in the movement.

THE EARTHQUAKE,

On Saturday night, was likened by some persons in this city, who happened to be up and doing, to the roaring of a chimney on fire—others supposed it to be the heavy rumbling of a loaded wagon over a paved street.

It was supposed by some gentlemen at Kittery Point to be a steamboat in the harbor letting off steam.

The Salem Register calls it a "smart shock," and says, "The rumbling noise and the jarring of the windows and doors were very perceptible for the space, some say, of half a minute. Some faithless ones attribute the shock to the explosion of a powder-mill somewhere."

A lady in Greenland says the earthquake shook her house and those of her neighbors, very sensibly.

The Boston Journal says it was felt at Exeter, where it shook the doors and windows violently, and in one instance jarred down some of the plastering of a dwelling house.

It does not seem to have been felt at Boston.

A very heavy explosion startled our citizens at 25 minutes before 12 o'clock, Saturday night. It came from a northerly direction and was probably from the Exeter Powder Mills, though no former explosion of these mills ever produced here half so severe a concussion, or any thing like the loud and long report and reverberation. After the shock a roar like that of a foul chimney burning, was distinctly perceptible, in doors, for two minutes. The night was still and clear with a light air from N W—ground wet and soft.

If this was not the effect of a great explosion it must have been one of those earthquakes and the most severe of them all, which at irregular intervals from time immemorial have visited the valley of the Merrimac.—Newburyport Herald.

BOSTON MERCANTILE LIBRARY ASSOCIATION.—In addition to the names of lecturers announced to appear before this institution this season, Mr. James T. Fields will probably comply with the invitation to deliver a lecture; subject, "Preparation for Foreign Travel."

We doubt not Mr. Fields will deliver one of the most interesting and popular lectures of the series. He has pronounced two poems and a lecture upon "Books" before the Mercantile Association, and the members of the Society have always evinced deep interest in his public performances.

IMPORTANCE OF A SINGLE LETTER.—We often see something in the political papers about the importance of a single vote. A letter is sometimes quite as important—for example:

An exchange paper informs us that "a happy couple had made themselves ready for the matrimonial joke"—but the editor doubtless wrote yoke, which got transmogrified as above, by the exchange of a single letter. Whatever else matrimony maybe, it is certainly no joke.

HOUSEBREAKING AND ARREST.—Four houses in Newburyport were entered on Sunday forenoon while the familes were at church, and about $40 stolen from one of them. At the last house a young lady heard the movements of the thief, and compelled him to go into the cel'ar, where she imprisoned him till help arrived to take him into custody. He proved to be a lad about 15 years old, named Charles Pearson, residing in Newburyport.

OBSEQUIES THIS DAY.—To-day is devoted in Boston to the obsequies of her eminent adopted and highly honored son Daniel Webster. The Boston papers have abounded in notices. Among them we perceive that the Sons of Maine are to form a distinct body as well as the Sons of New Hampshire.

Matthew Hale Smith Esq. is Chief Marshal of the former, and Marshall P. Wilder of the latter.

CHARLESTOWN NAVY YARD.—The work on the Vermont ship of the line, is progressing rapidly. Three hundred and eighty men are now at work on this ship alone.

The officers and crew of the sloop of war Albany are already on board; the stores, &c., are taken in, and she will be hauled off and take in her powder this afternoon, and probably sail immediately.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

P. & C. RAILROAD TREASURER.—We understand that Samuel Storer Esq., has been appointed Treasurer of the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad, vice Andrew B. Vennard Esq. resigned; also that the Directors are maturing a plan (with an Act of the Legislature for this purpose) to embrace the old proprietors on principles that will be mutually advantagous to them and their new subscribers.

UNIVERSALIST MINISTRY.—We understand that Rev. Lemuel Willis has accepted the call of the Universalist Society in this city to become their pastor, and will commence his ministry here on the first of January.

☞ Mr. D. B. Staples, of Exeter, has sent us a valuable package of assorted candies, of excellent flavor, and of which we here make honorable mention. The cigars we have laid by for an absentee, who, when he returns, will be likely to give them a puff. Mr. Staples may be found at his fine Saloon, under the Squampscot House, with a world of goodies.

SHIP JUDGE SHAW.—The Boston Daily Advertiser says of this ship, which was launched at Eliot Point, near Portsmouth, 23d inst, by Mr. Samuel Hanscom: she is "a fine ship, 690 tons, called the JUDGE SHAW, in honor of the excellent Chief Justice of Massachusetts. This ship is built entirely of New Hampshire white oak, in a style of workmanship that cannot be surpassed. Her capacity for carrying, combined with her sailing qualities, will stand the test of comparison with some of the first clipper ships. She is owned by Matthew Cobb, Esq., Mr. Seth Cushing and others, of Boston, is intended for the India trade, and to be commanded by Capt. Henry Prior, who superintended her building."

LADIES' FAIR.—There is to be a Ladies' Fair at Gunnison's Hall in Kittery, on Wednesday afternoon and evening, got up by the Ladies' Sewing Circle of Kittery Point.

Messrs. Editors:—The collection of "nice young men" in front of Congress Block, is an intolerable nuisance to all passers by, as well as to the occupants of that fine block.—Cannot something be done by our city authorities to prevent the continuance of this crying nightly evil. A CITIZEN.

☞ Under the head of California News, in this day's paper, will be seen an intimation of the death of Mr. George W. Harris. He was a son of Mr. Wm. C. Harris of this city, and a young man of excellent promise.

Rev. A. P. Peabody, D. D., delivers the next lecture before the Biddeford lyceum, on Wednesday evening next—subject, Civilization and its means.

Rev. T. J. Greenwood, of Dover, has received a unanimous invitation to take the pastoral charge of the Universalist Society in Worcester, Mass.—but has declined the offer, and remains in Dover.

FROM HONDURAS—BUENOS AYERS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.

Advices from Honduras, to the 4th, state that the Indians had made an attack on the town of Petun, on the 3d inst., and that the inhabitants, after firing a few shots at the savages, fled in great confusion.

The citizens of all ages and sexes, half clad and without food, were at last accounts indiscriminately huddled together, with the rain pouring upon them in torrents. It was feared that many had been drowned.

At Bacar, on the 30th ult, the Indians were surrounding the town.

It had been raining for fifteen days, and it was supposed that water had fallen to the depth of ten feet on a level.

At Belize, it had also rained incessantly for 23 days. Numerous lives had been lost. The crops and stock throughout the country have been almost entirely destroyed.

LATEST.—The manifestoes issued by the refugees in England relative to the French Empire are couched in very violent terms Much surprise was expressed at their publication in the Moniteur, but it is regarded as a political move and an indication of conscious strength on the part of Louis Napoleon.

Lord Londonderry has written to Abdel-Kader, inviting him to visit England.

The damage done by the inundations in England has caused great delay in transmitting the mails. There have been numerous casualties to shipping along the Irish coast.

U. S. brig of war Dolphin put into Lisbon Nov. 7th for repairs, having thrown overboard all her armament except one gun.

Macon, Ga., Nov. 28.—It has been raining steadily 23 hours. The river has risen 15 feet. Great damage is apprehended.

Louisville, Nov. 25.—Navigation of the upper Mississippi was nearly closed last week. The St. Louis packets are going into their winter quarters. Last arrivals report but three feet of water on bars. The ice is running heavy as far down as Hannibal river, which is falling fast.

TO NEW SUBSCRIBERS.—For $3, we will give every person who may subscribe between this time and the first of January, a receipt from the time of subscribing (and paying) to Jan. 1st, 1854.

LATEST NEWS!

CALIFORNIA NEWS.

ARRIVAL OF THE NORTHERN LIGHT.

The steamer Northern Light arrived at New York on Sunday morning, from Aspinwall Nov. 18, via Kingston the 21st. She brings 240 passengers who were conveyed to the Isthmus by steamers Northerner and California.

The steamer Cortes sailed from Panama on the 7th for San Francisco, with 400 passengers.

The difficulty between the New Grenadian Government and the Catholic Ecclesiastics continues, the civil authorities claiming the right to nominate to vacant curacies, and the clergy contending that the authority is alone vested in the Pope. The Bishops of Carthagena and Pampolena have suspended their functions. The former had arrived at Panama on his way to Peru.

A military police of fifty men had been organized, a portion of whose duty is to escort the treasure across the Isthmus.

The specie entered at Panama during the month of October amounted to $5,200,000.

Several vessels were chartered in San Francisco for the guano trade shortly after the appearance of Mr. Webster's letter claiming the right of the Americans to take guano, but their destination has since been changed.

A number of gentlemen formed an association under the name of the American Russian Commercial Company, for the purpose of furnishing ice for the various ports on the coast and throughout the Pacific. The brig Consort had been despatched for the first cargo.

Shipments of specie during October amounted to $4,679,000. The rainy season had commenced.

The production of the gold mines was steadily increasing. Nearly all mining parties are doing remarkably well. A lump weighing nearly 10 lbs had been found at Mudox. A company on the Mercer had taken out $2,600 daily for 14 consecutive days. The miners at Jacksonville had expelled some Chinese laborers from their diggings.

The U. S. surveying schooner Baltimore, with a party under R. D. Cutts, had arrived on the 21st from Columbia River with dates from Oregon to the 23d October.

The overland Emigrants continue to arrive, nearly all in great distress.

ARRIVAL OF THE GEORGIA.

The steamer Georgia arrived at New York on Sunday afternoon. She brings over $2,742,000 in gold dust, and 190 passengers, among them Senators Gwin and McCorkle.

A returned Californian, named Robert Atwell, was murdered and robbed while crossing the Isthmus.

George W. Harris, of Portsmouth, 3d officer on board the steamship California, fell overboard on her passage down.

The steamer Pacific was seen Nov. 8th bound up. U. S. sloop of war Portsmouth, Commodore Dornin, arrived at San Francisco from Panama on the 20th ult.

LATEST FROM EUROPE.

ARRIVAL OF THE STEAMER BALTIC.

The United States steamship Baltic, from Liverpool the 17th, arrived at New York on Sunday.

The Baltic brings 78 passengers; she has experienced very heavy weather throughout her passage. Amongst her passengers are the Rev. Albert Barnes and family, of Philadelphia; Rev. Charles Hall, of Dorchester, Mass., C. J. McHurly, late Austrian Charge, and Bishop Vandervelde.

Cotton continues depressed. Breadstuffs are buoyant.

United States Consul McCauley, of Alexandria, died about the 1st inst.

Meetings of Americans had been held in London and Paris, in momory of Mr. Webster.

In the House of Commons, on Friday evening, the Chancellor of the Exchequer said, in answer to Mr. Hebert, that he could not fix the time when the papers relative to the North American fisheries would be laid before the House; that the result of the negotiations would be of great commercial advantage.

On motion of Lord [Palmerston, a return was ordered of the number of slaves imported into Cuba and the Brazils.

Mr. Hume complained of the infringement on the part of Spain and Portugal of the treaty for the suppression of the slave trade.

The obsequies of the Duke of Wellington excite the largest share of public attention.—The day, Thursday the 18th inst., was to be observed throughout the country as a holiday. All public offices, &c., will be closed, and business operations of every kind suspended. It is expected to be a most gorgeous affair.

A meeting of the American citizens in London was convened at the legation on the 13th inst, by Mr. Ingersol, for the purpose of uniting in a tribute of respact to the late Daniel Webster. Appropriate resolutions were passed, and it was resolved that the usual badge of mourning be worn for thirty days. About forty persons were present.

Very high floods had occurred in the Thames, the Wye, Severn and other rivers, resulting in much camage being sustained to property in the neighborhood.

FRANCE.—In Paris all is quiet and no enthusiasm is shown for the Empire, although no opposition is manifested.

ITALY.—A letter from Naples dated the 8th inst., states that an American trading ship, on its arrival at Palermo, was suddenly searched by the Police, who supposed she had brought political correspondence. The American Consul at Palermo had written to the American Minister at Naples concerning the matter.

TURKEY.—The Sultan has granted an amnesty to the 1400 families of insurrectionary Bosnians, who fled some months since into Austria.

The U. S. squadron, consisting of the Susquehanna, Plymouth, Saratoga and storeship Supply are still stationed about the Canton estuary, awaiting orders, it is supposed, to proceed to Japan, whither it is said the British ship Serpent will be sent to report their movements, if they go within the present year.

THE GREAT ARE FALLING FROM US.

BY T. BUCHANAN READ.

The great are falling from us—to the dust;
Our flag droops midway, full of many sighs;
A nation's glory and a people's trust
Lie in the ample pall where WEBSTER lies.

The great are falling from us—one by one,
As fall the patriarchs of the forest trees;
The winds shall seek them vainly, and the sun
The winds shall seek them vainly, and the sun
Gaze on each vacant space for centuries.

Lo, Carolina mourns her steadfast pine,
Which, like a mainmast, towered above her realm;
And Ashland hears no more the voice divine
From out the branches of her stately elm.

And Marshfield's giant oak, whose stormy brow
Oft turned the ocean tempest from the west,
Lies on the shore his guarded long, and now
Our startled eagle knows no where to rest.

WOMAN'S RIGHTS.—David Hale, late editor of the Journal of Commerce, once wrote a jeu 'desprit on the "Rights of Women," in which he showed that the balance of wrongs was decidedly on the side of men. When the simple question of superiority is at issue, the men always have to give up. If ladies and gentlemen meet on the sidewalk, who has to turn out? If there are not seats enough for all in the company, who has to stand up? When there is danger to face, who must go forward? If there is curiosity to gratify, who must go behind? If there is too much company for the first table, who eats at the second? Who has always the right hand and the most respectable position? We could mention a hundred other cases, in which on the simple question of right, every thing is yielded to the woman.

But there are many cases in which the condition of men is still worse. For instance, if on any public occasion, a pew at a church, or a seat anywhere, be occupied by men ever so respectable or aged, a smirkly little beauty trips along and presents herself at the top of the seat, and they must all jump up and clear out as if they had been shot. Especially ought it to be noticed, that, when matrimonial negotiations are made, the whole burden of performing the delicate and often very embarrassing part of making proposals is thrown upon the men, while the women sit and say no, no, no, no, as long as they like, and never say yes, until they have a mind to.—Savannah Repub.

AN AFFECTIONATE CAT.—Instances which prove the affection of dogs for their masters are numerous, but cats are regarded as a treacherous and inconstant portion of the brute creation. Recently a girl of fifteen died in this city. She had a favorite cat, which during her whole sickness was her companion, and which lay in her arms when she died. It was given to a neighbor friend, but from the day of her death, it refused to eat, and no inducements to frolic seemed to give life or energy. It steadily pined away and died. We vouch for the truth of this, and it proves that even cats remember the hand that has been wont to feed and caress them.—Cleveland Her.

THE ROGER WILLIAMS COOKING STOVE.

FOR COAL OR WOOD.

THE attention of all in want of a COOK STOVE is respectfully solicited to a consideration of the merits of this most beautifully modeled pattern; equally adapted for coal or wood, and warranted to operate successfully with either,—which is now offered to the public as the

Most Complete and Efficient

Cooking apparatus ever before introduced in this vicinity. It is an elegant model, with fine smooth Providence castings, fitted together in the most substantial manner. The oven, (by far the most important part of a cooking stove,) is unsurpassed by that of any other stove now in the market, it being lined with fire-brick to retain and equalize the heat, and provided with valves for the escape of steam, &c. arising from the roasting of meats—rendering it in this respect superior to the old fashioned but universally admired Tin Kitchen.
The broiling apparatus is constructed on an entirely new and original plan, and will not fail to recommend itself at the first glance, as no smoke or gas arising from that culinary process can escape into the room. The sliding hearth is an improvement not to be found in any other stove.
The popularity of this over all other stoves now in the market, may be inferred from the fact that since its first introduction the last season, over THREE THOUSAND have been put into successful operation in New England and New York City.
Every stove is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction to the purchaser or the money refunded.
Each stove is warranted not to crack for twelve months from date of purchase. It is believed that this stove combines all the improvements that can be invented, and is the most perfect cooking stove ever sold in Portsmouth. And though its price is higher than any other stove offered in this market of late, it is without question the cheapest in the end. All intending to purchase are respectfully invited to give this an examination before purchasing elsewhere.
Also, a variety of cheap Cook, Parlor, and Office Stoves, which are offered low.
J. E. CHAPMAN,
n23 Daniel st, Sign of the big Coffee Pot.

STANLEY'S Imperial AIR-TIGHT COAL BURNER.

THE above cut represents the most beautiful, durable and economical
STORE, CHURCH OR HALL STOVE
extant. We sold a number of these stoves last season, and they give perfect satisfaction.
Four sizes of this capital article in store, and for sale at MORRISON'S, n9 15 Daniel st.

The Bay State Stove,

FOR WOOD OR COAL.

THE subscriber, in offering this favorite Stove to the public, the present season, would state that a new covered Broiling Apparatus has been added, the flues enlarged for burning anthracite coal, and the Stove otherwise improved—and is now put into the market as in the world. The castings are heavier, more beautiful and durable; the stove has a larger oven, will bake better and with less fuel, than any other stove in use.
These stoves are made from pure metal and are not liable to crack; and we furnish every stove with the best of apparatus—Copper Boiler, &c., and warrant them a year; and if any part proves defective it will be made good without charge.
Persons wishing for a good Stove, will do well to buy a BAY STATE. They have been in operation in this city for four years past, and have given perfect satisfaction. For sale at the Store of the subscriber, where may be found a large assortment of COOKING, PARLOR AND OFFICE STOVES, TIN WARE, FUNNEL, &c. for sale cheap for cash. E. A. STEVENS.
Portsmouth, Sept. 9th, 1852.

WHAT-CHEER STOVE.

THE WHAT-CHEER COAL COOKING STOVE, now offered for sale by the subscribers, is acknowledged by all who have examined it to be the best and most economical Coal Stove ever offered to the public.
The castings are heavy, smooth, and very handsome. The Broiling apparatus is a great improvement over all other Broiling Coal Stoves, and in such a manner as to prevent the steam from escaping into the room when cooking.
All persons wishing to purchase a COAL COOKING STOVE, are respectfully requested to call and examine this Stove. Every Stove warranted to work well, or no sale.
We have also a large assortment of COOKING, PARLOR and STORE STOVES, &c.—for sale cheap for Cash at our Store,
Corner of State and Water streets,

Wholesale and Retail Warehouse.

THE IMPROVED
EMPIRE STATE STOVE.

THIS justly celebrated COOKING STOVE having been improved in every way it could be to make its operations more complete, and its plates beautifully ornamented—no expense, time or trouble having been spared to make this the most complete Cooking Stove ever brought before the public—the subscriber feels assured in warranting the IMPROVED EMPIRE STATE superior to any stove in the market, as hundreds can testify who have used them for the past year.
This Stove has a very LARGE OVEN, which makes it desirable on account of doing more cooking with the same amount of fuel than can be done in any other stove. The flues are large, which ensures a good draft in all cases. The castings are very heavy and smooth, and those parts that come next the fire are extra thick, making it very durable. It is adapted to the use of either coal or wood, and we warrant them to operate as well with one as the other. We also furnish with the very best apparatus; and, altogether, it is the MOST DURABLE, ECONOMICAL and CONVENIENT COOKING STOVE ever made—complete in every respect. We ask the attention of all persons intending to purchase a new, or to change their old stove, to an examination of the Improved Empire State.
We have also on hand a variety of other Cooking Stoves, called the "Banner," "Gem of the States," "King of the States," "Bay State," "Anglo Saxon," "Pearl of Troy," &c.; with a large lot of PARLOR STOVES, such as the Revere Air-Tight, Star, Revere Parlor Cook, Lady Franklin, for Wood or Coal; Shop, Office and Air-Tight Stoves, of different sizes and prices for either wood or coal.
Also an extensive assortment of HOUSEKEEPING GOODS; Wooden, Willow, Glass, Britannia, Japan, Tin, Hard, Enamel, and Brass Ware; Copper, Cast Iron, and Chain Pumps; Window-Shads, Table Oil-cloths, &c.
All the above goods will be sold lower than can be bought elsewhere in this vicinity.

GLEANINGS FROM PUNCH.

THE (DANCING) MASTER OF FRANCE.—Certainly the patron saint of Louis Napoleon's late progress must have been St. Vitus, for in almost every town he stopped at the ceremony of his reception ended with a dance. In fact, his "progress" was a series of hops, and the chief steps taken to ensure its success were those of the polka, gallop or quadrille. Evidently His Highness wished to "dance into good favor," and to show his faithful subjects that he had the ball completely at his foot.

REVOLUTIONARY FLOWERS.—The Augsburg Gazette says:

"An Englishman who had purchased a boquet and fixed it in his breast, was arrested by the gendarmerie, who probably regarded it as a political emblem."

No doubt of it: the flowers were heartsease, and what right has any man in Augsburg to wear in his bosom one morsel of heartsease?

PROPHETS AT FAULT.—The discovery of the Australian gold fields, we had been led to expect, would occasion much change; whereas, the fact is, that everybody complains of a scarcity of silver.

A SAIL AND A SELL.—It is a very lamentable fact, that whenever a Government screw steamer gets out to sea, there is almost always a screw loose. It cannot be said that the builders play the game of fast and loose, for however loose the screw, the steamer is generally anything but fast.

A LONG SITTING.—Sir Harry Inglis has calculated that, to the opening of the present Parliament the Speaker has sat in his chair "no less than 13,000 hours!" Terrible to think that, after such long sittings, so very little has been hatched.

MOTTO FOR THE PRESIDENT. Si vis bellum, para pacem. Anglice.—If you wish war, prate of peace.

A FALSE REPORT.—Major Beresford, says the Herald, is not going to Jamaca. All the better for Jamaca, says Punch!

ABD-EL-KADER AT THE MADELEINE.—Abd-el-Kader has visited the Madeleine, where were exhibited many precious relics treasured by the priests, with which he was duly affected. One of the most precious was the broken oath of Louis Napoleon, in a phial of very good spirits. Among the relics were, also, the skull, with a deep sabre cut in it, of Liberte—the blood-soaked blouse of Egalite—and the heart, with a musket ball in it, of Fraternite!

A SUBJECT FOR SCRUTINY.—It is a remarkable fact which has lately been recognised in the building of steam vessels, that the power of more than a hundred horses may be centered in a single screw.

AN IDEA WORTHY OF LAMB.—The best motto that the Australians could adopt at the present moment is, Revenons a nos Moutons.

AN AUSTRIAN HEAVEN.—An Austrian, upon being asked for a definition of Paradise, said, "I believe it to be a kingdom where you can travel backwards and forwards without a passport."

GREAT TAILORING ESTABLISHMENT.—An interesting spectacle was witnessed last Wednesday evening, at the extensive clothing warehouse of Hanford & Brothers, No. 29 Park Row, by a few invited friends, on the occasion of the distribution of eighty turkeys to the cutters of that establishment.

At 6 o'clock, every man took possession of as good a gobbler as Westchester county affords, with evident satisfaction. An appropriate address was delivered by Mr. West, editor of the Commercial Advertiser.

Hanford & Co. are the most extensively engaged in the clothing business of any firm in the country, employing, constantly, from 6000 to 7000 hands, mostly sewers, and their sales amount to $1,000,000 annually. Besides their buildings of seven stories in Park Row, they have two in Pearl street. Not less than 2500 garments are manufactured daily.—N. Y. Jour. Com.

VISIT OF THE LEGISLATURE TO PORTSMOUTH.—Were the members of our State Government better acquainted with the commercial capital of our State, they would not only be influenced to do us justice in their proceedings, but would also carry home impressions of the position and facilities of the only seaport of the State, which would be favorable in a business point of view. We hope the Concord Railroad will promote their own interests as well as the interest of this city, by extending to the Governor, Council and members of the Legislature, an invitation to pass over the road on some occasion when the interests of the State would not suffer thereby. We have no doubt that, aside from the members from Rockingham and Strafford counties, not one out of four of the members of our Legislature for the last ten years, has ever visited Portsmouth.—Journal.

NEW YORK CRYSTAL PALACE.—The committee appointed in Boston, to aid in promoting the objects of the exhibition of manufactures to be held at New York in May next, at the Crystal Palace now building in that city, met on Saturday last, and Samuel Lawrence, Esq., was chosen chairman. The committee consists of Messrs. Lawrence, T. J. Stevenson, Marshall P. Wilder, George S. Hillard, James W. Paige, Otis Tufts, and Nathan Hale.—Boston Advertiser.

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.

PORTSMOUTH:
WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 1, 1852.

To New Subscribers.—For $3, we will give every person who may subscribe between this time and the first of January, a receipt from the time of subscribing (and paying) to Jan. 1st, 1854.

MAGNETIC WONDERS.

The New York Tribune states that singular results are obtained in that city from a very simple application of the nervous fluid, animal magnetism, or whatever be the agency, to brute matter. It says that let a party of six or eight persons sit around a common pine table for twenty minutes to half an hour with the palms of the hands held flat on the table; it is not necessary that their minds should pay any attention to the process, or the ordinary conversation be suspended; but presently the table becomes so charged with the mysterious fluid that it begins to move; then rise from it, push away your chairs, still holding your hands near, though it is not necessary to touch it, and it will turn around from end to end, and even proceed rapidly about the room, without any visible agent, on which excursions the persons must bear it company, or the current is broken and the movement stops. This simple experiment may easily be tried; it requires no faith and no outlay of physical or moral strength; and the res: lt, with a table that is not too heavy, is pretty sure to follow; at least, the editor of the Tribune has known of several instances in which it has been most astonishingly produced. The fact, when scientifically established, must throw light on the obscurities of Mesmerism, Spiritual Manifestations, and all that unexplored class of phenomena.

We have read the above with some interest, supposing the facts here stated will help to show the connexion between animate and inanimate matter—that is if they are facts. But we read them also with another kind of interest—for they put us in mind of an old musical and humorous friend, long since deceased, who used to give an account of his experiment with an owl. In company with some ladies when G. was present, a gentleman read a newspaper scrap, which said that an owl perched on a stake or bush would always turn his eyes towards a gunner when he approached him, and if the man walked round and round, the bird would follow him with his eyes without turning his body, till he twisted his neck and killed himself. Some of the ladies believed it, and some didn't—and finally one of them asked G., who was a great sportsman, if he believed it. G. answered yes; and said he had tried it. This waked up all the ladies, and they all spoke at once, "Do tell us all about it!" "Well," said G., "it's soon told. I saw a great grey owl on a dead limb one morning, just about sunrise, and thought I would try it, so I walked up to him and he looked me full in the face, and I began to walk round with the gun in my hand; and when I had gone round about ten times, my own head was so dizzy that I couldn't tell where his was—but I believe he stood still and looked about the same as ever."

MASSACHUSETTS.

The Coalition of Freesoilers and Democrats, which has borne rule in Massachusetts for two years past, has been defeated and broken up, no more to be gathered.

It has been broken in pieces by a variety of causes, the last, but by no means the least, of which is the liquor law,—to repeal which the Boston Chronicle was established. This paper has been edited with much tact and talent—has been earnest, unscrupulous, almost reckless in its course,—and has aimed at only one object, viz. to break down that law. In effort to do this, it has incidentally played into the hands of the whig party, and restored it to power. It claims a majority of repealers—how truly we cannot say—but time will show. We do not suppose the vast numbers of temperance men in that State will see their Law repealed without a struggle. And it is now quite certain that the liquor dealers of Boston will defend their traffic to the last extremity. The January session of the legislature in that State, will be one of great interest,—for it is held in the great liquor-mart of New England, and every influence of trick and talent that money or flattery can buy, will be put forth to repeal the law and save the traffic from destruction.

The Illegal Excursion.—The Boston Daily Advertiser, after noticing our General Court proceedings about the Free Pass law, says, "The objection seems to have been considered frivolous, although it is not easy to see how it was not valid, unless it is assumed that the legislators are above their own laws."

Cuba.—The papers publish a letter from President Fillmore to Collector Maxwell, of New York, in which the president takes strong ground against the course of Mr. Law. Spain, he says in effect, has the right to say upon what terms foreign vessels shall enter her ports; and if Mr. Law loses his vessel while violating these laws, he cannot claim damages from the United States.

N. H. General Court—Nov. Session, 1852.

(Abridged from the Patriot.)

Monday, Nov. 29.

The Senate met at 4 P. M., and adjourned to Wednesday at 10 A. M.

The House met at 3 P. M.

Mr. Wiggins reported verbally that the committee had waited on Gen. Pierce, and invited him to attend the Webster obsequies with them, but he had desired the committee to present to the House his grateful acknowledgements for the honor conferred upon him, and to express his regrets that engagements, not within his control, would prevent him from participating in the solemn ceremonies.

The new Liquor Bill was taken from the table and read for information—and after some debate read a second time and referred to the committee on the Judiciary. [An abstract of it, published in the Patriot, seems to us not materially different from the one passed by the House last June, except in three or four particulars, where it is varied to avoid the objections and opinions of the judges.]

At half past four, the House adjourned to Wednesday at 10 A. M.

JOHN QUINCY ADAMS

IN FAVOR OF BUYING CUBA.

It seems, that in entertaining the wild idea of buying the Island of Cuba, we are getting into distinguished company. We have already alluded to the fact that President Polk proposed to give Spain $100,000,000 for it. Now it appears from official documents that Mr. Monroe, when president, made a similar proposal, (without naming any price,) and that John Quincy Adams, then Secretary of State, drew up some able documents thereon.

The Boston Chronicle remarks,—J. Q. Adams must hereafter be considered as the first Cuban annexationist. He declared, in 1822, that, within the period of half a century, "the annexation of Cuba to our Federal Republic will be indispensable to the continuance and integrity of the Union!"

☞ The obsequies of Mr. Webster were performed yesterday in Boston, according to the programme. A gentleman who was present, states that the procession was supposed to be three miles long, occupying one hour's time in passing a given point. The display was solemn, inposing, and grand, beyond any thing of the kind ever seen there.

A child about a year and a half old, was strangled to death, on Saturday, by the meat of a nut, in Newburyport.

MARBLE WORKS.

The advent of the iron horse, if it does not make everybody "dwell in marble halls," seems likely at least to gratify the desire of every tidy New England housewife for marble mantels. Thanks to steam and railroad locomotion, these indispensable features of parlor elegance can now be supplied in Boston, in genuine reality, cheaper than those patent imitations of varnished iron and slate, the lustre of which is as transitory as it is brilliant.—One will be convinced of this by going through the extensive marble works of Mr. A. Wentworth, on Haverhill street, between the Maine and Fitchburg depots.

To accommodate his growing business, Mr. Wentworth has just erected a large and lofty additional building, fronting on Beverly street, and making his works extend through from one street to the other. In the new building he employs for almost all his various operations, machinery driven by a steam engine of 40 horse power, which turns out the work both more rapidly and better done than by the old hand process. This establishment taxs the quarries of both hemispheres for the finest kinds of marble, from the vestal purity of the snowy Italian, through all the deliciously tinted, veined and clouded varieties—the mausoleums of extinct races, and those strange natural mosaics, which though once nothing but wreck and rubbish—the pebbles, snails, slugs and reptiles of the ante-mosaic creations, having been petrified and cemented by countless ages, are now polished to reflect the very eyelashes of living beauty.

In the neatness and novelty of his patterns, both for domestic and monumental purposes, Mr. Wentworth keeps pace with the taste of the times. It must be worth the while of any one dealing in this line, before purchasing elsewhere, to visit these extensive works of a substantial, enterprising, perpendicular Bostonian, and see what can be done.—Boston Transcript.

DENTISTRY AND DENTAL SURGERY.

The successful advancement of the above branches have within the last few years, more than kept pace with those astonishing improvements which have distinguished the present age. Formerly, we thought ourselves fortunate if a defective tooth was safely extracted or its decayed cavity secured from the encroachment of that severe and unpitiable pain, the toothache. It seemed also impossible for invention or the appliances of art to furnish even a temporary supply for those unsightly vacuums, which so embarrass as well as disfigure the appearance of the mouth. Things are now quite different. We saw a few days since a complete set of artificial teeth for both the upper and lower jaw, imbedded in a gold plate and constructed on the principle of atmospheric pressure. They were executed by Dr. Cummings, the celebrated and well known surgical and mechanical dentist, 23 Tremont Row, and formed one of the most beautiful specimens of dental mechanism we have ever seen. They are used not only for purposes of mastication, but are so constructed as to entirely restore a defective enunciation, and to render articulation easy and distinct. The assiduity with which this eminent practitioner has applied himself to the development of dental science, is deserving of the highest commendation.—Boston Traveller.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

LOCAL—THE CHRONICLE.

The Boston Times of yesterday morning, pays us the following high compliment:

"The Portsmouth (N. H.) Daily Chronicle is one of the best local papers in New England. It does not run all over the world picking up long details of news published considerably in advance by its more fortunate city contemporaries, but confines itself almost wholly to domestic matters of interest to its immediate neighbors and to the sons of the town and the State abroad. It ought to be well patronized."

While thanking our democratic friends for so flattering a notice, we must beg to explain a little. While we are endeavoring to make ours "one of the best local papers," we hope not to be left behind in the news department—though 'tis true we do generally steer clear of the "long details of news"—preferring rather to give an epitome of all sorts.

While we have our hand in, we may as well let our readers see what the joker of the Charlestown City Advertiser says of us:

Biography.—A contributer to the Portsmouth (N. H.) Daily Chronicle, who signs himself "Uncle Toby," has given several chapters concerning King Solomon, the son of David, with whose actions and motives he seems to be well acquainted. Of course Uncle Toby must be the "oldest inhabitant," to be posted up on matters and things so far back. Why don't he get out an autograph edition of Solomon's works?—Charlestown City Advertiser.

☞ On Monday afternoon, fire accidentally caught in the attic of a boarding house near the Portsmouth Steam Mills. It was subdued without an alarm. Damage trifling.

Ho, All Ye Weary!—We noticed the arrival yesterday of an enormous load of chairs—upwards of four hundred—drawn by four horses all the way from Fitchburg, Mass., at Porter's chair establishment in Ladd street.

Sheep to the Slaughter.—On Monday afternoon an endless drove of sheep passed our office—600 in number—for home consumption. They were driven from Maine.

Removal.—We regret to learn, says the Concord Journal, that the Rev. Mr. Whittemore of Stratham, though a young man, is obliged to suspend his ministry, if not abandon it, in consequence of ill health, and intends removing to the West, where for a time he proposes entering upon some secular calling. We hope he may be able soon to return to his chosen profession, for which he has so many qualifications.

OUR INTERIOR CONNECTION.

We were just thinking of penning an article in relation to this important matter, when the following met our eye. The subject is worthy of consideration, and demands immediate attention:—

Railroad to Dover and Great Falls. The Dover Gazette of Saturday says, "the present arrangements of Railroads have not been and are not now such as to accommodate the ordinary business relations between this town and Great Falls and Portsmouth. The lateral influences turn every thing to Boston and defeat our own section of its just and natural advantages. We have long thought that a new railroad direct from Great Falls through Dover and Portsmouth, would be, under proper influences, very good paying stock, would unite these towns in bonds of friendship, develope their resources, and promote their growth. Who will move in the matter?"

The Portsmouth Gazette states that an enterprise is projected to construct a railroad from Portsmouth to Dover, and thence in a direct line to Great Falls. The length of this line will be about 15 miles. From Portsmouth to Dover the route has recently been carefully surveyed and the cost of completing the road is estimated at $2050,00. The particulars of this survey and estimate we will give next week. From Dover to Great Falls, by a line passing west of Garrison Hill, the cost of the road is estimated at $75,000.

The advantages of the proposed road are palpable upon the most casual glance at a map of the country. At Dover connexion will be made by the Cocheco Raiload with the Winnepisseogee Lake, and ultimately with the Boston and Montreal Railroad at Meredith, and so with Haverhill, Ogdensburg and the West. At Great Falls the proposed road will connect with the Great Falls and Conway Railroad, leading North, and with the York and Cumberland Railroad leading through Alfred, Gorham, &c. to Portland.

All these routes will thus substantially terminate in Portsmouth, or rather will lead through Great Falls, Dover and Portsmouth, by the Eastern Railroad to Boston. With these facts in view, the interests of all those places seems to demand the immediate construction of the road. The stockholders of the Eastern Railroad must also see that the proposed route would bring over their road an amount of travel and transportation that will with prudent management make their stock the very best in the country.

We understand that the project is received with great favor in Great Falls and Dover, and we hope that it will receive the careful attention of our citizens.

U. S. Ship Portsmouth.—A letter from this ship, dated San Francisco, Oct. 24, notices her arrival there on the 21st,—and rejoices over the new law providing double pay for officers and men while on that station. The officers of the Portsmouth are—Thomas A. Dornin, Commander; Lieuts., Wm. H. Ball, Wm. A. Parker, Jas. W. Spotts; Purser, Horatio Bridge; Surgeon, Isaac Brinckerhoff; Lieut. Marines, Freeman Norval; Acting Master, T. Pattson; Assistant Surgeon, Samuel F. Coues.

Religious Intelligence.—It has been stated recently in some newspapers that Rev. Edward Beecher, D. D., of Boston, had accepted the Presidency of Cleaveland University, in Cleaveland Ohio. The Daily Advertiser is authorised to say that this statement is incorrect.

Hon. John P. Hale.—The Patriot states that Hon. J. P. Hale intends to go into the practice of law in Concord, in connection with Asa Fowler, Esq., soon after the expiration of his term in the Senate.

I would call the attention of the citizens of Portsmouth to the doings of the Honorable Mayor and a part of the Aldermen, which may be seen on the easterly side of the Court House lot. Since the days of the building of the tower of Babel, I do not recollect a more marked resemblance of wisdom, than is manifest in the monument raised by the above-named honorable board. Such skill and wisdom ought not to be confined to a small city, but should be extended to the head of government, where such able talents may find room for a more general developement.

Fellow citizens! Shall we not use every effort against all opposition that may be raised by the opposing party, to continue these frugal, wise and calculating men in office? C. Robinson.

LATEST NEWS!

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—By an official announcement it appears that Capt. Upshur died at Spezzia on the 4th Nov.

The Secretary of the Interior to-day awarded the contract for executing the brick work for the Capitol extension, to Frederick Burshe, at $2,49 per thousand, being the lowest bid. The requisite guarantees and evidences of responsibility having been given. The number of bricks to be laid has been estimated at twenty millions. The contract will therefore involve the expenditure of $50,000.

Fourteen out of twenty Clerks who have been engaged for two or three years past in compiling an index to the claims, were discharged to-day. The reason assigned being the completion of the work.

Baltimore, Nov. 29.—The storm has been severely felt in Georgia. Rain fell two days in succession, and much damage was apprehended. All travel has been suspended through the damage sustained by the railroads.

A report was current at Richmond that the Hon. William R. King, Vice Presiden elect, was dead, but the papers considered it untrue.

Great alarm exists here on account of an outrage committed by rowdies. So insecure are the streets at night that evening services have been abandoned in some churches.

A gentleman named McCormick, whilst walking Liberty street with some ladies, was attacked by a gang of row ies, one of whom he shot with a revolver. His companions retreated, bearing him off.

Cincinnati, Nov. 29.—The steamer Boston, from New Orleans to Louisville, was sunk near Smithland on Thursday. Total loss. No lives lost. The boat was worth $30,000. Insured for $25.000. She had a valuable cargo which was in part saved.

A party of about 40 persons returning from an Irish funeral on horseback at Louisville yesterday, racing, came up with Dr. J. W. Campbell, of that city, who was riding into town. He was knocked down and himself and horse killed. One of the party has been held to bail for manslaughter.

Syracuse, Nov. 29.—Rev. Samuel J. May preached a sermon on Daniel Webster, denouncing him as licentious and intemperate. His remarks were very severe.

Charleston, Nov. 29.—The recent heavy rains have caused a great Freshet in the rivers in Georgia, which have greatly obstructed the mails. All news is received by Telegraph.

The Camden train on the South Carolina Railroad was precipitated over a bank near the Watertree Culvert, instantly killing the venerable Col. Richard Singleton, and his grandson Robert Devereaux, and bruising many others.

Hon. W. F. DeSassure was to day elected United States Senator from South Carolina, until the 4th day of March next.

New York, Nov. 28.—U. S. surveying sch. Corwin, Lieut. Craven, arrived to-day from a cruise off Hatteras, where she had recently placed a bell buoy.

A Havana correspondent of the Newark Advertiser says the Cubans are beginning to import Indians from Yucatan, who are hired out for a term of years, and are treated as slaves.

Philadelphia, Nov. 29.—The first train through to Pittsburg on the Central Railroad went over the road yesterday in 18 hours from Philadelphia. Express trains will hereafter go through to Cincinnati in 39 hours.

DISCHARGED.—In the Police Court, on Saturday, in the case of J. M. Marston, charged with the violation of the liquor law, by selling beer, the defendant was discharged. Neither of the witnesses were ready to swear that the beer they drank was intoxicating. And as the Government put in no evidence to show that part, of course he was discharged, This, we suppose, will fully open the beer taps in this city.—Lowell News.

The Boston Saturday Evening Gazette informs us that the Hutchinson Family have made a large fortune in California. A fortune that exists on paper only, as the Hutchinsons have not been there.—Lowell News.

The other day a fatal affray occurred in New Salem: one Whitney stabbed a man named Weeks in the abdomen, instantly killing him. The parties had been to work in a saw mill, and at the close of their day's labors, Weeks attempted to get Whitney to wrestle with him, and on the latters' refusal, hard words and blows ensued, when Whitney drew a knife and stabbed Weeks. Both parties were drunk.—Lowell News.

THE VERMONT LIQUOR LAW.—The Vermont Legislature, before adjourning on Wednesday last, passed a liquor bill on the Maine Law principle, with a proviso that it be submitted to the people in March, and if sustained by them, that it shall take effect in December of next year.

"IN THE NAME OF THE PROPHET, FIGS!" Bark "What Cheer," Baker, from Smyrna, Sept. 14, arrived at Boston, on Sunday, with twenty-three thousand drums of figs, also a large quantity of other fruit.

THE LAST RAT STORY.—The Wilkesbarre (Pa.) Gazette, relates the following story, which it has from a gentleman in that vicinity, who had been seriously plagued by rats about his barn, all attempts to catch them proving fruitless:

The trap used was made of wire, and was so constructed that on a rat entering and nibbling at a bait, the trap would spring and cage the intruder. The man upon frequently finding the bait gone, concluded he would watch the trap. Soon half a dozen rats made their appearance, and among them one that seemed to have more years than the others. He advanced slowly and cautiously towards the trap, and when the others would make a move as if intending to rush to the bait, the old fellow would wag his tail, and they would fall behind him.

After viewing the trap closely, the old fellow approached the back part of it, and getting on it, shook the raised part until the trap sprung, and then put a paw through one of the openings between the wires, and taking the bait off, made his retreat with it. Our neighbor determined not to be out-generaled by a rat, set a common trap in a keg, and covered it with Indian meal. In due time the old culprit entered the keg and was secured.

ANOTHER CAT STORY.—While reading in the Traveller of the 1st instant, an account of the sagacity and affection of cats, I was reminded of an illustration which I witnessed some time since in a provision store in this city, and with which I was much amused. An old cat belonging to the store had one or two kittens, which were about half grown, and which afforded a great deal of amusement. The old cat readily appeared to act upon the principle of training up her little ones in the way they should go in the provision store. One day I noticed one of the kittens approaching a window at which was a quantity of birds and other meats usually kept on sale. She reached the window, and had raised herself upon her hind legs, in order to get on a slab in the window, when the mother cat, who was at the other end of the shop, and had been watching very closely the little one's movements, ran instantly to the window, and with a stroke of her paw against the hind legs of the kitten, knocked it down instantly upon its side, and completely defeated its thieving intentions. I never saw the kitten after that attempt to get upon the window.—Boston Traveller.

THE ROGER WILLIAMS COOKING STOVE.

FOR COAL OR WOOD.

THE attention of all in want of a COOK STOVE is respectfully solicited to a consideration of the merits of this much beautifully modeled pattern: equally adapted for coal or wood, and warranted to operate successfully with either,—which is now offered to the public as the

Most Complete and Efficient

Cooking apparatus ever before introduced in this vicinity. It is an elegant model, with fine smooth Providence castings, fitted together in the most substantial manner. The stoves, by far the most important part of a cooking stove, in point of capacity, and in regard to its operation, is unsurpassed by that of any other stove now in the market, it being lined with fire-brick to retain and equalize the heat, and provided with valves for the escape of steam, &c. arising from the roasting of meats—rendering it in this respect superior to the old fashioned but universally admired TinKitchen.

The broiling apparatus is constructed on an entirely new and original plan, and will be found to recommend itself at the first glance, as no smoke or gas arising from that culinary process can escape into the room. The sliding hearth is an improvement not to be found in any other stove.

The popularity of this over all other stoves now in the market, may be inferred from the fact that since its first introduction the last season, over THREE THOUSAND have been put into successful operation in New England and New York City.

Every stove is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction to the purchaser or the money refunded.

Each stove is warranted not to crack for twelve months from date of purchase. It is believed that this stove combines all the improvements that still can invent, and is by far the most perfect cooking stove ever sold in Portsmouth. And though its price is higher than any other stove offered in this market of late, it is without question the cheapest in the end. All intending to purchase are respectfully invited to give this an examination before purchasing elsewhere.

Also, a variety of cheap Cook, Parlor, and Office Stoves, which are offered low.

extant. We sold a number of these stoves last season, and they give perfect satisfaction.

The Bay State Stove,

FOR WOOD OR COAL.

THE subscriber, in offering this favorite Stove to the public, the present season, would state that a new covered Broiling Apparatus has been added, the fines enlarged for burning anthracite coal, and the Stove otherwise improved—and is now put into the market as in the world. The castings are heavier, more beautiful and durable; the stove has a larger oven, will bake better and with less fuel, than any other stove in use.

These stoves are made from pure metal and are not liable to crack; and we will furnish every stove with the best of apparatus—Copper Boiler, &c., and warrant them a year; and if any part prove defective it will be made good without charge.

Persons wishing to obtain a good Stove, will do buy a BAY STATE. They have been in operation in this city for four years past, and have given perfect satisfaction. For sale at the Store of the subscriber, where may be found a large assortment of COOKING, PARLOR AND OFFICE STOVES, TIN WARE, FURNACES, &c. for sale cheap for cash.

E. A. STEVENS.

Portsmouth, Sept. 9th, 1852.

WHAT-CHEER STOVE.

THE WHAT-CHEER COAL COOKING STOVE, now offered for sale by the subscribers, is acknowledged by all who have examined it to be the best and most economical Coal Stove ever offered to the public.

The castings are heavy, smooth, and very handsome. The Broiling apparatus is a great improvement over all other Stoves, being constructed in such a manner as to prevent the steam from escaping into the room while cooking.

All persons wishing to purchase a COAL COOKING STOVE, are respectfully requested to call and examine the same. Every Stove warranted to work well, or no sale.

We have also a large assortment of COOKING, PARLOR and STORE STOVES, &c.—for sale cheap for Cash at our Store,

THE IMPROVED

EMPIRE STATE STOVE.

THIS justly celebrated COOKING STOVE having been improved in every way it could be to make its operations more complete, and its plates beautifully ornamented—no expense, time or trouble having been spared to make this the most complete Cooking Stove ever brought before the public—the subscriber feels assured in warranting the IMPROVED EMPIRE STATE superior to any stove in the market, as hundreds can testify who have used them for the past year.

This Stove has a very LARGE OVEN, which makes it desirable on account of doing more cooking with the same amount of fuel than can be done in any other stove. The flues are large, which ensures a good draft in all cases. The castings are very heavy and smooth, and those parts that come next the fire are extra thick, making it very durable. It is adapted to the use of either coal or wood, and we warrant them to operate as well with one as the other. We furnish them with the very best appanatus; and, altogether, it is the MOST DURABLE, ECONOMICAL and CONVENIENT COOKING STOVE ever made—complete in every respect. We ask the attention of all persons intending to purchase a new, or exchange their old stove, to an examination of the Improved Empire State.

We have also on hand a variety of other Cooking Stoves, called the "Banner," "Belle of the States," "King of the States," "Bay State," "Angio Saxon," "Pearl of Troy," &c., with a large lot of PARLOR STOVES, such as the Revere Air-Tight, Star, Revere Parlor Cook, Lady Franklin, for Wood or Coal; Shop, Office and Air-Tight Stoves, of different sizes and prices for either wood or coal.

Also an extensive assortment of HOUSEKEEPING GOODS; Wooden, Willow, Glass, Britannia, Japan, Tin, Hard, Enamel, and Brass Ware; Copper, Cast Iron, and Chain Pumps; Window Shade, Table Oil-cloths, &c.

All the above goods will be sold lower than can be bought elsewhere in this vicinity.

FACTORY LIFE IN RUSSIA.

An artisan who has worked in Russia, thus writes to the Preston Chronicle on the factory system :—

I will begin with the masters They are generally shaveholders, and can buy or sell any number of slaves. They are obliged to feed them, but that is all. They can please themselves whether they give the slaves any wages, and if they ask for any, they can flog them for doing so; they have no alternative but to submit. Some of the shaveholders who have no manufactories will give their slaves a passport to work elsewhere, but they must pay him so much per year for that privilege, and he can call them at any moment he may think proper, and they are bound to obey. The food for the slaves, is black bread and salt, with soup three times a day; but I have been told that the officials or the men placed over them, will eat the beef and skim the fat from the top of the soup, and the slaves dare not complain. If you go into a shop and ask the price of any article you may wish to purchase, they will ask you three times as much as they intend to take, and if you are a foreigner, they will cheat you if they can. I come now to the work-people. It is the custom here to work day and night.

I have had an opportunity of seeing the French and Belgian work-people, but I must say that one Russian will do as much work in the same time as any two men from the above mentioned countries. They appear to do their work cheerfully, and appear contented; but I do believe that if the people were free to-morrow there would be nothing but bloodshed. They must first educate the people; most of them can neither read nor write. They are generally very badly clothed, having little more than a coat made of sheep skins. Since I have been with them they have been very civil and kind. It is customary here to have soldiers at the mills; some four and some six, their duty being to examine every one of the work-people before they leave the mill. It is also their duty to flog any one with a birch rod. If a person has to be flogged, there is a man to each leg and arm; he is laid upon his belly upon the ground, and receives his quota on his bare flesh; and if the flogger does not do his duty he gets the same number.

The slavery in Russia, as we have commonly learned it from books and well informed letter writers, is that of serfs, attached to the soil, and not to be alienated from it. We apprehend, therefore, that the "artisan" is mistaken in some particulars. It is rather a remarkable view he takes of a people who are now "very civil and kind," and who "appear to be cheerful and contented," that they should do nothing but shed blood if they were made free to-morrow! There are some strange philosophers abroad, and the "artisan" seems to be one of them.

AIMING AT EMINENCE.—Do not trouble yourself about "rising to eminence." If, in consequence of your writings or your deeds, you should become eminent, very well; but to do anything for the sake of "rising to eminence," is unworthy of a man. Very comfortable and very noble lives are led in obscurity. Moreover, true eminence is not attainable by any man who places it before him as his chief object, because that indicates an inherent weakness of character.—Home Journal.

In consequence of the pressure of the crowd at Chelsea Hospital on the 13th, to view the lying in state of the Duke of Wellington, two women were killed. Many other persons suffered severely. Notwithstanding this accident, it was computed that 50,000 persons were admitted to the view on the 15th. As many as 900 policemen were present, to prevent accident.

PRESTO, CHANGE.—In France, the inscription of Republique Francaise is beginning to disappear from the public monuments, and, from frequent practice, the labor of effacing is very light.

DIDN'T READ THE PAPERS.—In one of our churches, yesterday, an incident occurred, somewhat out of the usual line of devotional proceedings: An old lady from the country was listening with great attention to a sermon on the death of St Stephen, by the pastor, who was more than usually eloquent. At the end of the sermon the old lady inquired of her next neighbor, "Who is that he says was stoned to death?" "St. Stephen," was the the reply. "You don't say so? Why, we never heard a word of that before, but we live in the country, and don't take the papers, and half of the world might be dead before we'd hear it. Was it in New York it happened?—there's such rowdies there!" She went home determined to read the papers, particularly the deaths and marriages.—Eagle, 22d.

PORTSMOUTH:

For the Chronicle.

Recollections of Old Acquaintance.

BY UNCLE TOBY.

TRADERS IN OLD PAVED STREET.

Among the Traders in the Old Paved Street were a group of three who sold Dry Goods, or as they were then more ostentatiously styled, European and India Goods, in three contiguous stores. One of them is still living, and therefore his name need not appear, but there is no harm in saying that by his diligence, taste and skill, he made a fortune in his business, which he yet enjoys, and shows no marks of age. At the next door, in open and earnest, but honorable competition, stood the words, "DRAPER, European and Indies Goods," on a beautiful scroll sign—and within the door smiled and bowed a model salesman, of elegant form and fascinating manner, answering, strange to say, to the same name. Hardly a case besides, can Uncle Toby remember, where a man and his occupation bore the same appellation. Carters rarely drive carts; Millers rarely tend mills; and Turners and Salters and Hoopers and Coopers do not commonly pursue the trades whose names they bear. But Uncle Toby's boyish mind regarded this sign with admiration, and deemed the name an emblem of the trade, till after years dispelled the illusion.—Next door to him, early and late, year in and year out, stood HENRY HAVEN, whose place of business was a One Price Store, in advance of the times, and a model for all times, and whose self, as a trader, was above all price.—He was never rich, he had a large family, and was one of the best of husbands and fathers; occupying, with his household, a dwelling contiguous to his store, and forming a part of it, after the English fashion; by which arrangement he was literally always at home and always in his shop, except on Sundays, when he and his were as punctually at church. In this way he lived in his family and for them; and was happy; but with their many wants, his moderate gains rose but just above the level of a living business—yet there was not money enough in the street to buy him, nor lucre enough in the trade to tempt him aside, out of the path of rectitude. Let no trader smile nor customer frown—it is absolutely true that he had but one price for his goods, that he never urged any one to buy them, and that he never urged any one to buy them, and that he waited on all who entered, in their turn, without regard to any other distinctions. A child, coming in when he was at leisure, was served as well as the parent would have been. And the best customer he had could get no better service than to wait his turn, and pay the stated price. No "chints" was warranted and yet had the colors washed out. No tricks or shams were used by him to make goods sell—of course little fault was ever found with him or what he sold. His shoes, of which he sold a great many, were every pair ornamented with a printed stamp, or label, then rare, since common, and now obsolete. His bore the words, "Shoes made and warranted, by Samuel Brimblecom, Lynn." Nothing was said about rips mended gratis; but who ever heard of their ripping? The faithfulness of the maker, and the honesty of the seller, made the wearer safe as to the soundness of the understanding.—Uncle Toby's juvenile shoes of blue and yellow, green and red morocco, all came from this quarter, and glorious were they in his eyes. (Bad luck to the thief that stole the last pair forty years ago!)

No riches nor long life were the rewards of the good shopkeeper. And is this all? Does an honest man, pre-eminently honest, have nothing better than to live and love, and toil and die? Can it be true that honesty is the best policy? Alas for these questions,—honesty is no policy at all. Honesty is its own reward, when a man is really honest—and when he is not, the policy by which he appears to be so, in the hope of reaping some reward, becomes gross hypocrisy,—of a different sort to be sure from that which makes long prayers and disfigures its face—but its object is the same—to be seen of men—and it has its reward—but it is not honesty. This life of honesty and love and toil, however, was all he had, (aside from blissful hope, of which we will not speak at large.) But let us suppose it otherwise, and that he had died rich. Ah! to die rich is simply to leave our wealth behind us, for heirs we know not who, to use it for we know not what. Life must have some better purpose than to pile up gold or grasp all the soil—and that purpose is to be happy in being good. This was attained in the honesty, steadfast and unimpeachable; in the kindness, firm and calm, which sustained the temper and ruled the life of Henry Haven, the model shopkeeper of the Old Paved Street. Would there were more like him! the world might not be richer than it is now—but it would be better, and must be happier.

SCHIEDAM SCHNAPPS.

A correspondent of the Boston Chronicle, who seems well posted up in the liquor trade, informs the public that these same Schiedam Aromatic Schnapps are an arrant humbug, being nothing more nor less than good Holland gin. Two or three old ship masters have told us the same story. The correspondent shows up the thing thus:

"It is stated that they are put up in bottles, in Holland, and so imported into this country. Was there ever a more monstrous falsehood told! Gin, and these Schnapps are nothing more nor less, cannot be imported into the United States in packages containing less than ninety gallons. An importation in packages containing less quantities subjects the same to forfeiture, and the vessel and cargo also. That some smuggling of gin is done in bottles, no one doubts; but there is not a dealer in the country that dares advertise gin as imported in cases; all know too well the consequences of such an act.

These same Schnapps, alias gin, are sold at $12 per dozen, $1 per quart, when a first rate article of gin can be obtained of any respectable dealer, for 95 cents to $1.35 per gallon, according to the brand, the virtues of which are probably infinitely superior to the article which Udolpho Wolfe imposes upon the community. Again—Schnapps, a favorite drink with the Dutch, is a mixture of gin and bitters, a very pleasant beverage."

We don't profess to understand this matter—but presume the Boston Chronicle knows all about it.

The correspondent, in closing his article, says,

"Out upon such humbugs, the true and legitimate offspring of the Maine Liquor Law. It was in Maine, soon after the passage of the Law that these same Schnapps were first heard of."

The last quotation is remarkable, if true.—For its truth we cannot vouch—indeed we can hardly believe it.

☞ The Boston papers of yesterday contain long descriptions of the Webster Obsequies on the day before. The eulogy by Mr. Hillard is highly spoken of, and is really eloquent.

The Daily Advertiser says, the procession consumed rather more than an hour in passing each point on the route. The number of persons in the column—exclusive of the military, cavalcade, and those in carriages, by actual count amounted to more than two thousand. The number in the cavalcade was about four hundred, and in carriages between two and three hundred. Including the military therefore the whole procession probably numbered not far from four thousand. It proceeded generally in good order and without confusion, and its quiet passage was observed by the spectators in solemn silence.

The Times says, "The Webster obsequies, yesterday, were very near a decided failure.—Apart from the solemn nature of the occasion, it was, in view of what we were led to anticipate, intrinsically a melancholy demonstration."

The order of the "Lone Star" has now been instituted, as we learn from the New Orleans papers, in every State and Territory of the United States, excepting Texas, and measures have been taken for the immediate institution of the order there. The Canadian papers state that the Order has been established at Montreal and Quebec, with subordinate lodges in other parts of the Provinces in full correspondence with the parent clubs in the United States.

These Lone Star Lodges, are nests of fillibusters and sympathisers, bent upon revolution and annexation; and doubtless embody a very large number of men, and can command large sums of money for their adventurous projects.

George Wilkins Kendall, of the New Orleans Picayune, is about to marry and retire to his vast sheep-raising farms in Texas. Kendall has surely seen the world, and a little more; is about 48, and possesses a fortune of $100,000.

[Better late than never, perhaps—but a man of 48 ought to be looking round after his grand-children.]

NOT DEAD YET.—A number of the whig papers insist constantly that their party is neither dead, nor as we have stated, disbanded. Among them is the Dover Enquirer, which speaks of the overturn in Massachusetts, and remarks:

Thus does old Massachusetts, which, since Mr. Webster's 7th of March speech, has been to all intents and purposes a locofoco State, wheel once more into line and take her place at the head of the Whig column, to be followed in good time by a noble phalanx of other Whig States. The Whig party is neither dead or disbanded.

SHIP FLEETWOOD.—"This beautiful ship has loaded her entire cargo, in Davis & Co's line for California, in the short time of five days, and is now full; is completely rigged, sails bent ready for sea. She lies at Long Wharf, Boston. Her between decks are finished equal to any cabin. From San Francisco she will proceed to Shanghae for a cargo of tea, directly to Boston.

A despatch from Detroit states that Gen. Cass has expressed his determination, in no event, to accept a seat in Mr. Pierce's Cabinet. It is not very probable that he will be tempted to depart from this resolution.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

TO NEW SUBSCRIBERS.—For $3, we will give every person who may subscribe between this time and the first of January, a receipt from the time of subscribing (and paying) to Jan. 1st, 1854.

PORTSMOUTH LYCEUM.—Right glad were we to see the Cameneum so well filled on Tuesday evening, to listen to Dr. Oliver W. Holmes' Introductory Lecture. His subject was Audiences,—and was well handled, in his peculiar strain of remark. The audience and the room reminded us of the former days of the institution, and of the Portsmouth Forensic Club, which preceded the Lyceum. Nearly or quite all the tickets must have been sold, for the seats, except the gallery, were filled. The beauty of the room is greatly improved by decoration and lighting, —and under the direction of the gentlemen who compose the board this year, we may reasonably expect to enjoy a good course of lectures, of a miscellaneous character, in company with a polite and genteel audience.

THE LYCEUM.—The lecture Tuesday evening at the Cameneum, by Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes, was very fully attended, most of the literati, wealth, fashion and beauty of our city being present. The lecture was quite amusing, and those who were fortunate enough to obtain good comfortable seats, passed the evening in a very agreeable manner. We, not being on hand at precisely seven o'clock, had to content ourselves with a seat on a board placed across the aisle, where we received the full benefits of the ventilation and refrigeration arising from the opening of the entry door.—A few good seats were unoccupied in different parts of the house, but "circumstances" prevented us from obtaining any of them. We survived, however, and in future intend to be there in better season. JR.

KITTERY POINT FAIR.—Gunnison's Hall was crowded to excess last evening, with a well-behaved and good-humored assemblage of young people of both sexes, who came to please and be pleased, intermingled with a small sprinkling of elder people, who enjoyed their youth over again. The display of manufactured articles was creditable to the taste and industry of the ladies who got it up—and the whole occasion passed off pleasantly.

REV. MR. WILLIS.—The Boston Trumpet says, respecting the new Universalist pastor in this city:—"Br. Lemuel Willis, of Orange, Mass., has received an invitation to take the pastoral charge of the large and flourishing Universalist Society in Portsmouth, N. H. It is a wise choice. Br. Willis enjoys the unbounded respect of all his brethren, and is a very judicious man."

☞ There was a disturbance last evening about eleven o'clock, caused by a U. S. soldier, who ran down Pleasant street crying murder. As near as we could learn from the crowd; he was intoxicated, and having some trouble with a boy, stabbed him in the arm. The bystanders then took the responsibility of giving the soldier a severe beating, and were progressing very rapidly, when he was rescued by the watchmen, and put in the watch house for the night.

P. S. & P. R. R.—Portland, Saco and Portsmouth Railroad have made a dividend of 3 per cent., payable Dec. 20, to holders Nov. 30.

☞ Yesterday, the first day of winter,—a real September day, clear blue sky—mild north wind—the earth as free from frost as in May-day,—thermometer at 50 in the shade. May the rest of the month be like it.

NARROW ESCAPE.—E. A. Hubbard, assistant clerk of the New Hampshire House of Repsesentatives, had a very narrow escape on Friday at Concord. He fell from the platform upon the railroad track, the train passing over him; the cars came so close as to roll his coat over his head, but he escaped uninjured.

PRESENTATION.—It is stated that Gen. Pierce has presented to Mr. Butterfield, editor of the Concord Patriot, a beautiful silver mounted cane, as a mark of personal esteem. Mr. Butterfield was one of Gen. Pierce's most ardent supporters during the recent political campaign.

RECEPTION OF THE NEW HAMPSHIRE LEGISLATURE.—The members of the New Hampshire Legislature, who went to Boston on Tuesday to attend the Webster obsequies, arrived at a quarter past nine o'clock, and were met at the Lowell depot by the Executive Committee and others of the sons of New Hampshire, and welcomed by the President of the Committee, Hon. Marshall P. Wilder, in an appropriate speech, to which Hon. John S. Wells, President of the N. H. Senate, replied. They then proceeded to the State House, where they were introduced to and addressed by Gov. Boutwell. Mr. Well's responded, and then the bodies separated, each to take the places assigned them in the procession.—After the ceremonies at Faneuil Hall, the members of the Legislature partook of a repast, by the invitation of their friends, at the Revere House.—Boston Herald.

AGAINST FIRE AND LIGHTNING.

PATENT METALLIC
LADDER AND CONDUCTOR,

THIS new and important invention is one that should receive the attention of every person who owns a building, or who is interested in that which presents a "permanent safeguard" against lightning, and at the same time a light, strong and ornamental Ladder, which will securely warrant the inmates of any house the ready means of escape in case of fire.

The above are manufactured by Messrs. Washburn, Holland & Co. of Worcester, Mass., and have received the strongest testimonials of approval from many scientific and practical men. A moment's examination of the Metallic Ladder is sufficient to convince any person of its great utility.

☞ Price per foot, 20 cents; including Lightning Rods and Points of the most approved material.

LATEST NEWS!

FROM MEXICO.

New York, Dec. 1.—The N. Y. Sun has advices from Mexico to Nov. 2. which states that President Arista was shut up in the Palace with 500 troops. The revolutionists are within twenty leagues of the capital.

Gen Uragua is also marching upon it with 300 troops. It is thought that Arista's power will not be sustained another month.

MEETING OF NEW YORK ELECTORS. Albany, Dec. 1.—The Presidential electors met last evening. Zadock Pratt, Esq. was chosen Chairman.

Washington, Nov. 30.—Mr. Forney has today restored all except four of the Index Clerks, discharged by him, yesterday. George H. Kimball, Esq., has been appointed Consul at St. Helena, to fill the vacancy by death, of the late Consul.

The President's Message is in type. Special messengers for New Orleans, and other distant points, will start with it to-morrow. The New Orleans messenger is to arrive at 8 o'clock on Tuesday morning, stopping at nine intermediate places.

The Democratic festival at the United States Hotel was held this evening, the hall was brilliantly illuminated and festooned with flags, garlands, etc. At one end, an inscription with the following motto, "No North, no South, no East, no West, under the Constitution, but a sacred maintenance." At 9 o'clock this evening, 150 guests, including several Senators, members of Congress, and distinguished strangers, sat down to a banquet. Mayor Mawry presided. At 10 o'clock, no speeches had been made, but Senator Douglas and other members of Congress, are expected to speak.

Syracuse, Nov. 30.—Mr. Logan, colored preacher, indicted for aiding in the Jersey rescue case, has surrendered himself to the Marshal of New York.

New York, Dec. 1.—The British steamer Devastation from Halifax arrived at Bermuda 28th ult.

THE LEMMON INDEMNITY.—The N. Y. Express says:—Mr. Lemmon and family, minus his eight slaves, left New York on the 24th for Virginia, in the steamer City of Norfolk, having abandoned the project of emigrating to Texas. His furniture, which has gone forward to New Orleans, will be recovered.—He has received $5000 in sight-drafts, which will be available on his arrival in Virginia.

Mr. and Mrs. Lemmon go before leaving, a guarantee that they will manumit the slaves after the termination of the legal processes which have been, or may be instituted with a view to test the validity of Judge Paine's decision, whenever requested so to do by three of the subscribers to the indemnity, viz: Judge Paine, Walter R. Jones, and James Boorman.

The Rev. Dr. Neal, of the 1st Baptist Church in Boston, made Mr. Webster the theme of his Thanksgiving discourse. Referring to the great anxiety entertained by Mr. Webster's friend when it was known that he was to reply to Hayne, during the "great debate," Mr. Neal remarked that "Mrs. Webster shared in the general anxiety, and was present in the gallery of the Senate on that eventful morning, filled with nervous trepidation. But, after she heard that grand opening—"Mr. President: When the mariner has been tossed for many days on an unknown sea," &c, her anxiety was stilled, and she remarked to a friend who was with her—"I will go home now—my husband will do the thing that is right."

SINGULAR.—It is reported that a gentleman, who was about going from Maryland to California by the way of New York, taking his "nigger" with him, became alarmed at the decision of the New York Judge and determined to leave his slave behind. The man was very reluctant to stay, preferring much to accompany his master to New York. Strange negro that!—New Bedford Standard.

The English papers state that the Queen will not accept two millions and a half of dollars, bequeathed to her by a wealthy and eccentric bachelor, named Weild, who died about three months ago, but will cause it to be divided among the heirs of the testator, who are distant relatives.

QUEEN VICTORIA A SCHOOL MARM.—It is stated in an English paper that Queen Victoria has, at Windsor a Sabbath and a day-class of children belonging to the domestics, to which she unremittingly attends, when the Court is held there. The fact—if fact it is—certainly does her great honor.

RUNNING THE THING INTO THE GROUND.—The coalitionists in Pittsfield, says the Springfield Republican, in their eagerness to rake in votes for their ticket, last week, went after one man who has been dead and buried these three months! They did not get him—the ground being frozen.

NORTH CAROLINA COAL FIELDS.—A letter from a gentleman in the county of Chatham, N. C., to the Wilmington Herald, announces the sale of one-half of the Taylor Coal Mine, by Messrs. Gilmer, Waddell, & Co., to a northern company, for $50,000.

A few days since, in St. Louis, Missouri, a game chicken escaped from its owner, ran into a drug store, flew against a bottle, upset it, and thus evaporated eight ounces of otto of roses. The druggist has sued the owner of the rooster, laying damages at $65, the value of the perfume wasted.

The Ironton Register says, that in Salt Lick township in Perry county, Ohio, there is an immense deposit of coal of the best quality, estimated to be from sixty to one hundred and twelve feet in depth, and is to be the best known vein in the world.

Baltimore, Nov. 30.—A freshet occurred here to-day, the water coming down so suddenly, as to carry off two hundred bales of cotton from the wharves, and doing other damage to a considerable amount.

KEEP YOUR HENS OUT OF MY GARDEN.

Col. R. and Gen. M. were formerly neighbors, and had gardens adjoining each other.

One pleasant morning in spring, about the time of planting, Col. R. met his friend, the General, in the street, hurling over with rage, who addressed him after this wise;

"Confound your old hens, Colonel, they're been in my garden, and scratched the beds every which way; I shall have to make them all over again; can't you shut them up this summer?"

"Keep cool, General," said the Colonel, "I prefer that my hens should have plenty of sun, air, exercise and food, and I don't believe that your garden seeds will hurt them at all. However, if they trouble you much, shoot 'em—shoot 'em."

"I will, by thunder," Colonel, said the still more excited General, "I'll do it, I'll do it, blamed if I don't," and turning around on his heel, marched away, mad as a wild-cat.

The next morning, as the Colonel was sipping his coffee, the family was startled by the "bang," "bang," of fire arms, the cause of which was soon ascertained. The Colonel, on going to the division fence, looked over and saw Gen. M. in the heat of bloody murder; six fine specimens of the "dung hill" fowl were flouncing about on the ground unwilling just yet to yield up their gizzards to the gourmand.

"Aha, General! so you are executing your threat, are you?"

"To be sure, I told you I'd do it and I'll shoot all the rest, if you don't shut 'em up. But here, take the shievish critters. I don't want 'em; they are too highly seasoned with shot for my family."

"Thank you, thank you, General M. just wait a day or two before you kill any more, till we eat these up, and then I've no objection to having the rest shot."

Now, Colonel R. was rather jealous of his rights, and, moreover, as fiery as Mars in his disposition, and it was a great mystery to the General how he could keep so cool about this matter. The sequel will show.

In two or three days after, three more fine fat chickens were thrown into the Colonel's garden and duly taken care of by the cook.

At last the General "smelt a rat." His own chickens were missing, and the egg basket hung on the peg quite empty, to the utter astonishment of his good wife, who had never known a similar occurrence before.

"Col. R." said the General, as they met one day in the street, "have I killed all your hens yet?"

"Killed all my hens, General," slowly repeated Col. R. why I'll be not owned a living hen these three years!"

The General sloped. He had shot and given to Col. R. nine of his best layers.—Carpet Bag.

THE ROGER WILLIAMS COOKING STOVE.

FOR COAL OR WOOD.

THE attention of all in want of a COOK STOVE is respectfully solicited to a consideration of the merits of this most beautifully modelled, and highly adapted for coal or wood, and for those who prefer a range for either, which is now offered to the public as the

Most Complete and Efficient

Cooking apparatus ever before introduced in this vicinity. It is an elegant model, with fine smooth Providence castings, fitted together in the most substantial manner. The oven, (by far the most important part of a cooking stove,) in point of capacity, and in regard to the operation, is unsurpassed by that of any other stove now in the market, it being lined with fire-brick to retain and equalize the heat, and provided with valves for the escape of steam, &c. arising from the roasting of meat—rendering it in this respect superior to the old fashioned but universally admired Tinkitchen.

The broiling apparatus is constructed on an entirely new and original plan, and will not fail to recommend itself at the first glance, as no smoke or gas arising from any culinary process can escape into the room. The sliding hearth is an improvement not to be found in any other stove.

The popularity of this over all other stoves now in the market, may be inferred from the fact that since its first production the last season, over THREE THOUSAND have been put into successful operation in New England and New York City.

Every stove is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction to the purchaser or the money refunded.

Each stove is warranted not to crack for twelve months from date of purchase. It is believed that this stove combines all the improvements that skill can invent, and is by far the most perfect cooking stove ever sold in Portsmouth. And though its price is higher than any other offered in this market of late, it is without question the cheapest in the end. All intending to purchase are respectfully invited to give this an examination before purchasing elsewhere.

Also, a variety of other Cook, Parlor, and Office Stoves, which are offered low.

The Bay State Stove,

FOR WOOD OR COAL.

THE subscriber, in offering this favorite Stove to the public, the present season, would state that a new covered Broiling Apparatus has been added, the flues enlarged for burning anthracite coal, and the Stove otherwise improved—and is now put into the market as in the world. The castings are heavier, more beautiful and durable; the stove has a larger oven, will bake faster and with less fuel, than any other stove in use.

These stoves are made from pure metal, and are not liable to crack; and we furnish every stove with the best of apparatus—Copper Boiler, &c., and warrant them to be perfect. Any piece proved defective it will be made good without chargeable.

Persons wishing to obtain a good Stove will well to buy a BAY STATE. They have a operation in this city for years past, and have given perfect satisfaction. For sale at the Store of the subscriber, where may be found a large assortment of COOKING, PARLOR AND OFFICE STOVES, TIN WARE, FUNNEL, &c. for sale cheap for cash. E. A. STEVENS.
Portsmouth, Sept. 9th, 1852.

WHAT-CHEER STOVE.

THE WHAT-CHEER COAL COOKING

STOVE now offered for sale by the subscribers, is acknowledged by all who have examined it to be the best and most economical Coal Stove ever offered to the public.

The castings are heavy, smooth, and very handsome. The Broiling apparatus is a great improvement over all other Stoves, being constructed in such a manner as to prevent the steam from escaping into the room when cooking.

All persons wishing to purchase a COAL COOKING STOVE, are respectfully requested to call and examine the same. Every Stove warranted to work well, or no sale.

They have also a large assortment of COOKING, PARLOR and STORE STOVES, &c.—for sale cheap for Cash at our Store.

THE IMPROVED

EMPIRE STATE STOVE.

THIS justly celebrated COOKING STOVE having been improved in every way it could be to make its operations more complete, and its plates beautifully ornamented—no expense, time or trouble having been spared to make this the most complete Cooking Stove ever brought before the public—the subscriber feels assured in warranting the IMPROVED EMPIRE STATE superior to any stove in the market, as hundreds can testify who have used them for the past year.

This Stove has a very LARGE OVEN, which makes it desirable on account of doing more cooking with the same amount of fuel than can be done in any other stoves. The fires are large, which insures a good draft in all cases. The castings are very heavy and smooth, and those parts that come next the fire are extra thick, making it very durable. It is adapted to the use of either coal or wood, and we warrant them to operate as well with one as the other. We furnish them with the very best apparatus; and, altogether, it is the MOST DURABLE, ECONOMICAL AND CONVENIENT COOKING STOVE ever made complete in every respect. We ask the attention of all persons intending to purchase a new, or exchange their old stove, to an examination of the Improved Empire State.

We have also on hand a variety of other Cooking Stoves, called the "Banner," "Belle of the State," "King of the States" "Bay State," "Anglo Saxon," "Prince of Troy," &c., with a large lot of PARLOR STOVES, such as the Revere Air-Tight, Star, Revere Parlor Cook, Lady Franklin, for Wood or Coal; Shop, Office and Air-Tight Stoves, of different sizes and prices for either wood or coal.

All the above goods will be sold lower than can be bought elsewhere in this vicinity.

KINGDOM OF SPAIN.—A late Madrid paper contains the following, which suggests matter for grave thought:

"The Spanish dominions once occupied an eighth of the known world. Our country has been the greatest of the globe; and, in the days of its splendor, neither the gigantic empire of Alexander, nor the vastness of that of the present Czar, could be compared to it. The sun never set upon our country, which contained 80,000 square leagues and 60,000,000 inhabitants. Of so much richness and power, we have lost more than two-thirds in a couple of centuries. In 1565 we ceded Malta to the Order of St. John; France afterwards took possession of it, and ultimately the English. In 1620, Louis XIII incorporated Lower Navarre and Bearn with France. In 1749 our government recognised the conquest of Roussillon, made by the same monarch. In 1640, Portugal emancipated herself with all her transatlantic possessions. In 1581 we began losing the Netherlands; in 1648 they made themselves independent.

The English took from us, in 1626, the Island of Barbadoes; in 1656, Jamaica; 1704, Gibralter; 1718, the Lucayas; 1759; Dominica; 1797, Trinidad. In 1635, the French made themselves masters of Dominica; in 1650, of Grenada; in 1655 of Guadaloupe. In 1697, we shared St. Domingo with France; in 1790, we abandoned Oran after the earthquake. In 1791, we ceded our rights over Oran and Mazalquivir to Morocco. In 1713 we ceded Sardinia to the Duke of Savoy; Padus, Placentia, Lucca, and other districts in the north of Italy, were ceded to princes of the reigning family. In 1759 we lost Naples and Sicily, in consequence of the Infante Don Carlos selling them to occupy the Spanish throne. In 1800 we ceded Louisiana to France; and in 1819 Florida to the Americans; and lastly, the South American Colonies Colonies emancipated themselves successively from 1816 to 1825.

REMARKABLE TREE.—Mr. Ira Roberts, of Milton Three Ponds, gives the following account of a remarkable tree, to the editor of the Dover Enquirer:

The first of May last, I took up a small apple tree in Middleton, which three years previously had its top cut off and the stump grafted, and transplanted it into my garden in this village. Last June the tree bloomed for the first time, but proved fruitless with the exception of one apple, which remained on the tree until it ripened. In August following it bloomed again. Some fifty or sixty apples were the result, which to the present writing have grown to about the size of walnuts. In October, the tree was for the third time filled with blooms, while the apples of the first and second crops remained on it. I have frequently seen trees that bloomed twice the same season, but for a tree to have two crops of apples and blossoms on it for the third at the same time, is a circumstance that to me, at least, is novel.

"MY LAST SKETCH."—A week or two since, the newspapers of this city published a paragraph in which it was stated that a gentleman justly celebrated as a portrait painter, had been sent to the House of Correction as a common drunkard. A few days before this occurred, the unfortunate individual, then suffering all the horrors of the mania a potu, went into the reading room of a hotel in this city, and observing in one corner a gentleman with whom he formerly had some acquaintance, went up to him, and taking his hat from his head, pointed to the inside, and said, "Colonel, will you be so good as to look at my last sketch?" The Colonel complied, and saw written on the inside of the hat, "For God's sake, give me a quarter!" and this was the poor inebriate's "last sketch." The Colonel, with a heart bleeding for wretched humanity, gave the man a quarter, and he sought once more oblivion in the fatal cup.—Boston Journal.

NEW YORK TAXES.—The taxes of New York city next year, it is supposed, will be 125 cents on the hundred dollars.

OX BOW FASTENER.—John A. True and Jonathan W. Morrill, the former of Newburyport, and the latter of Hampton Falls N. H. having invented a useful improvement in a "Bow Yoke Fastner," for which they have taken measures to secure a patent. The invention relates to a new mode of securing the bows in ox yokes, and at the same time making them capable of adjustment so as to suit all sized oxen. A spring catch is inserted into one side of the bow hole, and permanently secured in the same. In combination with the ox bow, which has several notches cut in on: of its sides, near one of its ends, into which the spring catch projects and holds the bow firmly in its place—the several notches allow the bow to be adjusted to suit all sized oxen.—Scientific American.

A NOBLE BEQUEST.—The New York Tribune of Thursday states that Peter Cooper, Esq., has made a donation of $300,000 for establishing an institution to be known as the "Union," the object of which is to be the "moral, mental, and physical improvement of the youth of the city, of the State, the country and the world." The site selected for the building is bounded by Astor Place, Fourth Avenue, Third Avenue and Seventh street. The edifice will be worthy the Bible House and Astor Library, which are nearly contiguous, and will reflect honor, in all time to come, upon the intelligence, philanthrophy, and public spirit of the noble-hearted merchant.

DAILY Morning Chronicle.

PORTSMOUTH:

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 3, 1852.

PROGRESSIVE DEMOCRACY.

A Washington despatch of the 1st inst., states that the Democratic festivities of the previous night, in honor of Pierce and King's election, continued until a late hour. The principal speakers were Mayor Maury, Senators Douglass, Weller and Brodhead, General Lane, Dr. Olds, Judge Backus, &c. Mr. Douglass made one of his best speeches, and was warmly applauded.

Mr. DOUGLASS congratulated his friends on the result of the election, and the harmony which prevailed. He was sure every Democrat felt proud of the bearing of their candidate before and since the election. It sounded well for his administration. They had friends to reward and enemies to punish, yet he would make removals in the spirit of justice and moderation, with a view to the public good.

Upon foreign policy he dwelt at considerable length. He wanted to see a decree put forth that no European power is either to found a new colony or extend an old one upon the North American continent. There was, he thought, no danger of war about it. England, he said, had accepted a mortgage upon Canada, Nova Scotia, Jamaica, and all her possessions in North America, that she will keep the peace towards the United States.—Spain was in about the same position, and all the other European nations had enough else to do at home. The time had come when the title of North American citizen should be a guarantee for the protection in the enjoyment of his rights everywhere—one of which was the right to carry on a lawful trade with any nation with which we are at peace. With regard to Cuba, some thought that so long as she chose to remain subject to Spain she ought to be permitted to; that whenever the people of Cuba show themselves worthy of freedom by asserting and maintaining it, and apply to this country, she ought to be annexed. The same people thought that when Spain shall be willing to sell Cuba to any other power on earth, then the United States ought to take her, anyhow. If that was fillibustering, they would find a good many fillibusters in the Democratic ranks.

General LANE said that Oregon would have an electoral vote to give in '56, and he could pledge the State of Oregon for the Democracy.

Mr. WELLER would take one step in advance of the Monroe doctrine. Whenever a nation on the continent, struggling for republican liberty, showed an ability to maintain it, he would secure it to them not only by moral but by physical aid. As to removals, he would cut off the heads of all at once. He wouldn't have this continual squealing.

Letters were read by Messrs. Buchanan and Dickinson. The toasts were very spirited and progressive in their character.

If the reader knows any thing of Messrs. Douglass and Weller, he can judge whether the incoming administration is likely to be so conservative and inoffensive towards other countries, and so very mild and dove-like towards political opponents, as some charitable Whig papers have supposed.

To be sure they have quoted a paragraph against proscription, from a speech of Frank Pierce—but then it was made at a time when the Whigs were in the majority, and of course it makes a great difference whether my ox or my neighbors ox is gored.

As to foreign matters, it is no surprising thing for us to see fillibusters of various grades claiming the victory as their victory and the new administration as their administration.—It is not to be doubted that President Pierce in his Inaugural Message will speak of his determination to observe treaties, friendly relations, &c., &c. But the actual conduct of an administration is far more important than its professions. We have sometimes seen a discrepancy between the two.

PETER HARVEY.—Much curiosity has been expressed as to the Peter Harvey whom Mr. Webster on his death bed entreated not to leave him to the last. We understand that he is a quiet merchant of Boston, a great admirer of Mr. Webster, and reputed to have been useful to him in his former pecuniary necessities.

DEATH OF THE GREATEST OF THE TRAGEDIANS.—Our telegraph informs us that Lucius Junius Brutus Booth—the Hamlet, the Macbeth, the Richard, the Iago of Shakspeare—the Pescara, Orestes, Mortimer, and Sir Giles Overreach of the British drama—died on his passage from New Orleans to Cincinnati. He was at the head of his school, and we may never "look upon his like again."—Boston Courier.

MADAME SONTAG gave a rehearsal to the Press and Clergy of New York and Brooklyn, on Saturday last. At the close Rev. Dr. Cox, of Brooklyn, returned thanks on the part of the clergy, and concluded by saying that they were willing to reciprocate the compliment and give all present a free ticket to their services the next day.

"The Mormons of Beaver Island gave Gen. Pierce a unanimous vote. It is said they expect and demand that one of their prophets or apostles shall have a place in the Cabinet." Doubtful.

Lord Nelson was the eighteenth in descent from King Edward I. and the Duke of Wellington was descended from the same monarch.

In California, ladies may advertise their intention to carry on business independent of their husbands, which legally exonerates them from liability for their debts.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

To NEW SUBSCRIBERS.—For $3, we will give every person who may subscribe between this time and the first of January, a receipt from the time of subscribing (and paying) to Jan. 1st, 1854.

☞ After January 1st, '53, the Chronicle will not be for sale by the carriers. Persons wishing it left regularly at their residence or place of business, are respectfully invited to leave their names at the office or with the carriers.

CITY COUNCIL.

In Board of Aldermen, a bill of $3 was presented from T. P. Moses, for damages in burning a Piano Box, at the Democratic Jubilee. Referred to the committee on similar claims.

This committee reported that the bills of Messrs. Tredick and Moses be not paid—that the bills for glass broken by the Webster minute guns be paid—that Capt. Towle's bill for firing the minute guns be not paid. This report was accepted, and it was voted that the bills for glass, assumed by the city, be presented to Capt. Towle for payment.

The Ordinance regulating Billiard Rooms, Bowling Alleys, &c., which passed the Common Council in June, came up, and was passed, with amendments, and sent down to the Council for concurrence.

Sundry bills were passed for payment.

A petition was presented for a gas-light at the corner of Market and Green sts.—granted.

A petition for a gas-light at the corner of Daniel and Penhallow streets was referred.

In the Common Council an order was passed for publishing the schedule of City property in the several newspapers printed in the city.

The Council concurred in the action of the Aldermen, on the regulation of Pilotage.

A message was received from the Aldermen, non-concurring in the order of the Council to remove obstructions from the corner of Ann street.

Reported for the Chronicle.

Police Court—Thursday, Dec. 2.

[Before Justice Parker.]

John Nelson was arraigned for an assault upon the person of Charles Anderson with a knife. Rollins for the government. W. Claggett for respondent.

It appears in the evidence, that the said John Nelson, a private at Fort Constitution, on Wednesday evening, went into a Drinking Saloon for Liquor. Being somewhat intoxicated, he was refused on the ground that he had drank enough. He remained in the room some time, conducting himself in an orderly manner. While in the room another person came in and commenced insulting him, and finally struck him. In a short time the soldier left the premises, and was followed into the street by a dozen or more persons, who commenced throwing stones at him. Soon coming up with him, some of the party struck him and knocked him down. When he got up he drew a knife, and in self-defence cut the person of Charles Anderson. This produced a loud noise, and the watch were aroused by cries of murder, &c. The soldier was seized and taken to the watch house.

Dr. Oliver testified that he found the wounded man at the Piscataqua House; the wound was in the side, about 3-4 of an inch long and about 3 inches deep, near the ninth rib. The wound was not considered dangerous; the man would probably recover in a few days.

The Justice decided, that by the evidence the prisoner had acted in self defence, and was therefore acquitted of the charge against him. He was accordingly discharged.

MONSIEUR ADRIEN, the wizard of France, is to show off his magic feats, illusions and mechanic experiments at the Temple on Saturday evening of this week, and on Wednesday Thursday Friday & Saturday evenings of next week. He has also beautiful "Megascoramic Views," and a variety of New Pictures, a view of which is worth more (says the Newburyport Herald) than the price of admission. See Advertisement in to-morrow's Chronicle.

ALMOST A FATAL ACCIDENT.—One of our citizens residing near the E. R. R. Depot feeling unwell yesterday, intended taking a dose of medicine, but accidentlly took a strong dose of laudanum. By the aid of a stomach pump it was thrown off and his life saved.

☞ Last evening, about six o'clock the horizon was lighted up by a brilliant and red light, to the North of us, supposed to be a fire in North Berwick or in that direction.

CARRIAGE UPSET.

Six or seven young misses walked to the Plains on Wednesday afternoon, to visit a friend. On arriving there, they were invited to ride. The carriage, (a phaeton, with a cracked axle,) containing all the misses, an attendant girl, and a boy to drive, broke down and overturned the party. Three children of one family were injured,—one badly cut over the eye, and fears of internal injury; another girl, living at the plains, badly bruised, the wheel passing over her. The boy was kicked by the affrighted horse, which cleared with two wheels after him, and after a lightning transit, found himself foaming and trembling in a corner of a yard at the Plains, where a woman seized him by the head, and succeded in securing him, unaided by a man who was nearby.

Several persons collected around the spot where the overturn took place, and perceiving that the children were not killed, passed on.—One person, the children say, whose wagon was run upon and injured by the runaway horse, actually passed on, cursing the little party scattered upon the ground. A lady recently from Boston, whose daughter was badly injured, received the whole party into her house, and was the good Samaritan. She took one of the misses in her arms, after obtaining a carriage, and restored her with two others to their parents, late in the evening.—Had the horse started on the run a few seconds sooner than he did, several of the party would probably have been killed, being entangled under the vehicle.

LOOK OUT.—We hear of a number of petty thefts, in different parts of our city, within a short time past. One person went into a wood house in the day time, took an axe, and having sawed off the handle so as to get the head into his pocket, left for parts unknown.

N. H. General Court—Nov. Session, 1852.

(Abridged from the Patriot.)

WEDNESDAY, Dec. 1.

Both Houses were notified by the Presidential Electors that they were organized into an Electoral College.

A joint resolution providing compensation for the electoral board, was read three times in each House, and finally passed.

In the SENATE the following bills, received from the House, were read twice and referred:

To the Judiciary Committee: bill in amendment of sec. 15, chap. 229 R. S.

To the Committee on Banks: bill extending acts incorporating Rockingham Bank; bill to incorporate the Suncook Bank. Adjourned.

In the HOUSE, the sessions were short. In the morning no quorum was present till after the first train arrived from Boston, and the House adjourned at half past 11. In the afternoon the House adjourned at 4 1-4.

The new Liquor Law having been printed, it was ordered that the copies be distributed to the members.

Mr. Noyes of Atkinson, offered a resolution designating a position in the hall for placing the portrait of the late Judge Woodbury, which, on motion of Mr. Bartlett, was laid on the table.

ELECTORAL COLLEGE.—The Electoral College of New Hampshire, on Wednesday last, at Concord cast the five Electoral votes of the State for FRANKLIN PIERCE of New Hampshire for President, and WILLIAM R. KING of Alabama for Vice President.

Col. John H. George of Concord was selected by the Board as Messenger to carry the votes to Washington.

☞ The Boston Bee of yesterday appeared without its weeds of mourning, which it has worn ever since the death of Mr. Webster.

FOR THE NEW YEAR.

A book with SEVENTY FINE ENGRAVINGS, for twenty-five cents, indispensable to all persons who expect to visit Boston in 1853, will be forthcoming in a few days, and can be had at all the Bookstores and Periodical Depots in New England, besides many places "out West." Call for The Boston Almanac, containing a complete Business Directory; a Map of Boston as it is now and as it was a hundred and thirty years ago; the State Legislature, and Congress, politically classified; County Officers; General Events, and any amount of other useful information. The work is issued by Damrell & Moore and Geo. Coolidge, from their extensive Printing and Binding establishment, (No. 16 Devonshire street, adjoining the Exchange Coffee House, Boston;) and is executed in a style much superior to any former number. Published by John P. Jewett & Co., the enterprising publishers of Uncle Tom's Cabin, to whom all orders should be addressed.

FATAL SUN-STROKE.—The Boston Traveller gives an account of the death of Mr. John Warren a few days since, from the slight stroke of the sun, received on the 4th of July last, while endeavoring to rescue Mr. Joseph White, who was drowned in a pond in Brighton. His health has gradually declined ever since and he has been affected with hallucination of mind and violent sensations in the head, rendering him senseless, and since his last paroxysm a short time since he remained unconscious up to the time of his death.

SPONTANEOUS COMBUSTION.—The Gloucester Telegraph reports that a gentleman one evening last week went into his house newly erected, and yet unoccupied, to see if all was right, when he found that some rags, which had been saturated with oil for the purpose of rubbing some of the work, had taken fire and set fire to some tools. But for the timely discovery the house would have been destroyed.

PLACES TO IMBIBE IN GOTHAM.—There are 8000 hotels, drinking saloons and dram shops in New York, and the amount expended in them is amazing, almost exceeding belief. If the daily sales average $10 each, which is a very low estimate, the amount will be $80,000 a day, $2,400,000 a month, and $29,000,000 a year. The New Yorkers certainly do "take a little something."

Curtis C. Dearborn was fined $31,45 for selling two glasses of "red dog," in Portland on Saturday.—Boston Post.

LATEST NEWS!

GREAT FIRE IN BOSTON.

CHICKERING'S PIANO MANUFACTORY BURNT.—The Boston Daily Advertiser of yesterday says :

A fire broke out at 11 o'clock on Wednesday evening in the large Piano Forte manufactory of Mr. Jonas Chickering, in Washington street, directly opposite to the Adams House. The fire first appeared in one of the upper stories of the southeasterly part of the building, when it speedily extended to two or three smaller buildings in the rear. It was for some time confined in a great measure to those buildings and a part of the main building in which it had its origin.

The fire department were speedily on the spot, and although the fire had acquired a considerable head, it was hoped it might be confined to the upper part of the building, but from the great amount of stock of an extremely combustible nature, it gradually extended to the front of the building, and to the stores, and by one o'clock the hope of subduing it and saving any part of the building seemed to be abandoned.

The whole of the large building, five or six stories in height, with the exception of the lower floor, together with one of the stores on that floor, was occupied by Mr. Chickering's establishment, and was filled with piano fortes, finished and unfinished, valuable stock and tools. We are informed that he had insurance to the amount of $150,000.

Three stores on the lower floor were occupied by Messrs. Thomas & Meriam, as a grocery; Mr. Edward Butman, as a crockery ware store; and by Mr. Amos Cummings, as a grocery store. Shortly after one o'clock the northerly wall fell upon the buildings on the opposite side of the passage way, and shortly after the other walls fell, extending the fire somewhat, but as we go to press it was hoped it would not obtain any material further extension.

At about two o'clock the wall of Mr Chickering's building upon Norfolk place fell, thus igniting the building No. 326 Washington street upon the opposite side, which was occupied in the lower story by Mrs. L. A. Wyman as a store for boys' clothing.

This was finally wholly destroyed, as well as the next store, No. 328, occupied in the lower story by Patrick R. Morley, Plumber. Soon after some of the other walls fell with a loud crash, making some confusion.

The Boston Journal of last evening contains the following particulars :

The large building on the corner of Sweetser Court, occupied in the upper part by Mr. Newhall, as a piano forte manufactory, was considerably damaged in the rear part of the upper stories. A portion of the high wall of Chickering's building at length fell into Washington street with a tremendous crash, causing a fresh outbreak of the flames and heat, and at one time threatening the Adams House with great danger. The roof of this house was several times on fire, and glass in the upper window was badly cracked by the heat. Nothing but the active efforts of the firemen, in connection with the inmates of the house, saved it from great damage if not from destruction.

But the worst part of the calamity remains to be told. At the time of the falling of the wall on Norfolk Place, two watchmen, named Benjamin F. Foster, of the Boylston Division, and Alfred Turner, of the Centre Division, were buried beneath the ruins, and Mr. Foster was probably instantly killed. Fotwithstanding a large number of men have been hard at work removing the mass of ruins, Foster's body had not been recovered at noon to-day. Turner was caught by his arms and body between heavy timbers, and was so held for a long time, until he was at length rescued, badly bruised, and severely burnt on his leg and arms. He was sensible all the while he was being extricated, and his cries for help, and exclamation of "save me—don't let me be killed—save me for the sake of my wife and two children"—were most heart rending. At length he was taken from his perilous situation, and conveyed into the Adams House, where he still remains : at noon to-day he was quietly sleeping. His physician states that he believes no bones are broken, but he may have sustained internal injury, in addition to his external burns and bruises.

A man named George W. Perkins, who belongs to the West Division of the City Watch, was badly bruised by the falling of the same wall, and was conveyed to his home. Fears are had that others beside the unfortunate Foster may be found under the ruins, although no others are as yet known to be missing. A man named Pratt or Clapp was quits badly injured by a falling wall.

Mr. Chickering's loss is estimated at $150,000, which is partially covered by insurance. The losses of other sufferers have not been ascertained with sufficient correctness to be relied upon.

The total loss by the fire, is estimated, in last evening's Journal, latest edition, at $250,000.

SEVERE GALE IN THE MEDITERRANEAN. New York, Dec. 2.—The Intelligencer publishes letters from the U. S. consul at Tripoli and Malta, giving a description of a terrific hurricane in the Mediterranean about the 20th October, from which, it appears that between 20 and 30 vessels were stranded at Tripoli and several at Malta. No American vessel is mentioned among the lost.

The U. S. sloop-of-war St. Louis, bound from Tunis to Tripoli, encountered the gale off the coast, and is believed to be one of the few vessels that survived. A large number of vessels were lost off Sicily, and many lives were lost. Every arrival at Malta brought fresh accounts of disasters in different parts of the Mediterranean.

DISAGREED.—The jury in the case of Isaac Coffin, the Charlestown school-master, who was tried at East Cambridge for cruelly beating one of his pupils, were unable to agree upon a verdict. The case will be tried again.

A GOOD PROFIT.—It is said Hon Josiah Quincy, Sen., has cleared $50,000 by the sale of 12,000 feet of the City wharf property, Boston, which he purchased at auction a few weeks since.

THE "LAP OF LUXURY."—Genuine milk in London.

THE RIGHTS OF HOSPITALITY.—BY A REGULAR DINER-OUT.—Hospitality, like property, has its duties as well as its rights, and I mean to say that it is the bounden duty of a man, if he invites you to dine with him, to give you a good dinner.

"My head is swimming," remarked Louis Napoleon one morning, after supper at the Blue Pig. It is the nature of wood," was the reply of Mr. P.

WRONG ON THE FACE OF IT.—We have seen a little book with the title of "French made Easy." We cannot believe this of a noble nation like France; for under their present despotic ruler, we should say it was decidedly the "French made uneasy."

HOW TO BRUISE YOUR OATS.—Send them by a cheap excursion train, and if by the time they leave the railway, they are only half as well bruised as the passengers, you will have no cause to complain.

The betting houses proceed on exactly the same system. They get large sums of money upon their horses, by flourishing about them the most magnificent tales, and when the poor dupe has kept his horse a day or two, he finds out that he has been sold with a false tale.

It is estimated that there are at least forty thousand persons in the United States, holding offices at the will of the President, who are liable to be removed from the moment he takes the oath of office.

Madame Aboni, says the Philadelphia Inquirer, has refused an offer of $25,000 for twenty representations at Havana, as it is her intention to visit our Southern cities during the ensuing winter.

The following is a monthly statement of the United States Mint. Receipt 7,260,000 in gold. Coinage $4,990,543. Total receipts of the eleven months of 1852, $47,699,354.

Citizens of Philadelphia are now making a collection to purchase and ship provisions to Madeira, to alleviate the famine there prevailing.

THE ROGER WILLIAMS
COOKING STOVE.

FOR COAL OR WOOD.

THE attention of all in want of a COOK STOVE is respectfully solicited to a consideration of the merits of this most beautifully modeled pattern; equally adapted for coal or wood, and warranted to operate successfully with either,—which is now offered to the public as the

Most Complete and Efficient

Cooking apparatus ever before introduced in this vicinity. It is an elegant model, with fine smooth Providence castings, fitted together in the most substantial manner. The oven, (by far the most important part of a cooking stove,) in point of capacity, and in regard to its operation, is unsurpassed by that of any other stove now in the market, it being lined with fire-brick to retain and equalize the heat, and provided with valves for the escape of steam, &c. arising from the roasting of meats—rendering it in this respect superior to the old fashioned but universally admired TinKitchen.

The broiling apparatus is constructed on an entirely new and original plan, and will not fail to recommend itself at the first glance, as no smoke or gas arising from that culinary process can escape into the room. The sliding hearth is an improvement not to be found in any other stove.

The popularity of this over all other stoves now in the market, may be inferred from the fact that since the first introduction the last year, upwards of THREE THOUSAND have been put into successful operation in New England and New York City.

Every stove is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction to the purchaser or the money refunded.

Each stove is warranted not to crack for twelve months from date of purchase. It is believed that this stove combines all the improvements that skill can invent, and is by far the most perfect cooking stove ever sold in Portsmouth. And though its price is higher than any other stove offered in this market of late, it is without question the cheapest in the end. All intending to purchase are respectfully invited to give this an examination before purchasing elsewhere.

Also, a variety of cheap Cook, Parlor, and Office Stoves, which are offered low.

The Bay State Stove,

FOR WOOD OR COAL.

THE subscriber, in offering this favorite Stove to the public, the present season, would state that a new covered Broiling Apparatus has been added, the flues enlarged for burning anthracite coal, and the Stove otherwise improved—and is now put into the market as in the world. The castings are heavier, more beautiful and durable, the stove has a larger oven, will bake better and with less fuel, than any other stove in use.

These stoves are made from pure metal and are not liable to crack; and we furnish every stove with the best of apparatus—Copper Boiler, &c., and warrant them a year; and if any part prove defective it will be made good without charge.

Persons wishing to obtain a good Stove, will do well to buy a BAY STATE. They have been in operation in this city for four years past, and have given perfect satisfaction. For sale at the Store of the subscriber, where may be found a large assortment of COOKING, PARLOR AND OFFICE STOVES, TIN WARE, FUNNEL, &c. for sale cheap for cash. E. A. STEVENS.

Portsmouth, Sept. 9th, 1852.

WHAT-CHEER STOVE.

THE WHAT-CHEER COAL COOKING STOVE, now offered for sale by the subscribers, is acknowledged by all who have examined it to be the best and most economical Coal Stove ever offered to the public.

The castings are heavy, smooth, and very handsome. The Broiling apparatus is a great improvement over all other Stoves, being constructed in such a manner as to prevent the steam from escaping into the room when cooking.

All persons wishing to purchase a COAL COOKING STOVE, are respectfully requested to call and examine the same. Every Stove warranted to work well, or no sale.

We have also a large assortment of COOKING, PARLOR and STORE STOVES, &c.—for sale cheap for Cash at our Store

THE IMPROVED

EMPIRE STATE STOVE.

THIS justly celebrated COOKING STOVE having been improved in every way it could be to make it the most complete, and in fact the most elegant pattern ever brought before the public—the subscriber feels justly warranting the IMPROVED EMPIRE STATE superior to any stove in the market, as hundreds can testify who have used them for the past year.

This Stove has a very LARGE OVEN, which makes it desirable on account of doing more cooking with the same amount of fuel than can be done in any other stove. The flues are large, which ensures a good draft in all cases. The castings are very heavy and smooth, and those parts that come next the fire are extra thick, making it very durable. It is adapted to the use of either coal or wood, and we warrant them to operate as well with one as the other. We furnish them with the very best apparatus, and, altogether, it is the MOST DURABLE, ECONOMICAL and CONVENIENT COOKING STOVE ever made—complete in every respect. We ask the attention of all persons intending to purchase a new, or exchange their old stove, to an examination of the Improved Empire State.

We have also on hand a variety of other Cooking Stoves, called the "Banner" "Belle of the States," "Kin of the States," "Bay State," "Anglo Saxon," "Pearl of Troy," &c.; with a large lot of PARLOR STOVES, such as the Revere Air-Tight, Star, Revere Parlor Cook, Lady Franklin, for Wood or Coal; Shop, Office and Air-Tight Stoves, of different sizes and prices for either wood or coal.

Also an extensive assortment of HOUSEKEEPING GOODS; Wooden, Willow, Glass, Britannia, Japan, Tin, Hard, Enamel, and Brass Ware; Copper, Cast Iron, and Chain Pumps; Window-Shads, Table Oil-cloths, &c.

All the above goods will be sold lower than can be bought elsewhere in this vicinity.

LOWELL MORALS.

The Minister at Large in Lowell, Mr. Woods, says he is no temperance man, but speaks favorably of the operation of the Massachusetts liquor law, which has been pretty well enforced in Lowell.

Commitments to jail, and to the House of Correction, have diminished. The Police statistics were furnished by the City Marshal, with the following remarks:

"It will be seen, by comparing the above statistics, that the amount of drunkenness for three months, ending October 22, (which are the first three months that the new liquor law has been in operation,) is 67 per cent. less than during the same time last year; and that the criminal business of the Lowell Police Court has been reduced 25 per cent. including the Liquor Search Warrants; and deducing these, you will find it reduced 38 per cent. Last year there were over 200 places where intoxicating liquors were sold openly, and now there are no places where they are sold publicly. That they are sold in a private and obscure manner, I do not doubt, and will continue to be until the present law is amended in many respects, and simplified in its operation."

PARDON OF GEORGE MILLER.—Geo. Miller, of Waltham, formerly stock dealer in Boston, who was convicted four years ago of forgery to the amount of $70,000 in the name of S. F. Belknap, Railroad Contractor, in order to sustain himself in a speculation in Canton stocks, was pardoned out by the Governor and Council Tuesday.

He was original y sentenced, we believe, to seven years imprisonment, and has been in the prison four years and a little over a month.

For the last month he has been employed in the Hospital, in consequence of a severe lameness which incapacitated him for active labor.

The people of Waltham have been unceasing in their efforts for a year or two past to obtain his release, in which they have at last succeeded.

We take the above from the Traveller of last evening. If "the people of Waltham," who were the neighbors of General Miller, "have been unceasing in their efforts to obtain his release," their efforts pay more regard to their personal feelings than to their sense of justice. The crime of forgery is one of the most dangerous which is committed in any community. The Governor and Council probably think differently from us, who have no prejudice against Mr. Miller, but at the same time do not think that a sentence against a forger should be commuted at all.—Boston Courier.

A BAD PLACE.—The City Marshal of Lynn, on Thanksgiving afternoon, visited the 'City Hotel,' in that city, and on entering a large hall in the attic of the house, found a cock pit in the middle of the floor, and surrounded by nearly two hundred spectators. His presence was the signal for a general stampede, and the fighting fowls were hurled from the upper windows in all directions, while the gentry vamosed in disorder from the premises. Upon clearing the hall fifteen or twenty cocks were found all ready for the fight.

DEATH OF A MINISTER ONE HUNDRED YEARS OLD.—That venerable and useful servant of God, Rev. John McIntyre, rested from his labors on the 18th inst., at the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. Alexander Purcell, in Robinson, North Carolina, in the one hundred and third year of his age. It is comparatively seldom that we hear of a minister of the gospel, reaching his three-score and ten; but here was a venerable man of God, who had been spared to wear the harness for more than a century.—Presbyterian.

The Lowell police court has decided that selling "Bavarian ale," is not indictable under the "Maine Law."

The British and North American Steamship Company (the Cunard line) have reduced the rate of passage from Boston to Liverpool to $100; the price heretofore has been $120.

SCHNAPPS AGAIN.

The Boston Transcript says,

"In the paragraph on "Scheidam Schnapps" in our columns on Friday, it was stated that the liquor was put up in Scheidham, Holland, in glass cases, pints and quarts. We learn "by authority" that this is an error—it being imported in not less than ninety gallon casks, and "put up" in this country. The "caprator verborum" in the Courier, who, under the signiture of "Central Wharf," makes our erroneous statement the text for his article, will therefore find that he has been fighting a windmill."

The Courier says,

"In answer to the above that the "Schnapps" man is a humbug; and that while he pretends to furnish pure liquors exclusively, everybody connected with the trade knows that his pretences are spurious. The thing is so plain that there is no necessity to say a word about it."

COMMERCIAL CONVENTION.—THE SOUTH AND WEST.—The Convention proposed some time since, with a view to blend and harmonize the interests of commerce throughout the Southern and Western States, is to be held at Baltimore on the 18th of December. A circular states the object of the Convention to be "to stimulate the commercial progress of the Southern and Western States in their direct intercourse with Europe, and in regard also to their internal trade." It is added that "most powerful and distinguished influences will be in attendance, embracing not only the West, but also the rice, sugar, tobacco and cotton interests of the South."

DAILY Morning Chronicle.

PORTSMOUTH:

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 4, 1852.

WELLINGTON'S FUNERAL.

The arrival of the steamship Europa, from England, gives us the particulars of the funeral of the Duke of Wellington, which took place, agreeably to notice, on the 18th of November, in London. It was the great event of the week, and it is impossible to convey an idea of the excitement throughout the metropolis. The lying in state terminated on Wednesday evening, the 17th November, at five o'clock, having been visited during the day by 65,073 persons. The route of the procession was taken possession of by the crowd early in the morning, and multitudes who had paid high prices for seats at windows and balconies found themselves unable to make their way to these eligible positions.

The procession started at eight o'clock, with muffled drums and the band of each regiment playing the Dead March. About one o'clock the head of the procession reached the Cathedral of Saint Paul's, but it was past four P. M. before the end came up. It is estimated that between 16,000 and 18,000 persons were seated in the Cathedral. The funeral services were chanted by the choirs of the Chapel Royal and of Westminster, namely; the service composed by Dr. Croft.

The Psalms 39 and 40 to chants by the Earl of Mornington, followed by an Anthem composed for the ceremony by Dr. Goss, organist of St. Paul's. The Lesson, 15th chapter of 1st Corinthians, was then read by the officiating minister; after which was sung "Nunc Dimittis," composed by Beethoven. After which, a Dirge composed by Dr. Goss. The body of the deceased was then lowered through an opening in the floor of the Cathedral into the crypt beneath, during which time the Dead March was played. After this an Anthem—"Man that is born of woman"—and Dr. Croft's "I heard a voice,"—were chanted.

These exercises were followed by the usual prayer and a verse sung from Handel's Anthem—"His body is buried in peece."

The Garter King at Arms then advanced and proclaimed the title of the deceased.

Then Mendlessohn's hymn from St. Paul, "Sleepers awake," was sung.

The Bishop of London pronounced a blessing and the service concluded.

IMPORTANT LEGAL DECISION.

It is now decided by the Boston Police Court, that the Massachusetts Liquor Law is constitutional. This is not, like the New Hampshire Judges' document, a mere expression of opinion, which its authors say will not bind them, but a real decision on a case.

On Thursday, in the case of Edgar W. Cummings, whose liquors were seized some time since, an opinion was delivered upon the objections raised to the law by S. D. Parker. All the three justices—Rogers, Cushing and Russell—agree as to the constitutionality of the law in the main, but Mr. Justice Cushing differed from his associates upon some minor points, and read a distinct opinion of his own—but in this opinion, Judge Cushing says, "I see nothing unconstitutional in the law, nor any difficulty in carrying out its provisions with proper averments."

After this decision, the prisoner pleaded not guilty. The case will now be tried on its merits—but the decision of the law question is important and specially interesting at this time, when our New Hampshire judges have just given an opinion the other way, on our projected New Hampshire law.

HARPER'S NEW MONTHLY.—Mr. J. P Morse, agent for this work, has handed in the No. for December, being the commencement of a new volume.

The illustrations, fine wood cuts, are quite numerous. Among them are the Capitol at Washington, President's House, Equestrian Statue of Andrew Jackson, Treasury, General Post Office, Patent Office, Smithsonian Institute, Washington's Monument, Mount Vernon and the Tomb. All these illustrate an Article on the City of Washington.

As we turn over to look for more pictures, we come to a fine likeness of Caroline Chisholm—a picture with a soul." And when we come to read her story, that has a soul too. She is an English woman, the wife of an officer in the British army. She is moreover a devout Catholic, and from religious motives she set about improving the condition of the females in the colony of Australia, and promoting the emigration of families from England to that colony. We are sorry that our limits prevent us from saying any more than merely that she is as successful as she is good looking.

There are also some fine heads of Webster, and good characteristic picture of him, sitting under a tree.

The literary contents are of a high order,—and the work eminently successful.

N. H. SUPERIOR COURT AT CONCORD.—Tuesday December 14 is the day assigned for attending to the business of Rockingham County.

☞ The town of Rutland, in Vermont, is said to have turned out a million dollars worth of marble the past year.

N. H. General Court—Nov. Session, 1852.

THURSDAY, Dec. 2.

HOUSE.—Mr. Osgood, from the committee on Unfinished Business, reported reference of the remonstrance of J. McClintock and others against the building of a toll bridge across the Piscataqua, to the committee on Roads, Bridges and Canals—adopted.

Mr. Stanley, from the same committee, reported a reference of the resolutions of inquiry into the expediency of active field service and musters, to the committee on Military Affairs—adopted.

Mr. Hackett of Portsmouth, agreeably to previous notice, introduced a bill in amendment of charter of N. H. Benevolent Society, which was read twice and referred to the committee on Incorporations.

Mr. Flanders of Manchester introduced a bill in amendment of chap. 147 R. S., (this bill provides that clergymen and justices of the peace may solemnize marriages without the usual form of publication,) which was read twice and referred to the Judiciary Committee.

On the bill to constitute the town of Madison coming up for a third reading, Mr. Preston of New Ipswich moved to strike out the 10th section, which was unanimously agreed to, and the bill passed.

"An act to amend an act relating to the taxation of surplus capital of banks," was read a third time and passed; also, "an act to amend chaps. 113 and 114 of the R. S," "an act to change the time for holding the Probate Court in the county of Sullivan."

The bill relating to foreign Insurance Companies, on motion of Mr. Hackett of Portsmouth, was placed on its second reading, with a view to its amendment, after which it was laid on the table.

The House then took up the discussion of the amendments to the act relating to foreign attachments or the trustee process. The first one provides that "no person or corporation summoned as trustee in any suit or action, shall be charged or chargeable as such for or on account of the personal services or earnings of the wife or any of the children of the debtor or of any labor of the debtor himself after the service of the trustee process on the trustee."

A motion to add the words "at any time" after the word "debtor" where it first occurs in the above extract, was made by Mr. Pike of Franklin, and adopted.

Mr. Bartlett of Portsmouth, moved to amend the sixth section so as to exempt $13,33, in all cases in the hands of a trustee from trustee process. Adopted.

Mr. Flanders of Manchester proposed to insert the words "fifty dollars" instead of "thirteen dollars and thirty-three cents."

Mr. Barker of Westmoreland, moved for a divison of the question—to strike out and insert. The motion to strike out was lost—only five having voted for it.

Mr. Pike of Franklin objected to the 6th section on the ground that it interfered with the practice of courts with reference to costs.

Mr. Bartlett of Portsmouth defended the section. He thought it right that the small pettifogging suits before justices should be put an end to, and the bill would accomplish this. If the Legislature would let this opportunity pass, they would be to blame. The section provides that "in any suit or action, the plaintiff shall not in any case recover costs exceeding in amount the sum covered in damages for the original cause of action, unless such amount recovered shall exceed the sum of $13 33."

Mr. Pike, in regard to some remarks of Mr. Bartlett, made a somewhat warm reply, denying his connection with pettyfogging. The abolition of justice trustee process he was not prepared to assent to—neither was willing to assent to such limitation of costs as the bill, in the sentence under discussion, provided.

Mr. J. H. Wiggins of Dover deprecated the tone of the last speaker, and defended the Judiciary committee from any imputation of having a design other than putting an end, through the bill, to petty justice of peace trusteeings. The bill would effect this object, reduce the expenses of the law to the poor, and, in a very material shape, put an end to litigations.

Mr. Barker of Westmoreland, seeing that the legal profession could not agree concerning the bill, moved its indefinite postponement. This motion gave way to one made by Mr. Metcalf of Newport, that the bill be laid on the table, to which the House agreed.

The bill concerning foreign insurance offices was taken from the table, and a motion by Mr. Hackett of Portsmouth, agreed to, providing that the act shall only apply to insurance companies conducted on the mutual principle.

Mr. McKean of Antrim, in terms of previous notice, introduced a bill to amend an act entitled "an act to incorporate the New Hampshire Mutual Fire Insurance Company," which was read a first and second times, and referred to the committee on Incorporations.

LAND TO THE LANDLESS.—The Canadian executive has given notice that a tract of twenty four millions of acres, lying mainly northeast of Lake Huron, in the latitude of the American mining districts of Lake Superior, will, as soon as surveyed, be thrown open to the landless in gratuitous tracts of one hundred and sixty acres. Alternate sections will thus be given away without price, those lying between them being reserved for sale to cover the expense of surveying and opening the country to emigrants.

Gerritt Smith, Horace Greeley and Daniel Webster have all expressed the opinion that the United States should pursue a similar policy. Maine has already done so.

METHODIST GENERAL BIBLICAL INSTITUTE, at Concord, N. H. is a School, under the patronage of the Methodist denomination, for the preparation of young men for the preparation of young men for the Ministry. It commenced its operations in April, 1849. Eighty young men have enjoyed its tuition, and are now abroad as preachers, while fifty are still connected with its classes.

Only $420 have been raised for the erection of a monument to Professor Stuart and Edwards. The cost will be at least $800.

Ministers are less able to build monuments, than mechanics are.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

TO NEW SUBSCRIBERS.—For $3, we will give every person who may subscribe between this time and the first of January, a receipt from the time of subscribing (and paying) to Jan. 1st, 1854.

☞ After January 1st, 53, the Chronicle will not be for sale by the carriers. Persons wishing it left regularly at their residence or place of business, are respectfully invited to leave their names at the office or with the carriers.

FAIR.

Mr. Wenzel is making preparations to open Rechabite Hall on Tuesday next, with a very attractive display. He has an extensive and varied collection of beautiful pictures—chiefly of French and German manufacture—plain and finely tinted, of all sizes and descriptions. The German lithographs are done in a style fully equalling steel engraving. Besides this very large display of pictures, many of them very richly framed and ornamented, Mr. Wenzel will offer for exhibition and sale many beautiful fancy articles, lamp-shades, specimens of rich fancy book-binding, paper boxes, etc., all finished in superior style and in exquisite taste.

The Hall is directly over Mr. W.'s storerooms, and will be open for a week or more from Tuesday. Particulars will be given in bills.

YOUNG MENS' LYCEUM.

Preparations are being made for another course of Lectures at the Cameneum, to commence very soon. The movement is entirely independent of the Portsmouth Lyceum, all the tickets to which have been taken. The course will comprise eight or ten first-class lectures, and tickets for the course are put at the low price of 50 cents.

FIRE.—An alarm of fire occurred in this city yesterday forenoon about 11 o'clock, which proceeded from a wooden building in Bow street, Nos. 30 and 31, occupied by Mr. Trafton as a carpenter's shop, belonging to Messrs. S. H. Simes and John Yeaton, and was uninsured. The building which was destroyed, adjoined the large brick stores owned by some gentlemen and the heirs of Mr. John Haven.

The Fire Department were out in force, and soon put out the fire; and the building was mostly pulled in pieces: although one of the owners requested and ordered the fire department to desist from pulling it down, as he deemed its destruction quite unnecessary

There were many volunteers, apparently more of them than of regular firemen,—and the destruction appeared to be chiefly the work of outsiders and irregulars who laid hold of the fire-hooks and ropes con amore, to have a good time.

FIRE AT DOVER.—The light seen Thursday evening was that of a burning barn at Dover, belonging, it is said, to Mr. Guppy—supposed to be the work of an incendiary. This is the third barn that has been destroyed by fire on the same spot.

☞ The number of deaths in this city in November was 9—of which 6 were males and 3 females. Their ages were severally as follows: 98, 74, 43, 30, 29, 13, 2, 1 year and 2 months, 6 months.

☞ Rev. Wm. Bell, of Boston, will preach at the Universalist Church to-morrow.

The vote to sell the Portsmouth Bath House at auction has been rescinded.

A CAUTION TO LADIES.—Three ladies stopping at the Adams House, went out for the purpose of seeing the fire on Wednesday night. While they were in the crowd, one of the ladies thought she perceived an attempt made to pick her pocket. She had about $1000 and some articles of jewelry with her, which she immediately took from her pocket, and carried in her hands; at the same time cautioning her companions to take whatever articles of value they had with them from their pockets. They did so, and on returning to the Adams House they found that their dresses had all been cut, and all their pockets gone—Boston Daily Adv.

FIRE AND LOSS OF LIFE.—The dwelling house of Mr. William Holmes, about three miles from the Forks of the Kennebec River, Me., was destroyed by fire, Sunday night last, together with most of its contents; and the wife of Mr. Holmes was so badly burned that she died on Monday morning.

INQUEST.—Coroner Sumner, of Charlestown, held an inquest on Monday evening last, in Somerville, upon the body of Bridget McCraith (wife of John McCraith) who was killed on the Fitchburg Railroad, near the American Tube Works in Somerville, by the 2 1-2 o'clock train of cars. She was standing or walking on the track, and not heeding the repeated warning of the engine whistle, when she was struck by the engine, and thrown upon the frame, from which she was taken off dead. The verdict of the jury was in accordance with the above facts. She was 43 years of age.

POCKET PICKED.—Yesterday forenoon Mrs. Hill, of Merrimac, N. H., had her pocket picked in Boston of a port monnaie containing $105 in money, and notes of hand valued at $500.

LATEST NEWS!

THREE DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

The mail-steamer Europa from Liverpool 20th Nov., arrived at New York, 2d inst. The Duke of Wellington was buried on the 20th of November.

ENGLAND.—The Chancellor of the Exchequer (Mr. D'Israeli) gave notice that on the next Tuesday he would move the following amendment to Mr. Villiers motion on free trade:

"That this House acknowledge with satisfaction that the cheapness of provisions occasioned by legislation has mainly contributed to improve the condition, and to increase the comfort of the working classes, and that unrestricted competition having been adopted after deliberation, the principle of our commercial system, this House is of opinion that it is the duty of the government unreservedly to adhere to that policy in those measures of financial and administrative reform which, under the circumstances of the country, they may deem it their duty to introduce."

The West India mail steamer La Plata has arrived at Southampton with the loss of her commander, Capt. Elliott; also, the purser, third engineer and six of the crew by fever.—Several more of the crew and a number of the passengers are ill. She has on board $800,000 in specie.

The Earl of Shrewsbury died at Rome on the 9th of November. He was one of the pillars of the English Roman Catholic Church.

The commercial treaty concluded between Great Britain and the Sandwich Islands on the 10th July, 1851, of which the ratifications were exchanged on the 6th of May last, has just been published. By this treaty reciprocity of trade is established in all articles except spirituous liquors. British whale ships have access to all the ports of the island for refitting and refreshments, but trading vessels are admitted only to the ports of Honolulu and Lahaina. British subjects in Hawaii are exempted from military service, and pay no higher taxes than the natives.

The steamer Victoria, from Hull to St. Petersburg, was totally lost during a gale between the 8th and 9th of November, near Gottenburg. Eight persons perished, and the remaining twenty men and three lady passengers were rescued by Swedish fishermen, after being on the rocks twenty-four hours.

FRANCE.—The government is still occupied in settling the details of the new Bank des Rapports, a project that Louis Napoleon has set his mind upon. It is strongly opposed by Rothschilds and other capitalists.

At a meeting of American citizens, held on the 16th ult. at the American Club in Paris, Mr. Rives, the American Minister, delivered an address, and resolutions drawn up by Consul Goodrich, were adopted, expressing their feelings upon the death of Mr. Webster.

THE OLD BREWERY.—The Ladies of the Five Point Mission, says the New York Express, have concluded to illuminate the Brewery during the evening of the present week, in order that all who desire it may have an opportunity of visiting this famous building, before it is torn down to give place to the new mission house, to be erected in its site.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—Yesterday the noon train for Salem and Boston met with an accident. The train consisting of engine, tender and two passenger cars—one for Salem and the other for Boston. Just before reaching the switching off at Wilmington junction, the hind Boston car was detatched, to be switched off on the Boston road. But before the hind wheels of the Salem car had passed the switch, the man in attendance shot it off for the other track. Thus the forward wheels took one road and the hind wheels another. This of course turned the car broadside to, and to—in this state it went on till the divergence of the two tracks exceeded the length of the car, when it left the track and soon came to a halt. The rails were twisted and forced out of place, and the car was somewhat damaged—though to what extent we do not know. —Lowell Courier.

THE POPULAR VOTE.—The whole number of votes cast, at the late Presidential election, was about 2,900,000. Gen. Pierce's plurality over Scott is about 200,000, and his majority over Scott and Hale is between 50,000 and 60,000. His plurality in the New England States is about 10,000, in the other free States about 115,000, and in the slave States, (exclusive of South Carolina,) about 72,000.—Daily Patriot.

HEALTH OF HON. WM. R. KING.—Senator Clemens, arrived at Baltimore, says while on his way through Alabama, he saw Hon. Wm. R. King, and that his health was greatly improved.

CALORIC SHIP.—THE WHEEL TURNED. We understand that the wheel of the caloric ship, building by Mr. Erricson, performed its first revolution on Monday last, the motive power being nothing more than the expansive force of compressed air unheated. No fire was used in this instance, the elasticity of the natural atmosphere being sufficient for the desired purpose.—N. Y. Journal Com.

REMOVAL OF AN ISLAND.—Mr. Jas. McCloskey has made a proposition to the port wardens of Camden, N. J., for the removal of Smith's Island from the Delaware, to a depth of four feet below low water mark, for the sum of $300,000.

During the past year, the New York auctioneers report sales of real estate to the amount of $10,000,000, and it is estimated that amount equal to $5,000,000, has been sold at private sale—in all $15,000,000,—exceeding the sale of any former year since 1846.

An advertisement of the Land Agent of Massachusetts appears in the Commonwealth of Wednesday, offering for sale all the lands owned by Massachusetts in the State of Maine, amounting in the whole to about 1,800,000 acres.

The New Orleans Crescent says that lately a ship left that port from which were landed at Slaughter House Point, five dead men. Two of them are said to have been made drunk at a sailor boarding house, and died, after being taken on board, from the effects of drugs in the liquor given them.

Iron Sinks.
PROVIDENCE Cast Iron Sinks—best in the market. For sale by E. A. STEVENS.

PERFECTLY IMMATERIAL.—Not long since, while travelling from Pittsburg to Cincinnati, two rather verdant specimens came on board the boat at one of the landings, who, for the sake of distinction, we will call Mary and Jane. Now, Mary had cut her eye teeth, or, in other words, was acquainted with the rules and regulations which govern genteel society. Jane, the younger, had never mixed in society to any great extent, and was, therefore, in blissful ignorance as to any of the rules which govern refined people. Her language, too, was only such as she had heard among her rustic associates. Mary was aware of the fact, and had therefore cautioned her to observe how she (Mary) acted, and to govern herself accordingly. Jane promised implicit obedience. Shortly after, while seated at the dinner table, the waiter asked Mary what part of the fowl she would have.

She informed him, in a very polite manner, that it was "perfectly immaterial." He accordingly gave her a piece, and then inquired of Jane what part she would choose. The simple minded girl replied, with all the self-assurance imaginable—

"I believe I'll take a piece of the immaterial too!"

The scene that followed this declaration is beyond the power of pen to describe.

AN INCIDENT.—A few mornings since, just as the cars started from the depot, a gentleman, his wife and daughter, were observed a distance up the street running with great speed towards the depot. One of the agents of the railroad or some person, also observing the effort of the party, started after the train and succeeded in giving the engineer a sign to stop for passengers. As it was the accommodation line, the train was stopped some distance on the road, and awaited the approach of the man, his wife and daughter. They were all pretty much exhausted by the long and hard run they had, but they reached the location of the train, and by a new effort climbed a small pile of plank close at hand; and stood looking at the cars and commenced remarking upon the appearance of the vehicles.

The man gave something like a combination of a blow and a grunt, and said, addressing his wife: "Well, I don't think they look so very dangerous, do you."

"Why, I don't think they do," responded the lady, wiping her face; "they look rather safe and comfortable."

"La, mother," said the daughter, "ain't they pretty coaches—so many seats and windows, and so pretty painted," taking a short breath and fanning herself with her handkerchief.

"Jump in, jump in," said the conductor.

"Oh," said the old gentleman, "we don't want to get in! we only wanted to see them!"

THE ROGER WILLIAMS
COOKING STOVE.

FOR COAL OR WOOD.

THE attention of all in want of a COOK STOVE is respectfully solicited to a consideration of the merits of this most beautifully modeled pattern; equally adapted for coal or wood, and warranted to operate successfully with either,—which is now offered to the public as the
Most Complete and Efficient
Cooking apparatus ever before introduced in this vicinity. It is an elegant model, with fine smooth Providence castings, fitted together in the most substantial manner. The oven, (by far the most important part of a cooking stove,) in point of capacity, and in regard to its operation, is unsurpassed by that of any other stove now in the market, it being lined with fire-brick to retain and equalize the heat, and provided with valves for the escape of steam, &c. arising from the roasting of meats—rendering it in this respect superior to the old fashioned but universally admired Tin Kitchen.
The broiling apparatus is constructed on an entirely new and original plan, and will not fail to recommend itself at the first glance, as no smoke or gas arising from that culinary process can escape into the room. The sliding hearth is an improvement not to be found in any other stove.
The popularity of this over all other stoves now in the market, may be inferred from the fact that since its first introduction the last season, over THREE THOUSAND have been put into successful operation in New England and New York City.
Every stove is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction to the purchaser or the money refunded.
Each stove is warranted not to crack for twelve months from date of purchase. It is believed that this stove combines all the improvements that skill can invent, and is by far the most perfect cooking stove ever sold in Portsmouth. And though its price is higher than any other stove offered in this market of late, it is without question the cheapest in the end. All intending to purchase are respectfully invited to give this an examination before purchasing elsewhere.
Also, a variety of cheap Cook, Parlor, and Office Stoves, which are offered low.

The Bay State Stove,

FOR WOOD OR COAL.

THE subscriber, in offering this favorite Stove to the public, the present season, would state that a new covered Broiling Apparatus has been added to the former stove, and the flues enlarged for burning anthracite coal, and the Stove otherwise improved—and is now put into the market as in the world. The castings are heavier, more beautiful and durable; the stove has a larger oven, will bake better and with less fuel, than any other stove in use.
These stoves are made from pure metal and are not liable to crack; and we furnish every stove with the best of apparatus—Copper Boiler, &c., and warrant them a year; and if any part prove defective it will be made good without charge.
Persons wishing to obtain a good Stove, will do well to buy a BAY STATE. There have been in operation in this city for four years past, and have given perfect satisfaction. For sale at the Store of the subscriber, where may be found a large assortment of COOKING, PARLOR AND OFFICE STOVES, TIN WARE, FUNNEL, &c. for sale cheap for cash. E. A. STEVENS.
Portsmouth, Sept. 9th, 1852.

WHAT-CHEER STOVE.

THE WHAT-CHEER COAL COOKING STOVE, now offered for sale by the subscribers, is acknowledged by all who have examined it to be the best and most economical Coal Stove ever offered to the public.
The castings are heavy, smooth, and very handsome. The Broiling apparatus is a great improvement over all other Stoves, being constructed in such a manner as to prevent the steam from escaping into the room when cooking.
All persons wishing to purchase a COAL COOKING STOVE, are respectfully requested to call and examine the same. Every Stove warranted to work well, or no sale.
We have also a large assortment of COOKING, PARLOR and STORE STOVES, &c.—for sale cheap for Cash at our Store.

THE IMPROVED
EMPIRE STATE STOVE.

THIS justly celebrated COOKING STOVE having been improved in every way it could be to make its operations complete, and its castings beautifully ornamented—no expense, time or trouble having been spared to make this the most complete Cooking Stove ever brought before the public—the subscriber feels assured in warranting the IMPROVED EMPIRE STATE superior to any stove in the market, as hundreds can testify who have used them for the past year.
This Stove has a very LARGE OVEN, which makes it desirable on account of doing more cooking with the same amount of fuel than can be done in any other stove. The flues are large, which ensures a good draft in all cases. The castings are very heavy and smooth, and those parts that come next the fire are extra thick, making it very durable. It is adapted to the use of either coal or wood, and we warrant them to operate as well with one as the other. We furnish them with the very best appanatus; and, altogether, it is the MOST DURABLE, ECONOMICAL and CONVENIENT COOKING STOVE ever made—complete in every respect. We ask the attention of all persons intending to purchase a new, or exchange their old stove, to an examination of the Improved Empire State.
We have also on hand a variety of other Cooking Stoves, called the "Banner," "Belle of the States," "King of the States," "Bay State," "Anglo Saxon," "Pearl of Troy," &c.; with a large lot of PARLOR STOVES, such as the Revere Air-Tight, Star, Revere Parlor Cook, Lady Franklin, for Wood or Coal; Shop, Office and Air-Tight Stoves, of different sizes and prices for either wood or coal.
Also an extensive assortment of HOUSEKEEPING GOODS; Wooden, Willow, Glass, Britannia, Japan, Tin, Iron, Enamel, and Brass Ware; Copper, Cast Iron, and Chain Pumps; Window-Shade, Table Oil-cloths, &c.
All the above goods will be sold lower than can be bought elsewhere in this vicinity.

COINAGE OF THE MINTS OF THE UNITED STATES.—Since the first of January last, there have been coined at the U. S. Mint in Philadelphia and its several branches, $45,271,650 in gold, $737,604 in silver, and $40,335 in copper—total, $46,049,589. The deposits of gold at the several mints during the same time amounted to $43,908,865, of which $43,146,809 was from California.

The deposits of gold at Philadelphia since the first instant, amount to $4,792,000 against $5,960,000 for the same time last year.—Another is now nearly due with a large amount of gold dust, but the total deposits for the year will hardly reach the amount deposited during the year 1851. In that year the deposits of gold for November and December were $11,762,669, of which $109,121 were foreign gold. This amount will hardly be reached for the corresponding months of the current year. The deposits of foreign gold, (chiefly coin,) for the first ten months of the current year, at all the mints, have increased, as compared with the same period of 1851, $333,681. In domestic gold the deposits of California gold have fallen off $80,596, but the amount from other States have increased $112,742.—Times.

ATLANTIC & ST. LAWRENCE RAILROAD.—The Portland Advertiser says, the track-laying on the Atlantic Railroad, has advanced to within about a mile of the bridge over the Connecticut river. The late rain has brought down a plentiful supply of sleepers, which had before been delayed; and the track will now go forward, if the weather continues favorable, at the rate of nearly a mile a day.—On the Vermont side, the sleepers are already laid for about eight miles, being more than half the distance to Island Pond.

Unless there should be very severe winter weather, immediately, the road may be opened to Island Pond in a short time.

We learn that the York and Cumberland Road will be completed to the Saco river, in a very short time.

ARKANSAS.—The State of Arkansas is in debt to the depth of Two Millions, and has nothing to show for it. Not a mile of railroad; no great public works; no useful financial institution. The half-million acres of land bestowed on the State by the Federal Government have all been wasted, without leaving any permanent advantage to represent them. It would really be curious to know for what Arkansas ever ran in debt, or what excuse she has to offer.—New York Times.

BENEFIT OF ADTERTISING.—An old man in New York named Paddleburn, worth $150,000, who thought he had not a relative in the world, advertised in the papers for any one claiming kindred to come forward, when in less than twenty-four hours he was visited by no less than six aunts, fourteen uncles, fifty-four nephews, ninety-three nieces, and one hundred and forty-eight cousins.

EDUCATION IN CANADA.—On Wednesday of last week the beautiful buildings which have been erected in Toronto for the Normal School of Upper Canada, were opened for public inspection. The building is 190 feet front, by 85 deep, and is said to be as near perfect in its construction as possible. The site occupies eight acres in the very heart of the city of Toronto. The building cost $60,000.

Mr. David White, of Indiana, has made a handsome thing by the extraordinary rise in hogs. He cleared $60,000 on Friday by one sale, and it is thought that his profits will reach $200,000 before the season closes. The price of hogs has risen to $6 per cwt., and stubbornly demanded. Mr. W. is the proprietor of the largest slaughtering establisment in the West, known as the "Mammoth Cave."

BASE COIN NAILED TO THE COUNTER.—In Philadelphia, a man named Settler had been convicted in the U. S. District Court, of forging half dollars.

AN OLD CLERGYMAN.—The Right Rev. David Low, D. D. LL. D., late Bishop of Moray and Ross, Scotland, having recently resigned his see, is now living in great old age and retirement at Pittenweem. The Churchman contains a letter from this venerable man, to a gentleman in this city, in which the writer says—"I have now been a clergyman sixty-two years and six months; the oldest now in this church; my senior of ten years standing, Bishop Torrey, having died within a fortnight. In the Winter of 1784, I was attending the University of Aberdeen, when the venerable Bishop Seabury was consecrated."—N. Y. Com. Adv.

PLAGIARISM.—Some amusement has been caused by the discovery that the most brilliant points in D'Israeli's eulogy on the Duke of Wellington, delivered in the House of Commons lately, are stolen word for word, to the extent of fifty lines or so, from M. Thiers' oration on Marshal De St. Cyr, to be found in the London Morning Chronicle of July, 1848.

If they applied well, where's the harm?—We can see none, except in not giving credit—and sometimes even editors omit that.

EFFECT OF FIRE UPON AN INSANE MAN.—The worcester Ægis states that the insane man who escaped suffocation at the recent fire at the Worcester County House, was called upon to testify before the coroner's jury, and gave his evidence as intelligibly and correctly as any witness. He wrapped himself in a blanket and laid down on the floor with his face to the ventilator, and thus saved himself. He is not now considered insane, though he was before thought to be one of the "incurable."

PORTSMOUTH:
MONDAY, DECEMBER 6, 1852.

LIQUOR LAW, AND HIGHER LAW.

It is said the Lebanon (N. H.) Whig uses the following language in relation to the N. H. Liquor Bill:

"We can assure the friends and opponents of a Maine Law, that the public will never rest satisfied or give over agitation on this subject, until they obtain some law similar in its provisions to the one referred to. No matter whether it be wise, just, expedient or otherwise, the public will have the privilege of testing the thing. The tendency oft hings nowadays is in that direction, and whether right or wrong, the law will sooner or later have a trial in most of our Northern States, at least."

On this the N. H. Patriot remarks:

"The sentiment here inculcated is as atrocious as it is absurd; it is the genuine "higher law" doctrine. No matter whether the bill is right or wrong, just or unjust, constitutional or otherwise, we are told that it must and shall be passed!"

We do not see the Lebanon Whig—and we do not understand the above extract from it to mean that the bill shall be passed, but that it will, which is exactly the ground we take about Cuban annexation. We do not mean, however, to interfere between the combatants, but to correct an error about the "higher law," into which not only the Patriot, but a hundred other papers seem to have fallen.

Senator Seward of New York said that he deemed the fugitive slave law repugnant to the Constitution of the United States, which he considered the paramount law of the land—but, he added, there is a higher law than that to which it is opposed, the law of God, the law of right. We do not remember his words, (and have no copy of his speech,) but we are certain this was the substance of them.

Now, if the Lebanon Whig, or any other Whig, is resolved to sustain an unjust liquor law, or any unjust law whatever, he goes directly against Senator Seward's higher law.—It has been very fashionable, for the last two years, for newspapers and orators to sneer at the higher law—but there is no good reason for it. If there is no Divine Law that stands high above paper constitutions and human enactments—then the standard of duty is as changeable as the wind, and Louis Napoleon is conscience-keeper for all France.

THE SAFE PLACE.

The safest place in a railroad train, when in motion, has been a mooted point oft discussed by travellers. In a case on trial in the New York courts, for damages for injuries resulting from a collision, the railroad company put in as a defence that the plaintiff was in the baggage car smoking, contrary to the posted regulations of the company, that they did not profess to carry passengers safely in that car, on account of its exposed situation; and that if the plaintiff had remained in the passenger car, as he ought to have done, he would have been uninjured. In answer to this, it was shown by the plaintiff's attorney, by the statistics of railroad accidents in England and France, that the baggage car is as safe as any in the train, and that the most unsafe cars are those in the middle of the train.

There is really no such thing as a safe place in a railway train,—and we do not believe the central part of a train is less safe than the ends of it. This is of no sort of consequence however, in the law case above described.—The railway companies do not contract to carry passengers safely in baggage cars—and if a blockhead gets in there to smoke, or to do any thing else, when the train is in motion, he runs his own risk. But in a crowded train, when by agreement or by real necessity, passengers must occupy baggage cars, platforms, &c., these places become passenger cars and come under the same rules. There is the same difference between the two cases, as there is between those of a slave who runs away into a free State and of one who is carried thither by his master.

MEMORY AND IMAGINATION.—The Boston Daily Chronicle notices the fact that we sketched a view of the editor's life a little while ago, and says "The writer has rare faculties for a biographer, being evidently a man of memory and imagination; for in the sketch of us, he drew wholly on the former for his wit, and upon the latter for his facts. He is destined to eminence."

This is a true bill. We do remember a great deal of wit, and have probably forgotten more of the same sort than our cotemporary ever knew. Our imaginings about him are facts, not one of which he will ever deny, excepting in a playful manner, which manner he can use more happily than any other. The destination to eminence is doubtless meant for a joke, and it is not bad—but many a true word is spoken in jest: there is no telling how high we may climb.

A public dinner is to be tendered to Gerrit Smith, by his friends, in commemoration of his recent election to Congress.—Commonwealth.

Commemoration? What does this mean? Is it such an old affair, that it needs to be specially remembered?

N. H. General Court—Nov. Session, 1852.

(Abridged from the Patriot.)

FRIDAY, Dec. 3.

SENATE.—Mr. Hoitt, from the joint committee appointed to fix a day of final adjournment, reported Saturday, Dec. 25, as a day for the close of the session—accepted.

The House resolution of thanks for the reception of the Executive and Legislative Departments at the Webster obsequies, was read a first time. Mr. Freeman moved its indefinite postponement, pending which question being taken, a discussion arose in which Mr. Freeman participated in opposition to the resolution, and Messrs. Shannon, Taylor and Rix in favor. The question was taken but no quorum voted, when the resolution was laid on the table, but was subsequently called up, and Mr. Freeman withdrew his motion of postponement. The resolution was then read a third time and passed, Mr. Freeman alone voting in the negative.

[The House then passed the resolution.]

HOUSE.—Marriage Bill introduced. — Mr. Gray of Manchester, in terms of previous notice, introduced a bill in relation to intentions of marriage.

On the question of ordering the bill to a second reading coming up, the House signified opposition to the progress.

Mr. Gray explained his reasons for presenting the bill. The existing statute was inoperative in this State, it had proved itself so in other States where simil'ar laws were on the statute. The main object of the bill was to facilitate the completion of a correct register of marriages.

Mr. Barron of Sanbornton approved of the bill presented yesterday as being more simple in its construction. The practice for thirty years had been to marry parties, when of age, whether publishment had been made or no, where no obstruction was legally in the way. No law could be made which could hinder people of age from marrying; besides, a dozen marriages might take place next Sunday illegally, were this law passed, in the absence of a knowledge of its existence; and the parties to them be subjected, innocently, to a fine. Mr. Barron's speech embraced some points which elicited a good deal of mirth.

The House pretty unanimously ordered the bill to a second reading.

The trustee process bill.—Mr. Metcalf of Newport moved to take the bill relating to foreign ettachments on trustee process from the table and consider it forthwith, when the House assented, and Mr. Barker of Westmoreland withdrew his motion, made yesterday, to indefinitely postpone the bill.

Mr. Metcalf moved an amendment substantially to abolish trustee process before justices of peace.

Mr. Carlton of Chesterfield, moved the indefinite postponement of the bill.

After some opposition to the motion by Mr. Hackett of Portsmouth and others, Mr. Chamberlain of Keene spoke in support of the motion, which was put, and, on division, was sustained by a vote of 134 to 54.

The Railroad taxation Bill was ordered to a third reading.

Guardianship over Spendthrifts.—Mr. Metcalf of Newport, in accordance with previous notice, presented a bill in amendment of the statute relating to the appointment of guardians. Mr. Metcalf explained the reasons demanding the passage of the bill. The bill provided that selectmen of a town where a spendthrift resides should have the same power to petition for the exercise of the jurisdiction of probate courts in his case as the selectmen of the town responsible for his support. The bill was ordered to a third reading.

Lecture on Tobacco.—Mr. Preston of New Ipswich offered a resolution to allow the use of the Representatives' Hall to Rev. Mr. Trask, to give a lecture this evening on the use of tobacco—adopted.

Union of N. H. Central and Concord and Claremont Railroads.— Leave being specially granted, Mr. Metcalf of Newport introduced a bill to connect the N. H. Central and Concord and Claremont Railroads, which was read once.

On motion of Mr. Flanders of Manchester, the bill was laid on the table, and the Clerk instructed to have the usual number of copies printed.

Bills Passed.—Act in addition to chap. 39 R. S., relating to persons and property liable to taxation; act relating to foreign insurance companies; act to establish the times and place of holding the Probate Court of the County of Cheshire.

Adj. to Monday at 3 P. M.

FIRE IN DOVER.—At about 6 o'clock on Thursday evening the large and beautiful Barn belonging to Mr. Charles Clements, situated on the Gulf road, near his dwelling house, was discovered to be on fire, and in a few minutes was completely enveloped in flames.

Two of Mr. Clements' hands had just returned from the Barn, where they had been with a lantern for the purpose of milking, but as the fire was first discovered at the end directly opposite from where they had been with the lantern, it is generally supposed to be the work of an incendiary.

The Barn contained about twenty-five tons of hay, together with some other property. One ox and a cow were burnt, the rest of the live stock having been rescued before the fire had gained much headway. The loss to Mr. Clements must be a severe one, as the hay alone cannot be estimated at a value less than $500.—Dover Gazette.

THE LEGISLATURE.—Beyond the election of Senator, the proceedings of this body for the week, we are sorry to say, have been totally destitute of interest and importance. The members to-day, (Tuesday,) attend the "mock funeral" of Mr. Webster, at Boston. When they return, we trust they will go to work. The Democratic party is pretty strong just now, but it cannot stand forever under such trifling as the session thus far has exhibited. We would pay proper respect to the memory of Webster; he was a son of New Hampshire—and the greatest man of the age; but we really do not think the Legislature exhibited good taste, good judgment or common prudence, in adopting its manner of respect. These ex parte fost funerals are a ridiculous mockery.—Union Democrat.

This is a pretty fair paragraph, generally, but the latin is shocking. We don't know what it means. We copy it from the Dover Gazette.

LOCAL.

TO NEW SUBSCRIBERS.—For $3, we will give every person who may subscribe between this time and the first of January, a receipt from the time of subscribing (and paying) to Jan. 1st, 1854.

FIRE.—There was an alarm of fire about nine o'clock Saturday forenoon, caused by the partial burning of an old barn in Court street, belonging to Mr. L. Cotton. As the building had not been used for some time, the fire was doubtless the work of an incendiary. It was extinguished before any damage was done.

By the efforts of Mr. Cotton, and the vigilance of City Marshal Dearborn, a number of boys have been apprehended and held for examination, as the incendiaries who caused this fire and that of Friday. It is said that some of the boys had a plot to burn the large old stable, corner of Atkinson and Jefferson streets. These truant and vicious boys should be taken care of.

☞ SIGNOR BLITZ, the bright little magician, a great favorite in Portsmouth, advertises to perform his tricks of legerdemain, exhibit his Ventriloquial powers, and show off his wonderful Canary Birds at the Temple, this evening and to-morrow evening. All who would like to be deceived, or to deceive themselves in a neat and genteel way, are advised to visit the Temple.

MONS. ADRIEN, the Wizard of France, gave his first exhibition at the Temple, on Saturday evening, to a good audience. His efforts to amuse and deceive were highly successful, and the Megascoramic Views were of a superior order. He gives another exhibition on Wednesday evening; also every evening after, through the week.

THE BALTIMORE SLAVE MOTHER.—The following note shows the condition of the fund for the aid of the interesting slave case in Baltimore:—

The subscriber would gratefully acknowledge the receipt, from the benevolent citizens of Boston and vicinity, of one hundred and ninety-five dollars, towards redeeming the slave mother and child in Baltimore.

There has been raised in Baltimore for this object $350, and we need $105 more to make up the required sum of $750. Will not the friends of humanity send in the balance?—Subscriptions will be received at the office of the Boston Courier, by Messrs. J. P. Jewett & Co. at 17 Cornhill, and by myself.

RUFUS W. CLARK.

Boston, Dec. 3, 1852.

☞ Samuel E. Coues, Esq., of this city, is announced to lecture before the Biddeford Lyceum, on Wednesday evening next. Subject—The history of the theory of the tides.

☞ Rev. A. B. Fuller of Manchester, N. H., who was unanimously called to the pastorship of the North Church, Hanover street, Boston, declines to accept the call.

PLAGIARISM.—The Literary World points out some most striking resemb ances, to say the least of it, between the story of Uncle Tom and Eva, and that of "Little Henry and his Bearer," by Mrs. Sherwood.

There is some resemblance; but the Literary World must take care not to make too much of it; for Little Henry was a very popular book, and perhaps Uncle Tom may be, if the resemblance is well made out, and duly insisted on. By the way, we have been much interested with an article in Fraser's Magazine, which gives some facts about Mrs. Stowe's life, showing how she became acquainted with the scenes she shows up so vividly in Uncle Tom's Cabin. She had been in their midst, and therefore writes like an eye witness.

GIRL IN BOYS' CLOTHES.—In the noon train from Boston on Thurday, was a very pretty boy (?) who was thus observed of all observers. Upon enquiry, it was ascertained that the individual that excited so much interest was a very pretty girl, of sweet fourteen, who was dressed in male attire, and the very top of the mode at that. She stated that she belonged in New York, and was on her way to Portland, where she has relations. After the train arrived here, we saw her tripping down State street, humming a tune, and gazing into the shop windows with much apparent curiosity. She seemed "in maiden meditation, fancy free;" but her mother didn't probably know she was out; or, if she did, was not certain of her whereabouts.

She is a dangerous person to be absent, as she is so very handsome (for a boy) that the girls will be likely to fall in love with her, at sight—which would not come to much, except disappointment.—Newburyport Union.

The above must be Miss Emma Snodgrass, as she calls herself, (not her real name by the way,) who has been playing similar pranks in Boston, and has figured largely in the newspapers.

BUTTER.—The Rochester, N. Y., Union butters a "biscuit" for its readers, as follows: "We may as well remark that the probabilities do not favor an opinion that the present high price of butter will continue. There is a good deal in the hands of speculators, both East and West, and somebody will probably lose on it before it is consumed. We notice that prudent dealers hereabouts do not seek large investments in butter at the prices at which it is now held.

LATEST NEWS!

CHARLESTOWN, Dec. 3.—Advices from Havana, to the 29th ult., state that the Capt. General expresses his entire satisfaction with Purser Smith's affidavit, and that the Crescent City and Smith, may now enter Havana unmolested.

The old crop of sugar was very much reduced, and prices have advanced.

Rice was depressed by heavy arrivals of Brazilian, which competes successfully with Carolina. Freights to the United States 75 cents. Sugar $2,25. Exchanges on London 11 1-2 to 12; on the United States at par, to 1-2 discount.

The Frigate Cyane and steam frigate Fulton, arrived on the 28th. The Empire City sailed for New York, on the 29th.

At Matanzas, the coming crops of Sugar and Molasses, indicate an average yield.

Exchange had receded. A considerable amount on London, was done at 11 1-2; on Boston and New York, at par to 1-2 discount. Freights are dull, and vessels scarce.

New York, Dec. 3d.—A public dinner was tendered by the citizens of Selina, Alabama, to William R. King, previous to his departure for Washington, but he declined the honor chiefly on account of infirm health.

A serious disturbance occurred last night at the meeting of the general Democratic Committee in Tammany Hall. Several blows were given, and Augustus Schnell the Chairman was seriously wounded.

The passenger train on the Philadelphia Railroad got off the track last night near Jersey City, in consequence of a displacement of the switch. No lives were lost. The engine and several cars were smashed, and the mail was detained.

New York, Dec. 4th.—A rain storm of great violence commenced in this vicinity last night at eleven o'clock, and still continues.

The eastern telegraph lines are all down this morning, except the House line. We have no news of particular interest.

Washington, Dec. 3.—Senators Gwin, Toucey and Dawson have arrived. Members are unusually tardy in assembling. Only 20 Senators and 40 Representatives arrived up to this evening.

Washington, Dec. 3d.—The Annual Report of the Secretary will show an amount of imports to 30th June, amounting to $200,000,000; exports, including $43,000,000 of specie, amount to nearly the same.

Government has purchased $2,500,000 of its own stock of the loan falling due July, 1853.

Reports of all the Departments will be ready at the opening of Congress.

Mr. Webster has necessarily left behind him a vast amount of unfinished business—which it is now the aim and purpose of Mr. Everett to lead to a happy issue. He is constantly hard at work, not to leave his successor any rubbish. Mrs. Everett is in too feeble health to join Mr. Everett in Washington the ensuing winter; so Mr. Everett will not open a house, but continue at Willard's hotel, his present quarters. From what I learn, Gen. Pierce has engaged rooms at the same house.

Cincinnati, Dec. 2.—The Electoral Colleges of Tennessee and Kentucky met yesterday, and recorded their respective votes of the State for Scott and Graham.

Two freight trains came in collision on the Bellefontaine railroad, near Indianapolis.—One man, employed on the line, named Thomas Barrett, was instantly killed.

EUROPEAN POLITICS.—The Albany Evening Journal, alluding to the efforts of Mazzini and other liberals, remarks that "one cannot but admire the indomitable spirit that prompts these perserving efforts, and yet the re-establishment of the Empire in France—the difficulty of arousing England to take any part in any political movement which has not England for its object—the quiet submission—whether forced or apathetic, which prevails in Italy, Poland and Hungary—the ill success of such subscription funds when the donations are large—their inadequacy when the contributions are small—all forbode still further postponement of the hopes of whose fulfilment has been already so long delayed. That the reaction will be general and sweeping when it comes, none can doubt. But many doubt whether it can begin in England; though even distrust of its immediate coming will not relax endeavors to be ready for it."

THOMAS FRANCIS MEAGHER received $1652 as the net proceeds of his lecture at the Metropolitan Hall, New York, on the evening of 25th ult., after deducting the cost of the hall, advertising, &c. This is the largest sum ever paid any man for one lecture in this country.

SINGULAR SUICIDE.—A son of Luther Corse, of Dover, N. H., 12 years of age, on the 19th ult., asked permission of his father to go to a turkey shooting, which the father refused. The son went into the wagon house, took a halter, tied it to a joist, and standing in the wagon leaned forward and put his chin into the halter, in which situation he was found shortly after, but not until life was extinct. It is not supposed that the boy intended to commit suicide, but to frighten his father for refusing him permission to go, as he wished. —Boston Transcripti.

A RIDICULOUS CUSTOM.—At London, on the 5th ult., was enacted the ridiculous farce of searching the Parliamentary cellars for barrels of gunpowder and the ghost or imitator of Guy Fawkes. The Globe says that "with lamp in hand, and with solemn step and watchful eye," the explorers gravely pursued their way, and returned "covered with dust and nearly choked with foul air," to report no cause for apprehension on the part of either House.

A PROFITABLE MEADOW.—A farmer in Canton has a cranberry meadow of twelve acres in extent, lying near Punkapoag Pond, from which he has raked, the present season, upwards of 1000 bushels of fine cranberries, for which he has realized $3000 cash.

HOUSE AND LIFE PROTECTORS
AGAINST FIRE AND LIGHTNING.
PATENT METALLIC
LADDER AND CONDUCTOR.
THIS new and important invention is one that should receive the attention of every person who owns a building, or who is interested in that which presents a "permanent safeguard" against lightning, and at the same time a light, strong and ornamental Ladder, which will securely warrant the inmates of any house the ready means of escape in case of fire.
The above are manufactured by Messrs. Washburn, Holland & Co. of Worcester, Mass., and have received the strongest testimonials of approval from many scientific and practical men. A moment's examination of the Metallic Ladder is sufficient to convince any person of its great utility.
☞ Price per foot, 20 cents; including Lightning Rods and Points of the most approved material.

A female prisoner in jail at Cleveland, Ohio, lately escaped from the jail there. Just as the jailer entered her cell she popped out, and locked the jailer in. After enjoying her liberty for three hours she came back, entered her cell, and liberated the jailer.

Lord Lyndhurst, although beyond his eighty-sixth year, is in good health, and is perhaps the only living British subject who personally remembers Washington at Mount Vernon.—His Lordship was born a colonist in Boston.

The New York Times advises young men to keep away from that city. It says that nineteen twentieths of the young men who come there to seek their fortunes, not only drag out an existence of poverty, but become miserable vagabonds.

Isaiah Rynders we are told, is a candidate for the office of United States Marshal for the Southern District of New-York. The Barnburners object to such a hangman; and insist that he should be at the other end of the rope.—N. Y. Mirror.

We understand that a man, his wife and child residing at the Head of the Harbor were badly burnt by some burning fluid the other night. The man was carelessly filling a lamp while burning, when the whole caught fire, and in the excitement was dropped into the cradle where the child lay. The child was very severely burnt.—Gloucester Telegraph.

"A Monstrous Tumor.—A tumor, weighing 112 pounds, was taken, after death, from the body of Hannah White, of Gill, on the 23d inst. The sack of the tumor, weighed 17 1-2 pounds, the balance being water, which, on being emptied out, filled a common sized wash-tub. It had been in existence for eleven years.—Springfield Republican.

Mrs. Deborah Randall, who died at Annapolis, Md., on the 29th ult., was 96 years old, and had often, in her young days, danced with Gen. Washington.

The New York papers are beginning to open their batteries upon "high priced concerts." They think the humbug has been continued quite long enough.

Good butter was selling at Nashville, Tenn., on the 20th of November, at 12 cents a pound!

THE ROGER WILLIAMS
COOKING STOVE.
FOR COAL OR WOOD.

THE attention of all in want of a COOK STOVE is respectfully solicited to a consideration of the merits of this most beautifully modeled pattern; equally adapted for coal or wood, and warranted to operate successfully with either, which is now offered to the public as the

Most Complete and Efficient

Cooking apparatus ever before introduced in this vicinity. It is set up in brick, with fine smooth Providence castings, fitted together in the most substantial manner. The oven, (by far the most important part of a cooking stove,) in point of capacity, and in regard to its operation, is unsurpassed by that of any other stove now in the market, it being lined with fire-brick to retain and equalize the heat, and provided with valves for the escape of steam, &c. arising from the roasting of meats—rendering it in this respect superior to the old fashioned but generally admired Tin Kitchen. The broiling apparatus is constructed on an entirely new and original plan, and will not fail to recommend itself at the first glance, as no smoke or gas arising from that culinary process can escape into the room. The sliding hearth is an improvement not to be found in any other stove.
The popularity of this over all other stoves now in the market, may be inferred from the fact that since its first introduction the last season, over THREE THOUSAND have been put into successful operation in New England and New York City.
Every stove is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction to the purchaser or the money refunded.
Each stove is warranted not to crack for twelve months from date of purchase. It is believed that this stove combines all the improvements that skill can invent, and is by far the most perfect cooking stove ever sold in Portsmouth. And though its price is higher than any other stove offered in this market of late, it is without question the cheapest in the end. All intending to purchase are respectfully invited to give this an examination before purchasing elsewhere.
Also, a variety of cheap Cook, Parlor, and Office Stoves, which are offered low.
J. E. CHAPMAN,

STANLEY'S Imperial AIR-TIGHT COAL BURNER.

THE above cut represents the most beautiful, durable and economical
STORE, CHURCH OR HALL STOVE
extant. We sold a number of these stoves last season, and they give perfect satisfaction.
Four sizes of this capital article in store, and for sale at MORRISON'S,
n9 15 Daniel st.

WHAT-CHEER STOVE.

THE WHAT-CHEER COAL COOKING STOVE, now offered for sale by the subscribers, is acknowledged by all who have examined it to be the best and most economical Coal Stove ever offered to the public.
The castings are heavy, smooth, and very handsome. The broiling apparatus is a great improvement over all other Stoves, being constructed in such a manner as to prevent the steam from escaping into the room when cooking.
All persons wishing to purchase a COAL COOKING STOVE, are respectfully requested to call and examine the same. Every Stove warranted to work well, or no sale.
We have also a large assortment of COOKING, PARLOR and STORE STOVES, &c.—for sale cheap for Cash at our Store,
Corner of State and Water streets,

THE IMPROVED
EMPIRE STATE STOVE.

THIS justly celebrated COOKING STOVE having been improved in every way it could be to make its operations more complete, and its plates beautifully ornamented—no expense, time or trouble having been spared to make this the most complete Cooking Stove ever brought before the public—the subscriber feels assured in warranting the IMPROVED EMPIRE STATE superior to any stove in the market, as hundreds can testify who have used them for the past year.
This Stove has a very LARGE OVEN, which makes it desirable on account of doing more cooking with the same amount of fuel than can be done in any other stove. Also the large, Air-Tight, Star, Revere Parlor Cook, Lady Franklin, for Wood or Coal; Shop, Office and Air-Tight Stoves, of different sizes and prices for either wood or coal.
Also an extensive assortment of HOUSEKEEPING GOODS; Wooden, Willow, Glass, Britannia, Japan, Tin, Hard, Enamel, and Brass Ware; Copper, Cast Iron, and Chain Pumpe; Window-Shade, Table Cloths, &c.
All the above goods will be sold lower than can be bought elsewhere in this vicinity.

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.
PORTSMOUTH:
TUESDAY, DECEMBER 7, 1852.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

Fellow Citizens of the Senate and of the House of Representatives:

The brief space which has elapsed since the close of your last session has been marked by no extraordinary political event. The quadrennial election of Chief Magistrate has passed off with less than the usual excitement. However individuals and parties may have been disappointed in the result, it is nevertheless a subject of national congratulation that the choice has been effected by the independent suffrages of a free people, undisturbed by those influences which in other countries have too often affected the purity of popular elections.

Our grateful thanks are due to an All-merciful Providence, not only for staying the pestilence which in different forms has desolated some of our cities, but for crowning the labors of the husbandman with an abundant harvest, and the nation generally with the blessings of peace and prosperity.

Within a few weeks the public mind has been deeply affected by the death of Daniel Webster, filling at his decease the office of Secretary of State. His associates in the Executive government have sincerely sympathized with his family and the public generally on this mournful occasion. His commanding talents, his great political and professional eminence, his well-tried patriotism, and his long and faithful services, in the most important public trusts, have caused his death to be lamented throughout the country, and have earned for him a lasting place in our history.

In the course of the last summer considerable anxiety was caused for a short time by an official intimation from the government of Great Britain that orders had been given for the protection of the fisheries upon the coasts of the British provinces in North America against the alleged encroachments of the fishing vessels of the United States and France. The shortness of this notice and the season of the year seemed to make it a matter of urgent importance. It was at first apprehended that an increased naval force had been ordered to the fishing grounds to carry into effect the British interpretation of those provisions in the convention of 1818, in reference to the true intent of which the two governments differ. It was soon discovered that such was not the design of Great Britain, and satisfactory explanations of the real objects of the measure have been given both here and in London.

The unadjusted difference, however, between the two governments as to the interpretation of the first article of the convention of 1818 is still a matter of importance. American fishing vessels within nine or ten years have been excluded from waters to which they had free access for twenty-five years after the negotiation of the treaty. In 1845 this exclusion was relaxed so far as concerns the Bay of Fundy, but the just and liberal intention of the Home government, in compliance with what we think the true construction of the convention, to open all the other outer bays to our fishermen, was abandoned, in consequence of the opposition of the colonies.—Notwithstanding this, the United States have, since the Bay of Fundy was reopened to our fishermen in 1845, pursued the most liberal course toward the colonial fishing interests.—By the revenue law of 1846, the duties on colonial fish entering our ports were very greatly reduced, and by the warehousing act it is allowed to be entered in bond without payment of duty. In this way colonial fish has acquired the monopoly of the export trade in our market, and is entering to some extent into the home consumption. These facts were among those which increased the sensibility of our fishing interest, at the movement in question.

These circumstances and the incidents above alluded to, have led me to think the moment favorable for a reconsideration of the entire subject of the fisheries on the coasts of the British provinces, with a view to place them upon a more liberal footing of reciprocal privilege. A willingness to meet us in some arrangement of this kind is understood to exist, on the part of Great Britain, with a desire on her part to include in one comprehensive settlement, as well this subject as the commercial intercourse between the United States and the British provinces.

I have thought that whatever arrangements may be made on these two subjects, it is expedient that they should be embraced in separate conventions. The illness and death of the late Secretary of State prevented the commencement of the contemplated negotiation. Pains have been taken to collect the information required for the details of such an arrangement. The subject is attended with considerable difficulty. If it is found practicable to come to an agreement mutually acceptable to the two parties, conventions may be concluded in the course of the present winter. The control of Congress over all the provisions of such an arrangement, affecting the revenue, will of course be reserved.

The affairs of Cuba formed a prominent topic in my last annual message. They remain in an uneasy condition, and a feeling of alarm and irritation on the part of the Cuban authorities appears to exist. This feeling has interfered with the regular commercial intercourse between the United States and the island, and led to some acts of which we have a right to complain. But the Captain General of Cuba is clothed with no power to treat with foreign governments, nor is he in any degree under the control of the Spanish Minister at Washington. Any communication which he may hold with an agent of a foreign power is informal and matter of courtesy.—Anxious to put an end to the existing inconveniences, (which seemed to rest on a misconception,) I directed the newly-appointed Minister to Mexico to visit Havana, on his way to Vera Cruz. He was respectfully received by the Captain General, who conferred with him freely on the recent occurrences; but no permanent arrangement was effected.

In the mean time, the refusal of the Captain General to allow passengers and the mail to be landed in certain cases, for a reason which does not furnish in the opinion of this Government even a good presumptive ground for such a prohibition, has been made the subject of a serious remonstrance at Madrid; and I have no reason to doubt that due respect will be paid by the government of Her Catholic Majesty to the representations which our Minister has been instructed to make on the subject.

It is but justice to the Captain General to add, that his conduct toward the steamers employed to carry the mails of the United States to Havana has, with the exceptions above alluded to, been marked with kindness and liberality, and indicates no general purpose of interfering with the commercial correspondence and intercourse between the island and this country.

Early in the present year official notes were received from the Ministers of France and England, inviting the Government of the United States to become a party with Great Britain and France to a tripartite Convention, in virtue of which the three powers should severally and collectively disclaim, now and for the future, all intention to obtain possession of the Island of Cuba, and should bind themselves to discontinue all attempts to that effect on the part of any power or individual whatever. This invitation has been respectfully declined, for reasons which it would occupy too much space in this communication to state in detail, but which led me to think that the proposed measure would be of doubtful constitutionality, impolitic, and unavailing. I have, however, in common with several of my predecessors, directed the Ministers of France and England to be assured that the United States entertain no designs against Cuba; but that, on the contrary, I should regard its incorporation into the Union at the present time as fraught with serious peril.

Were this island comparatively destitute of inhabitants, or occupied by a kindred race, I should regard it, if voluntarily ceded by Spain, as a most desirable acquisition. But, under existing circumstances, I should look upon its incorporation into our Union as a very hazardous measure. It would bring into the Confederacy a population of a different national stock, speaking a different language, and not likely to harmonize with the other members. It would probably affect in a prejudicial manner the industrial interests of the South; and it might revive those conflicts of opinion between the different sections of the country, which lately shook the Union to its centre, and which have been so happily compromised.

The rejection by the Mexican Congress of the Convention which has been concluded between that Republic and the United States, for the protection of a transit way across the Isthmus of Tehuantepec and of the interests of those citizens of the United States who had become proprietors of the rights which Mexico had conferred on one of her own citizens in regard to that transit, has thrown a serious obstacle in the way of the attainment of a very desirable national object. I am still willing to hope that the differences on the subject which exist, or may hereafter arise, between the governments, will be amicably adjusted. This subject, however, has already engaged the attention of the Senate of the United States, and requires no further comment in this communication.

The settlement of the question respecting the port of San Juan de Nicaragua, and of the controversy between the republics of Costa Rica and Nicaragua in regard to their boundaries, was considered indispensible to the commencement of the ship canal between the two oceans, which was the subject of the Convention between the United States and Great Britain of the 19th of April, 1850. Accordingly a proposition for the same purposes addressed to the two governments in that quarter, and to the Mosquito Indians, was agreed to in April last by the Secretary of State and the Minister of her Britannic Majesty. Besides the wish to aid in reconciling the differences of the two republics, I engaged in the negotiation from a desire to place the great work of a ship canal between the two oceans under one jurisdiction, and to establish the important port of San Juan de Nicaragua under the government of a civilized power. The proposition in question was assented to by Costa Rica and the Mosquito Indians. It has not proved equally acceptable to Nicaragua, but it is to be hoped that the further negotiations on the subject which are in train will be carried on in that spirit of conciliation and compromise which ought always to prevail on such occasions, and that they will lead to a satisfactory result.

I have the satisfaction to inform you that the executive government of Venezuela has acknowledged some claims of citizens of the United States, which have for many years past been urged by our charge d'affaires at Caraccas. It is hoped that the same sense of justice will actuate the Congress of that Republic in providing the means for their payment.

The recent revolution in Buenos Ayres and the confederated States having opened the prospect of an improved state of things in that quarter, the governments of Great Britain and France determined to negotiate with the chief of the new Confederacy for the free access of their commerce to the extensive countries watered by the tributaries of the La Plata; and they gave a friendly notice of this purpose to the United States, that we might if we thought proper pursue the same course. In compliance with this invitation, our minister at Rio Janeiro and our charge d'affaires at Buenos Ayres have been fully authorized to conclude treaties with the newly-organized Confederation, or the States composing it. The delays which have taken place in the formation of the new government have as yet prevented the execution of those instructions; but there is every reason to hope that these vast countries will be eventually opened to our commerce.

A treaty of commerce has been concluded between the United States and the Oriental Republic of Uruguay, which will be laid before the Senate. Should this Convention go into operation, it will open to the commercial enterprise of our citizens a country of great extent and unsurpassed in natural resources, but from which foreign nations have hitherto been almost wholly excluded.

The correspondence of the late Secretary of State with the Peruvian charge d'affaires relative to the Lobos Islands was communicated to Congress toward the close of the last session. Since that time, on further investigation of the subject, the doubts which had been entertained of the title of Peru to those islands have been removed; and I have deemed it just that the temporary wrong which had been unintentionaly done her, from want of information, should be repaired by an unreserved acknowledgement of her sovereignty. I have the satisfaction to inform you that the course pursued by Peru has been creditable to the liberality of her government. Before it was known by her that her title would be acknowledged at Washington, her Minister of Foreign Affairs had authorized our charge d'affaires at Lima to announce to the American vessels which had gone to the Lobos for guano, that the Peruvian Government was willing to freight them on its own account. This intention has been carried into effect by the Peruvian Minister here, by an arrangement which is believed to be advantageous to the parties in interest.

Our settlements on the shores of the Pacific have already given a great extension, and in some respects a new direction, to our commerce in that ocean. A direct and rapidly-increasing intercourse has sprung up with Eastern Asia. The waters of the Northern Pacific, even into the Arctic sea, have of late years been frequented by our whalemen. The application of steam to the general purposes of navigation is becoming daily more common, and makes it desirable to obtain fuel and other necessary supplies at convenient points on the route between Asia and our Pacific shores. Our unfortunate countrymen who from time to time suffer shipwreck on the coasts of the eastern seas are entitled to protection. Besides these specific objects, the general prosperity of our States on the Pacific requires that an attempt should be made to open the opposite regions of Asia to a mutually beneficial intercourse. It is obvious that this attempt could be made by no power to so great advantage as by the United States, whose constitutional system excludes every idea of distant colonial dependencies. I have accordingly been led to order an appropriate naval force to Japan, under the command of a discreet and intelligent officer of the highest rank known to our service. He is instructed to endeavor to obtain from the government of that country some relaxation of the inhospitable and anti-social system which it has pursued for about two centuries. He has been directed particularly to remonstrate in the strongest language against the cruel treatment to which our shipwrecked mariners have often been subjected, and to insist that they shall be treated with humanity. He is instructed however at the same time to give that government the amplest assurance that the objects of the United States are such and such only as I have indicated, and that the expedition is friendly and peaceful. Notwithstanding the jealousy with which the governments of Eastern Asia regard all overtures from foreigners, I am not without hopes of a beneficial result of the expedition. Should it be crowned with success, the advantages will not be confined to the United States, but, as in the case of China, will be equally enjoyed by all the other maritime powers. I have much satisfaction in stating that in all the steps preparatory to this expedition, the Government of the United States has been materially aided by the good offices of the King of the Netherlands, the only European power having any commercial relations with Japan.

In passing from this survey of our foreign relations, I invite the attention of Congress to the condition of that department of the Government to which this branch of the public business is entrusted. Our intercourse with foreign powers has of late years greatly increased, both in consequence of our own growth, and the introduction of many new States into the family of nations. In this way the Department of State has become overburdened. It has, by the recent establishment of the department of the Interior, been relieved of some portion of the domestic business. If the residue of the business of that kind, such as the distribution of Congressional documents, the keeging, publishing and distribution of the laws of the United States, the execution of the copyright law, the subject of reprieves and pardons, and some other subjects relating to interior administration, should be transferred from the Department of State, it would unquestionably be for the benefit of the public service. I would also suggest that the building appropriated to the State Department is not fire-proof; that there are reasons to think there are defects in its construction, and that the archives of the Government in charge of the Department, with the precious collection of the manuscript papers of Washington, Jefferson, Hamilton, Madison, and Monroe, are exposed to destruction by fire. A similar remark may be made of the buildings appropriated to the War and Navy Departments.

The condition of the Treasury is exhibited in the annual report from that Department.

The cash receipts into the Treasury for the fiscal year ending the 30th of June last, exclusive of trust funds, were forty-nine millions seven hundred and twenty-eight thousand three hundred and eighty six dollars and eighty-nine cents, ($49,728,386 89,) and the expenditures for the same period, likewise exclusive of trust funds, were forty-six millions seven thousand eight hundred and ninety-six dollars and twenty cents, ($46,007,896 20,) of which nine millions four hundred and fifty-five thousand eight hundred and fifteen dollars and eighty-three cents ($9,455,814 83) was on account of the principal and interest of the public debt, including the last instalment of the indemnity to Mexico, under the treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo, leaving a balance of $14,632,136 37 in the Treasury on the first day of July last, since which further purchases of the majority of the public debt have been made to the extent of two millions four hundred and fifty-six thousand five hundred and forty-seven dollars and forty-nine cents, ($2,456,547 49,) and the surplus in the Treasury will continue to be applied to that object, whenever the stock can be procured within the limits, as to price, authorized by law.

The value of foreign merchandise imported during the last fiscal year was two hundred and seven millions two hundred and forty thousand one hundred and one dollars, ($207,240,101,) and the value of domestic productions exported was one hundred and forty-nine millions eight hundred and sixty-one thousand nine hundred and eleven dollars, ($149,861,911,) besides seventeen millions two hundred and four thousand and twenty-six dollars, ($17,204,026) of foreign merchandise exported, making the aggregate of the entire exports one hundred and sixty-seven millions sixty-five thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven dollars, ($167,065,937,) exclusive of the above there was exported forty-two millions five hundred and seven thousand two hundred and eighty-five dollars ($42,507,285) in specie; and imported from from foreign ports five millions two hundred and sixty-two thousand six hundred and forty-three dollars, ($5,292,643.

In my first annual message to Congress I called your attention to what seemed to me some defects in the present tariff, and recommended such modifications as in my judgment were best adapted to remedy its evils and promote the prosperity of the country. Nothing has since occurred to change my views on this important question.

Without repeating the arguments contained in my former message, in favor of discriminating, protective duties, I deem it my duty to call your attention to one or two other considerations affecting this subject. The first is the effect of large importations of foreign goods upon our currency. Most of the gold of California, as fast as it is coined, finds its way directly to Europe in payment for goods purchased. In the second place, as our manufacturing establishments are broken down by competition with foreigners, the capital invested in them is lost, thousands of honest and industrious citizens are thrown out of employment, and the farmer to that extent is deprived of a home market for the sale of his surplus produce. In the third place, the destruction of our manufactures leaves the foreigner without competition in our market, and he consequently raises the price of the article sent here for sale, as is now seen in the increased cost of iron imported from England. The prosperity and wealth of every nation must depend upon its productive industry. The farmer is stimulated to exertion by finding a ready market for his surplus products, and benefited by being able to exchange them without loss of time or expense of transportation, for the manufactures which his comfort or convenience requires. This is always done to the best advantage where a portion of the community in which he lives is engaged in other pursuits. But most manufactures require an amount of capital and a practical skill which cannot be commanded, unless they be protected for a time from ruinous competition from abroad. Hence the necessity of laying those duties upon imported goods which the Constitution authorises for revenue, in such a manner as to protect and encourage the labor of our own citizens. Duties however should not be fixed so high as to exclude the foreign article, but should be so graduated as to enable the domestic manufacturer fairly to compete with the foreigner in our own markets, and by this competition to reduce the price of the manufactured article to the consumer, to the lowest rate at which it can be produced. This policy would place the mechanic by the side of the farmer, create a mutual interchange of their respective commodities, and thus stimulate the industry of the whole country, and render us independent of foreign nations, for the supplies required by the habits or necessities of the people.

Another question, wholly independent of protection, presents itself, and that is, whether the duties levied should be upon the value of the article at the place of shipment, or, where it is practicable, a specific duty, graduated according to quantity, as ascertained by weight or measure. All our duties are at present ad valorem. A certain per centage is levied on the price of the goods at the port of shipment in a foreign country. Most commercial nations have found it indispensable, for the purpose of preventing fraud and perjury, to make the duties specific whenever the article is of such a uniform value in weight or measure as to justify such a duty. Legislation should never encourage dishonesty or crime. It is impossible that the revenue officers at the port where the goods are entered and the duties paid should know with certainty what they cost in the foreign country. Yet the law requires that they should levy the duty according to such cost. They are therefore compelled to resort to very unsatisfactory evidence to ascertain what that cost was. They take the invoice of the importer, attested by his oath, as the best evidence of which the nature of the case admits. But every one must see that the invoice may be fabricated, and the oath by which it is supported false, by reason of which the dishonest importer pays a part only of the duties which are paid by the honest one, and thus indirectly receives from the treasury of the United States a reward for his fraud and perjury. The reports of the Secretary of the Treasury heretofore made on this subject show conclusively that these frauds have been practiced to a great extent. The tendency is to destroy that high moral character for which our merchants have long been distinguished; to defraud the Government of its revenue; to break down the honest importer by a dishonest competition; and, finally, to transfer the business of importation to foreign and irresponsible agents, to the great detriment of our own citizens. I therefore again most earnestly recommend the adoption of specific duties, wherever it is practicable, or a home valuation, to prevent these frauds.

I would also again call your attention to the fact that the present tariff in some cases imposes a higher duty upon the raw material imported than upon the article manufactured from it, the consequence of which is that the duty operates to the encouragement of the foreigner and the discouragement of our own citizens.

For full and detailed information in regard to the general condition of our Indian affairs, I respectfully refer you to the report of the Secretary of the Interior and the accompanying documents.

The Senate not having thought proper to ratify the treaties which had been negotiated with the tribes of Indians in California and Oregon, our relations with them have been left in a very unsatisfactory condition.

In other parts of our territory particular districts of country have been set apart for the exclusive occupation of the Indians, and their right to the lands within those limits has been acknowledged and respected. But in California and Oregon there has been no recognition by the Government of the exclusive right of the Indians to any part of the country. They are therefore mere tenants at sufferance, and liable to be driven from place to place, at the pleasure of the whites.

The treaties which have been rejected proposed to remedy this evil by alloting to the different tribes districts of country suitable to their habits of life, and sufficient for their support. This provision more than any other, it is believed, led to their rejection; and as no substitute for it has been adopted by Congress, it has not been deemed advisable to attempt to enter into new treaties of a permanent character, although no effort has been spared by temporary arangements to preserve friendly relations with them.

If it be the desire of Congress to remove them from the country altogether or to assign to them particular districts more remote from the settlements of the whites, it will be proper to set apart by law the territory which they are to occupy, and to provide the means necessary for removing them to it. Justice alike to our citizens and to the Indians requires the prompt action of Congress on this subject.

The amendments proposed by the Senate, to the treaties which were negotiated with the Sioux Indians of Minnesota, have been submitted to the tribes who were parties to them, and have received their assent. A large tract of valuable teritory has thus been opened for settlement and cultivation, and all danger of collision with these powerful and warlike bands has been happily removed.

The removal of the remnant of the tribe of Seminole Indians from Florida has long been a cherished object of the Government, and it is one to which my attention has been steadily directed.

Admonished by past experience of the difficulty and cost of the attempt to remove them by military force, resort has been had to conciliatory measures. By the invitation of the Commissioner of Indian Affairs, several of the principal chiefs recently visited Washington, and whilst here acknowledged in writing the obligation of their tribe to remove with the least possible delay. Late advices from the special agent of the Government represent that they adhere to their promise, and that a council of their people has been called to make their preliminary arrangements. A general emigration may therefore be confidently expected at an early day.

The report from the General Land Office shows increased activity in its operations.—The survey of the northern boundary of Iowa has been completed with unexampled despatch. Within the last year 9,522,953 acres of public land have been surveyed, and 8,032,463 acres brought into market.

In the last fiscal year there were sold	1,553,071 acres.

Located with bounty land warrants	3,201,314 "
Located with other certificates	115,682 "
Making a total of	4,870,067 "
In addition, there were—
Reported under swamp land grants	5,219,188 "
For internal improvements, railroads, &c.	3,025,920 "
Making an aggregate of	13,115,175 "

Being an increase in the amount of lands sold and located under land warrants, of 569,220 acres, over the previous year.

The whole amount thus sold, located under land warrants, reported under swamp land grants, and selected for internal improvements exceeds that of the previous year by 3,342,372 acres; and the sales would, without doubt, have been much larger, but for the extensive reservations for railroads in Missouri, Mississippi and Alabama.

For the quarter ending 30th September, 1852, there were sold	243,255 acres.
Located on bounty land war'ts	1,387,116 "
Located with other certificates	15,649 "
Reported under swamp land grants	2,485,233 "
Making an aggregate for the quarter, of	4,131,253 "

Much the larger portion of the labor of arranging and classifying the returns of the last census has been finished, and it will now devolve upon Congress to make the necessary provision for the publication of the results in such form as shall be deemed best. The apportionment of representation, on the basis of the new census, has been made by the Secretary of the Interior in conformity with the provisions of law relating to that subject, and the recent elections have been made in accordance with it.

I commend to your favorable regard the sungestion contained in the report of the Secretary of the Interior that provision be made by law for the publication and distribution, periodically, of an analytical digest of all the patents which have been, or may hereafter be, granted for useful inventions and discoveries, with such descriptions and illustrations as may be necessary to present an intelligible view of their nature and operation. The cost of such publication could easily be defrayed out of the patent fund, and I am persuaded that it could be applied to no object more acceptable to inventors and beneficial to the public at large.

An appropriation of $100,000 having been made at the last session for the purchase of a suitable site, and for the erection, furnishing, and fitting up of an Asylum for the Insane of the District of Columbia, and of the Army and Navy of the United States, the proper measures have been adopted to carry this beneficent purpose into effect.

By the latest advices from the Mexican Boundary Commission it appears that the survey of the river Gila, from its confluence with the Colorado to its supposed intersection with the western line of New Mexico, has been completed. The survey of the Rio Grande has also been finished from the point agreed on by the Commissioners as "the point where it strikes the southern boundary of New Mexico" to a point one hundred and thirty-five miles below Eagle Pass, which is about two-thirds of the distance along the course of the river to its mouth.

The appropriation which was made at the last session of Congress for the continuation of the survey is subject to the following proviso:

"Provided, That no part of this appropriation shall be used or expended until it shall be made satisfactorily to appear to the President of the United States that the southern boundary of New Mexico is not established by the commissioner and surveyor of the U.S. farther north of the town called 'Passo' than the same is laid down in Disturnell's map, which is added to the treaty."

My attention was drawn to this subject by a report from the Department of the Interior, which reviewed all the facts of the case, and submitted to my decision the question whether under existing circumstances, any part of the appropriation could be lawfully used or expended for further prosecution of the work. After a careful consideration of the subject, I came to the conclusion that it could not, and so informed the head of that Department. Orders were immediately issued by him to the commissioner and surveyor to make no further requisitions on the Department, as they could not be paid; and to discontinue all operations on the Southern line of New Mexico.

But as the Department had no exact information as to the amount of provisions and money which remained unexpended in the hands of the commissioner and surveyor, it was left discretionary with them to continue the survey down the Rio Grande as far as the means at their disposal would enable them, or at once to disband the Commission. A special messenger has since arrived from the officer in charge of the survey on the river, with information that the funds subject to his control were exhausted, and that the officers and others employed in the service were destitute alike of the means of prosecuting the work and of returning to their homes.

The object of the proviso was doubtless to arrest the survey of the southern and western lines of New Mexico, in regard to which different opinions have been expressed; for it is hardly to be supposed that there could be any objection to that part of the line which extends along the channel of the Rio Grande. But the terms of the law are so broad as to forbid the use of any part of the money for the prosecution of the work, or even for the payment, to the officers and agents, of the arrearages of pay which are justly due to them.

I earnestly invite your prompt attention to this subject, and recommend a modification of the terms of the proviso, so as to enable the Department to use as much of the appropriation as will be necessary to discharge the existing obligations of the Government, and to complete the survey of the Rio Grande to its mouth.

It will also be proper to make further provision by law for the fulfilment of our treaty with Mexico for running and marking the residue of the boundary line between the two countries.

Permit me to invite your particular attention to the interests of the District of Columbia, which are confided by the Constitution to your peculiar care.

Among the measures which seem to me of the greatest importance to its prosperity are the introduction of a copious supply of water into the city of Washington, and the construction of suitable bridges across the Potomac to replace those which were destroyed by high water in the early part of the present year.

At the last session of Congress an appropriation was made to defray the cost of the surveys necessary for determining the best means of affording an unfailing supply of good and wholesome water. Some progress has been made in the survey, and as soon as it is completed the result will be laid before you.

Further appropriations will also be necessary for grading and paving the streets and avenues, and enclosing and embellishing the public grounds within the city of Washington.

I commend all these objects, together with the charitable institutions of the District, to your favorable regard.

Every effort has been made to protect our frontier, and that of the adjoining Mexican States, from the incursions of the Indian tribes. Of about 11,000 men of which the army is composed, nearly 8,000 are employed in the defence of the newly acquired territory, (including Texas,) and of emigrants proceeding thereto. I am gratified to say that these efforts have been unusually successful. With the exception of some partial outbreaks in California and Oregon, and occasional depredations on a portion of the Rio Grande, owing, it is believed, to the disturbed state of that border region, the inroads of the Indians have been effectually restrained.

Experience has shown, however, that whenever the two races are brought into contact, collisions will inevitably occur. To prevent these collisions the United States have generally set apart portions of their territory for the exclusive occupation of the Indian tribes. A difficulty occurs, however, in the application of this policy to Texas. By the terms of the compact by which that State was admitted into the Union, she retained the ownership of all the vacant lands within her limits. The government of that State, it is understood, has assigned no portion of her territory to the Indians; but as fast as her settlements advance lays it off into counties, and proceeds to survey and sell it. This policy manifestly tends, not only to harm and irritate the Indians, but to compel them to resort to plunder for subsistence. It also deprives this Government of that influence and control over them without which no durable peace can ever exist between them and the whites. I trust, therefore, that due regard for her own interests, apart from considerations of humanity and justice, will induce that State to assign a small portion of her vast domain for the provisional occupancy of the small remnants of tribes within her borders, subject of course to her ownership and eventual jurisdiction. If she should fail to do this, the the fulfillment of our treaty stipulations with Mexico, and our duty to the Indians themselves, will, it is feared, become a subject of serious embarrassment to the Government. It is hoped, however, that the timely and just provision by Texas may avert the evil.

No appropriations for fortifications were made at the two last sessions of Congress. The cause of this omission is, probably, to be found in a growing belief that the system of fortifications adopted in 1816, and heretofore acted on, requires revision.

The subject certainly deserves full and careful investigation; but it should not be delayed longer than can be avoided. In the meantime there are certain works which have been commenced—some of them nearly completed—designed to protect our principal seaports from Boston to New Orleans, and a few other important points. In regard to the necessity for these works, it is believed that little difference of opinion exists among military men. I therefore recommend that the appropriations necessary to prosecute them be made.

I invite your attention to the remarks on this subject, and on others connected with his Department, contained in the accompanying report of the Secretary of War.

Measures have been taken to carry into effect the law of the last session making provision for the improvement of certain rivers and harbors, and it is believed that the arrangements made for that purpose will combine efficiency with economy—Owing chiefly to the advanced season when the act was passed, little has yet been done in regard to many of the works beyond making the necessary preparations. With respect to a few of the improvements, the sums already appropriated will suffice to complete them, but most of them will require additional appropriations. I trust that these appropriations will be made, and that this wise and beneficent policy, so auspiciously resumed, will be continued. Great care should be taken, however, to commence no work which is not of sufficient importance to the commerce of the country to be viewed as national in its character. But works which have been commenced should not be discontinued until completed, as otherwise the sums expended will in most cases be lost.

The report from the Navy Department will inform you of the prosperous condition of the branch of the public service committed to its charge. It presents to your consideration many topics and suggestions of which I ask your approval. Its exhibits an unusual degree of activity in the operations of the Department during the past year. The preparations for the Japan expedition, to which I have already alluded; the arrangements made for the exploration and survey of the China Seas, the Northern Pacific, and Behring's Straits; the incipient measures taken towards a reconnoissance of the continent of Africa eastward of Liberia; the preparation for an early examination of the tributaries of the River La Plata, to which a recent decree of the provisional chief of the Argentine Confederation has opened to navigation; all these enterprises, and the means by which they are proposed to be accomplished, have commanded my full approbation, and I have no doubt will be productive of the most useful results.

Two officers of the navy were heretofore instructed to explore the whole extent of the Amazon river, from the confluence of the Ucayali to its mouth. The return of one of them has placed in the possession of the Government an interesting and valuable account of the character and resources of a country abounding in the materials of commerce, and which, if opened to the industry of the world, will prove an inexhaustible fund of wealth. The report of this exploration will be communicated to you as soon as it is completed.

Among other subjects offered to your notice by the Secretary of the Navy, I select for special commendation, in view of its connexion with the interests of the navy, the plan submitted by him for the establishment of a permanent corps of seamen, and the suggestions he has presented for the reorganization of the Naval School.

In reference to the first of these, I take occasion to say that I think it will greatly improve the efficiency of the service, and that I regard it as still more entitled to favor for the salutary influence it must exert upon the discipline, now greatly disturbed by the increasing spirit of insubordination, resulting from our present system. The plan proposed for the organization of the seamen furnishes a judicious substitute for the system of September, 1850, abolishing corporeal punishment, and satisfactorily sustains the policy of that act, under conditions well adapted to maintain the authority of command and the order and security of our ships. It is that system of changes which proposes permanently to dispense with this mode of punishment, should be preceded by a system of enlistment which shall supply the navy with seamen of the most meritorious class, whose good character and proper pride of profession may preclude all occasion for a resort to penalties of a harsh or degrading nature. The safety of a ship and her crew is often dependant upon immediate obedience to a command, and the authority to enforce it must be equally ready. The refusal of a refractory seaman in such moments, not only deprives the ship of indispensible aid, but imposes a necessity for double service on others whose fidelity to their duties may be relied upon in such an emergency. The exposure to this increased and arduous labor, since the passage of the act of 1850, has already had to a most observable and injurious extent, the effect of preventing the enlistment of the best seamen in the navy. The new suggestions I have designed to promote a condition of service in which this objection will no longer exist. The details of this plan may be established in part, if not altogether, by the Executive, under the authority of existing laws; but I have thought it proper, in accordance with the suggestion of the Secretary of the Navy, to submit it to your approval.

The establishment of a corps of apprentices for the service by boys to be enlisted until they become of age, and to be employed under such regulations as the Navy Department may devise, as proposed in the report, I cordially approve and commend to your consideration; and I also concur in the suggestion that the system for the early training of seamen may be most usefully engrafted upon the service of our merchant marine.

The other proposition of the report to which I have referred—the reorganization of the Naval Academy—is commended to your attention as important worthy of your encouragement and support. The valuable services already rendered by this institution entitle it to the continuance of your fostering care.

Your attention is respectfully called to the report of the Postmaster General for the detailed operation of his Department during the last fiscal year, from which it will be seen that the receipts from postages, during the year, were $4,401,289 than for the preceding fiscal year, being a decrease of about 23 per cent. This diminution is attributable to the reduction in the rates of postage made by the act of March 3, 1851, which reduction took effect at the commencement of the last fiscal year.

Although in its operation during the last year, the act referred to has not fulfilled the predictions of its friends by increasing the correspondence of the country in proportion to the reduction of postage, I should nevertheless question the policy of returning to higher rates. Experience warrants the expectation that as the community becomes accustomed to cheap postage, correspondence will increase. It is believed that from this cause, and from the rapid growth of the country in population and business, the receipts of the Department must ultimately exceed its expenses, and at last the country may safely rely upon the continuance of the present cheap rates of postage.

In former messages I have, among other things, respectfully recommended to the consideration of Congress the propriety and necessity of further legislation for the protection and punishment of foreign consuls residing in the United States; to revive with certain modifications the act of 10th of March, 1818, to restrain unlawful military expeditions against the dominions of contiguous States or territories; for the preservation and protection from mutilation for theft of the papers, records, and archives of the nation; for authorizing the surplus revenue to be applied to the payment of the public debt in advance of the time when it will become due; for the establishment of land offices for the sale of public lands in California and the Territory of Oregon; for the construction of a ship canal in the Mississippi valley to the Pacific ocean; for the establishment of a bureau of agriculture for the promotion of that interest, perhaps the most important in the country; for the prevention of frauds upon the Government in applications for pensions and bounty lands; for the establishment of a uniform fee bill, prescribing a specific compensation for every service required of clerks, district attorneys and marshals; for authorizing an additional regiment of mounted men for the defence of our frontiers against the Indians and for fulfilling our treaty stipulations with Mexico to defend her citizens against the Indians "with equal diligence and energy as our own;" for detaching the staff corps of the Army and Navy in the various grades of each; for reorganizing the medical staff of the army; fixing the number of officers in each grade, and providing for a retired list upon reduced pay of those unfit for active duty; for prescribing and regulating punishments in the navy; for the appointment of a commission to revise the statutes of the United States, by arranging them in order, supplying deficiencies, correcting incongruities, simplifying their language, and reporting them to Congress for its final action; and for the establishment of a commission to adjudicate and settle private claims against the United States. I am not aware, however, that any of these subjects have been finally acted upon by Congress. Without repeating the reasons for legislation on these subjects which have been assigned in former messages, I respectfully recommend them again to your favorable consideration.

I think it due to the several Executive Departments of this Government to bear testimony to the efficiency and integrity with which they are conducted. With all the careful superintendence which it is possible for the Heads of these Departments to exercise, the details of the administration and disbursement of the public money must of necessity much depend on the vigilance, intelligence and fidelity of the subordinate officers and clerks, and especially on those entrusted with the settlement and adjustment of claims in the country. I am gratified to believe that they have generally performed their duties faithfully and well. They are appointed to guard the approaches to the public Treasury, and they occupy positions that expose them to all the temptations and seductions which the cupidity of peculators and fraudulent claimants can prompt them to employ. It will be but a wise precaution to protect the Government against that source of mischief and corruption, as far as it can be done, by the enactment of all proper legal penalties. The laws, in this respect, are supposed to be defective, and I, therefore deem it my duty to call your attention to the subject, and to recommend that provision be made by law for the punishment not only of those who shall accept bribes, but also, of those who shall either promise, give, or offer to give to any of those officers or clerks a bribe or reward touching or relating to any matter of their official action or duty.

It has been the uniform policy of this Government from its foundation to the present day to abstain from all intervention in the domestic affairs of other nations. The consequence has been that while the nations of Europe have been engaged in desolating wars, our country has pursued its peaceful course to unexampled prosperity and happiness. In the wars in which we have been compelled to engage, in defence of the rights and honor of the country, have been fortunately of short duration. During the terrific contest of nation against nation which succeeded the French revolution, we were enabled, by the wisdom and firmness of President Washington to maintain our neutrality. While other nations were drawn into this wide sweeping whirlpool, we sat quiet and unmoved upon our own shores. While the flower of their numerous armies was swept by disease or perished by hundreds of thousands upon the battle-field, the youth of this favored land were permitted to enjoy the bless ings of peace beneath the paternal roof. While the States of Europe incurred enormous debts, under the burden of which their subjects still groan, and which must absorb no small part of the product of the honest industry of those countries for generations to come, the United States have once been enabled to exhibit the proud spectacle of a nation free from public debt; and, if permitted to pursue our prosperous way for a few years longer in peace, we may do the same again.

But it is now said by some that this policy must be changed. Europe is no longer separated from us by a voyage of months, but steam navigation has brought her within a few days' sail of our shores. We see more of her movements, and take a deeper interest in her controversies. Although no one proposes that we should join the fraternity of potentates who have for ages lavished the blood and treasure of their subjects in maintaining the "balance of power," yet it is said that we ought to interfere between contending sovereigns and their subjects, for the purpose of overthrowing the monarchies of Europe, and establishing in their place republican institutions. It is alleged that we have heretofore pursued a different course from a conviction of our weakness, but that now our conscious strength dictates a change of our policy, and that it is consequently our duty to mingle in these contests and aid those who are struggling for liberty.

This is a most seductive but dangerous appeal to the generous sympathies of freemen. Enjoying as we do the blessings of a free government, there is no man who has an American heart that would not rejoice to see these blessings extended to all the nations of the earth; and if the struggle be between the oppressed and his oppressor anywhere without the deepest sympathy for the former and the most anxious desire for his triumph. Nevertheless, is it prudent or is it wise to involve ourselves in these foreign wars? Is it indeed true that we have heretofore refrained from doing so merely from the degrading motive of a conscious weakness? For the honor of the patriots who have gone before us, we cannot believe it. Men of the Revolution, who drew their swords against the oppression of the mother country, and pledged to heaven "their lives, their fortunes, and their sacred honor," to maintain their freedom, could never have been actuated by so unworthy a motive. They knew no weakness or fear where right or duty pointed the way, and it is a libel upon their fair fame for us, while we enjoy the blessings for which they so nobly fought and bled, to insinuate for a moment that to these virtue which they pursued was dictated by a stern sense of international justice, by a statesmanlike prudence and a far seeing wisdom, looking not merely to the present necessities, but to the permanent interest and safety of the country. They knew that the world is governed less by sympathy than by reason and force; that it was not possible for this nation to become a "propagandist" of free principles without arraying against it the combined powers of Europe; and that the result was more likely to be the overthrow of republican liberty here than its establishment there. History has been written in vain for those who can doubt this. Branded as no age ever established a republican form of government than she manifested a desire to force its blessings upon all the world. Her own historian informs us that, hearing of some petty acts of oppression by the local authorities, principally "The National Convention declared that she would afford succor and fraternity to all nations who wished to recover their liberty; and she gave it in charge to the executive power to give orders to the generals of armies that aid was to be given to citizens who might have been or should be oppressed in the cause of liberty." Here was the false step which led to her subsequent misfortune. She soon found herself involved in war with all the rest of Europe. In less than ten years her government was changed from a republic to an empire, and finally after shedding rivers of blood, foreign powers restored her exiled dynasty, and exhausted Europe found peace and repose in the unquestioned ascendency of monarchical principles. Let us learn wisdom from her example.—Let us remember that revolutions do not always establish freedom. Our own institutions are not the offspring of our revolution. They existed before. They were planted in the free charters of self government under which the English colonies grew up, and our revolution only freed us from the shackles which the mother power whose government was at variance with those institutions. But European nations have had no such training for self government, and every effort to establish it by bloody revolutions has been and must be, without that preparation, a failure. Liberty, unregulated by law, degenerates into anarchy, and soon becomes the most horrid of all despotisms.—Our policy is wisely to govern ourselves, and to liberty, by such an example of national justice, prosperity and true glory, as shall teach to all nations the blessings of self-goverdment and the unparalleled enterprise and success of a free people.

We live in an age of progress, and years is emphatically the unit of measure. Within the last half century the number of states in this Union has nearly doubled, the population has almost quadrupled, and our boundaries have been extended from the Mississippi to the Pacific. Our territory is chequered over by railroads and furrowed by canals. The inventive talent of our country is excited to the highest pitch, and the numerous applications for patents for valuable improvements distinguish this age and this people from all others. The genius of one American has enabled our commerce to move against wind and tide, and that of another has annihilated distance in the transmission of intelligence. The whole country is full of enterprise. Our common schools are diffusing intelligence among the people, and our industry is fast accumulating the comforts and luxuries of life. This is in part owing to our peculiar position, our fertile soil and comparatively sparse population; but much of it is also owing to the popular institutions under which we live, to the freedom which every man feels to engage in any useful pursuit, according to his taste or inclination, and to the entire confidence that his person and property will be protected by the laws. But whatever may be the cause of this unparalleled growth in population, intelligence and wealth, one thing is clear—that the system of government must keep pace with the progress of the people. It must participate in their spirit of enterprise, and while it exacts obedience to the laws, and restrains all unauthorized invasions of the rights of neighboring states, it should foster and protect home industry, and lend its powerful strength to the improvement of such means of intercommunication as are necessary to promote our internal commerce and strengthen the ties which bind us together as a people.

It is not strange, however much it may be regretted, that such an exuberance of enterprise should cause some individuals to mistake change for progress, and to forget the glory of the rights of others for national prowess and glory. The former are constantly agitating for some change in the organic law, or urging new and untried theories of human right. The latter are ever ready to engage in any wild crusade against a neighboring people, regardless of the justice of the enterprise, and without looking to the fatal consequences to ourselves and to the cause of popular government. Such expeditions, too, are often stimulated by mercenary individuals, who expect to share the plunder or profit of the enterprise without exposing themselves to danger, and are led on by some irresponsible foreigner, who abuses the hospitality of our own government by seducing the young and ignorant to join in his scheme of personal ambition or revenge under the false and delusive pretence of extending the area of freedom. These reprehensible aggressions but retard the true progress of our nation, and tarnish her fair fame. They should, therefore, receive the indignant frowns of every good citizen who sincerely loves his country, and takes a pride in her prosperity and honor.

Our constitution, though not perfect, is doubtless the best that ever was formed. Therefore let every proposition to change it be well weighed, and if found beneficial, cautiously adopted. Every patriot will rejoice to see its authority so exerted as to advance the prosperity and honor of the nation, whilst he will watch with jealousy any attempt to mutilate this charter of our liberties, or pervert its powers to acts of aggression or injustice. Thus shall conservatism and progress blend their harmonious action in preserving the form and spirit of the constitution, and at the same time carry forward the great improvements of the country with a rapidity and energy which freemen only can display.

In closing this, my first annual communication, permit me, fellow citizens, to congratulate you on the prosperous condition of our beloved country. Abroad, its relations with all foreign powers are friendly, its rights are respected, and its high place in the family of nations cheerfully recognized. At home we enjoy an amount of happiness public and private, which has probably never fallen to the lot of any other people. Besides affording to our own citizens a degree of prosperity, of which on so large a scale I know of no other instance, our country is annually affording a refuge and a home to multitudes, altogether without example, from the Old World.

We owe these blessings, under Heaven, to the happy Constitution and Government which were bequeathed to us by our fathers, and which it is our sacred duty to transmit in all their integrity to our children. We must all consider it a great distinction and privilege to have been chosen by the people to bear a part in the administration of such a government. Called by an unexpected dispensation to its highest trust at a season of embarrassment and alarm, I entered upon its arduous duties with extreme diffidence. I claim only to have discharged them to the best of an humble ability, with a single eye to the public good; and it is with devout gratitude, in retiring from office, that I leave the country in a state of peace and prosperity.

MILLARD FILLMORE.

Washington, December 6, 1852.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 4.—Sch. Mary Ellen, from Tampico 26th ult., reports great excitement in consequence of a formidable revolution which had broken out in the State of Tamaulipas. The city of Victoria, the capital of the State, had been captured by the revolutionists, who were hourly expected to attack Tampico.

BALTIMORE, Dec. 4.—The Senate of North Carolina rejected the free suffrage bill, but afterwards reconsidered the vote.

The voters of Richmond, Va., decided by a majority of 185 in favor of a subscription of $50,000 to the Danville railroad.

A card has been issued by the Secretary of State in reply to the opinion of three members of the New York Bar, at the request of the Nicaragua transit company, in which they say that Nicaragua has no national representative in the United States. Mr. Everett acknowledges Senor Don Jose de Marcolletta as the official minister for Nicaragua, and is ready to receive communications from him.

DEATH OF THE COUNTESS RUMFORD.—Miss Sarah Thompson, Countess Rumford, died at Concord, N. H., on Thursday, aged about 70.

This lady was the daughter of the celebrated Count Rumford, and was well known in Boston and in Woburn, Mass. Count Rumford, it will be remembered, was an American by berth, named Benj. Thompson. He went to England and afterwards to Bavaria, in each of which countries he held high official positions. The King of Bavaria loaded him with honors and made him a Count; the name selected was Rumford, the old name of Concord, where he was born. An annuity was settled on him, half of which, we believe, continued to his daughter, during her life. He was a liberal benefactor to Harvard College and the American Academy.

ANOTHER HUMBUG COLLAPSED.—Prof., "Mr." or "Dr." Kinkel, the (so-called) European Reformer, who came over here to raise a German Revolutionary Fund, just when intervention was the most fashionable idea of the day, with some folk, announces through his "Treasurer" in London, that "the scheme has utterly failed." It seems that some $7717 in all were raised, of which sum $2705,39 has gone to the places whence no money returns. People who contributed are called upon to make a demand for the balance.—New York Express.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Mrs. Hannah Hanson, wife of Jonathan Hanson of Moultonborough, was in attendance at the Friends' Quarterly Meeting at Sandwich on the 28th of last month—and while sitting apparently in usual health, was suddenly prostrated by an affection of the heart, which terminated in her almost immediate dissolution.

A few days ago, a deposit of $5000 of Australia gold was deposited in the U. S. Mint a Philadelphia, by a young Philadelphian, who gathered it himself. The gold is superior in richness to that from California, being worth about $2 more to the ounce.

THE RAPPERS DELUSIONS.—The editor of the Cincinnati Advertiser, who recently visited the State Lunatic Asylum at Columbus, says there are in that institution twenty persons whose insanity is clearly traceable to spirit rappings; and it is stated that there are, in the Utica (N. Y.) Asylum, nine victims of the same delusion. The Cleveland Herald says:—"In many minds it seems to finish the work commenced by Second Adventism—the fruits being neglect of business, neglect of families, running the visionaries and pretended seers, scouting of Christianity and its institutions, spiritual wifeism, insanity, and in some cases, suicide."

There is a class of men who can be driven to insanity and suicide by earnest spiritual researches of almost any description; and another class who make such things the occasion and cloak of their wicked practices: but the two classes are widely different, and should never be confounded with each other. A fanatic and a hypocrite are different characters, and require diverse treatment.

The papers announce the death of Dr. Scholz, one of the most distinguished oriental scholars of Germany. He was senior member of the Faculty of Theology at Bonn, and a professor in the University of that town.

LOCAL.

☞ Four boys were examined yesterday before Police Justice Parker, on a charge of setting the fires which occurred in this city on Friday and Saturday. They all pleaded not guilty to the charge—and after hearing evidence, the Justice postponed the case to the 20th inst. and put the boys under bonds of $50 each, in their own recognizance, to appear at that time. Hatch for the State—Wm. Claggett for the respondents.

SHIP FRANKLIN.—This great three-decker, now in her place on the railway at the Navy Yard, looms up like a moustrous whale on dry land. We understand that the orders go no farther than to shore her up and let her stand. She will probably be repaired next season.

ANOTHER KEEL LAID.—Walking by the ship-yard of George Raynes, Esq., we perceive he has a ship's keel laid, and a portion of the frame raised. The following item, about a ship of his building, comes to us quite opportunely.

A San Francisco correspondent of the Traveller says "the Witch of the Wave arrived in less time than on her first voyage, and discharges her goods in as good condition as when taken on board. She is a favorite ship with merchants here, who are furnished their goods without delay and all differences adjusted promptly and satisfactorily.

A part of the three story brick block on South street, Providence, owned by Spelman and Metcalf, fell with a tremendous crash, on Thursday night, about 11 o'clock. The building was heavily loaded on all the floors with corn, flour, shorts and oil meal. The timbers started, bringing down the floor and the walls, and filling the streets with the ruins. Adjoining buildings were also damaged.

The Whig who obliged himself to saw half a cord of wood if Pierce and King were elected, fulfilled his task in Philadelphia, on Wednesday afternoon, in Arch street, having a large crowd of spectators.

An intemperate man died recently in Worcester from the bleeding of ulcerated sores on his legs. No medical aid availed him, and the professional verdict was that his death was caused by spontaneous bleeding superinduced by rum.

THE ROGER WILLIAMS COOKING STOVE.

FOR COAL OR WOOD.

THE attention of all in want of a COOK STOVE is respectfully solicited to a consideration of the merits of this most beautifully modeled pattern; equally adapted for coal or wood, and warranted to operate successfully with either,—which is now offered to the public as the

Most Complete and Efficient

Cooking apparatus ever before introduced in this vicinity. It is an elegant model, with fine smooth Providence castings, fitted together in the most substantial manner. The oven, (by far the most important part of a cooking stove,) in point of capacity, and in regard to its operation is unsurpassed by that of any other stove now in the market, it being lined with fire-brick to retain and equalize the heat, and provided with valves for the escape of steam, arising from the roasting of meats—rendering it in this respect superior to the old fashioned but universally admired TinKitchen.

The broiling apparatus is constructed on an entirely new and original plan, and will not fail to recommend itself at the first glance, as no smoke or gas arising from that culinary process can escape into the room. The sliding hearth is an improvement not to be found in any other stove.

The popularity of this over all other stoves now in the market, may be inferred from the fact that since its first introduction the last season, over THREE THOUSAND have been put into successful operation in New England and New York.

Every stove is warranted to give perfect satisfaction to the purchaser or the money refunded.

Each stove is warranted not to crack for twelve months from date of purchase. It is believed that this stove combines all the improvements that skill can invent, and is by far the most perfect cooking stove ever sold in Portsmouth. And though its price is higher than any other stove offered in this market of late, it is without question the cheapest in the end. All intending to purchase are respectfully invited to give this an examination before purchasing elsewhere.

Also, a variety of cheap Cook, Parlor, and Office Stoves, which are offered low.

WHAT-CHEER STOVE.

THE WHAT-CHEER COAL COOKING STOVE, now offered for sale by the subscribers, is acknowledged by all who have examined it to be the best and most economical Coal Stove ever offered to the public.

The castings are heavy, smooth, and very handsome. The Broiling apparatus is a great improvement over all other Stoves being constructed in such a manner as to prevent the steam from escaping into the room when cooking.

All persons wishing to purchase a COAL COOKING STOVE, are respectfully requested to call and examine the same. Every Stove warranted to work well, or no sale.

We have also a large assortment of COOKING, PARLOR and STOVE STOVES, &c.,—for sale cheap for Cash, at our office,

THE IMPROVED

EMPIRE STATE STOVE.

THIS justly celebrated COOKING STOVE having been improved in every way it could be to make its operations more complete, and its plates beautifully ornamented—no expense, time or trouble having been spared to make this the most complete Cooking Stove ever brought before the public—the subscriber feels assured in warranting the IMPROVED EMPIRE STATE superior to any stove in the market, as hundreds can testify who have used them for the past year.

This Stove has a very LARGE OVEN, which makes it desirable on account of doing more cooking with the same amount of fuel than can be done in any other stove. The flues are large, which ensures a good draft in all cases. The castings are very heavy and smooth, and those parts that come next the fire are extra thick, making it very durable. It is adapted to the use of either coal or wood, and we warrant them to operate as well with one as the other. We furnish them with the very best appanatus; and, altogether, it is the MOST DURABLE, ECONOMICAL and CONVENIENT COOKING STOVE ever made—complete in every respect. We ask the attention of persons intending to purchase a new, or exchange their old stove, to an examination of the Improved Empire State.

We have also on hand a variety of other Cooking Stoves, called the "Pioneer," "Belle of the Sizes," "King of the States," "Bay State," "Anglo Saxon," "Pearl of Troy," &c.; with a large lot of PARLOR STOVES, such as the Revere Air-Tight Star, Revere Parlor Cook, Lady Franklin, for Wood or Coal; Shop, Office and Air-Tight Stoves, of different sizes and prices for either wood or coal.

Also an extensive assortment of HOUSEKEEPING GOODS; Wooden, Willow, Glass, Britannia, Japan, Tin, Hard, Enamel, and Brass Ware; Copper, Cast Iron, and Chain Pumps; Window-Shads, Table Oil-cloths, &c.

All the above goods will be sold lower than can be bought elsewhere in this vicinity.

PERILS OF THE DEEP.

A MOONLIGHT STORM AT SEA—NARROW ESCAPE OF THE U. S. SHIP ST. LOUIS.—The Delaware Journal publishes a letter, written on board the U. S. ship St. Louis, off the coast of Tripoli, in which is described a remarkable storm encountered by that vessel on the 20th of October last, when about 70 miles from Tripoli, on her passage from Tunis:

About 10 o'clock on the night of the 20th, we had to take in all sail—double reef the topsails—and at 12 o'clock had to close reef the maintopsails, and furl the fore and mizzen, set the storm-stay-sail, and heave the ship to; the wind blowing on shore, and made us on a lee shore; by this time there was a heavy sea running and drifting us on shore at the rate of 3 or 4 knots per hour; the gale still raging with increased fury all the day of the 21st.

At midnight it commenced thundering and lightning, which increased so that we had to furl the main topsail, and could carry nothing but the lower storm stay-sail, and main storm stay-sail, both very small sails; the captain called all the officers on deck, and battened down the hatches fore and aft; all anchors ready for letting go, and with axes in hand we stood ready to cut away the masts. It was a terrifying scene. The berth deck was scuttled, the wind was roaring so furiously that we could not hear each other speak. While battening down the after hatch, myself and men were almost drowned by the force of the water from the lee waist, which was under water up to our hatches. It was gloomy and dark, although the moon was up; all officers and men drenched with salt water; we run life lines along to hold on by, all shivering with the cold and anxious to see daylight. The gale still raging on the morning of the 22d, all downhearted, being so near the shore in such a heavy gale, (about 18 miles from the rocks,) what a solemn thought that there we should be driven by the fury of the storm, as she would certainly strike in 8 fathoms of water.

As a last resort, the captain called his officers together, and consulted what was best to be done under the circumstances, and they concluded, that in order to prevent such a catastrophe, it was necessary to crowd on the sail, which they did, close reefing the foresail and maintopsail; but it was more than she could bear—it put her almost on her beam ends, thus throwing her lee guns all under water, which forced itself up to the hatches; her main yard almost in the water, when, thanks to an over-ruling Providence, the wind shifted all at once, and such a happy set you never saw; some of the officers clapping their hands and rejoicing in the prospect of their deliverance.

I should mention, however, that just before the wind shifted, two doves lit on the ship, aft, remaining but a few minutes, and then disappearing; and in a short time the wind in a measure ceased, when the birds returned to the ship, as if to encourage the hands still to hope for deliverance from their perilous situation.

REV. HENRY N. HUDSON.—It is with peculiar satisfaction that we have learned that this gentleman has become editor of the New York Churchman,—a leading journal devoted to the interests of the Episcopal denomination, printed in the city of New York. We had the pleasure of a personal acquaintance with Mr. Hudson for many years; and the more we have known him, the better we appreciated him and the more thoroughly we have esteemed him. As a scholar his knowledge is extensive and acurate; as a theologion his grasp of subject is singularly firm and comprehensive; and as a writer his style is clear, terse, and epigrammatic. Few persons, indeed, can take higher rank as a vigorous and accomplished writer; and as such we most cordially welcome him to those editorial ranks on which we believe he is destined to reflect so much credit. Under his skilful management the Churchman will assume and maintain a high rank among our religious journals; and our Episcopal friends will always find it worthhy of their support and confidence.—New York Tribune.

AFFECTING THOUGHT.—The eulogy of Hon. Horace Binney upon Hon. John Sargent, in the Federal Court Room in Philadelphia, is described by the papers of that city as eloquent and impressive in the extreme. When he had spoken for three-quarters of an hour—slowly, and with deep feeling—he turned to his brethern and said: "Let no man pray for length of days, for the the old man is left alone, when he has buried all the friends of his youth. It was my grateful and painful duty, three years ago, to pay my last offering of regard to the memory of Chauncey. I now come to pay a little tribute to John Sargent. This is probably the last time that my voice will ever be heard by my associates of the bar, and I now offer them my last friendly salutations." He sat down, evidently much moved. The room was silent.

THE RAPPITES IN HULL.—A great "sensation" has been created in Hull, England, by a series of "spirit rappings" in a lonely house in Wellington lane. An invisable hand seems to tap or scratch on the walls in divers parts of the house, and as yet the cause of the noises has not been discovered. Thousands of people assemble round the house, and the police are constantly on duty to keep order. The mortal occupants of the house are an elderly bed-ridden woman, her son-in-law, her daughter, and a female servant.

An extensive robbery has just been committed at Genoa, in the palace of the Princess Castaldo, a Sicilian emigrant. The thieves, taking advantage of her being in the country, broke into the palace at night, and carried off 80,000f. worth of jewels.

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.
PORTSMOUTH:
WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 8, 1852.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

This annual document so occupied both our columns and our time yesterday, that comments were out of the question. And as we take it for granted that every reader, who can relish a criticism on the Message, has read the document itself, we will briefly refer to such parts of the message as we design to notice, without encumbering our columns with quotations.

The paper is business-like, and as concise as the number and variety of the topics will admit. We heartily concur in his hope, that the questions about the North American fisheries may be settled this winter to general satisfaction, and that a reciprocal and equitable trade between the British colonies and the United States may be established.

The affairs of Cuba, Indian affairs, and the Indian frontiers, may very properly be classed together, for the purpose of our present consideration and remark. The president makes an important statement in regard to offers made by France and England to this country, to become a party to a tripartite convention, in which the three powers shall bind themselves not only to abstain from taking possession of Cuba, but also to discountenance, that is to prevent any other person or power from doing it. This would seem to indicate that the proposed triple alliance should guarantee the Island of Cuba to Spain as a Colony in perpetuum. This offer the president declined. And he now informs us that he would esteem the Island itself desirable for us, if it had no inhabitants, or were inhabited by a kindred race, but that it would be a hazardous experiment to annex it now, with a million of inhabitants —as it might prejudice the industry of the South, and perhaps "it might revive those conflicts of opinion between the different sections of the country, which lately shook the Union to its centre, and which have been so happily compromised."

These last words are all that refer to slavery directly or indirectly.

In California, Oregon and Texas, it appears that no provision whatever is made for any resting place or dwelling for the Indians, who were the only real owners of the country. In regard to those in Texas, the difficulty is really serious. As she manages now, the President says "the fulfilment of our treaty stipulations with Mexico, and our duty to the Indians themselves, will, it is feared, become a subject of serious embarassment to the Government. It is hoped, however, that a timely and just provision by Texas may avert this evil."

The president and the country may as well understand, first as last, that Texas will do no such thing, except on condition of another bonus of five or ten millions. The wholesale annexationists of Texas and elsewhere would like nothing better than to get the general government into a difficulty with Mexico and the Indians, bring on another war in a year or two, conquer another piece of Mexico, and make a few more, fortunes out of the public troubles. Incidentally Mr. Houston of Texas may cast a look towards the White House, and some kindred spirit of his may send longing glances towards Cuba. The mildest of the democratic papers speak of Mr. Fillmore's administration, as a do-nothing administration in regard to our foreign relations—and thousands are looking forward to the next administration as progressive—and many desire it to be aggressive.

In regard to the Indians, we have always regretted the change from the policy of Jefferson to that of Jackson. Jefferson wished to civilize, localize and humanize the Indians in their old homes and haunts;—but the policy adopted in Gen. Jackson's administration, was, removal of the Indians, and sequestration of their lands,—and this as we now see is the policy of two new states, Texas and California, and of the Oregon Territory.

We are stronger than the Indians, stronger than the Mexicans. Might is not right;—but it often takes its place.

It is worthy of special remark, that out of our little army of 11,000 men, 8,000, or more than two-thirds, are employed in defending or watching our new possessions, i. e. taking care of the Indians in Mexico, Texas, &c.

PATENT.—Persons interested in procuring patents for useful inventions are referred to the advertisement of Mr. Eddy in our columns to-day. Mr. E. has so long been engaged in the business that he is undoubtedly the best man in New England for inventors to apply to.

"Hon. Franklin Pierce, President elect, attracted much attention, and seemed deeply affected by the solemnity of the occasion."

So says the Baltimore Sun's account of the Webster obsequies in Boston. The correspondent of the Sun appears to be the only person who saw the President elect in Boston, on the day alluded to!—Salem Register.

N. H. General Court—Nov. Session, 1852.

(Abridged from the Patriot.)

MONDAY, Dec. 6.

HOUSE.—Mr. Glidden of Unity, from the committee on Towns and Parishes, reported a bill to disannex a tract of land from South Newmarket, and annex it to the town of Newmarket. Read a first time; and, under a suspension of the rules, finally passed.

A message was received from the Senate announcing concurrence in the resolutions relating to the Webster Obsequies at Boston.

The Speaker read a communication from Rev. George Beckwith, begging to lay before the House copies of a pamphlet entitled "Stipulated arbitration, a substitute for War; an argument addressed specially to American Statesmen."

Mr. Bartlett of Portsmouth said he had read the document in question, and it was, as it appeared to him, a very sensible production —divested of those extravagant ideas with which others had clothed the subject. He deemed it deserving of the consideration of the House; and, with this view he moved that it be referred to the committee on Education. The letter and pamphlet were so referred.

Petitions presented and referred:

To the committee on Railroads.—By Mr. Parsons of Nashua, of R. M. Rowell and 83 others of Portsmouth for a law compelling Railroad Companies in this State to transport timber, lumber, bark and wood at proportionate rates of toll with other freights; by Mr. Pillsbury of Henniker, of Page Eaton and others, stockholders in the N. H. Central Railroad, for a union of that road with the Concord and Claremont line.

Mr. Connor of Sanbornton, gave notice that, to-morrow, he would ask leave to introduce a bill to incorporate the N. H. Conference Seminary, and the N. H. Female College.

Mr. Stanley of Hopkinton, moved the following—

Resolved, That the committee on Railroads be instructed to enquire into the expediency of so amending the law relating to Railroad Corporations, as to provide some suitable compensation for the baisness done by the Express trains. Adopted.

The House adjourned at 4 o'clock.

MAYOR OF BOSTON.—Three candidates for this office are now in the field, viz.: Joseph Smith, by the Democrats; Dr. J. V. C. Smith, by the—we hardly know what to call them—but they call him the People's candidate, or the Independent candidate; and Benjamin Seaver, the present Mayor, nominated by the Whigs, and also by the "Union" party. We do not know exactly what Union means here, but suppose it is the liquor interest. If so, we presume Mayor Seaver will be re-elected. The temperance or Maine Law men, or a portion of them, will vote for Dr. Smith.—Mr. Joseph Smith, having only the Democratic vote proper, will not command a large number, probably.

☞ On Saturday last, in New York city, James Doyle, Nicholas Howlett, William Saul and William Johnson, all of them young men, were sentenced to death for the crime of murder.

On Friday last in Philadelphia, Samuel Cowperthwaite was sentenced to death for the manslaughter of policeman Miller. He was also a young man.

All were intemperate—all were rowdies or the companions of such. Some of them were regular dock robbers.

A PRESENT FOR THE PRESIDENT ELECT.—Messrs. Ball, Black & Thompson, of Broadway, New York, have in their store a monstrous gold ring, which has been sent by a number of citizens of San Francisco as a present to General Pierce. It is of pure gold, weighs half a pound, and is valued at two thousand dollars. Upon the outside of the ring are several finely executed designs, representing the various changes in the condition of California before and after admission into the Union. The seal is also of gold, and is engraved with the arms of the State of California, inscribed in the centre of which is the name "Frank Pierce," in old Roman letters. Under the seal, which opens by a hinge, is a square box, containing, in separate compartments, nine varieties of ore found in the State. This splendid gift was designed by Mr. Geo. Blake, a jeweller in San Francisco, and will be presented to General Pierce by A. A. Selver, Esq., who is at present in New York.

Quere—Where this ring is to be worn—round the waist, like a handcuff? or round the neck like a collar? It must be utterly unfit for any fingers but those of a giant. Perhaps it is not to be worn at all, but hung up, as General Jackson said he meant to hang up his boots—"as a mirror, to stimulate him in the performance of his duty."

FOUND DEAD—INTEMPERANCE.—A man, named Haskell, of dissipated habits, was found dead in a house in Great Barrington, on Sunday, and from the appearance of the body, it is presumed that he must have been dead several days. He had not been seen since Tuesday, the 21st. He was found lying in bed, and the blood had flowed from his nose, and run down upon the floor; and the body was so badly disfigured as to render it difficult of recognition. His family had gone to Colebrook, Ct., whither they were expecting him to follow with their household furniture.—Springfield Republican, Dec. 1.

NEW IMPORTATION OF JACKS AND JENNETS FOR KENTUCKY.—We are gratified to state that the Mason County Importing Company have received advices of the shipment, at Barcelona, in Spain, of eight jacks and jennets, expected to arrive at Charleston about the middle of December, and reach Maysville by the first of January. The order sent out was for the best animals that could be selected in the kingdom of Spain, without regard to cost.—Maysville (Ky.) Eagle.

LOCAL.

TO NEW SUBSCRIBERS.—For $3, we will give every person who may subscribe between this time and the first of January, a receipt from the time of subscribing (and paying) to Jan. 1st, 1854.

☞ After January 1st, '53, the Chronicle will not be for sale by the carriers. Persons wishing it left regularly at their residence or place of business, are respectfully invited to leave their names at the office or with the carriers.

☞ The lecture at the Portsmouth Lyceum last evening, by Rev. Samuel Johnson, of Salem, Mass., was on the Philosophy of the Hindoo Theology, and though not a lecture which could interest the whole, or even the greater part, of a miscellaneous audience, was suggestive and instructive to all such as are fond of tracing out analogies between Natural, Revealed, and Corrupted Religions.

☞ MONS. ADRIEN, the Magician and Juggler, is to exhibit his necromancy, ventriloquism, and sleight of hand at the Temple, this evening. His exhibition here last Saturday evening, was highly satisfactory to the spectators; and several, who had seen a number of different performers, gave him the preference. His advertisement gives some further particulars.

☞ A correspondent, who subscribes himself a "Citizen of NewCastle," speaks in high terms of Major Austin, commander of Fort Constitution, commending him for his benevolence towards the poor among the citizens, and for his kind and provident attention to the comfort of the soldiers under his command.

PEIRCE OR PIERCE?

Messrs. Editors:—I see you, like most of your cotemporaries, continue to spell the name of the President elect wrong—it should be Peirce and not Pierce. The General writes his name Franklin Peirce, so also did his father before him—see Barstow's History of New Hampshire, Page 389, and Moore's Life of Pierce, Biographical Annual page 92. All of the name in Portsmouth (except Stephen and George who spell theirs Pearse) write theirs Peirce—for instance, Daniel H. Peirce, Mary Peirce, Andrew C. Peirce, William. M. Peirce, Mark W. Peirce, Nath'l Peirce, and of Greenland, Joshua W. Peirce, Dover, Andrew Peirce and so of all others in the State, with the exceptions above named, as far as my knowledge extends. So you will please drop spelling the new President's name Pierce and substitute Peirce, although I have no doubt, many will find themselves pierced soon after the 4th of March next, including myself among the wounded.

Yours, A SUBSCRIBER.

[Our correspondent is wrong after all. The man who is chosen President, spells his own name Frank PIERCE, and Mr. Frank PEIRCE is not president. Pearse is a different name and a different family. Dr. Pierce of Kittery spelt his name with the I before the E. But his son Charles, the founder of the Oracle, chose to spell his name with the EI.

Since his day it has been spelt both ways,—but Franklin PIERCE is the President elect. No other spelling will answer.]

☞ The ship Orient, of Spofford, Tileston & Co.'s new line of Liverpool packets, cleared at New York, on Saturday, with the largest cargo which ever left that port for Liverpool. The Orient was built in Portsmouth, N. H., by Geo. Raynes, Esq.

The number of land-holders—that is, persons owning farms—in this counrry is about a million and a half, out of twenty millions of white population; whereas in Great Britain the number of land-holders is only thirty thousand, out of a population of twenty-seven millions.

It appears by the figures, taken from the late census, that the colored race has increased only about six per cent in the last thirty years in the New England States. In New Hampshire it has actually decreased. The increase of the white population in New England has been over sixty per cent during the last thirty years.

MORE ABOUT THE COUNTESS RUMFORD.—The late Countess of Rumford, Miss Sarah Thompson, was the daughter of the celebrated Count Rumford, Benjamin Thompson. He married first the widow of Benjamin Rolfe, who was the daughter of Rev. Timothy Walker, the first clergyman and one of the earliest settlers of Concord, N. H. Mr. Rolfe died in 1770, and she died in Concord in 1792, leaving the daughter Sarah, just deceased. Subsequently, in 1804, Count Rumford married the widow of Lavoisier, the great chemist, and took up his residence at Anteuil, near Paris, where he died in 1814.

The late countess went with her father to Europe, but returned to the United States previous to his second marriage. Subsequently she returned to Paris and lived many years in Europe. Lately she has lived in a small but neat house, on the edge of Concord, N. H., enjoying an annuity from her father's estate, and we believe, a pension from Bavaria. Her rooms were stocked with pictures and other memorials, once in the possession of the count, which she was wont to exhibit with much pride to visitors. She had many eccentricities of character, but had a quick and vigorous mind, and withal was strongly American. She idolized her native country. We saw her, just after Taylor's and Scott's Mexican victories, with maps and documents spread before her, tracing the route of our triumphant troops.

"O how I should like to be in Europe now," she exclaimed, "and hear what those who love to sneer at America would say to such feats as these." It will be remembered that her father, though injustice was done him here, would never do aught to the prejudice of his native land.—Boston Post.

Pictorial Fair.

MR. PHILIPP WENZEL

TAKES pleasure in respectfully inviting his friends and the public generally to his FAIR TO-DAY

IN RECHABITE HALL,

just above his Book-binding and Framing Store, 38 Market street.

This Fair consists of an Exhibition of a large lot of GERMAN and FRENCH PICTURES, just imported, viz: Grand Landscapes from the Rhine, Switzerland, Tyrol, &c., beautifully colored; Scenes of Napoleon's Battles, and other Military displays; Heads and Figures of the newest works of Laforce and Julian; Genre pictures or Scenes from the daily common life; and a mass of Historical, Biblical and almost every other kind of Painting, of any size—framed and unframed.

Also, a collection of Fancy Works, Boxes, Frames, &c., all of which will be for sale at the lowest peices.

Every article will have its lowest price fixed.

This occasion will present a good opportunity to procure splendid and cheap presents for the approaching holidays, and as the finest pictures will naturally find the first purchasers, he solicits to favor him with an early call before the best articles are selected and taken out.

ENTRY FREE to all. Open every day, except Wednesday and Saturday afternoons and Sunday, from 9 A.M. to 5 P.M. d6

PATENTS.

American and Foreign Office.

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS

With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,

No. 32 State Street, Boston.

IN 1840 the subscriber was appointed Agent of the United States Patent Office, in accordance with the 10th section of the Act of 1837.

Having relinquished the agency for the transmission of models, and adopting a more expeditious mode of sending them to the Patent Office, whereby a Patent can be procured several weeks earlier, he continues to forward them, as before, free of expense, and to prepare Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all the necessary Papers and Drawings for Patents, and to render advice on legal and scientific matters respecting the same. Patents secured in Europe.

The subscriber thus presents to inventors superior facilities for obtaining patents; and is now prepared to make Specifications at rates cheaper by ten to twenty per cent. than those of other agencies. They can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skillful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"PATENT OFFICE, ———.

"R. H. EDDY, Esq., Boston, Mass.

"SIR:—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this office, are equal to those of any other agent I am very respectfully, Yours, &c. THOMAS EWBANK, Commissioner of Patents."

LATEST NEWS!

FRIGHTFUL STEAMBOAT ACCIDENT—BOILER BURST—LOSS OF LIFE.—St. Louis, Dec. 4.—Steam packet Geneva burst her boiler 20 miles from here last night, whilst wooding. The boat is a total loss; several persons killed, including Capt. Charles Dean. Capt. James Perry, was mortally wounded. No other names given.

SHIPWRECK—NARROW ESCAPE.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 7.

The ship Georgia, of Savannah, from Liverpool for New York, went ashore on the beach near Tuckerton, Friday night, in a fog; 350 passengers were on board, also a cargo of iron and salt. All the passengers were landed by means of the Francis metallic life saving apparatus, provided by government for protection of the coast. The vessel lies 200 yards from the shore. A ball projected from a mortar, to which a rope of a life car was attached, was carried to the vessel, thereby saving the lives of all the passengers. The surf was too heavy to allow the surf boats to ply to and from the ship. She broke in two, and her keel came ashore. Among the passengers were 56 females.

A CONTESTED SEAT IN THE UNITED STATES SENATE.—After the death of Mr. Clay, Governor Powell of Kentucky appointed David Merriweather, a democrat, to fill the vacancy. Mr. Clay, about the time of his last illness, resigned his seat in the Senate, which was to take effect on the first of September; and the Legislature have elected Mr. Archibald Dixon, whig, to fill up the term.—Mr. Merriweather intends to retain his seat, and contends that a new vote of the Legislature is necessary to give Mr. Dixon the place, as he was elected to fill the vacancy in consequence of Mr. Clay's resignation, not of his death. We should think as it is now passed the time that the resignation was to take effect, that the Senate will not be long in deciding which of the two gentlemen shall occupy the seat. Both gentlemen are now in Washington.—N. Y. Herald.

The Herald is right. The seat belongs to Dixon certainly. Mr. M. must either be very green himself, or deem the Senate to be of that order.

Mr. Charles Adams, of Ripton, Vt., while engaged in the late bear hunt on the mountains at that place, was instantly killed by the accidental discharge of his rifle. He was about forty years of age, and leaves a wife and five children in bereavement.

BISHOP DOANE.—The New Jersey Diocesan Convention has met and fully exonerated Bishop Doane from all the new charges brought against him, such as being intemperate in his habits, extravagant in his purchases of wines and liquors, etc. Certain dissenting resolutions offered by Mr. Halsted, of Trenton, were laid on the table with only one opposing vote.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

DEATH OF MISSIONARIES.—News has been received of the death of Mrs. Morgan, at Salonica; Rev. Rollin Porter and wife at Gaboon, Africa; and of Mrs. Pierson, at Little Rock, Ark., connected with the Choctaw mission.

THE BALTIMORE SLAVE FAMILY.—We are glad to announce that the sum required to redeem this family has been raised and remitted to Baltimore, and the friends of humanity who have so kindly and promptly responded to the appeal, may have the satisfaction of knowing that the mother and child are now free.—Boston Journal.

A WOMAN'S MAN.—Gerritt Smith says, "Were you to ask who elected me?—I should answer, the women. The women pleaded and prayed for me, and I am elected. Thanks to the women for such a result."

Mrs. Partington says she is glad that there is an end to coalitions, for her aunt Sarah was killed by one on a railroad, and she has always been afraid of them since.

A whole family was lately badly poisoned in St. Louis, by the carelessness of a servant, who used a spoonful of arsenic in making buckwheat cakes, supposing it to be saleratus.

Boys that are philosophers at six years of age, are generally blockheads at twenty-one. By forcing children, you get so much into their heads that they become cracked in order to hold it.

THE DEMOCRATIC ELECTORAL DINNER AT RICHMOND, VA., was a great affair. They had speechcs, and letters, and tonsts, in the utmost profusion. Father Ritchie was unanimously proclaimed the lion of the evening, and made the most hair-splitting speech on the good old never-to-be-forgotten resolutions of '98 and '99. On one point he was very sensitive. He does not believe in the constitutionality of harbor and river appropriations, and was very much afraid that the State would accept the $45,000 appropriated by Congress at the last session, for the improvement of James river. Poor old man. He is behind the age. The principle may be all well enough of leaving the States to make their own improvements; but while Congress is doing the work, it is to be hoped that Virginia will hardly be fool enough to refuse her share of the money. She has played the the pharisee long enough among her neighbors; and as she is at last waking up to do something, why does not Father Ritchie let her alone? But the Electors had a good time, excepting, perhaps, at the dinner, of which the Examiner says:

"The dinner was a good one; plates were set for six hundred persons, but the guests were three thousand—mostly the lowest raff of the streets—and, in consequence, that part of the affair not only failed to give satisfaction, but was a disgusting scene of greediness and confusion. It should convince every one of the absurdity of attempting to entertain the whole world." Thus it appears that the chivalry of Virginia are pretty much like the rest of the worl'd in scrambling for a dinner, as we doubt not they will prove to be in scrambling for the spoils. This is an age of progress.—N. Y. Herald.

SHELLBARKS.

PHILADELPHIA Shellbarks of prime quality, for sale by S. J. DODGE & CO.

A YOUNG ASSASSIN.—An apprentice boy named Campbell, twelve years of age, shot his master, Nathaniel Dandridge, while in bed, near Augusta, Arkansas, on the 9th ult. The young villain then fastened a rope to the body, and by means of a horse dragged it to a swamp three quarters of a mile distant. He endeavored to set fire to the house, but was prevented by an old negro woman. He then ran away, but was pursued and captured.—The cause for the murder is said to be that Mr. D. had corrected the boy for some misconduct the night before, and threatened to whip him again next morning, but the boy was too early and too vindictive for that, and early in the morning shot him with his own doubled barrelled gun, in sight of the old negro woman.

AN IMPOSTER.—A colored man, representing himself to be a fugitive slave seeking to remove his family to Canada, and using the names of influential gentlemen without their authority, has obtained money under false pretences, from the people of Danvers and vicinity. It is supposed he is the same imposter against whom the Liberator cautions the public.

The accounts from the Baltic report the continuance of the severe frost and the increase of ice, which threatens to entirely block up the navigation for the season.

THE ROGER WILLIAMS COOKING STOVE.
FOR COAL OR WOOD.

THE attention of all in want of a COOK STOVE is respectfully solicited to a consideration of the merits of this most beautifully modeled pattern; equally adapted for coal or wood, and warranted to operate successfully with either,—which is now offered to the public as the

Most Complete and Efficient

Cooking apparatus ever before introduced in this vicinity. It is an elegant model, with fine smooth Providence castings, fitted together in the most substantial manner. The oven, (by far the most important part of a cooking stove,) in point of capacity, and in regard to its operation, is unsurpassed by that of any other stove now in the market, it being lined with fire-brick to retain and equalize the heat, and provided with valves for the escape of steam, &c. arising from the roasting of meats,—rendering it in this respect superior to the old fashioned but universally admired Tin Kitchen.
The broiling apparatus is constructed on an entirely new and original plan, and will not fail to recommend itself at the first glance, as no smoke or gas arising from the culinary process can escape into the room. The sliding hearth is an improvement not to be found in any other stove.
The popularity of this over all other stoves now in the market, may be inferred from the fact that since its first introduction the last season, over THREE THOUSAND have been put into successful operation in New England and New York City.
Every stove is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction to the purchaser or the money refunded.
Each stove is warranted not to crack for twelve months from date of purchase. It is believed that this stove combines all the improvements that skill can invent, and is by far the most perfect cooking stove ever sold in Portsmouth. And though its price is higher than any other stove offered in this market of late, it is without question the cheapest in the end. All intending to purchase are respectfully invited to give this an examination before purchasing elsewhere.
Also, a variety of cheap Cook, Parlor, and Office Stoves, which are offered low.
J. E. CHAPMAN,
n23 Daniel st, Sign of the big Coffee Pot.

STANLEY'S Imperial AIR-TIGHT COAL BURNER.
THE above cut represents the most beautiful, durable and economical
STORE, CHURCH OR HALL STOVE
extant. We sold a number of these stoves last season, and they give perfect satisfaction.
Four sizes of this capital article in store, and for sale at MORRISON'S,
n9 15 Daniel st.

WHAT-CHEER STOVE.
THE WHAT-CHEER COAL COOKING STOVE, now offered for sale by the subscribers, is acknowledged by all who have examined it to be the best and most economical Coal Stove ever offered to the public.
The castings are heavy, smooth, and very handsome. The Broiling apparatus is a great improvement over all other Stoves, being constructed in such a manner as to prevent the steam from escaping into the room while cooking.
All persons wishing to purchase a COAL COOKING STOVE, are respectfully requested to call and examine the same. Every Stove warranted to work well, or no sale.
We have also a large assortment of COOKING, PARLOR and STORE STOVES, &c.—for sale cheap for Cash at our Store,
Corner of State and Water streets,
s27 ANDERSON & EMERY.

Wholesale and Retail Warehouse.
THE IMPROVED
EMPIRE STATE STOVE.
THIS justly celebrated COOKING STOVE having been improved in every way it could be to make its operations more complete, and its plates beautifully ornamented—no expense, time or trouble having been spared to make this the most complete Cooking Stove ever brought before the public—the subscriber feels assured in warranting the IMPROVED EMPIRE STATE superior to any stove in the market, as hundreds can testify who have used them for the past year.
This Stove has a very LARGE OVEN, which makes it desirable on account of doing more cooking with the same amount of fuel than can be done in any other stove. The flue is large, which ensures a good draft in all cases. The castings are very heavy and smooth, and those parts that come next the fire are extra thick, making it very durable. It is adapted to the use of either coal or wood, and we warrant them to operate as well with one as the other. We furnish them with the very best appanatus; and, altogether, it is the MOST DURABLE, ECONOMICAL and CONVENIENT COOKING STOVE ever made—combining in every respect. We ask the attention of all persons intending to purchase a new, or exchange their old stove, to an examination of the Improved Empire State.
We have also on hand a variety of other Cooking Stoves, called the "Banner," "Belle of the States," "King of the States," "Bay State," "Angio Saxon," "Pearl of Troy," &c.; with a large lot of PARLOR STOVES, such as the Reserve Air-Tight, Star, Revere Parlor Cook, Lady Franklin, for Wood or Coal; Shop, Office and Air-Tight Stoves, of different sizes and prices for either wood or coal.
Also an extensive assortment of HOUSEKEEPING GOODS: Wooden, Willow, Glass, Britannia, Japan, Tin, Hard, Enamel, and Brass Ware; Copper, Cast Iron, and Chain Pumps; Window-Shades, Table Oil Cloths, &c.
All the above goods will be sold lower than can be bought elsewhere in this vicinity.

OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.

FRANK W. MILLER, SAMUEL GRAY, THOS. W. MILLER.

V. B. Palmer, American Newspaper Agent, is the only authorized Agent for this paper in the cities of Boston, New York and Philadelphia, and is duly empowered to take advertisements and subscriptions at the same rates as required by us. His receipts will be regarded as payments.

SPIRITUOUS SNAPPINGS.

The spiritual rappings are not suffered to engross all the newspaper notoriety to themselves—but the Schiedam Snappings come in for their share, or a little more perhaps. We have given a chapter or two on the latter subject, and now have abundant material for another.

Dr. Wolfe, who has doubtless made a trifle by the sale of the article, introduces it as "Avomatic Schiedam Schnapps," or, in other words, pure unadulterated Juniper Holland gin. The Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, editor of the "Independent," a religious newspaper in New York, speaks of it thus:

"It makes us sad to remember the unnecessary days and months of unprofitable chills and fever that we have ourselves had; and if any think that a regular orthodox "fever and agur" is no great shakes, we heartily wish them a trial of it. But it is all over now.—Our Home Missionaries can now go to the most unhealthy river bottoms, with the Bible in one hand and Schnapps in the other; for the very beard is plucked out of this grim monster who has had so long a despotism in western valleys and river bottoms. The quarterly drafts of missionaries will no longer signify mere cash, but something more subtle; for it will of course be the duty of the parent society to send forth this essence of Wolfe to all their stations."

The editors of the New York Medical Gazette and Journal both speak in the highest terms of it as a remedy in dropsy, gravel and ague, and Drs. Reese and Mott have prescribed it freely, and have witnessed its beneficial effects. It is sold only by apothecaries.

The Boston Transcript (in an article apparently prepared with some care, says:

"It may be procured in this city of Dr. Burnett, 33 Tremont Row, in glass cases, pints and quarts, as put up in Schiedam, Holland."

A great deal of meaning resides in the little word "as"—that is, it is not put up in Schiedam, but it is put up exactly as they do it there.

We do not doubt this—neither do we deny that it is pure unadulterated Juniper Holland Gin. If it is so, it has very powerful and valuable medical properties, and for that reason it should not be used as a common drink. Yet it is so used, and with the well known effect of debilitating the system; and apparently shortening life in some cases. It is a strong diuretic; and when old and mild, is said by gin-drinkers to be a very agreeable stimulant, carrying off many of the ill effects commonly arising from other stimuli. It may be worth knowing, by temperance men and economists, that Juniper Tea, made of the berries which grow by millions in our pastures, contains all the specific medical virtue of gin, and costs nothing but the trouble of picking the berry.

Men do not commonly choose, however, to be cured by any thing easy, cheap or common.

"STITCH! STITCH!"—Extensive preparations are making in New York for a fair in aid of shirt-sewers the most poorly paid of any class of workwomen in the city. A writer in a New York paper says that with constant work, early and late, they cannot earn more than twenty-five cents per day. For calico shirts she receives 50 cents a dozen; white muslin shirts, linen bosoms, with 14 plaits, 18 cents each; three-ply linen collars, with three button-holes, stitched all round, 3 cents each. God speed the movement in aid of these poor women.

HAYTI.—We are requested by Capt. R. C. Dennis, who has recently returned from Port au Prince, to state, for the information of those who have lost friends there the present season, that in no foreign port do foreigners recieve more kindness and attention in sickness from the natives, than at Port au Prince. He says it is a fact beyond dispute, that the natives of Hayti are kind, affable and polite; that no people are more hospitable, even towards Americans, from whom they have not in too many instances recieved kind treatment. Their mode of living is also much more refined than is generally supposed.

Capt. Dennis says that four families out out of ten at Port au Prince have their piano in their parlor, dress in as good style and stand as well in point of morality and virtue as many who despise them. Soulouque, the Emperor, he says is a fine looking man, the sight of whom would at once disprove the foolish stories often circulated in the papers in relation to him. He is strictly temperate, not even indulging in the use of wine. Capt. Dennis also pays Mr. G. F. Usher, the American consul, a high compliment for the faithful and attentive manner in which he discharges the duties of his office.—Boston Journal.

DEATH OF A MAD ELEPHANT.—A splendid elephant belonging to the court, was killed at the Royal Villa of Stupinigi, near Turin, on the 7th, in consequence of its having shown symptoms of madness. It appears that, in consequence of ill treatment, he had some time ago seized his keeper by the waist, and hurled him to a height of nearly 100 feet, by which he was killed. After this it was deemed advisable not to let him out of his stable again. This made him melancholy, and no one could venture to approach him but the widow of his keeper. To prevent further misfortune, his death was decided on, and effected by the fumes of charcoal. Many eminent members of the faculty witnessed the effects of the gas through the panes of the windows looking into his stable. His agony was violent, but short.

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.
PORTSMOUTH:
THURSDAY, DECEMBER 9, 1852.

FILLIBUSTERING REBUKED IN SOUTH CAROLINA.—The Charleston Mercury, a paper which in the lifetime of Mr. Calhoun was understood usually to reflect his political sentiments, and is believed now to express the sentiments of the leading politicians of South Carolina, has come out with a strong expression of its views against the acquisition of the island of Cuba for the purpose of annexation to the Union, either by purchase, fraud, or violence.

The Mercury supposes every well informed man in our country is assured that our disputes with Cuba arise wholly from the wish of our fillibusters to provoke a war, which they wish to end in the conquest of that island. The Mercury maintains that it would injure, and not benefit, the South, to annex Cuba.

Perhaps it would—but the annexation fever is up, and must have its crisis. The South set the ball in motion: perhaps it can be stopped by the same power—but perhaps not.

WARM WEATHER.

The temperature for several days past has been spring-like; and the unseasonable warmth has opened the windows of work-shops, houses, &c. as well as covered rose bushes in some quarters with unusual winter bloom. Among the memoranda proper to be placed on record, of the present season, is a statement of the New Hampshire Daily Patriot in regard to the ventilation of our State House of Representatives. It says,

"When the House met at 3 o'clock this afternoon, (Dec. 7,) the heat was so great that the windows of the western part of the Representatives' Hall had to be thrown, and kept, open. No fires were in the stoves, consequently the heat was natural, and, therefore, most remarkable at this season of the year."

The Portland Advertiser of yesterday, says,

The present season is certainly a puzzle to the weather wise. Here we are nearly in the middle of December, with the ground entirely free of frost, with the grass here and there green, and some of the out of door flowers still in bloom. Yesterday the thermometer during four or five hours in the middle of the day, did not vary two degrees from 60 above zero; so most people found great coats uncomfortable.

Very much the same kind of weather is experienced in the eastern section of the State—adverse of course to lumbering operations, and therefore deprecated by our eastern neighbors. The poor, however, are benefitted—and if it be a fact that the average range of the thermometer is about the same each year, we shall have cold enough by and by to pay for it."

A correspondent of the same paper gives an account of the weather from the 25th of November to the 7th December, and adds,

"The writer recollects remarkable atmospheric occurrences as far back as the autumn and winter of 1792—and is confident that in no corresponding period of any year during that term, has there been so long a duration of so warm a temperature.

The nearest approach to it occurred in December 1794, when for a day or two before Christmas, on that day, and a day after it was about as warm as the average of the last eleven days. The usual winter temperature in that case soon followed, and the succeeding spring was more forward than any since.

As an offset to its interference with the usual business of the season the saving to our State in the use of hay and fuel during the past eleven days cannot be much less than a million of dollars."

THE BOSTON SUNDAY ARGUS, is a new paper, published by Fabyan & Ford, and edited by Samuel Fabyan. It is "devoted," says its motto, "to the Plain Truth." This is explained to mean that the paper aims to keep up the democratic party, and to put down the liquor law. It is very neatly printed, and ably edited.

☞ The Official vote of Maine, at the late Presidential election, was, for Pierce, 41,962; Scott, 32,696; Hale, 7,950;—being almost exactly like the vote for Governor in 1850.

A gentleman writing from Burlington, Vt., to a Boston paper, speaking of the late earthquake, says:

"I have long been of the opinion that many, perhaps the greater part, of the New England earthquakes on record, have been produced by causes exterior to the earth, and not within it, as is generally supposed."

There is said to be a bet pending between the American clipper ship Nightingale and the British clipper ship Challenger, of $10,000, on their passages from China to London.—If the reported arrival of the Nightingale is correct, she has won the bet. The Nightingale sailed from Shanghai July 31, and is reported to have arrived at Deal Nov. 18; of this there is some doubt, however. The C. left Shanghai July 27, and arrived at Deal Nov. 18.

The Nightingale was built on the banks of the Piscataqua, by Mr. Hanscom.

JOHN MCCABE, of New Orleans, the owner of several celebrated trotting horses, died suddenly at Louisville, last week.

N. H. General Court—Nov. Session, 1852.

(Abridged from the Patriot.)

TUESDAY, Dec. 7, 1852.

SENATE.—Mr. Williamson presented the petition of Geo. C. Beckwith, on behalf of the American Peace Society, praying for a decision of umpires, in all disputes between nations—referred to the committee on Military Affairs.

Mr. Whittemore, from the committee on the Insane Asylum, reported a resolution, in a new draft, making provision for the protection of the asylum buildings from fire, which was read twice and ordered to a third reading.

Mr. Taylor, from the committee on Banks, reported a resolution indefinitely postponing the bill amendatory of the act relating to the taxation of surplus capital of banks—adopted.

The bill in amendment of the charter of the Wilton Railroad was read a third time and passed.

The bill in amendment of the charter of the N. E. M. F. Ins. Co., sent up from the House, was read twice and referred to the committee on Incorporations.

HOUSE.—Petitions presented and referred.—To the committee on Railroads.—By Mr. J. H. Wiggins of Dover, of Paul Stackpole and 100 others—of Willis H. Esty and 43 others—and of Andrew Pierce and 71 others, severally, for an alteration of the charter of the Portsmouth and Dover Railroad; by Mr. Hackett of Portsmouth, of George Marsh and others, Nathan Jones and others, and James P. Bartlett and others, severally for the same.

On Incorporations.—By Mr. Perry of Exeter, of Moses Sanborn and others, for amendment of the charter of the Atlantic Mutual Fire Insurance Co. of Exeter.

On Education.—By Mr. Weeks of Canaan, of Geo. Beckwith, Secretary of the American Peace Society, relating to "Stipulated arbitration as a substitute for war."

On Printers' Accounts.—By Mr. Dodge of Nashua, account of Albin Beard for advertising the liquor bill; by Mr. J. H. Wiggins of Dover that of John T. Gibbs; and by Mr. Hackett of Portsmouth, that of C. W. Brewster, severally for the same.

The Judiciary committee were discharged from the further consideration of the bill for the suppression of drinking-houses and tipplingshops, and the same referred to a select committee of ten members.

The bill to incorporate the New England Mutual Fire Insurance Company was ordered to a third reading.

The petitioners for an act of incorporation to build a bridge across the Piscataqua, had leave to bring in a bill.

The bill to amend the charter of the Grafton Railroad was postponed until next session.

Militia.—Messrs. Cragin of Lebanon, Knowlton of Hopkinton and Faulkner of Keene were appointed a special committee to compile and re-draft the militia laws.

Mr. Carlton of Chesterfield presented the following resolution, which was adopted:

Resolved, That the committee on the Judiciary be instructed to inquire into the Expediency of so amending the law in relation to redeeming rights in equity sold on execution that purchasers receive a certain amount of interest on the purchase money, provided the debtor redeems.

Introduction of Physiology, Hygiene, &c., into Common Schools.—On motion of Mr. Carlton of Chesterfield, the bill to amend chapter 72 of the R. S., was taken from the table and acted on. This bill to amend, provides for the introduction of the study of physiology, anatomy and hygiene into common schools.

The question before the House was on an amendment to the bill, providing "that this act shall only apply to such towns as at their annual meetings shall adopt the same"—then on the final passage of the bill.

After two divisions of the House the amendment of Mr. Thompson was adopted by a vote of 122 to 100.

Mr. Cutter of Peterboro' then moved an amendment providing that the act should come into operation on the 1st day of November, 1853, instead of the 1st of May, 1853, which was adopted.

On the question of ordering the bill to be read a third time coming up, a long and somewhat interesting debate sprung up, on the merits of the bill, and on the merits of the studies proposed to be introduced. An attempt was made to postpone the bill indefinitely,—but the attempt failed, and the bill was laid on the table.

A bill in relation to "an act to amend an act to incorporate the New Hampshire Benevolent Society," was ordered to a third reading to-morrow.

Mr. Sargent of Wentworth, presentee a document addressed to him by Wm. B. Parker of Portsmouth, police justice, which, he said was neither a petition or remonstrance, but related to business before a committee of this House in which Mr. Parker had concern. The document was referred to the committee on the Judiciary.

THE SIAMESE TWINS.—The Siamese Twins, Messrs. Chang-Eng, who are well-to-do planters in Surrey Co., N. C., come out in the papers, indignantly denying certain misrepresentations made regarding them by a recent traveller in that region, and whose story of their cruelty to their slaves, their quarrels with each other, and with their neighbors, has been going the rounds of the press. These they deny in detail and in gross, and furnish proof, in the voluntary certificate of the neighbors, that what they say is true.

MRS. JOHN ROUNDY of this city, on her way to California, where she was to join her husband, who had sent for her, while stepping from one boat to another on the Chagres river, or from the boat to the shore, became dizzy and fell into the rapid current, and was drowned. She has left a large family of grown up children.—Bangor Whig.

Silver change has become more scarce than ever throughout the country. Hotel keepers issue tickets representing fractional parts of a dollar, and on the Hudson River many of the merchants have issued shin plasters for the same purpose.

It was stated at a temperance meeting, held at Liverpool, that there are now, throughout the world, about sixteen millions of sectoatallers.

LOCAL.

POLICE COURT.—William S. Perry was brought before the Police Court yesterday forenoon, for making a noise in the streets, breaking windows, &c., in Bow street, on Tuesday. He was sentenced to the House of Correction for fifteen days, and pay a fine and costs of prosecution, amounting to $6.41.

Levi Brackett was brought before the Police Court yesterday afternoon, for an assault upon George Smart. After a hearing of the testimony, the decision of the Justice was postponed till this forenoon. Hatch for Plff., W. Claggett for Deft.

☞ We learn that a telegraphic despatch was received in this city last evening, from New York, announcing the arrival of the clipper ship Typhoon, Capt. Salter, in 23 days from Liverpool. This is a remarkably short run for the season.

☞ The Pictorial Exhibition and Fair of Mr. Wenzel are worthy of the attention of all lovers of the fine arts. He has lithographic prints, paintings in water colors, &c. &c.—Also, handsome specimens of fancy bookbinding.

MAGIC AND ART—is the head of Mons. Adrien's advertisement to-day; and the Art of a finished professor of these things, certainly belongs to him. His skill and success are conspicuous in producing illusions which seem like realities even to observers who know better. The old and the young enjoy them alike. His performances last evening were of the most difficult and entertaining character, and as a Juggler we believe him unsurpassed. His Dissolving Views are of a very high character.

Messrs. Editors:—By the Messenger of last evening, I perceive a statement that the Company of Engine No. 3 put the first stream upon the late fire, which honor I think belongs to Company of No. 2. A FRIEND TO FIREMEN.

Thirty-Second Congress—Second Session.

TUESDAY, Dec. 7.

SENATE.—Mr. Clemens gave notice that to-morrow he should ask leave to move a joint resolution to confer the rank of Lieutenant Colonel on Major General Winfield Scott.

Mr. Adams, on leave, introduced a bill to prevent unauthorized banking in the District of Columbia.

On motion of Mr. Badger, the Senate proceeded to the election of Chaplain. Forty votes were cast, of which the Rev. C. M. Butler received 27, and was declared elected Chaplain.

The Kentucky contested election case was taken up, and occupied the Senate until the adjournment.

HOUSE.—The House met at 12 o'clock.

On motion of Mr. Stephens of Ga., the Speaker was authorized to appoint the several standing committees.

The House then resumed the consideration of the proposition to refer the President's Message to a committee of the whole on the state of the Union, and that 16,000 extra copies, with the accompanying documents, be printed.

Mr. Wrightman concluded his remarks commenced yesterday, in favor of printing 5000 copies of the President's Message, in the Spanish language. He said that of the 65,000 inhabitants of New Mexico, but 500 can speak the English language.

Mr. Brooks proposed to amend that part of the motion to refer the Message to a committee of the whole on the state of the Union, so as to refer that part which relates to the subject of the tariff and revenue to a select committee, with power to examine witnesses and collect testimony here and elsewhere, with instructions to report as soon as possible a bill to reduce the revenues from imports to an amount which may be required for a sound administration of the government.

His idea was to get rid of the present surplus reserve, which accumulated revenue he estimated at twenty millions of dollars, and to prevent any future accumulations, by enlarging the list of free articles, having especial reference to the raw material, with a view to place American manufactures upon a par with those of other countries.

Mr. Brown of Mississippi, was satisfied with the tariff of '46, and was opposed to a return to minimums and specifics.

Mr. Dean, of New York, said he was astonished that his Hon. colleague should have brought forward his proposition after the party of which he is a member had fought the battle in the New England States on the point of increasing the duties, and likewise of encouraging the manufactures of the country. Mr. D. was opposed to any change in principle of the present tariff. At the conclusion of his remarks he moved the previous question, and under its operation the amendment of Mr. Brooks, was disagreed to, yeas 73, nays 90.

The House then elected a chaplain, Rev. James Callagher, a presbyterian.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.

SENATE.—Mr. Hale appeared to day. Mr. Chase gave notice of a bill granting to Ohio all the unsold and unappropriated lands in Ohio.

Mr. Rusk offered a resolution, calling upon the State Department for copies of all correspondence in the year 1830, between that department and the Mexican Minister, and the republic of Texas, touching Indian aggression. Adopted.

Mr. Clemens introduced a joint resolution authorizing the President to confer the rank of Lieutenant General by brevet on Maj. Gen. Scott.

Mr. Gwinn gave notice of a bill granting public lands for the construction of a railroad rom the Mississippi river to the Pacific.

LATEST NEWS!

FIRE AND LOSS OF LIFE.—SCHOONER SUNK.—THE FALLEN BUILDING.—N. York, Dec. 8th.—A frame building was burnt last night, in Orange street, and two children of Mrs. Van Dyke, one four and the other two years of age, were burnt to death. Philip Farley was nearly suffocated in trying to rescue them.

The sch Isadore, of Haverstraw, loaded with brick, was sunk in the East river last evening in consequence of a collision with a Fulton ferry boat. The crew were saved.

Workmen were busy until a late hour last evening at the ruins of the building in 32d street, removing the rubbish and rescuing sufferers. Geo. Doherty, a carpenter, Joseph Weaver, John Darcy, mason, were taken out dead. Three others were rescued seriously injured.

Philadelphia, 7th.—NEWS FROM HAVANA.—A despatch from Washington says that a steamer (no name given,) has arrived from Havana in great haste, bearing important despatches, very secret. The despatch is very indefinite; but, no doubt, the steamer is the Fulton, which was to leave Havana on the 2d inst. with the decision of the Capt. General in the case of Capt. Gray, and the crew of the Lady Suffolk.

New Orleans, 6th.—The Cherokee arrived to-day from Havana, reports that she was well received at that place, communicated with the shore and landed her passengers as usual. The Captain of the port intimated that all difficulty about the Cresecnt City was now settled.—The Havana papers, it is said, exult over the fact,and pretend to consider it a great triumph over the Yankees.

The Falcon sails from here for Aspinwal, to-morrow morning.

New York, Dec. 7.—A new building going up in 32d street, fell to-day, noon, burying many workmen who were engaged in its construction. Three have been taken out dead.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—The eastern members come in with considerable feeling on the fishery question. The fishermen appear to have made a great many complaints to their representatives in Congress, and their complaints against the British government will no doubt find vent in debate and declamation.

The Secretary of State, Mr. Everett, is negociating with the British Minister in reference to these fishing grounds and in connection with reciprocity of trade.

Some effort is expected to be made to organize new territory. A delegate from Nebraska is on his way here, claiming a seat.

The protection given in Mexico to runaway slaves, has suggested the idea of annexing two or three of the Mexican border States to our own.

The Democrats of Washington last evening serenaded the Vice President elect.

The San Antonio Ledger (Texas) says that 300 armed men, supposed to be Cuban volunteers, are on St. Joseph's Island.

THE BOILERS OF THE U. S. SHIP PRINCETON A FAILURE.—Norfolk, Dec. 7.—The United States engineers' board, after experiments, have pronounced the boilers of the Princeton to be a complete failure. They were constructed on a principle which was called an American improvement of an English invention. Four other steamers, already contracted for, were to be supplied with the same kind of boiler, but a new plan will now probably be adopted.

Norfolk, Dec. 7.—Capt. McCluney took command on Saturday of the steam frigate Powhattan. Capt. Mervine is ordered to the razee Independence.

THE JAPAN EXPEDITION.—Norfolk, Dec. 7.—The Chinese and Bhering Straits Expedition will not get off for a long time to come. Seamen cannot be had at the present rates of wages paid by government.

NAVAL.—The United States steamer Saranac was at Para, Nov. 4, taking in coals, for Rio Janeiro, via Bahia, in a few days.

A young man named Temple accidentally shot another young man named Inn, near Framingham, Mass., on Friday. Temple fired at and killed a partridge, not expecting that Inn was near, but fifteen shot took effect in his head. He is expected to recover.

A fellow named Davis, alias, Sweetser, who has been in the habit of raising money by calling at the residence of individuals and announcing the death of some absent member of the family, has been arrested at Rumney, N. H., and committed to jail for trial.

The Havre steam line of packets, comprising the Humboldt and Franklin, it is said, contemplate retiring from the field unless congress increases the pay for carrying the mails. A committee from the company have gone to Washington to lay the case before congress.

The Bangor Whig states that Rev. Prof. Pond, of the Bangor Theological Seminary, has been recently delivering a course of lectures before the students against Phrenology, and against the doctrines now universally prevalent, that the brain is the organ of the mind.

LIVE HOGS.—The Cleveland Plain Dealer says there is no buisness in Ohio that is more rapidly increasing than the exportation of live hogs. It is not more than five years since the first commencement was made of sending fat live hogs to an eastern market, and now it is almost the only method of disposing of surplus pork. The facilities for cheap and rapid transportation by the net works of railroads terminating at the eastern cities, have contributed to bring about this result, and the very high prices which have since uniformly prevailed, are sufficient indication of the benefits conferred upon the farming community by the change. We trust that those public spirited citizens who are engaged in this good work will go on and prosper, until the great scarcity of pork which prevails in this part of the country will no longer exist.

AGAINST FIRE AND LIGHTNING.

PATENT METALLIC

LADDER AND CONDUCTOR.

THIS new and important invention is one that should receive the attention of every person who owns a building, or who is interested in that which presents a "permanent safeguard" against lightning, and at the same time a light, strong and ornamental Ladder, which will securely warrant the inmates of any house the ready means of escape in case of fire.

The above are manufactured by Messrs. Washburn, Holland & Co. of Worcester, Mass., and have received the strongest testimonials of approval from many scientific and practical men. A moment's examination of the Metallic Ladder is sufficient to convince any person of its great utility.

☞ Price per foot, 20 cents; including Lightning Rods and Points of the most approved material.

Specimens of the article may be seen at the office of the subscriber.

GOOD TASTE.—The following very happy and equally true sketch is from the London Quarterly;

You see this lady is turning a cold eye to the assurances of shopmen and the recommendation of milliners. She cares not how original a pattern may be, if it be ugly, or how recent a shape if awkward. Whatever fashion dictates, she follows her own, and is never behind it. She wears very beautiful things which people generally suppose to be brought from Paris, or at least made by a French milliner, but which as often are brought from the nearest town, and made up by her own maid. Not that her costume is either rich or new—on the contrary she wears many a cheap dress, but it is always good. She deals not in gaudy confusion of colors, nor does she affect a stupid sobriety; but she either enlivens you with a spirited contrast, or composes you with judicious harmony. Not a scrap of tinsel or trumpery appears upon her. She puts no faith in velvet bands, or gilt buttons, or twisted garnish. She is quite aware, however, that the garnish is as important as the dress, all her inner borders and headlings are delicate and fresh, and should anything peep out which is not intended to be seen, it is quite as much so as that which is. After all there is no great art either in her fashions or her material. The secret simply consists in knowing the three Unities in dress: her own station, her own age, and her own points—and no woman dresses well who does not. After this we need not say, that whoever is attracted by the costume will not be disappointed by the wearer. She may not be handsome or accomplished—but we will answer for her being even-tempered, well informed, thoroughly sensible;—a complete lady."

Rev. E. M. P. Wells, of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church in Boston, denies the report that he had become a Roman Catholic. He says:—While I love as brethren all faithful Roman Catholics, yet I cannot believe or worship as they do. To leave my own church would be apostacy, to attempt to join theirs would be hypocrisy. I am a sincere and devoted member of Anglo Saxon branch of the Catholic Church, but I never could be a sincere member of the Roman branch.

A MANUFACTERRER in Wurtemberg has invented a mode of applying a surface coating to sheet-iron, which enables it to take freely the mark of a slate pencil. It is said to be much lighter, and much less liable to injury than a common slate.

THE ROGER WILLIAMS COOKING STOVE.
FOR COAL OR WOOD.
THE attention of all in want of a COOK STOVE is respectfully solicited to a consideration of the merits of this most beautifully modeled pattern; equally adapted for coal or wood, and warranted to operate successfully with either,—which is now offered to the public as the
Most Complete and Efficient
Cooking apparatus ever before introduced in this vicinity. It is an elegant model, with fine smooth Providence castings, fitted together in the most substantial manner. The oven, (by far the most important part of a cooking stove,) in point of capacity, and in regard to its duration, is unsurpassed by that of any other stove now in the market, it being lined with fire-brick to retain and equalize the heat, and provided with valves for the escape of steam, &c. arising from the roasting of meats—rendering it in this respect superior to the old fashioned but universally admired Tin Kitchen.
The broiling apparatus is constructed on an entirely new and original plan, and will not fail to recommend itself at the first trial, as no smoke or gas arising from the culinary process can escape into the room. The sliding hearth is an improvement not to be found in any other stove.
The popularity of this over all other stoves now in the market, may be inferred from the fact that since its first introduction the last season, over THREE THOUSAND have been put into successful operation in New England and New York City.
Every stove is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction to the purchaser or the money refunded.
Each stove is warranted not to crack for twelve months from date of purchase. It is believed that this stove combines all the improvements that skill can invent, and is by far the most perfect cooking stove ever sold in Portsmouth. And though its price is higher than any other stove offered in this market of late, it is without question the cheapest in the end. All intending to purchase are respectfully invited to give this an examination before purchasing elsewhere.
Also, a variety of cheap Cook, Parlor, and Office Stoves, which are offered low.

STANLEY'S Imperial AIR-TIGHT COAL BURNER.
THE above cut represents the most beautiful, durable and economical
STOVE, CHURCH OR HALL STOVE extant. We sold a number of these stoves last season, and they give perfect satisfaction.
Four sizes of this capital article in store, and for sale at MORRISON'S,
n9 15 Daniel st.

WHAT-CHEER STOVE.
THE WHAT-CHEER COAL COOKING STOVE, now offered for sale by the subscribers, is acknowledged by all who have examined it to be the best and most economical Coal Stove ever offered to the public.
The castings are heavy, smooth, and very handsome. The Broiling apparatus is a great improvement over all other Stoves, being constructed in such a manner as to prevent the steam from escaping into the room when cooking.
All persons wishing to purchase a COAL COOKING STOVE, are respectfully requested to call and examine the same. Every Stove warranted to work well, or no sale.
We have also a large assortment of COOKING, PARLOR and STORE STOVES, &c.—for sale cheap for Cash at our Store,

THE IMPROVED
EMPIRE STATE STOVE.
THIS justly celebrated COOKING STOVE having been improved in every way it could be to make its operations more complete, and its plates beautifully ornamented—no expense, time or trouble having been spared to make this the most complete Cooking Stove ever brought before the public—the subscriber feels assured in warranting the IMPROVED EMPIRE STATE superior to any stove in the market, as hundreds can testify who have used them for the past year.
This Stove has a very LARGE OVEN, which makes it desirable on account of doing more cooking with the same amount of fuel than can be done in any other stove. The flues are large, which ensures a good draft in all cases. The castings are very heavy and smooth, and those parts that come next the fire are extra thick, making it very durable. It is adapted to the use of either coal or wood, and we warrant them to operate as well with one as the other. We furnish them with the very best apparatus, and, altogether, it is the MOST DURABLE, ECONOMICAL and CONVENIENT COOKING STOVE ever made—complete in every respect. We ask the attention of all persons intending to purchase a new, or exchange their old stove, to an examination of the Improved Empire State.
We have also on hand a variety of other Cooking Stoves, called the "Banner," "Belle of the Times," "Young Hero," "Bay State," "Anglo Saxon," "Pearl of Troy," &c.; with a large lot of PARLOR STOVES, such as the Revere Air-Tight, Star, Revere Parlor Cook, Lady Franklin, for Wood or Coal; Shop, Office and Air-Tight Stoves, of different sizes and prices for either wood or coal.
Also an extensive assortment of HOUSEKEEPING GOODS; Wooden, Willow, Glass, Britannia, Japan, Tin, Hard, Enamel, and Brass Ware; Copper, Cast Iron, and Chain Pumps; Window-Shads, Table Oil-cloths, &c.
All the above goods will be sold lower than can be bought elsewhere in this vicinity.

CENSUS REPORT.

Extracts from the Report of the Superintendent of the Census are published, containing some very interesting statistics in regard to the increase of population in the United States as compared with that of other countries. It appears that from the year 1840 to 1850 the population of the United States was augmented from seventeen millions to twenty-three millions, the increase being six millions in ten years. At the rate of annual mortality, the total deaths, during the same period, were from two and a half to three millions, being nearly equal to half the residual increase by births and emigration.

One of the most interesting results of the census is the classification of inhabitants according to the countries of their birth. The investigations under this head have resulted in showing that of the free inhabitants of the United States, 17,736,792 are natives of its soil, and that 2,210,828 were born in foreign countries, while the nativity of 39,227 could not be determined. It is shown that 1,965,518 of the whole number of foreign born inhabitants were residents of the free States, and 245,310 of the slave States. It is seen that the persons of foreign birth form 11.06 per cent. of the whole free population. The countries from which were derived the largest portions of these additions to our population appear in the following statement:

Natives of Ireland in the U. S. in 1850.....			961,719
do.	Germany	do.	573,325
do.	England	do.	278,975
do.	British America	do.	147,700
do.	Scotland	do.	70,560
do.	France	do.	54,069
do.	Wales	do.	29,868
do.	All other countries	do.	95,022
			2,210,828

This view of the living immigrant population is important as serving to correct many extravagant statements in regard to it, which have attained extensive currency. Another interesting subject treated of in the Report is the inter-immigration of our native citizens among the States; the facts showing how far one section has impressed its characteristics and peculiar customs on others. It appears, that out of 17,736,792 free inhabitants, 4,112,433 have migrated and settled beyond the States of their birth. Three hundred and fifty-five thousand natives of Virginia, equal to twenty-six per cent. of the whole, have found homes outside of her own borders. North Carolina has lost 261,575 free inhabitants, equal to thirty-one per cent., by emigration. South Carolina has lost the very remarkable proportion of fifty-nine per cent. Among the Northern States, Vermont and Connecticut have contributed most largely to the settlement of other parts of the country. Their proportion, about twenty-five per cent. of their native citizens, would exceed, perhaps, that of either of the Southern States already mentioned, were the number of slaves in the latter admitted as an element of the calculations.

The number of paupers in the United States is probably not so large as has been generally supposed. The whole number of persons who have received the benefit of the public funds of the different States for the relief of indigent persons, amounts to 134,972. Of this number, there were 68,538 of foreign birth, and 66,434 Americans, while of the whole number receiving support on the first day of June, there were 36,916 natives, and 13,437 foreigners, making a total of 50,353 persons. Of those termed Americans many are free persons of color. The entire cost of the support of these individuals during the year has amounted to $2,954,806.

From the criminal returns it appears, that the whole number of persons convicted of crime in the United States, for the year ending the first of June, 1850, was about 27,000. Of these 13,000 were native, and 14,000 foreign born. The whole number in prison on the first day of June was about 6700, of whom 4300 were native and 2460 foreign.

The estimated value of the real and personal estate of the inhabitants of the United States, including the Territories, for the year ending June 1st, 1850, is $7,133,369,725. The assessed value is $6,010,207,309. The assessed value in New York is $715,369,028; in Massachusetts $546,003,057; in Pennsylvania $497,039,649; in Ohio $433,872,632; in Virginia $381,376,660.

The following miscellaneous facts are included in the Report:

By the returns made of churches, it appears there are 36,011 churches in the several States, and 210 in the District of Columbia and the Territories. By the "aggregate accommodations" in the table, is meant the total number of seats for individuals in the churches. Under the "value of church property" is included the value of each of the churches and property owned by the different religious societies.

The total value of church property in the United States is $86,410,639, of which one half is owned in New York, Massachusetts and Pennsylvania.

There is one church for every 557 free inhabitants, or for 646 of the entire population.

The average number the churches will accommodate is 384, and the average value $2400.

Churches are more numerous, in proportion to the population, in Indiana, Florida, Delaware and Ohio, and less numerous in California, Louisiana and Iowa.

Those in Massachusetts are the largest, and have the greatest average value.

A RUNNING PRECEPT.—The difficulty of obtaining the attendance of witnesses in the liquor cases before the Grand Jury, now in session, was well exemplified yesterday, Mr. Phillips, an officer of the Court, met a man near the head of Exchange street, for whom he had a subpœna; pulled it from his pocket and proceeded as far as "In the name of the State of Maine you are commanded," when the person took to his heels down the street, the officer following in full chase, reading the summons to the back part of his head, to the great diversion of the people on the street.—The "hereof fail not to appear at your peril" found the racing parties near the Toll Bridge. If the witness does not appear after such a summons, it will be very strange.—Bangor Mercury.

PROGRESS IN BOSTON.

The north end and centre of Boston, are filling up rapidly with stores, warehouses and shops; so that the inhabitants, with their schools and churches, must go South, or else go out of town. They are doing both. Protestant churches of all sects at the north end, are dwindling and moving.

The tendency of population to the south end is illustrated by the fact that when Rev. Mr. Pierpont was settled at the Hollis street church, in 1819, he had the only parish in Boston whose house of worship was above the line of Bedford and West streets. Now there are thirty-one religious societies above that line! Our authority for these facts, is Merrimac, the well-informed Boston correspondent of the Newburyport Herald.

It is twenty-five years this month, since the Orthodox Congregational churches in Salem and Pine streets were dedicated, and these two societies have had ten pastors since their organization. Eight years is the longest term of any one pastorate. At about the same period at which the above named Orthodox societies were organized, four Unitarian societies were gathered in different sections of the city. During the quarter of a century since, these four churches have had seven pastors, and the shortest term of any of the pastorates has been fifteen years.

Dr. Lowell is the oldest settled clergyman in Boston. It is nearly forty-seven years since he was settled. In a sermon preached upon the occasion of the fortieth anniversary of his settlement, he said:

"Few, very few, are among the living on earth who heard my first sermon here. Of those who were recorded as proprietors, only two. Of the heads of families of both sexes, five or six remain. Of those who were ministers in the town at that time, not one. Of the thirteen ministers who officiated at my ordination, not one. One of the earliest taken was my classmate and friend Buckminster."

In one of the notes to this sermon, Dr. L. says of himself, "The minister of the West Church (now the senior minister) is a Congregationalist as its respects the outworks of the house of God; he belongs to no sect as it regards the doctrines of theology. The Quaker, the Presbyterian, the Protestant Episcopalian, the Baptist, and the Methodist Episcopalian, have all preached in his pulpit, and all except the first mentioned, in the usual Sabbath exercise. It is among the pleasant recollections of his ministry that it has been so."

ABSTRACT OF CENSUS REPORT.—A brief abstract of the census on our first page, was prepared for the Boston Transcript. It has several points of interest, one of them the comparative degrees of crime between natives and foreigners. It is shown that the native criminals imprisoned, are 13,000, to 14,000 foreigners, or less than one half, while the whole number of foreigners is only 11.06 of the native population.

Thirty-Second Congress—Second Session.

Wednesday, Dec. 8.

In the House the Standing Committees were appointed, with a few changes.

A bill was introduced, read three times and passed, appropriating $20,000 for the payment as compensation of the Messengers for bringing to Washington the vote for President and Vice President.

Mr. Scudder announced the death of his colleague, Rev. Orin Fowler, who died Sept. 3, aged 61,—whereupon the House voted to wear crape for 30 days, and to adjourn immediately.

(By Telegraph.)

THURSDAY, Dec. 9.

SENATE.—Mr. Walker appeared to-day.

The Chair laid before the Executive a document containing the accounts of the U. S. Treasurer. Also from the Interior Department, showing balances of appropriations for the department remaining unexpended.

HOUSE.—The journal of yesterday having been read. Mr. Duncan of Mass. rose and announced the death of his colleague, Hon. Benj. Thompson, late a representative of the House from the 4th Congressional district of that State.

Mr. Duncan passed an eulogy on the deceased, submitted the usual resolution of condolence and regret, and that the members wear crape for 30 days.

ESTEE, THE WOUNDED FIREMAN.—George Estee, the wounded fireman, is still living and is apparently comfortable, although no hope can reasonadly entertained that he will ever be any better. He is attended by Dr. Warren, who says that he may live a year, or that he may not live ten days; it is impossible to say with any degree of certainty how long he may survive, if no new or extraordinary feature presents itself, but recovery is impossible.—Boston Bee.

DIED OF RUM DRINKING.—The body of Isaac Hapgood, of Ashby, an aged man, was found in a field, on the 24th, with a rum bottle by his side. The night previous, he visited a tavern in New Ipswich, and in returning to his home across the fields, in the snow, lay down on the bank of a brook, where he perished.

The bark Peacock, built near Portland, has been sold for $14,000, to a Salem house, to be employed in the South American trade. She is about 300 tons burden.

LOCAL.

City Council—Dec. 9.

In Board of Aldermen—The owners of the wooden building torn down at the late fire in Bow street, presented a petition for the payment of $200 damages for the same. Referred to a special committee, to report on Thursday next.

A petition was presented for the appointment of an additional Surveyor of Lumber and Timber. Accepted and sent down for concurrence.

Petition of Henry Cate, for permission to set posts in front of his house in Hanover street, was referred.

Petition for Gas Light in State street, corner of Atkinson,—granted,—and referred to committee on location.

Voted, that the gas-posts now erected, be accepted, and that they be lighted, as soon as they shall be surrendered to the city, agreeably to a former vote.

The bond of Mr. John Nutter for the maintenance of Polly Waters, was presented, and accepted—and the City Clerk was authorized to release the mortgage on her property.

A bill for $6 was presented by Mr. Stevens, for enrolling a company of militia. Passed for payment.

MISS EMMA SNODGRASS.

Miss Emma Snodgrass, the young lady in pantaloons, was in this city yesterday.

Miss Emma attended Mons. Adrien's excellent magical performance at the Temple, last evening, and the fact becoming known, she was the observed of all observers. It was amusing to see the ladies stretch their beautiful necks to the utmost tension to obtain a view of the present heroine of New England, who is gaining a larger reputation than all the female bloomers, moral reformers and woman's rights advocates of the age. "It's a shame"—"She must be crazy"—"I'd whip her, if I was her mother," and all sorts of cross things went the rounds of the indignant feminines, young and old. The young men, on the contrary, appeared very much amused, and highly gratified, and one "did not blame her a particle." All the while "Emma" was cosily sitting on a bench with four or five of our most respectable citizens, not at all disconcerted, and occasionally asking her near neighbors a question, or making an incidental remark.—When Mons. A. distributed the confectionary, "Emma" very gallantly helped the ladies around her, denying herself with as good grace as an accomplished lover.

But the climax was capped, when Monsieur brought out his little automaton, who is a most wonderful mechanical intelligence, answering various questions propounded to him with invariable correctness. Jocko was asked to tell what gentleman of the audience was most in love, and after looking around among the people, signified that he was ready. As Jocko could not talk, he was to nod his head affirmatively when the lucky, or perhaps unlucky one was pointed out by Mons. Adrien. "This one?" asked the Prof., pointing to a fat forty year old man. Jocko shook his head negatively. "This one? this one?" continued Mons., through a score; but still Jocko indignantly shook his head, until who but Emma Snodgrass should be pointed out. This suited Jocko precisely, and he nodded his head "Yes." Emma was tickled, the house came "down," and Jocko went on to count indefinitely, in answer to the question, "How many sweethearts the young man had." Emma is a trump card. After the performance she took a gentleman's arm, and requested his escort to her lodgings at the Franklin House.

THE EPISCOPAL CHAPEL.

This ornamental building, the exterior of which has been repaired and decorated the past season, was opened on Wednesday evening, by reading past of the evening service of the church, and a lecture from Rev. Dr. Burroughs, upon a portion of Old Testament history. The interior of this neat and commodious Chapel has been refitted and gas introduced, giving a delightful effect to the whole services. We learn that the above is the first of a series of semi-monthly lectures to be delivered by the Rector, who is so happy in his elucidation of Old Testament history.

THE WITCH OF THE WAVE.

The passengers on board this fine ship, on her recent trip to San Francisco, passed complimentary resolutions, in favor of Capt. Tay as an officer, and in favor of the owners of the ship for the goodness and abundance of provisions, and presenting Capt. T. with a silver pitcher. Their resolution in favor of the vessel herself we copy, as she is Portsmouth built, from the yard of Geo. Raynes, Esq.

Resolved, That, although our expectations were much raised in the far famed ship Witch of the Wave, we have not been disappointed in any one particular, as she has not only proved herself a fast sailer, passing every ship seen on the voyage, but her qualities as a sea boat are all that can be desired.

☞ Mr. Arshowe, the celebrated China Tea Merchant, is in town. See advertisement.

NOISY BOYS.—A correspondent, who is a liberal man and loves to see boys play, requests us to say a word against noisy, uproarious hooting in the streets, as a nuisance to the public, and a disgrace to those who make it. We would add one or two things more, from our own observation. The boys of a Sunday school, dismissed on Sunday, ran rattling down the church steps with a noise which resounded through the streets; and the same boys (or others like them) made a frightful whistling and squealing on Wednesday evening, at the exhibition of Mons. Adrien.

ACCIDENTAL DROWNING.—On Wednesday evening, at the Navy Yard, two marines who had been off the Yard, and who were probably somewhat under the influence of liquor, were wrestling or scuffling together on the wharf near their quarters, when both fell overboard. One was rescued, but the other, named Smith, was drowned. Smith had been a seaman in the U. S. service, and captain of the maintop of sloop-of-war Decatur, and is said to be the son of a wealthy father.

☞ MONSIEUR ADRIEN'S skill in conjuration, magic and diablerie generally, draws good houses at the Temple. He performs there this evening and to-morrow evening. See advertisement.

At the close of the performance last evening, Mons. Adrien received the following note:—

PORTSMOUTH, Dec. 9, 1852.

MONS. ADRIEN: Dear Sir,—In behalf of many citizens, I would respectfully request that you give another entertainment to-morrow evening, that all persons who are desirous of witnessing what is chaste, beautiful, deceptive and wonderful, may have an opportunity. Yours truly,

ONE OF MANY.

PORTSMOUTH ART UNION.—Every citizen and visiter of this city, should call in at Mr. Wenzell's Pictorial Fair. He offers attractions fully equal to the American Art Union—when the price is taken into consideration. See advertisement.

N. H. General Court—Nov. Session, 1852.

(Abridged from the Patriot.)

WEDNESDAY, DEC. 8, 1852.

The following bill and resolution were read a third time and passed: bill concerning truant children and absentees from school; resolution for protection from fire of the Asylum building.

Reports of Committees.—Mr. Plumer of Epping, from the committee on the State Prison, presented the following report and joint resolution:

Your committee have attended to the duty assigned them, and find from an examination of the books of the Warden that the earnings of the prisoners from June to December this year, is $4741,08, making a gain over last year for the same length of time of the sum of 767,59; that the expense of the Prison has not increased; that all convicts enjoy good health and are able to perform their daily tasks: and that, so far as comes to our knowledge, the order and discipline of the Prison is as good as can be found in any other Prison. There has been built since June last a new brick building in the yard, with slated roof, 65 feet by 32, and the old shop newly slated, together with reparing the watch boxes. The whole cost of the above building and repairs is about $1800, all of which has been paid for by cash in the hands of the Warden, agreeable to a joint resolution passed June last. Your committee have unanimously come to the conclusion that the Prison as at present conducted, so far from being a tax upon the Treasury, may now be considered a source of revenue.

GEO. W. PLUMER, the Com.

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Court convened, That the sum of two hundred dollars be paid to the Warden of the State Prison, in addition to his present salary.

This resolution, after considerable debate, was read three times and passed. On the third reading the yeas and nays were taken; yeas 240, nays 14. So we pay the Warden $200 in addition to his salary of $800.

Militia Bill.—Mr. Whitney of Nashua, moved a resolution to instruct the military committee to report a bill for 4000 volunteer militia, and otherwise to revive the militia system—but the resolution was rejected, 117 to 101.

Mr. Dresser of Sutton presented the following resolution, which was adopted:

Resolved, That the committee on Banks be instructed to enquire into the expediency of making it the duty of the Attorney General, and of the County Solicitors, to lay before grand juries, for indictment, all cases of violation of the law by Directors of banks becoming indebted to their respective banks beyond the amount authorized by law, and to report by bill or otherwise.

The bill to incorporate the Ashuelot Bank at Keene; bill to amend the act to incorporate the N. H. Benevolent Society; bill in addition to chap. 1229 of the Pamphlet Laws, were severally read a third time and passed.

Mr. Wheeler of Newport, from the committee on Incorporations, by leave reported the bills for incorporating the New Hampshire Conference Seminary, and the New Hampshire Female College, without amendment.—Ordered to a third reading to-morrow.

The Senate resolution, providing for the protection of the Asylum for the Insane from fire, was read a first and second time and referred to the standing committee on the Insane Asylum.

The Senate bill concerning truant children was read twice and referred to the committee on Education

LATEST NEWS!

FROM CALIFORNIA.

A Telegraphic despatch received in Boston last evening, states that the City of Sacramento was destroyed by fire—and Mayaville had also suffered by a great fire.

WASHINGTON NEWS.—Washington, Dec. 8. The movement in the House to get rid of the surplus revenue, excites much interest here. Senator Houston contemplates a similar movement in the Senate.

There has been some talk about Congressional obsequies to Mr. Webster; but the Massachusetts delegation, it is said, will yield precedent in Mr. Legare's case, who died in 1843, as Attorney General and Acting Secretary of State. His death was not noticed by Congress, and accordingly Mr. Webster's will not be.

EFFECT OF THE TAMMANY RIOT.—New York, Dec. 9.—It was announced last evening that Augustus Schell, chairman of the Democratic committee, lay at the point of death in consequence of injuries inflicted on him last week, at the riot in Tammany Hall.

The walls of a church building in Williamsburg, and intended for a German society, fell down on Tuesday at midnight.

THE LEMMON CASE.—We find in the Richmond Whig a letter from Mr. C. Ashmead, Jr., in reply to the charge that he deceived Mr. Jonathan Lemmon in the case of the eight slaves brought to this city on board the City of Richmond. Mr. Ashmead refutes the charge by the production of a letter from Mr. Jonathan Lemmon himself, in which he says—"I exonerate Captain Z. Mitchell, and the purser, C. Ashmead, Jr., from all blame in carrying my slaves from Richmond to New York, on board the City of Richmond."

QUARREL.—At Tammany Hall, N. Y., on Thursday night, a discussion arose upon the question of the appointment of inspectors to supervise the election of the new democratic committees which is to take place soon, the majority being in favor of their appointment by the general committee, and the minority by the several ward committees. Before the question was decided, a "gang of desperate men" broke in upon the committee, and assaulted some of the members with chairs, decanters, and every thing which they could lay their hands on. The row continued half an hour, when the police put an end to it. The "Mirror" characterises it as "an inexcusable and atrocious attack by the barnburners upon the members of the general committee. The chairman of the committee was severely injured, and his life was probably saved by the interposition of a person who warded off a heavy wooden chair raised by a party to strike Mr. Schell down." The "Evening Post" states that the interlopers were rowdies who had become raving drunk while playing successive games of "Uncle Simon," and paying the forfeits at the Tammany bar.

We regret to learn that Sanborn B. Carter, Esq., of Ossipee, who was injured by the Railroad collision near the Weirs, in Meredith, on the 7th of October, and who has been supposed in a fair way to recover, has had a relapse, and it is feared may not survive. Mr. Carter is Register of Probate and Common School Commissioner for Carrol County.—Belknap Gazette.

FLOUR SUPPLIES.—A despatch from Dunkirk says the reciepts of flour there average 10,000 barrels per day, which is twice the capacity of the railroad to send forward. There are 55,000 barrels of flour at that place, 20,000 of which are on consignment to the Eastern dealers.

WATER IN BANGOR.—A project is said to be on foot to supply the city of Bangor with water from Pushaw Lake.

VERMONT LAW.—It has been said that the liquor law lately passed by the Vermont Legislature is characterized for its stringency. The 13th section of it provides that any intoxicated person, in such a state as to disturb the public or domestic tranquillity, may be arrested and detained in jail until, in the opinion of the officer arresting him, he is capable of testifying where "the liquor so producing intoxication was obtained," and on his neglect so to disclose, he may be confined in jail until he shall disclose, or shall be discharged by the justice before whom he is brought. The 14th section also provides that officers refusing or neglecting to act, under this law, on the proper application being made to them, shall be fined not more than five hundred dollars nor less than three hundred dollars.—Lowell News.

FEMALES IN MALE ATTIRE.—Emma Snodgrass the young Miss who has such a decided preference for pantaloons is likely to create a desire in the minds of certain other ambitious girls to emulate her example and to attain similiar notoriety. On Monday evening a very pretty young Miss, not a day over seventeen, appeared at the Howard Athæneum, dressed in the style of a dashing young man. She wore a coat a la militaire buttoned to the throat, pantaloons which must have been cut at the most fashionable establishment in the city, a polished gaiter boot and white kids. The diminutive foot, the tiny hand and the womanly form though so strangely disguised, were regarded closely by numerous opera glasses. For a while the pseudo girl used her opera glass in return and with apparent nonchalance regarded the play and squinted at the pretty faces in the boxes, but concious that her deception was discovered she soon left the house. A gentleman who saw her assures us that she is the daughter of respectable parents at the West End, and is herself a girl of unsullied character but an eccentric, romping, romantic, gay creature, who like Emma has a desire to see the world.—Boston Chronicle.

A MAN 99 years of age was in Cincinnati watch-house, on Saturday night, for drunkenness.

The College of Physicians and surgeons in New York has enrolled 250 students, being the largest class ever matriculated there.

HOUSE AND LIFE PROTECTORS
AGAINST FIRE AND LIGHTNING.

PATENT METALLIC
LADDER AND CONDUCTOR.

THIS new and important invention is one that should receive the attention of every person who owns a building, or who is interested in that which presents a "permanent safeguard" against lightning, and at the same time a light, strong and ornamental Ladder, which will securely warrant the inmates of any house the ready means of escape in case of fire.

The above are manufactured by Messrs. Washburn, Holland & Co. of Worcester, Mass., and have received the highest commendation of approval from many scientific and practical men. A moment's examination of the Metallic Ladder is sufficient to convince any person of its great utility.

☞ Price per foot, 20 cents; including Lightning Rods and Points of the most approved material.

PATENTS.

American and Foreign Office.
AGENCY FOR BUSINESS
With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,
No. 42 State Street, Boston.

IN 1840 the subscriber was appointed Agent of the United States Patent Office, in accordance with the 10th section of the Act of 1837.

Having relinquished the agency for the transmission of models, and adopting a more expeditious mode of sending them to the Patent Office, whereby a Patent can be procured several weeks earlier, he continues to forward them, as before, free of expense, and to prepare Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all necessary Papers, and Drawings for Patents, and to render advice on legal and scientific matters respecting the same. Patents secured in Europe.

The subscriber aims to present to inventors superior facilities for obtaining patents; and is now prepared to make Specifications at rates cheaper by ten to twenty per cent. than those of other agencies. They can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skillful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"PATENT OFFICE, ——

"R. H. EDDY, Esq., Boston, Mass.

"SIR:—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any other agent I am very respectfully,
Yours, &c. THOMAS EWBANK,
Commissioner of Patents."

A PRACTICAL JOKE.—Practical jokes are usually criminal, often atrocious. A joke, (if it was one,) of the latter kind, was mentioned in the New York Herald of Sunday last.

"During the day on Saturday, a heavy fog lay on the rivers and bays, which as night set in became quite dense. There being a number of vessels at anchor in the East river, in the course of the south ferry boats, made a trip to or from Brooklyn somewhat lengthy. A somewhat longer passage than usual occurred just about the time the fog became thickest. The boat Transit, with the veteran Matt. Sole at the wheel, left Whitehall, and after stopping and backing several times, to prevent collisions, in a few minutes found himself about where he started from. This occuring three different times, Capt. Cole prudently put into his starting place to examine his compass, when it was discovered that a piece of cork had been so placed under the card as to render it stationary; this being remedied, a speedy and direct passage was effected. This, if done in joke, might have proved a very serious one, as there were probably some four or five hundred passengers on board, and it was very dark.

SAVED THE COURT THE RESPONSIBILITY. A barrel of liquor in a wagon, near Gilman's corner, with a driver who seemed to be somewhat puzzled what to do with it, attracted the attention of a policeman, on Saturday. Finally, the driver called at a house near Cobb's Court, and after some parley, unloaded his charge at the door. At this moment, the policeman stepped up, and inquiried of a man who was contemplating the liquor with apparent satisfaction, if he owned it. He averred that he did not, and all the inmates of the of the house protested that he knew nothing about it. "In that case," said the policeman, "I will take charge of it, and carry it to the watch house."

"Stave the head in," whispered one of the occupants of the house,—stave the head in!"

The policeman heard the remark, and having no warrant for seizing the liquor, turned his head away, as if expecting aid, when smash went the head and the ground drank the liquor—and the policeman walked away perfectly satisfied.—Portland Advertiser.

"At what time do your omnibusses start?", asked a Londoner, lately, of one of the conductors. "Our 'bussers," replied the functionary, "run a quarter arter, arf arter, quarter to, and at!" In English, this means every quarter.

THE ROGER WILLIAMS COOKING STOVE.

FOR COAL OR WOOD.

THE attention of all in want of a COOK STOVE is respectfully solicited to a consideration of the merits of this most beautifully modeled pattern; equally adapted for coal or wood, and warranted to operate successfully with either,—which is now offered to the public as the

Most Complete and Efficient

Cooking apparatus ever before introduced in this vicinity. It is an elegant model, with fine smooth Providence castings, fitted together in the most substantial manner. The oven, (by far the most important part of a cooking stove,) in point of capacity, and in regard to its operation, is unsurpassed by that of any other stove now in the market, it being lined with fire-brick to retain and equalize the heat, and provided with valves for the escape of steam, &c., making from the roasting of meats—rendering it in this respect superior to the old fashioned but universally admired Tin Kitchen.
The broiling apparatus is constructed on an entirely new and original plan, and will not fail to recommend itself at the first glance, as no smoke or gas arising from that culinary process can escape into the room. The sliding hearth is an improvement not to be found in any other stove.
The popularity of this variety of other stoves now in the market, may be inferred from the fact that since its first introduction the last season, over THREE THOUSAND have been put into successful operation in New England and New York City.
We refer to is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction to the purchaser or the money refunded.
Each stove is warranted not to crack for twelve months from date of purchase. It is believed that this stove combines all the improvements that can be introduced, and by far the most perfect cooking stove ever sold in Portsmouth. And though its price is higher than any other stove offered in this market of late, it is without question the cheapest in the end. All intending to purchase are respectfully invited to call and examine before purchasing elsewhere.
Also, a variety of cheap Cook, Parlor, and Office Stoves, which are offered low.

WHAT-CHEER STOVE.

THE WHAT-CHEER COAL COOKING STOVE, now offered for sale by the subscribers, is acknowledged by all who have examined it to be the best and most economical Coal Stove ever offered to the public.
The castings are heavy, smooth, and very handsome. The Broiling apparatus is a great improvement over all other Stoves, being constructed in such a manner as to prevent the steam from escaping into the room when cooking.
All persons wishing to purchase a COAL COOKING STOVE, are respectfully requested to call and examine the same. Every Stove warranted to work well, or no sale.
We have also a large assortment of COOKING, PARLOR and STORE STOVES, &c.—for sale cheap for Cash at our Store,

THE IMPROVED
EMPIRE STATE STOVE.

THIS justly celebrated COOKING STOVE having been improved in every way it could be to make its operations more complete, and its plates beautifully ornamented—no expense, time or trouble having been spared to make this the most complete Cooking Stove ever brought before the public—the subscriber feels assured in warranting the IMPROVED EMPIRE STATE superior to any stove in the market, as hundreds can testify who have used them for the past year.
This Stove has a very LARGE OVEN, which makes it desirable on account of doing more cooking with the same amount of fuel than can be done in any other stove. The flues are large, which ensures a good draft in all cases. The castings are very heavy and smooth, and those parts that come next the fire are extra thick, making it very durable. It is adapted to the use of either coal or wood, and we warrant them to operate as well with one as the other. We furnish them with the very best appanatus; and, altogether, it is the MOST DURABLE, ECONOMICAL and CONVENIENT COOKING STOVE ever made—complete in every respect. We ask the attention of all persons intending to purchase Stoves, or exchange their old stove, to an examination of the Improved Empire State.

REV. DR. PEABODY'S LECTURE AT NEW BEDFORD.—The lecture before the New Bedford Lyceum on Tuesday evening, was delivered by Rev. Dr. Peabody of this city, on the subject of Civilization and its Means. The New Bedford Standard gives the following account of it.

The lecturer recognized a thorough mental culture as the chief and most efficient means of civilization. When the Pilgrims established our common school system, they gave a broader charter of civilization to the world than was ever given before. The speaker had but a poor opinion of exclusiveness in the matter of education—particularly as witnessed in European countries. He believed that a single year's circulation of the Penny Magazine was a better educational means for the people, than all that Oxford and Cambridge had ever done. He had known a library of an hundred volumes in a school district, open to all and managed in a liberal spirit, to diffuse more intelligence among the people, than a literary association with its ten thousand volumes, under an illiberal management and exclusively aristocratic control. The means of education should be free and open to all.

The hope of the race and of civilization will rest upon the spirit of brotherhood, of philanthropy and universal love. Slavery, war and oppression must be overcome by the teachings of a better philosophy, and finally, for the full and perfect developement of the great idea of civilization, every one must labor. The work cannot be confined to a class of men. Every man must do battle for his own soul.

The lecture was a sound, practical, common sense effort, and was listened to with close attention. The above notice gives its leading idea—the imperative necessity of a more thorough mental culture in order to obtain the realization in fact of what civilization means.

POPULAR LECTURES.

A Boston Correspondent of the Newburyport Herald, thus notices a fact which we had learned before, and which ought to satisfy every one, that lecturing, so far from having had its day, is but in the morning of its existence as yet.

There is a great demand for popular lecturers not only for the large towns and cities of New England, but from the western States. A number of our best lecturers have made arrangements to go west this season, and a combination has been made by the various literary associations on the line of the railroads to have the lectures given in their respective localities upon evenings to suit the convenience of the lecturer. In some instances, two and even three lectures are to be given by one lecturer upon consecutive evenings. For this service the speakers are paid more than double the usual price in this vicinity.

FATALITY OF INLAND ROUTES.—Investigations made by a Committee of Congress show the following losses of property and life on the rivers and lakes of the United States in each of the last four years, not including the present:

Years.	Amount of property destroyed.	No. of lives lost.
1848	$420,512	55
1849	998,171	94
1850	653,826	336
1851	730,687	79
Total four years	$2,078,046	563

The number of lives lost in 1850 was mainly occasioned by the explosion of boilers on board two steamboats, and the burning of a third crowded with emigrant passengers.

The present year already registers a greater number of victims than even 1850. Without looking further than the steamers Atlantic, Henry Clay, and St. James, we find a total of at least four hundred.—Hunt's Merchants' Magazine.

Penny Banks, for the reception of the small deposits of the working classes, have been found very useful in England, encouraging as they do, forethought and economy.

The Lowell police court has decided that selling "Bavarian ale," is not indictable under the "Maine Law."—Portsmouth (N. H.) Chronicle.

This is news to Lowell people. The only thing like it, was a case which came before the Court, and in which the prosecution failed to show that the ale was intoxicating, and so the parties were discharged. There was no attempt to show that the ale was not intoxicating nor that it was Bavarian ale.—Lowell News.

The paragraph was none of ours; we gave it as we found it—somewhere—we don't know where. The manufacturers of small paragraphs are not always successful in hitting the nail on the head. For instance: We copied a paragraph from the News a few days since, contradicting the report that the Hutchinsons have made a fortune in California, and stating they had never been there. Next day the N. Y. Tribune published a letter from Jesse Hutchinson, dated in California.

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.
PORTSMOUTH:
SATURDAY, DECEMBER 11, 1852.

COST OF PROVISIONS.

The Albany Evening Journal makes the following statement :—

There is more butter and cheese taken down the river just now than was ever before known. The prevailing question is, how can such large quantites of those articles arrive in New York, and still the high prices be maintained ?

The question has been repeatedly answered in the New York newspapers of late in this wise : The speculators and "middlemen" buy cheap, at first cost, and then, to make enormous profits, or to pay for heavy city rents, the price to the consumer is raised in proportion. In the article of butter the speculators have done a great business during the season.

A New York Despatch of the 9th inst. at 6 P. M. mentions "Butter and Cheese dull and plenty." If so, it ought to be somewhat cheaper, and will be so in a few days—though it cannot be very cheap while gold is so plentiful, and money and credit so abundant.

Just as we had written so far, we chanced to see in the Boston Courier a communication in which the writer takes a view similar to ours, in regard to the high prices forced upon provisions by the gold hunters of California and Australia. He remarks :

"Within the short space of four years, there have gradually gone out from amongst us nearly, or quite, four hundred thousand working people, and most of them producers.—This large number has become consumers—large consumers, for I will hazard the assertion that one man in California will consume and waste more on the average than would supply two on the Atlantic. Admitting this fact—which, I think, no one will deny who knows the habits of men when surrounded by gold—receiving for their daily labor alone five and six times as much as they ever before received, then change this large number of producers into consumers, and you have a fact which is startling at first sight. Here you have a change from producers to consumers which is a double change,—and each of these consuming and wasting two to one, making an increase of consumers to the amount of more than one-tenth part of the whole population of these United States.

Again, let us look at Australia, and witness what she is beginning to demand from us in the shape of produce. The same fact is going on with her and England. England's producers are going out from her, and she in turn will have to supply and be supplied."

The conclusions to be drawn from these premises, are :—

That the prices of provisions are raised in California and Australia, not merely by their scarcity, but by the local plenty and even superabundance of gold.

And that our prices around here, are put up and kept up by the high prices out there; and as merchandize and intelligence now move so rapidly across the world, all markets are to a great degree equalized.

DIFFERENT KINDS OF MOURNING.

There are three kinds of mourning, viz.: Real, Ceremonial and Farcical. The real is that which is felt by one friend, when another friend dies. The ceremonial is the outward expression of the real and inward feeling.—Funeral processions, when the body is buried, badges of mourning worn for a season, and expressions of condolence and sympathy with bereaved friends, come properly under this head. So, in Congress, does the adjournment of the two houses, when the news is brought in that a member who spoke to the question yesterday, lies speechless in mute death to-day. But under the head of farcical must come the adjournment of the House of Representatives in Congress, on two successive days, because two members of that House died two or three months ago, but their deaths were now officially reported for the first time to the House.

The Senate of the United States have a rule which dispenses with the ordinary proceedings on occasion of the death of a member, when the same occurs in the recess. On Thursday a motion was made to repeal this rule, but the repeal was objected to, and the motion was lost—ayes 19, noes 22.

So the rule remains as yet—but the majority is small, and a full Senate may repeal it.

POSTHUMOUS HONORS.—At Washington City, in the Supreme Court, the deaths of Messrs. Webster and Clay, Judge McKinley and Mr. John Sargeant, were noticed with appropriate eulogies, and the customary orders were passed,on Thursday.

STATESMEN'S FUNERAL AT NEW ORLEANS. On Thursday, business was suspended in consequence of the Webster, Calhoun, and Clay obsequies. An immense procession was formed : probably 50,000 people were in the streets. The day was a splendid one for the occasion.

At New York on Thursday, 84 kegs of gunpowder were seized on board a sloop bound for Fall River.

The remains of Booth, the tragedian, were brought to Baltimore and buried, yesterday, with Masonic honors

N.H. General Court—Nov. Session, 1852.

(Abridged from the Patriot.)

THURSDAY, Dec. 9.

SENATE.—The following bills were read a third time and passed : bill establishing times and places for holding Cheshire probate courts; bill changing the times for holding Sullivan probate court; bill to annex a tract of land in South New Market to New Market; bill extending acts incorporating Rockingham Bank; bill to incorporate the Claremont Cutlery Co.; bill in addition to chap. 39 R. S., relating to persons and property liable to taxation; bill relating to foreign insurance companies; bill in amendment of sec. 15, chap. 229 R. S.

HOUSE.—Report of Committee.—Mr. Thompson of Haverhill, from the Judiciary committee, reported that the "act relating to intentions of marriage" be indefinitely postponed; as also the "act in addition to chap. 147 of the R. S."—also relating to marriages.

Great Falls and Conway Railroad.—The bill to amend the act to incorporate the Great Falls and Conway Railroad, on motion of Mr. Hackett of Portsmouth, was taken from the table and after debate the question of ordering the bill to a third reading was unanimously approved.

The apportionment bill, and a bill for survey of state lands, were considered—also some resolutions of enquiry into the affairs of the Union Mututl Ins. Co.

LIQUOR QUESTION IN THE NEW HAMPSHIRE LEGISLATURE.—Notice was given on Thursday by Mr. J. H. Wiggin, of Dover, that he would introduce a bill to grant licenses to sell wines and spirituous liquors.

CONGRESS.—According to the present rule, the unfinished buisness before Congress does not fall, at the adjournment of the long session, but stands over and may be resumed as though the session had [not been interrupted. Among the bills that passed the House the last session are Mr. Bennett's land bill, distributing a portion of the public lands among the States, and the Homestead bill, which gives a small farm to every man who will actually settle on it and cultivate it.

In the Senate, the French Spoliation bill was passed, and there are various appropriations of land for railroad purposes which have passed in the Senate, but not been reached in the House. A very strong effort will be made to push the Spoliation bill through, but we think there is little hope of doing it, inasmuch our Democratic friends will themselves want as to secure the appointment of commissioners instead of giving it to President Fillmore.—Boston Transcript.

☞ The Boston papers are earnestly discussing almost every possible question that may bear on their city election next Monday. The Congressional election (second trial) for many districts in the State, comes off at the same time.

We have seen mention, several times, of th "Union Party," and guessed at its object as we could,—but now we get it from head quarters. The Boston Chronicle thus exhorts :

"Let the Union party give a rousing majority on Monday next. Party obligations should have no binding force upon them whatever. The only question with Union men is, "Will the candidate, if elected, protect the great interests of the city, that the Maine Law attempts to outlaw ?" Neither the Whig nor Democratic party, as such, has afforded the least protection to a large commercial interest of the State, and those who have thus been neglected must take the power into their own hands."

The great interest here spoken of is the liquor business in all its various branches—and the Union party is got up to give it aid and comfort.

COTTON.—A despatch from Vicksburg, Dec. 3, says, Yesterday and the day before 10400 bales cotton, the greater part for New Orleans, left here. This is the heaviest business ever done in this city in the same period of time.

BARNUM ALIVE.—P. T. Barnum has purchased a lot of 200 feet front on Broadway, near Spring street, New York, on which he will erect a new Museum building.

PREMATURE MOURNING.—The Chicago Daily Advertiser appeared a few days since in typographical mourning for the Vice President Elect, who is now at Washington.—Another paper followed the announcement of his death with a long biography.

HON. W. R. KING has recovered his health. There is no instance of a Democratic President or Vice President dying while in office.—Boston Times.

It is not often that the Boston Times is caught in a historical error, but this is one.—George Clinton died in 1805, and Elbridge Gerry in 1813, both in office, and men whose democracy was not questioned in their day, although it came far short of the fillibusterism which constitutes modern democracy.—Providence Journal.

The Times of yesterday rejoins,

"George Clinton died in 1811 or 1812, and Elbridge Gerry in 1814."

We add one line more—Clinton and Gerry were Republicans,—and were not commonly styled Democrats. The latter name is comparatively modern.

NOT GUILTY.—At Worcester, Mass. on the 9th, the case of William Hasty, of Phillipstown, charged with the murder of his wife Margaret, was concluded, and the jury returned a verdict of not guilty.

☞"The Belknap Gazette is hereafter to be published by R. C. Stevens & Son." How old is your son, Rufus ?

GREAT OPERATION.—The West Newton depot, on the Worcester railroad, was broken open on Wednesday night, and robbed of about $100 worth of tickets, principally 2d class to Worcester, and eight second-hand umbrellas.

LOCAL.

TO NEW SUBSCRIBERS.—For $3, we will give every person who may subscribe between this time and the first of January, a receipt from the time of subscribing (and paying) to Jan. 1st, 1854.

☞ After January 1st, '53, the Chronicle will not be for sale by the carriers. Persons wishing it left regularly at their residence or place of business, are respectfully invited to leave their names at the office or with the carriers.

RELIGIOUS INTELLIGENCE.

☞ We understand Rev. William Clark, the well known Bible and Mission Agent, will preach in the North Church to-morrow.

☞ The North Church and Society in this city have extended a unanimons invitation to Mr. George Warren Fields, of Brewer, Me., (a native of Belfast,) to become their pastor.

☞ Elder J. Pearson, jr., of Newburyport, will preach in the Advent Chapel to-morrow.

OFF THE TRACK.—The first down train from Newmarket to this city, on the Concord Railroad, ran off the track yesterday morning this side of Greenland, delaying and derangthe subsequent train. The cause was the displacement of a switch. The effect was that we could not send the Morning Chronicle to Concord, and so our customers that way had to buy Boston papers or go without.

ONE MORE PERFORMANCE, AND THE LAST.—Mons. Adrien, the grand magician and juggler,will give another, and the closing exhibition, at the Temple this evening. His dissolving views, phantasmagoria, &c. are richly worth the price of admission.

☞ Miss Emma Snodgrass, the girl in boy's clothes, travelled on foot from this city to Greenland yesterday morning, whence she started, also on foot for Hampton.

☞ See Auction Colum for sales of Dry Goods, Furniture, &c.

THIRD HOUSE.—The excitement in regard to various conflicting railroad interests, has brought so many people into town, that the third House is much the largest branch of the Legislature; and notwithstanding the horror entertained for "Concord dictation," there seems a great desire on the part of persons from abroad to press every Concord man into the service of one or another. What is worse, the defeated parties will be sure to go off cursing "Concord dictation."—Concord Reporter.

Mr. Hawthorne, the biographer of General Pierce is stated to be a prominent candidate for the Collectorship of Boston.

Verily he shall have his reward; it not in the Custom House, somewhere else.

A QUESTION ANSWERED.—Soon after the Democratic National Convention made their nominations, the Whig papers passed round the question, "Who is Franklin Pierce ?"—which each answered as suited itself. The reply was given in due season—regarding which the Whigs say to Democratic voters :

We've got your answer; 'twas prompt, and quite emphatic too;
How kind to thus dispel our cloud
But pray, hereafter, when a civil question's put you,
Speak one 't time, and NOT SO THUNDERING LOUD!

But we are glad that Purser Smith's affidavit has accomplished what our Government ought to have done, and that no immediate cause of offence is likely to arise.—Boston Times.

Are you ! Well, if you did not desire a fight with Cuba, nobody can tell from what you say, what you do want.—Boston Chron.

The city of Mexico supports but one apothecary shop. The population is sixty thousand —it is a novel sight to see any person sick.

The fare between New York and Philadelphia has been reduced to $2.

Uncle Tom's Cabin is being translated into Welsh. The first number appears in the Drych (published in New York) of this week, under the title of "Caban F' Ewythr Twm."

A Mrs. Dakin, in London, whose house commanded a fine view of the funeral procession in honor of Duke of Wellington, let the upper part of it for one thousand guineas. It's an ill wind that blows nobody any good.

A NEW WHEEL FOR RAILROAD CARS.—Mr. James Bell, of Albany, has taken out a patent for a new wrought iron wheel for railroad cars and engines, which is said to be very ingenious.

A business firm in Rochester, N. Y., announces that they have succeeded in manufacturing a new article of burning fluid, styled "Anylic Oil," which gives a strong, bright flame ; has no smoke, and will not explode.

In April last, three Misses Hunt, of Ripley, County, Ind., accompanied by eight more relatives, started for California across the Plains. By the time they arrived at Salt Lake, every male member of the family had fallen a victim to the cholera, and the ladies, being thus left without their natural protectors, determined to return home, which they did, arriving at St. Louis a few days since.—Manchester Dem.

A Jew must have a nice time of it in Hamburg. It is against the law to give him work, and yet if he becomes a burden to the city, he is cast into prison. This is a good deal like cutting off a man's legs, and then whipping him because he cannot run fast. From the way the Hebrews are used in Germany, a heathen would little dream that the world is indebted to them for Christ and the Bible.

The Bangor Mercury says :—Among the criminals in jail awaiting trial are seven boys less than sixteen years of age, all charged with larceny.

LATEST NEWS!

SECRETARY EVERETT—THE KANE CASE, &c.—*Washington, Dec.*9.—The Senate in executive session has confirmed, unanimously, the nomination of Edward Everett, as Secretary of State.

The Supreme Court has decided to hear the argument in the Kane extradition case on all important points made by the defence, on the first Monday in January next.

Some executive messages were taken up but not acted on, as the committee have not yet been chosen.

It is believed that Mr. Merriwether will be sustained in the occupation of his seat as Senator from Kentucky, the matter having assumed a party character.

SALE OF VESSELS.—RAILROAD ACCIDENT. New York, Dec. 10.—The new ship Anglo Saxon, built at Rockland, Me., was sold yesterday to Nevins & Co. for $50,000, cash.

The old Dramatic Line of Liverpool packets, the Garrick, Siddons, Sheridan, and Roscius, has been sold to Foster Morgan and others for $120,000

Last evening, in consequence of the displacement of a switch on the Harlem Railroad a heavily loaded freight train ran on a side branch, dashing into a gang of workmen, sixteen of whom were horribly mangled, and two mortally injured.

FROM CALIFORNIA.

The steamship Philadelphia arrived at New Orleans on Wednesday morning, with the mails from San Francisco to the 16th ult.

The Philadelphia sailed in company with the Illinois to New York with $2,250,000 on freight.

The City of Sacramento was almost entirely destroyed by fire.

Destructive fires had also occurred at San Francisco and Marysville.

Pierce's majority in California, 16,000.

The clipper ship Sovereign of the Seas, Captain McKay, from New York, Aug. 4th, had arrived at San Francisco.

The steam Propeller City of Pittsburg, Foster, from New York, July 17th, was burned at Valparaiso, Oct. 30th. She was owned by the Philadelphia and Liverpool Steamship Company, and is believed to have been fully insured. She was valued at $125,000.

The Philadelphia brings 200 passengers. She left Aspinwall in company with the Illinois, which also had 200 passengers.

FROM BARBADOES.—New York, Dec. 10.—Intelligence from Barbadoes has been received to the 22d ult. The fever there has greatly abated, but a British frigate lay in Carlisle Bay at quarantine, with 33 cases on board.

American provisions and breadstuffs were quoted as abundant, and prices, even at retail rates, are most ruinous to shippers.

VICTIM OF RUFFIANISM.—Mr. Schell, the chairman of the Democratic Committee, who was injured so severely in New York, in the brutal row at the last meeting of the committee in Tammany Hall, is reported dead. Mr. Schell was a prominent candidate for the collectorship of New York.

HAVANA, CUBA.—A New Orleans despatch of the 9th, says,

A fact not generally known has come to light, namely, that the Hon. Pierre Soule, of Louisiana, whilst on a visit to Spain, in 1846, sounded the Spanish authorities with respect to the purchase of Cuba, which though not officially done, led to the steps taken by Mr. Polk's administration.

Private letters per Cherokee state that the arrest of the Captain of the Lady Suffolk had caused much excitement among the British residents. Seven or eight slave ships were expected on the coast, and all the British vessels on the coast station were cruising about the Island awaiting them. This is the object of so many war vessels being collected at Havana.

A new revolutionary paper, Le Vox de Puebla, has been started at Matanzas. It is published in Manuscript, and several copies have been sent to the Captain General.

FROM TEXAS.—The Baltimore papers have Texas dates to the 30th ult. It was rumored that Wild Cat, the Camanche Chief, had joined the revolutionists against Matamoras, and was endeavoring to obtain recruits amongst the Americans.

The insurrectionists of Tamaulipas claim to have 50,000 dollars on the way from Tampico to defray their expenses, and refuse to let any Americans or even Caravajal join them.

TERRIFIC STORM ON LAKE ERIE. A terrific storm prevailed, on Tuesday night, on the lake. The steamer Baltic, which left Buffalo for Detroit on Tuesday night, was seen on Wednesday morning laboring in the trough of the sea. When off Barcelona she got in the trough and could not turn, and had to back all the way down to the river. For several hours she lay unable to move, and much excitement existed at Buffalo, there being no boat to send to her aid. She got in about noon, with her cabin torn to pieces, guards smashed, and much other damage. The brig Concord, which left Buffalo the same night, was caught in the storm and ran back to port, having lost overboard two locomotives intended for the Rockland Island Railroad. The brig sustained some damage but got in safely. The vessels out must have been in great danger, and the wind is still high.—Boston Courier.

THE OYSTER BUSINESS IN BALTIMORE.—The Baltimore American of the 4th inst: says that one of the largest and most enterprising establishments in the oyster trade in this city, is now forwarding daily to the West, by way of the Baltimore and Susquehanna Railroad and the Pennsylvania improvements eight tons of oysters in cans. The operations of this one concern comprise the opening of two thousand five hundred bushels of oysters per day, giving constant employment to one hundred and fifty men and boys.

The Lord Chancellor of England receives fifty thousand dollars a year, paid quarterly. His retiring pension is about half that sum.

HOUSE AND LIFE PROTECTORS
AGAINST FIRE AND LIGHTNING.

PATENT METALLIC
LADDER AND CONDUCTOR.

THIS new and important invention is one that should receive the attention of every person who owns a building, or who is interested in that which presents a "permanent safeguard" against lightning, and at the same time a light, strong and ornamental Ladder, which will securely warrant the inmates of any house the ready means of escape in case of fire.

The above are manufactured by Messrs. Washburn, Holland & Co. of Worcester, Mass., and have received the strongest testimonials of approval from many scientific and practical men. A moment's examination of the Metallic Ladder is sufficient to convince any person of its great utility.

☞ Price per foot, 20 cents; including Lightning Rods and Points of the most approved material.

A KNOTTY POINT SETTLED.—1st Juvenile Politician.—"Wal, say, now the demmycrats is in, what do you s'pose they'll do?"

2d Juvenile Politician, [scornfully:]—Do, yer fool? Why, 'nex Cuba and Canadee, take the Givano Island, 'nex Hingland, and bring Halbert and Wictory over, and show 'em at Barnum's—that's what they'll do."

1st Juvenile Politician.—"They will? Hooray!—demmycrats forever!—say, give us a plug, will yer?"—Lantern.

A very modest lady, who was a passenger on board of a packet ship, not long since, sprang out of her berth and jumped overboard, on hearing the Captain, during a storm, order the crew to haul down the sheets.

LARGE FLEET OF VESSELS DUE AT SAN FRANCISCO.—By an interesting tabular statement, published in the San Francisco Shipping List, it appears that at the close of last month there was a fleet of 202 due there from various ports in Europe and the United States. This number was, rather singularly, divided equally between the Old and New World, 101 being on their way from Europe, and the same number from the United States. Of those from our ports, 44 had been out 100 days and over, and 57 under 100 days.

SPONTANEOUS COMBUSTION.—A child in Fredericktown, New Brunswick, afew days ago, burned its leg against a stove. The mother immediately applied linseed oil and cotton wool, with a tight bandage over all; in a short time the screams of the child induced the mother to remove the bandage, when it was discovered that the cotton wool had taken fire, and had considerably increased the size of the burn.

THE ROGER WILLIAMS COOKING STOVE.

FOR COAL OR WOOD.

THE attention of all in want of a COOK STOVE is respectfully solicited to a consideration of the merits of this most beautifully modeled pattern; equally adapted for coal or wood, and warranted to operate successfully with either, which is now offered to the public as the

Most Complete and Efficient

Cooking apparatus ever before introduced in this vicinity. It is an elegant model, with fine smooth Providence castings, fitted together in the most substantial manner. The oven, (by far the most important part of a cooking stove,) in point of capacity, and in regard to its operation, is unsurpassed by that of any other stove now in the market, it being lined with fire-brick to retain and equalize the heat, and provided with valves for the escape of steam, &c. arising from the roasting of meats—rendering it in this respect superior to the old fashioned but universally admired TinKitchen.

The broiling apparatus is constructed on an entirely new and original plan, and will not fail to recommend itself at the first glance, as no smoke or gas arising from that culinary process can escape into the room. The sliding hearth is an improvement not to be found in any other stove.

The popularity of this over all other stoves now in the market, may be inferred from the fact that since its first introduction the last season, over THREE THOUSAND have been put into successful operation in New England and New York City.

Every stove is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction to the purchaser or the money refunded.

Each stove is warranted not to crack for twelve months from date of purchase. It is believed that this stove combines all the improvements that skill can invent, and is by far the most perfect cooking stove ever sold in Portsmouth, and though its price is higher than any other stove offered in this market of late, it is without question the cheapest in the end. All intending to purchase are respectfully invited to give this an examination before purchasing elsewhere.

Also, a variety of cheap Cook, Parlor, and Office Stoves, which are offered low.

WHAT-CHEER STOVE.

THE WHAT-CHEER COAL COOKING STOVE, now offered for sale by the subscribers, is acknowledged by all who have examined it to be the best and most economical Coal Stove ever offered to the public.

The castings are heavy, smooth, and very handsome. The Broiling apparatus is a great improvement over all other Stoves, being constructed in such a manner as to prevent the steam from escaping into the room when cooking.

All persons wishing to purchase a COAL COOKING STOVE, are respectfully requested to call and examine the same. Every Stove warranted to work well, or no sale.

We have also a large assortment of COOKING, PARLOR and STORE STOVES, &c.—for sale cheap for Cash at our Store,

THE IMPROVED
EMPIRE STATE STOVE.

THIS justly celebrated COOKING STOVE having been improved in every way it could be to make its operations more complete, and its plates beautifully ornamented—no expense, time or trouble having been spared to make this the most complete Cooking Stove ever brought before the public—the subscriber feels assured in warranting the IMPROVED EMPIRE STATE superior to any stove in the market, as hundreds can testify who have used them for the past year.

This Stove has a very LARGE OVEN, which makes it desirable on account of doing much cooking with the same amount of fuel than can be done in any other stove. The flues are large, which ensures a good draft in all cases. The castings are very heavy and smooth, and those parts that come under the fire are extra thick, thus making it very durable. It is adapted to the use of either coal or wood, and we warrant them to operate as well with one as the other. We furnish them with the very best apparatus; and, altogether, it is the MOST DURABLE, ECONOMICAL and CONVENIENT COOKING STOVE ever made—complete in every respect. We ask the attention of all persons intending to purchase a new, or exchange their old stove, to an examination of the Improved Empire State.

We have also on hand a variety of other Cooking Stoves, called the "Banner," "Belle of the States," "King of the States," "Bay State," "Anglo Saxon," "Pearl of Troy," &c.; with a large lot of PARLOR STOVES, such as the Revere Air-Tight, Star, Revere Parlor Cook, Lady Franklin, for Wood or Coal; Shop, Office and Air-Tight Stoves, of different sizes and prices for either wood or coal.

Also an extensive assortment of HOUSEKEEPING GOODS; Wooden, Willow, Glass, Britannia, Japan, Tin, Hard, Enamel, and Brass Ware; Copper, Cast Iron, and Chain Pumps; Window-Shads, Table Oil-cloths, &c.

All the above goods will be sold lower than can be bought elsewhere in this vicinity.

LONGEVITY IN NEW HAMPSAIRE.—Mr. Isaac H. Meserve, now of Brook Farm, Mass. but formerly of Barrington N. H., writes thus to the Dover Inquirer.

While on a visit to my paternal home the 11th inst., to spend Thanksgiving with my parents, I learned from my mother some very remarkable cases of longevity in her family. There are still living seven sisters, whose united ages are five hundred and forty-two years. Joanna, aged 84, visited the writer but a few weeks since in Roxbury, Mass., in the full enjoyment of her usual health and faculties. She is the widow of the late Joseph Libbey of Barrington. Mary, aged 82, was never married; she has lived in the family of the late Andrew Hanscom of Madbury and his descendants for nearly or quite sixty years, and is now very kindly and humanely provided for by Sargent Hanscom, Esq. and his very excellent wife. Betsy, aged 80, is the wife of John Smallcorn of your town.—Hannah, the widow of the late Samuel Demeritt of Madbury, aged 78; Keziah, widow of the late Solomon Demeritt of Madbury, aged 70. Their parents were the late Isaac and Elizabeth Hall of Barrington, N. H.—There were also three brothers of the above living, one of them is about 90 years of age one 86, and the other younger than the girls. And what is very remarkable, with one or two exceptions they are all able to attend to their usual domestic affairs, and often visit each other and appear to enjoy life as well as many younger ladies.

ESTEE THE FIREMAN.—We have published, from time to time, as we found them, various statements that have been made in relation to George. H. Estee, the fireman who was injured at the burning of the Tremont Temple, in Boston, last winter. But the local reporter of the Boston Daily Advertiser, pronounces many of them materially incorrect. He notices the following particulars, viz:—

"Mr. Estee is not at the hospital, nor has he been there for some months past, but at his mother's house in Charlestown. He is not attended by Dr. Warren, or any physician in particular, his case not requiring their attention, it being of a kind that nature alone must effect the cure; and the physician who last visited him, entertains the most sanguine hopes that he will recover.

No clergyman has called on him and endeavored to direct his thoughts to religious reflection, in view of the period of his dissolution, nor has he refused to converse relative to his approaching end. On the contrary he is fully aware of his situation, and converses freely on the probabilities of his dissolution.—Of late he can feel pain and a burning sensation in the paralyzed parts, which are considered very favorable symptoms, and he is able to sit up occasionally for a short time.

The Fire Company of which he was a member, and who voted to support him during his illness, have now in hand about $1000 received in contributions.

The Emperor Soulouque, like other sovereigns, has a chosen body-guard attending on him. A French traveller, much interested in observing this famous band, noticed that each officer bore on his head dress a glittering badge, which our tourist supposed to be an ornament of distinction. Desiring to study this ornament more closely, he got near enough to examine it, and on a brazen plate read this interesting legend—"Martin, Marchand de Sardines a la Rochele." Some boxes of cured sprats having found their way to the dominions of the Emperor, he had thus employed the labels.

The Emperor Soulouque, of Hayti, has issued a decree that hereafter all coffee brought in from the plantations shall be free from dirt and stones, under a heavy penalty for noncompliance; so that the new crop from the island will probably be in a better condition than has heretofore been the case.

CHINESE MUSIC.—The Alta Californian gives a queer account of a Chinese Procession in California, wherein a thousand Celestials appeared, in blue shirts, and many of them in yellow silk breeches, with a band of music which was anything but celestial.

The music began as the column moved, and such a noise has not been heard in the recollection of the oldest inhabitant. Coming down Washington street they struck up the Rwang-sei march, with Yysing-tu variations. Physical force was energetically and incessantly applied to the gong, cymbals, drums, and stringed instruments, until the very heavens resounded with the frightful discord. Not a dog nor an unbroken horse could be found within six squares of the procession. The noise was indescribably awful. An avalanche in the Alps, double distilled patent thunder, or a dozen grizzlies in a cane brake, does not even give an approximating idea of the nature of the noise. It was confusion worse confounded, in a superlative degree. Fortunately the procession moved on, and it was only after the lapse of an hour, that the city resumed its usual quiet and peaceful aspect.

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.
PORTSMOUTH:
MONDAY, DECEMBER 13, 1852.

THE NAVY REPORT.

How large a proportion of our citizens ever read a whole Report of the Secretary of the Navy? Probably not a very great one. The weeklies and the little dailies, and even a portion of the larger dailies, do not print it—they have not room. Yet seven thousand five hundred sailors are governed by that department, with a large number of officers; and surely there is inducement enough to look over it, and see how eight thousand people live. The people do feel an interest in the welfare of seamen; and their officers feel it likewise; for no officer who is fit for his station can command an unhappy, discontented crew, and at the same time be very happy himself.

The Report of the Secretary of the Navy just published, calls for 1500 additional seamen, who are demanded by the present exigencies of the Navy Department, to carry out existing orders and imperative duties. And at the same time, it is represented as by no means easy, to keep the seamen now allowed in the navy, up to the specified number. The Secretary gives two reasons for this deficiency or difficulty. First, the objection which the best sailors have to going in a ship where the bad ones are not flogged, because the criminals who are confined for various offences, are all deducted from the strength of the crew, making the work too heavy for those who do duty. A second reason is the lowness of wages in the navy, compared with the wages in the merchant service.

To remedy the latter evil, the Secretary recommends an increase of pay by act of Congress—which should certainly take place, if we are to have any Navy whatever. And to remedy the former, he recommends the institution of an order of registered seamen, who are to be entitled to certain extra privileges, and who are to be selected from the most deserving sailors in the first instance.—He also recommends several improvements in the Naval Academy, particularly in the manner of receiving and disposing of the naval cadets.

It is truly gratifying to perceive that so large a portion of our naval force, in men and vessels, is employed in explorations, opening foreign ports to our vessels, &c.

SEAMEN'S WAGES.—The following paragraph from the New York Express, fully sustains the Secretary of the Navy in his opinion that the United States ought to pay higher wages to seamen in our National ships. It would seem to sustain an idea broached some ago, of a law requiring every ship to have a small proportion of boys in her crew, say one fourth. It is a fact, that in every seaport town, there are many boys who prefer a sailor's life to any other, and who would be vastly better off, from the age of 14 to 17, on board a ship with a good captain, than in the streets or on the wharves as they are now.

There is still a scarcity of seamen at this port. They are readily obtained for California voyages, but to Liverpool there is a great difficulty in obtaining crews, and while the rate remains nominally the same, viz: $15 per month, shipmasters are obliged to pay extra advance or a bonus, in addition to their regular wages, to induce sailors to ship in that direction. For Southern voyages, crews are obtained with less difficulty than to Liverpool. The supply of seamen has been short for a long time past, and it is believed by those familiar with the subject, must remain so until our ships consent to take a certain proportion of boys (as apprentices) to make up their crews. A great many boys offer themselves, but are generally rejected.

STARTLING REVELATIONS IN COUNTERFEITING!—W. L. Ormsby writes to the New York Express:—

The great majority of counterfeit money is original engraving. Old bank plates fall into the hands of counterfeiters, and are altered with care from one bank to another. The time is fast approaching, when our beautiful paper money will be regarded with contempt and disgust. If the same hands that are employed in engraving the original can by any trick, be employed in producing the counterfeit, how can we tell the genuine from the spurious? Mr. Ormsby has seen, in New York and Philadelphia, twenty-one plates recovered from counterfeiters, most of them plates of defunct banks, or old plates of existing banks, —also various chemical and mechanical facilities by which the alterers of a false emission make elegant bills.

GREENOUGH, THE SCULPTOR.—We regret to learn that this eminent American artist is at present insane: but he is under the care of Dr. Bell, at Somerville, and it is hoped he may soon recover.

DISEASE.—The Homesville (Pike county, Miss.,) Southerner says, that a disease, worse than the cholera, has appeared in that neighborhood, and that there had been upwards of forty deaths within four miles square.

EUROPEAN NEWS.

By the Royal Mail Steamship Niagara, we have Liverpool advices as late as Nov. 27, at 11 A. M.—giving us seven days later news

Parliament—Free Trade—Fisheries.

The debates in the British Parliament show the determination to adhere to Free Trade.—In the debate in the House of Commons, Pierce's election to the Presidency of the United States was alluded to as a free trade triumph.

In the House of Commons, a resolution was offered by Lord Palmerston, as follows:

"It is the opinion of this House that the improved condition of the country, and especially the industrious classes, is mainly the result of legislation, which has established the principle of unrestricted competition; has abolished the taxes imposed by, and for the purpose of, protection. It is the opinion of the House that this policy followed, maintained and prudently extended, will best enable the industry of the country to bear its burthen, and thereby assuredly promote the welfare and contentment of the people. That this House is ready to take into its consideration any measures consistent, with these principles, which, in pursuance of her Majesty's speech, may be laid before them by her Majesty's Ministers."

After a protracted debate, and an adjournment of the question for three days, the above amendment passed, yeas 468, nays 53; majority 415.

In the House of Lords, the Earl of Malmesbury stated, with reference to the North American fishery, that Mr. Webster's letter arose neither from government placing a new construction upon the Treasury order regulating the fisheries, nor from the use of improper language in the negotiation. He did not know what was the cause of the letter being written, unless it resulted from circumstances which occurred to the American government at the time of the Presidential election. He must refuse to produce the papers in the present peculiar state of the negotiations; but he assured the House that the most friendly spirit prevailed between the two governments. With the exception of that one letter, everything tended to a most satisfactory conclusion. He would produce the papers as soon as possible.

Gold importations from Australia.—The ship Eagle, from Port Philip, Australia, in 76 days, has 150,000 ounces of gold; the Maitland, from Sidney, 14,000 ounces; Sapphire, 15,000, Phelan, 28,000. Total value, nearly a million sterling.

Fall in Cotton.—Markets.—An eminent house says, under date of Liverpool, Nov. 26: This has been the dullest week in Cotton that has occurred in many months, the irregularity and depression in prices being so great that it is impossible to give correct quotations.—Prices of American descriptions have given way 1-4d per lb., establishing a decline of the actual business three weeks since of 3-4d in the middling and upper grades, and 1d per lb. in the inferior and lower classes. Stock 411,000 bales, of which 201,000 are American —17,000 bales over last year's stock.

The Grain Market was active. Flour—Philadelphia, Baltimore and Ohio, 25s 9d a 26s; Western Canal and Canadian 25s a 25s 6d; Indian Corn, per qr 480 lbs., yellow 31s 6d to 32s.

In the Provision Market, Lard was offered at 1s decline, without buyers. Apples—Market quite overstocked. Butter—Several parcels Irish taken on Boston and New York account. Prime Mess Beef at 100 a 110s; Western prime Mess Pork 70 a 72s 6d, Eastern do 75s. Lard nominal at 38s 6d.

FRENCH EMPIRE.—The farce of voting on the Empire question, was acted in France on Sunday and Monday, Nov. 21 and 22.

The figures from the department of the Seine were, yes 210,658; no 54,753.

By a telegraphic despatch dated on the morning of the 27th, the total number polled to latest were including 83 departments and the army and navy, yes seven million two hundred thousand. No 250,000.

AUSTRIA.—The correspondent of the Morning Chronicle writes from Vienna that Mr. Webster's death will restore the relations between Austria and the United States, and Mr. Hulsemann will return to Washington.

RUSSIA.—The Duke De Leuchtenburg was buried November 4th, and in the church of John of Jerusalem at St. Petersburg, with ceremonies no less imposing than the funeral of the Duke of Wellington.

GREECE.—A convention additional to the treaty of 1832, guaranteeing the independence of Greece under a Prince of the Greek faith, was signed at London the 28th, by the Ministers of England, France, Russia, Bavaria and Greece.

SUICIDE.—We heard to day of the suicide of a young and beatiful lady, lately from Liverpool, England, who died on Sunday night from the effects of corrosive sublimate, administered to herself, as it appeared on a post-mortem examination.—Washington Republic.

BIGAMIST ARRESTED.—Last evening officer Fuller arrested at the Howard House, one Miron F. Morse, hailing from Burlington, Vt., on charge of bigamy, in having three wives, all of whom he has married since 1848. His third wife was with him at the time of his arrest.—Lowell News, 18th.

SINGULAR ACCIDENT.—By the collision of two ferry-boats in New York harbor, on Thursday, a large iron ring, on the guard of one of them, was forced from its fastenings and sent flying through the air. In its course it struck the head of Gen. A. Wade of Newburn, N. C., cutting off an ear, and inflicting a deep scalp wound, and producing, it was feared, a concussion of the brain. It was apprehended that he could not recover.

LOCAL.

TO NEW SUBSCRIBERS.—For $3, we will give every person who may subscribe between this time and the first of January, a receipt from the time of subscribing (and paying) to Jan. 1st, 1854.

☞ After January 1st, '53, the Chronicle will not be for sale by the carriers. Persons wishing it left regularly at their residence or place of business, are respectfully invited to leave their names at the office or with the carriers.

BODY RECOVERED.—We learn that the body of the Marine John Smith, who was drowned at the Navy Yard on Wednesday, was recovered on Thursday by grappling near the spot where he fell over—and has been taken home by his friends for burial.

THE YEAR OF LIGHT—This is the first year of Gas Light in Portsmouth,—and a pleasant thing it is to see clear strong light on the corners of the streets, as we look round the city after items, on a dirty evening.—This was the case on Saturday night, when evening trains were late, the streets were muddy, and it rained "some." We say "let there be light."

☞ MONSIEUR ADRIEN, the magician and juggler, closed his entertainments at the Temple on Saturday evening, with a good audience for a rainy Saturday night. His performances then, and on the former evenings of his stay here, were of the first order, as to sleight of hand, quickness of eye, and dexterity of delusion. The dissolving views and spectral illusions are each excellent in their kind, and are well worth seeing, if there were no other entertainments connected with them.

N. H. General Court—Nov. Session, 1852.

(Abridged from the Patriot.)

FRIDAY, Dec. 10.

SENATE.—The bill relating to school district meetings and the raising of money for the support of high schools was taken from the table, an amendment adopted, requiring a two-thirds vote of all present at such school meetings to raise money, and the bill then ordered to a third reading.

Bills, &c., read a third time and passed.—Bill to incorporate the Ashuelot Bank; bill relating to school district meetings; resolution in favor of Warden of the State Prison. Adjourned to Monday, at 4 P. M.

HOUSE.—Bills indefinitely postponed.—To incorporate a Railroad from Wolfborough to the Great Falls and Conway Railroad—the Suncook Valley Railroad—the Lake Village Banking Co.—and the Atlantic Bank at Exeter.

Railroad Union Bill.—Mr. Weeks of Canaan, from the committee on Railroads, reported reference of the subject of uniting the Concord & Claremont and N. H. Central Railroads, under the name of the "Merrimack and Connecticut Railroad Company" to next session of the Legislature.

On motion of Mr. Hackett of Portsmouth, the report was laid on the table.

A communication was received from Mr. Thos. P. Treadwell, president of the Union M. F. Ins. Co. defending said company from all imputations contained in a preamble submitted to the House, and inviting an investigation.

Mr. Bartlett of Portsmouth, said that courtesy demanded that such examination should be made as to remove every impression prejudicial to the corporation in question. With this purpose in view he would move to amend the preamble and resolution by striking out the former, and amending the latter so as to instruct the committee on incorporation to examine into the subject, and to report to the House at its earliest convenience.

The House unanimously assented to the amendment and the passage of the resolution.

The question of adjournment came up: motion was made to adjourn to Monday, 4 P. M., and was negatived: to adjourn to Monday at 10 A. M. also negatived. It was then moved to adjourn to Monday at 3 P. M.—and the vote stood 85 to 59—but as there was no quorum the speaker declared the House adjourned to Saturday at 10 A. M. [Of course no business can be done on Saturday, except to adjourn to Monday.]

SANBORN B. CARTER, Esq.—We have seen it stated in several papers that this gentleman, who was injured by the Railroad collision at the Weirs in Meredith, on the 7th of October last, has had a relapse, which was feared would prove fatal. This report is wholly untrue. We have it from the very best authority that Mr. Carter is fast recovering from his injuries, and further than that, we received a buisness letter from him on Tuesday, which, from its nature, places the matter beyond a doubt.—Dover Gazette.

A young man was killed a few days since on the Boston & Worcester Railroad, near Westborough, named Daniel Wickley, 18 years of age. He was a shoemaker, and had been frequently heard to express a desire to die. He was not knocked down by the cars, but was lying on the track, when the train ran over him, and it is supposed that he voluntarily placed himself there in a fit of derangement.

SURPLUS OF PRODUCE.—Produce of all kinds is reported to be accumulating very rapidly at Dunkirk, N. Y. Flour is coming in at the rate of ten thousand barrels per day, being double the amount the railroad is capable of conveying away. There are now fifty-five thousand barrels on hand at Dunkirk, and a proportionate amount of pork, &c.

BUTTER.—A gentleman from one of the largest butter making towns in New Hampshire told us on Thursday that in his town there were two or three tons of butter, which the owners were holding, with the expectation of getting thirty cents a pound.—Boston Jour.

STEAMER BURNED.—New Orleans, Dec. 10. The steamer Cleopatra was burned on Monday night on Black river. The Captain's son perished in the flames. The cargo consisted of 900 bales of cotton.

New York, Dec. 10.—In the case of Yarrington and wife, being a suit for damages for injuries received during a collision of a Railroad, the jury returned a verdict of $3,750 and costs.

Albany, Dec. 10.—The extensive malt house of Taylor & Sons, brewers of this city, was burned at 7 o'clock this evening. It was filled with malt. Loss estimated at $15,000.

Buffalo, Dec. 10.—A collision occurred this morning on the Rochester and Syracuse Railroad, near Canandaigua, by which three persons were instantly killed, one mortally injured, and others seriously wounded.

Syracuse, Dec. 10.—Hiram Brown, a colored man, was arrested here to-day charged with being concerned in the Jerry rescue. He was liberated on bail. Logan, the colored preacher charged with the same offence, was bailed yesterday.

CALIFORNIA NEWS.

PARTICULARS OF THE LATE FIRE.

The Sacramento fire broke out in J street, crossing 3d to K,L and M streets, laying bare the whole space from U street, South and J streets, North, and all between Front and 10th streets, comprising forty blocks, and leaving houseless nine-tenths of all the population. The loss is estimated at ten millions of dollars.

The principal sufferers are Warren & Co., Young & Kibbee, Wood & Kenyon, each $25,000; J. W. Ford & Co., Philip Kilman & Co., Marks & Friendman, G. V. Dawson, Nevit & Co., G. W. Peacock, each $30,000; El Dorado Saloon, McCall & Co., R. T. Brown & Co., Bullam, Foggam & Co., each $50,000; Hardenburg. and Herrace, each $100,000; Meeker & Co., Schoolcraft, each $75,000; C. T. Huntingtou & Co., $60,900; John M'Nully., $100,000.

The State Capitol was saved. The offices of the Democratic State Journal and the State Hospital were destroyed. The patients in the latter suffered terribly. As many as 350 buildings were restored, however, during the first nine days after the fire.

The fire at San Francisco broke out on the 10th of November, on the corner of Merchant and Kearney streets, spreading down Kearney, the south side of Clay and both sides of Merchant street, destroying thirty buildings. Loss $120,000.

The fire at Marysville occurred November 7. It began at First street, and destroyed every house on the north side, east of Maiden Lane, and all between Maiden Lane and C street, including the Atlantic Hotel (a large house,) the Marysville Hotel and the New World Hotel, several Livery stables, breweries, stores, and other buildings.

THE STATE ELECTION resulted as follows: Senate 6 Democrats, 7 Whigs; House 41 Democrats, 19 Whigs. Three districts to be heard from.

A great number of Chinese were returning home. Emigration had fallen off.

A DREADFUL TRAGEDY.—A letter from Rio Janeiro, dated Oct. 12, and published in the Baltimore Sun, contains the following account of an awful tragedy committed at Rio :—

"An awful tragedy occurred here last night, a father murdered his daughter, son, and an Englishman. The young girl had been wronged; the father discovered her shame, swore death to her seducer, the Englishman—found him with his daughter, drove a bullet through his heart, and dashed madly at his daughter with a knife. The son and brother placed himself before her, and received the blade of the knife in his side. The father, seeming a maniac, wanted more blood to wash out the stain upon his daughter's honor, and with another plunge stabbed her to the heart. The Englishman died immediately, the son lived three hours, and the daughter still breathes, but will not live. The father, a highly respectable Brazilian, gave himself immediately up to the authorities."

MURDER AND ROBBERY.—Wm. R. Tripp, a seamen, was found drowned at New Bedford on Tuesday night. The coroner's jury reported "that the deceased after being robbed, was knocked into the dock by some person or persons unknown, and thereby came to his death." Patrick McKinney, who was in company with the deceased at the time of the catastrophe, gave no alarm; but after the situation of Tripp was discovered, was found by the watchman upon the ground, as if with the intention of concealing himself. Tripp leaves a wife and child at Westport.

McKinney has been honorably discharged. The Mercury says that McKinney "came here from Bath, Me.—could not get employment, but did get drunk, and unfortunately for him went to sleep upon the same wharf from which poor Tripp fell."

PASSING LIQUOR INTO JAIL.—Pamelia McBrine was before the Boston Police Court Friday morning, charged with passing a flask of brandy to her husband, who is confined in jail, and in default of bail in $70 was committed for trial. A few days since Mrs. McBrine complained of her husband for assaulting her with a knife, for which offence he is held for trial.

THE ABINGTON ARSON CASE.—Nicholas Vesper, charged with setting fire to a house in Abington, Mass., in April last, has been admitted to bail by Judge Bishop, in the sum of $1,000. Merrill, indicted at the same time, but who feigned insanity, gave bonds in $1500.

THE CITY OF PITTSBURG.—It is stated that this steamer, burnt at Valparaiso, was insured for nearly $300,000.

It appears from the "spirit" papers, that Napoleon and Wellington agree no better in the next world than they did in this.

HOUSE AND LIFE PROTECTORS
AGAINST FIRE AND LIGHTNING.

PATENT METALLIC
LADDER AND CONDUCTOR.

THIS new and important invention is one that should receive the attention of every person who owns a building, or who is interested in that which presents a "permanent safeguard" against lightning, and at the same time a light, strong and ornamental Ladder, which will securely warrant the inmates of any house the ready means of escape in case of fire.

The above are manufactured by Messrs. Washburn, Holland & Co., of Worcester, Mass., and have received the strongest testimonials of approval from many scientific and practical men. A moment's examination of the Metallic Ladder is sufficient to convince any person of its great utility.

☞ Price per foot, fifty cents; including Lightning Rods and Points of the most approved material.

Harper's New Monthly Magazine.

THE SIXTH VOLUME of this Magazine commences with the December Number. A regular monthly issue of over one hundred thousand copies proves the popularity of this work,—and it owes its success to the fact that it presents more reading matter, of a better quality and in a more elegant style, and at a cheaper rate than any other publication.

TERMS 83 per year, or 25 cents per number. It makes two volumes of 864 pages each.

The subscriber is the publishers' agent for this city, and will furnish it to subscribers promptly. Now is the time to subscribe. Call and examine it. You can take it into your family, as a useful and agreeable friend. JOSEPH P. MORSE.

PATENTS.
American and Foreign Office.
AGENCY FOR BUSINESS
With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,
No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IN 1840 the subscriber was appointed Agent of the United States Patent Office, in accordance with the 10th section of the Act of 1837.

Having relinquished the agency for the transmission of models, and adopting a more expeditious mode of sending them to the Patent Office, whereby a Patent can be procured several months earlier, he continues to forward them, as before, free of expense, and to prepare Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all the necessary Papers and Drawings for Patents, and to render advice on legal and scientific matters respecting the same. Patents secured in Europe.

The subscriber aims to present to inventors superior facilities for obtaining patents; and is now prepared to make specifications at rates cheaper by ten to twenty per cent. than those of other agencies. They can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skillful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of prosecuting their application in a form to secure them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"PATENT OFFICE,
"R. H. EDDY, Esq., Boston, Mass.

"SIR:—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any other agent I am very respectfully,
Yours, &c. THOMAS EWBANK,
Boston, Dec. 7, 1852. Commissioner of Patents."

TACT.—The true secret of benevolence is to know how to hide, or at least to underrulue, the benefit, that the unfortunate person may be spared the mortification of having his necessity and his dependence understood: that there may be less the appearence of making him a debtor than that of putting the doner under an obligation. By sparing in this way the feeling of honor, the most unimportant service may acquire a value, a power to attract and to receive a value, which without it the greatest tain affections, which without it the greatest sacrifices would not have.

"You are riding a good and very quiet horse," said Turenne to one of his officers, who was in fact mounted on an old and worthless animal, but was too poor to provide himself with a better. "My horses are, for an old man like me, too fiery and spirited; you will do me a favor if you will exchange." It is perceived at once that this exchange was a present, and for a man like Burenne no very great one; but how kind and graceful was the manner in which it was made! How much must the officer have felt bound to the man who united with attention to his necessities so much consideration for his honor.—From the German of Engel.

WASHINGTON IN OLD TIMES.—Miss Lynch, in a sketch of Washington City, in the last number of Harper's Magazine, mentions as a singular circumstance, that on the spot where our national legislators meet, the Indian tribes formerly met to deliberate around their council fires. She also states, as an historical fact, that as early as 1663, the city was laid out and called Rome—the little stream that now flows at the foot of Capitol Hill still retaining its classical appellation of the Tiber.

THE ROGER WILLIAMS COOKING STOVE.

FOR COAL OR WOOD.

THE attention of all in want of a COOK STOVE is respectfully solicited to a consideration of the merits of this most beautifully modeled parlor stove; equally well adapted for coal or wood, and warranted to operate successfully with either,—which is now offered to the public as the

Most Complete and Efficient

Cooking apparatus ever before introduced in this vicinity. It is an elegant model, with fine smooth Providence castings, fitted together in the most substantial manner. The oven, (by far the most important part of a cooking stove,) in point of capacity, and in regard to its operation, is unsurpassed by that of any other stove now in the market, it being lined with fire-brick to retain and equalize the heat, and provided with valves for the escape of steam, &c. arising from the roasting of meats—rendering it in this respect superior to the old fashioned but universally admired Tin Kitchen.
The broiling apparatus is constructed on an entirely new and original plan, and will not fail to recommend itself at the first glance, as no smoke or gas arising from that culinary process can escape into the room. The sliding hearth is an improvement not to be found in any other stove.
The capacity of this over all other stoves now in the market, may be inferred from the fact that since its first introduction the last season, over THREE THOUSAND have been put into successful operation in New England and New York City.
Every stove is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction to the purchaser or the money refunded.
Each stove is warranted not to crack for twelve months from date of purchase. It is believed that this stove combines all the improvements that skill can invent, and is far the most perfect cooking stove ever sold in Portsmouth. And though its price is higher than any other stove offered in this market of late, it is without question the cheapest in the end. All intending to purchase are respectfully invited to give this an examination before purchasing elsewhere.
Also, a variety of cheap Cook, Parlor, and Office Stoves, which are offered low.

WHAT-CHEER STOVE.

THE WHAT-CHEER COAL COOKING STOVE, now offered for sale by the subscribers, is acknowledged by all who have examined it to be the best and most economical Coal Stove ever offered to the public.
The castings are heavy, smooth, and very handsome. The Broiling apparatus is a great improvement over all other Stoves, being constructed in such a manner as to prevent the steam from escaping into the room when cooking.
All persons wishing to purchase a COAL COOKING STOVE, are respectfully requested to call and examine the same. Every Stove warranted to work well, or no sale.
We have also a large assortment of COOKING, PARLOR and STORE STOVES, &c.—for sale cheap for Cash at our Store,

THE IMPROVED
EMPIRE STATE STOVE.

THIS justly celebrated COOKING STOVE having been improved in every way it could be to make its operations more complete, and the plates beautifully ornamented—no expense, time or trouble having been spared to make this the most complete Cooking Stove ever brought before the public—the subscriber feels assured in warranting this IMPROVED EMPIRE STATE superior to any stove in the market, as hundreds can testify who have used them for the past year.
This Stove has a very LARGE OVEN, which makes it desirable on account of doing more cooking with the same amount of fuel than can be done in any other stove. The flues are large, which ensures a good draft in all cases. The castings are very heavy and smooth, and those parts that come next the fire are lined with brick, making it very durable. It is adapted to the use of either coal or wood, and we warrant them to operate as well with one as the other. We furnish them with the very best operating spring, and altogether, it is the MOST DURABLE, ECONOMICAL and CONVENIENT COOKING STOVE ever made—complete in every respect. We ask the attention of all persons intending to purchase a new, or exchange their old stove, to an examination of the Improved Empire State.
We have also on hand a variety of other Cooking Stoves, called the "Banner," "Belle of the States," "King of the Valley," "Young Stay Sail," "Anglo Saxon," "Pearl of Troy," &c.; with a large lot of PARLOR STOVES, such as the Revere Air-Tight, Star, Revere Parlor Cook, Lady Franklin, for Wood or Coal; Shop, Office and Air-Tight Stoves, of different sizes and prices for either wood or coal.
Also an extensive assortment of HOUSEKEEPING GOODS; Wooden, Willow, Glass, Britannia, Japan, Tin, Hard, Enamel, and Brass Ware; Copper, Cast Iron, and Chain Pumps; Window-Shads, Table Oil cloths, &c.
All the above goods will be sold lower than can be bought elsewhere in this vicinity.

LIFE OF COUNTESS RUMFORD.

The Concord Daily Patriot of Friday contains an extracts from a discourse delivered by Dr. Bouton, Sunday, Dec. 5, 1852: the Rev. author gives an outline history of Countess Rumford, as interesting as the pages of a novel.

Yesterday a few family friends and acquaintances followed to the grave an aged lady, known among us as the Countess Rumford.—But whence did she derive that title of nobility? Who was she? What was her origin and her history? The Countess Rumford was grand daughter of Rev. Timothy Walker, the first minister of this town. She was the only daughter of Benjamin Thompson, formerly a resident of this town; and was born on the spot where she died, Oct. 18, 1774. Her father, remarkable for his native talents and enterprise, came to this town from Woburn, Mass., as a teacher, in 1772, and marrying the eldest daughter[1]—then a widow—of Rev. Mr. Walker, settled among us. But as the war of the revolution came on, being suspected of principles and feelings adverse to the American cause, he was obliged to flee for safety, first to his native town, and then to Boston, under the protection of the British, whence he was soon after sent by Gen. Gage, as the bearer of despatches to England. Attracting the attention of the Government there, he found honorable employment till the close of the revolutionary war. Soon after that, 1783, he went to Germany, was introduced to the Elector of Bavaria, and was employed by him in various services, civil and military, in which he acquired most honorable distinction. Residing awhile at Munich, the capital of Bavaria, he became distinguished for efforts to suppress the system of vagrancy and mendicity, which had become a great public nuisance; and as a reward, in part, for his services, he received from the Elector the title of "Count of the Holy Roman Empire"—with a pension settled on him for life of nearly $2 000 annually. To this title, he added that of RUMFORD, in remembrance of his residence in that town, which was formerly called by that name.—About the year 1796, he sent a request to his daughter in this country, to meet him in London, which she did—her mother having previously deceased, 1792, aged 52 years. Subsequently, the daughter attended and shared the fortune of her father, until his death in France, in 1814. The scenes and changes in her eventful life are in many respects remarkable. The forsaken infant of a persecuted father, fleeing from unmerited reproach and insult, for protection from an enemy he had opposed in arms;—an orphan by the decease of the only parent left to protect her; forsaking the home of her childhood to pass an isolated life with her paternal grand-mother in an adjacent State;—a young girl in the hey-day of life, encountering the perils of the Atlantic, at the call of an exiled, and to her a long lost father; a resident of the capital of Bavaria, when Munich was about to be bombarded by the Austrian army, and which was alone prevented by the stern energy of her father, at that time commander-in-chief of the Bavarian forces; the caressed daughter of one honored among the learned savans of Europe and received among the elite of the saloons of Paris; doubly an orphan in a foreign land, and thence inheriting the estates and title of her father; returning to England and settling upon the paternal estate at Brompton, near the English metropolis; receiving at will, the attentions of the literati of the British capital; again a resident at Paris and subject to all the inquietude naturally the result of the revolutions and the counter-revolutions of the fickle government and people of France;—the Countess Rumford, after long absence, returned in 1845, from her sojourn in foreign lands, to end life's pilgrimage in her native State, upon the spot hallowed by the afflictions of a father, the sufferings of a widowed mother, and the tender recollections of her own childhood. Here she died—on the spot where she was born, on the 2d. Dec. inst., aged 78 years.

The Countess never married, but left as her chief mourner, an adopted daughter, who assiduously and affectionately waited on her in the infirmities of age, in her last sickness and death. The Countess left a very considerable property, which she has saved from her father's estates, and from a pension of nearly $1000 annually that she received for nearly forty years from the Bavarian government, in consideration of her father's services. The last years of her life were spent in quiet retirement, enjoying the social intercourse of a few family friends and acquaintances.

She tastefully ornamented with trees and shrubbery, the grounds about her residence; and mindful no doubt by her own experience, of the trials and sorrows to which orphans are subject, she in her last will, made a charitable disposition of a large portion of her property; and particularly, as is understood, gave the place where she resided and the sum of about $15,000, for the establishment, there, of an asylum for widows and female orphan children.

Her remains lay in the old burying ground, by the side of her mother, and near the graves of the Walker family.

WEALTH OF THE UNITED STATES.—The property, real and personal, in the United States is estimated by the census at 7,133,369,725. This will make an average of between $300 and $400 to each individual, or about $1800 to each family.

Dr. Howe has examined almost the entire number of cases of idiocy known in Massachusetts, and the result is, in all but four instances, he found the parents of these idiots were either intemperate, addicted to sensual vices, scrofulous, predisposed to insanity, or had intermarried with blood relations.

GENERAL TICKET.

The N. H. Patriot observes that the single district system for Members of Congress, applied only by the terms of the law, to the last representatives, apportionment, and therefore may not be considered in any manner binding upon the states.

This looks as if we are not likely to have the state districted anew; but on the contrary to go back to the old general ticket system, to which New Hampshire adhered after every other state was districted. There is something a little singular about this districting business in New Hampshire. The city of Portsmouth is cut into three pieces for the choice of Representatives,—because it is too large to go in one lump. We say this is all right and democratic. But the state of New Hampshire must not be cut up into three pieces for the choice of representatives,—because it is too small, or for some other reason. We are ready to say this is all right and democratic also,—if we were only sure of it. But the ever-memorable Sam Patch advised—"Be sure you're right—then go ahead."—For this reason we wish some of the learned in political lore would give us some light on this dark subject.

☞ Mr. Udolpho Wolfe, of New York, the manufacturer of the famous Aromatic Schiedam Schnapps, is out in the Boston Post, and down upon the Boston Chronicle and the Boston Gin Dealers, for "blowing up" his Schnapps, in order as he says, that they may sell their own beverages.

He says, in his own defence:

"I have long been a manufacturer, by my agents, at Schiedam, in Holland, of the Holland Gin, which I principally import, and which is known in the market by my brand. Knowing that gin from its distinctive peculiarity as a tincture, is either one of the most salutary or pernicious of liquors in proportion to its quality and mode of use; and being convinced that the best processes of manufacture hitherto pursued, whether by myself or others, admitted of important and peculiarly desirable improvements, I resolved to secure the most effective aid that the progressive science and skill of the age would afford, in order to accomplish those. For cherishing this object, I suppose, I could be useless, in the business world, to proceed to any higher motive than that of pecuniary ambition. I will, therefore, only say that, after a series of experiments, conducted both at home and abroad, I obtained results which enabled me, by adopting a process known exclusively in my own factory at Schiedam, to make an infinitely purer, a more exquisitely flavored and aromatic, and a more reliable medicinal Holland Gin, than I had ever produced before (eminent as my brand had been) and proportionately superior in all these qualities to every other gin in the world."

He comes down on the Chronicle thus:

"Of what was the Maine Liquor Law a true and legitimate offspring? Of what, but those abominably distilled or adulterated liquors with which that class of dealers who alone can be conceived to support so scandalous a sheet as the Boston Daily Chronicle, have spread mental and moral ruin, poverty, misery, disease, crime, and shame, throughout the land? This class of dealers it is, that has produced such evils as these."

The editor of the Chronicle turns round upon him and replies,—

"This same Udolpho Wolfe, No. 22 Beaver street, New York, being one of our best paying patrons, thus acknowledges himself as of that "class of dealers" whose "adulterated liquors have spread mental and moral ruin throughout the land." Few of our patrons, we trust, belong to so bad a class."

The controversy is becoming quite racy, and somewhat personal.

"How blest the Righteous when he dies."

We notice in the papers the decease of a truly devout and honorable woman, Madame Bernadina Adelaide Van Doornick Van Polanen, who died at her residence in Bridgeport, Conn., Dec. 3d, aged 73. She was the widow of Hon. Roger Gerard Van Polanen, Minister of the Batavian Republic to this country during Washington's administration. She chose to remain in this country, and has been greatly respected and beloved in Bridgeport, where her death will now be greatly lamented. She was very liberal, contributing and subscribing to every good object within her reach. Within a few years past, she has built a Unitarian Church, and endowed it with a small permanent fund for the support of the ministry.

Noble Lecturers.—Some of the most noted English noblemen are lecturing this winter, before public assemblies. The Earl of Carlisle is announced to lecture on Gray, at Sheffield; the Duke of Newcastle is to lecture to the mechanics at Worksop; Sir Alexander Cockburn, at Southampton, and Lord John Russell at Manchester. These noble lecturers, after all, may not deliver lectures any more noble than other men, who happen not to bear a title or wear a garter.

The valuation of Manchester, N. H., is $6,795,682 and that of Portsmouth $5,206,972.

LIEUTENANT GENERAL.

Our readers have already been apprised of the fact that Mr. Clemens of Alabama, a Democratic Senator, has proposed to create Winfield Scott a Lieutenant General. To our un-military ear, it always sounded strangely, that a lieutenant-general should be higher than a major-general. On announcing this motion, the Philadelphia Pennsylvanian enters a caveat against it in the following terms:

"We trust that there is good sense enough in the United States Senate to reject the proposition of Senator Clemens to confer on Gen. Scott the empty title of lieutenant general. Gen. Scott is already, by seniority, at the head of the officers of the army, and conferring on him this title will neither put more money in his purse nor make him greater than he is. God knows we are approaching the aristocracy of Europe fast enough without creating new titles and privileges. We trust that the democratic press of the country will speak out boldly and freely on this subject. As a democrat we consider this a great innovation, and are surprised that it should emenate from one who claims to be a democrat. We are opposed to it from beginning to end."

On this, the Boston Post remarks,

"The Pennsylvanian, for whose opinions we have great respect, differs from us in regard to Senator Clemens proposition. We copy what the Pennsylvanian says, but its objections do not alter the views we entertain and have expressed, in favor of conferring the compliment suggested by the senator from Alabama."

We respect the delicacy of Senator Clemens and the editors of the Post, in offering such a compliment to a lately defeated political opponent. We do not think much however, of the title itself, and do not approve of an increase of such distinctions. But if the Pennsylvanian supposes the democratic party is less fond of titles or distinctions, than any other parties—it has yet something to learn.

Fishermen at Home.—The Marblehead Advocate mentions that the last of the fishing fleet belonging to that place has arrived, and expresses itself as happy to understand that the fishermen generally have been successful, which must be a matter of self-congratulation to the hardy sons of the ocean. The men in Marblehead, who catch fish in summer, are principally employed in shoe-making in the winter months.

☞ The Newburyport Herald says it is rumored that Mrs. Henshaw, of Boston, whose marriage we chronicled yesterday, will preside as the lady of the White House in the administration of President Pierce, whose niece she is.

Boston Election.—At 1 o'clock P. M. yesterday, the vote for Mayor was, Seaver 2500; J. V. C. Smith 1600; J. Smith 300.—Seaver is undoubtedly elected.

Monument to Wellington.—In England, a subscription has been opened for defraying the expense of a Memorial of the Duke of Wellington, of a National character, to which the people of the whole Kingdom may contribute. The monument is not to be a useless block, or image; but it is proposed to found in honor of him a school or college for the gratuitous education of orphan children. The subscription opened is on the condition that it shall be void unless the sum of £100,000 shall be subscribed. It is headed by a subscription of £1000 by the Queen, and £500 by Prince Albert, and there are besides seven names with £500 each, and over £10,000 subscribed by about fifty individuals. There is little or no doubt the object will be attained.

Not a Counterfeit,—The December Bank Note Detectors mentions a new counterfeit on the Mechanic's Bank, South Boston. They describe it as a Two Dollar bill with a vignette of a blacksmith at his anvil, and on the right end a young girl with pliated hair. We are informed that so far as the knowledge of the Bank itself and that of the Suffolk Bank extends, there is no such counterfeit. The description given is an exact one of the genuine twos, and it is believed there are no counterfeits on the Mechanics' bank.—We give the explanation, as it may prevent much annoyance and inconvenience by the refusal of genuine bills supposed to be counterfeits.—Boston Trav.

A Little Fast.—It seems after all that the Police Court did not definitely presume to decide upon the constitutionality of the Liquor Law. Judge Rogers is now reported to have said that the Court had doubts of its constitutionality, but that it must be decided by the Supreme Court.—Boston Bee.

Dennis Tracy, of Bensonville, Northampton, an Irishman, is supposed to have been murdered on Saturday night last, at Kingsley's Mills, in Westhampton. The house where the murder is supposed to have been committed, is represented to have been a vile place—and the murder is the result of drunkenness.

Sentences in Boston.—In the Municipal Court on Saturday, Lawrence Grace, for violating the liquor law, $100 and costs. John McLaughlin, noted for his daring exploits in robberies and escapes, convicted on sundry indictments, was sentenced two years in State Prison, with hard labor, and six months in the House of Correction.

Europe at Peace.—The pacific state and prospect of the continent have led to an advance of about a half per cent. in the English funds, 3 per cent. consols being quoted on the 26th at 101 1-8 to 1-4.

LOCAL.

To New Subscribers.—For $3, we will give every person who may subscribe between this time and the first of January, a receipt from the time of subscribing (and paying) to Jan. 1st, 1854.

☞ After January 1st, '53, the Chronicle will not be for sale by the carriers. Persons wishing it left regularly at their residence or place of business, are respectfully invited to leave their names at the office or with the carriers.

RAILROAD PROTECTOR.

We have seen the model of a Protector for Railroad Bridges and Embankments, designed by Dr. Samuel Baker, of this city, which is simple, and must be effectual in any case where it should be applied. It is a strongly braced Rail of peculiar construction, to be built on each side of the track. A model has been sent to Concord for the inspection of our State Legislature and Executive power; with a letter, to which the following from Gov. Martin is an answer:

Concord, Dec. 9, 1852.

My Dear Sir:

I have examined your model Protector, designed for Railroad Bridges and Embankments, agreeably to your request, and so far as I am capable of judging, think it a good invention for the purpose intended; it certainly promises the most of anything of the kind, that has been presented to me, or that has suggested itself to my mind.

Security in travelling by steam power has become a great desideratum with the public, and it is the duty of the mechanician, as well as the railroad manager and legislator, to exert his inventive powers to render safe, what is now considered at least, as comparatively unsafe.

Your model, as you desired, has been placed in such position as to be examined by all the members of the Legislature who desire to do do so.

Most respectfully yours,
NOAH MARTIN.

To Samuel Baker, Esq.

☞ The Superior Court commences its session at Concord to-day. The first two days of the term will be devoted to the Rockingham Co. docket.

☞ The "Bachelor Club" of Dover, are to give their first assembly on Thursday evening next at the Town Hall. From an acquaintance with the members of the Club, we guarantee a good time. Music by Fettell's Quadrille Band.

The Lyceum.—Mr. Hoyt of Exeter, who is to lecture in the Cameneum this evening, is the gentleman who writes the School Reports of the town of Exeter, so full of genuine humor and equally genuine bon hommie. If we do not hear a pleasant lecture from him, we shall be greatly disappointed.

Robbers in Boston.—Some rogues made an unsuccessful attempt to rob the North Bank in the Merchants' Exchange building, during Saturday night. They gained an entrance into the bank, and after an unsuccessful effort to blow up the lock of one of the safes, they cut it out; but the safe proved to be the one in which the books are kept, thereby frustrating a most daring robbery.

On the same night, the entlery and surgical instrument establishment of Philip Kegler, No. 128 Washington street, was broken into and robbed of articles valued at about $500. The rogues took the precaution to poison a large watch dog which was kept in the establishment. They entered the place, by forcing the lock. One of the watchmen, previous to the discovery of the robbery, saw two men enter Theatre Alley with a carpet bag and secrete it, and after they had departed he took the bag and hid it in another place, obtained assistance, and awaited the return of the rogues. They soon returned, and much to their surprise, found several watchmen waiting to receive them. One was arrested without any trouble, but the other being armed with a dirk made bold resistance and was arrested only after a long chase—subsequently all the property which was stolen from Mr. Kegler's store, was found in the possession of the rogues and in this carpet bag. Among the articles found on the person of one was a beautiful and highly finished knife with fifty two blades. They gave their names as Geo. H. Harris and John Barton, and are believed to be Englishmen. They were committed to jail. From some circumstances it is thought that this robbery was accomplished by the same rogues who undertook that of the North Bank.

Casualty.—Last week, as Mr. John Cunningham of this city, was testing a whaling gun on Central wharf, the brass cap which covers the hammer was blown off in discharging the gun, breaking his right arm at the elbow joint and badly fracturing his forehead. The gun had been overcharged with powder.—New Bedford Mercury.

Some of the fire rowdies in Philadelphia, on Friday, destroyed the Fairmont hose carriage and seven hundred feet of hose.

Dr. James Walker, now professor of moral philosophy, has been chosen president of Harvard University, in place of Mr. Sparks, whose resignation takes place at the end of the present academic year.

Dr. Levi Folsom, charged with adultery at New Bedford, has absconded, forfeiting his bonds for $1000.

Further investigation into the cause of the death of Mr. Tripp at New Bedford, leaves no donbt that his death was accidental. His money and papers were found on his person. The verdict of "robbery and murder," by the coroner's jury, was rendered without proper investigation.

The navy yard at Brooklyn, N. Y., wears a very lively appearance. There are eight large government war vessels moored there, (exclusive of the receiving ship North Carolina) all of which are fitting out for sea with the utmost despatch.

The ship carpenters of Bath, Me., who have been getting $1 50 a day, have resolved to demand $1 75.

CALIFORNIA ITEMS.

The steamer Illinois, has arrived at New York from Aspinwall,bringing 540 passengers, and $2,100,046 on freight, with $400,090 in the hands of her passengers. Also the California mails to the 16th November. The Illinois brings the passengers from San Francisco per Golden Gate.

The accounts of the fire at Sacramento and loss of over ten millions are confirmed. Contributions were opened to relieve the sufferers in the principal towns. San Francisco raised in ten days $30,000. The loss at Marysville is estimated at $100,000, and a small amount in goods.

Eight or ten lives had been lost by the Sacramento fire. Sixteen hundred buildings had been burnt. The wind was blowing a gale at the time, and the fire spread with fearful rapidity. Every public building in the city except the Court House was burnt. The fire at San Francisco was on the evening of the 14th.

There had been a fire in the Grain Falls, in the Rapu valley, doing damage to the amount of $75,000, and another among the farmers of Calveras county. Fires had occurred at Stockton and Sonora under suspicious circumstances.

At Calveras, among the ranches, six or eight hundred tons of hay had been destroyed. Mr. Olds lost his house and entire stock. Among the names of the persons killed at the Sacramento fire we find those of James Dennis, stage driver, Lyon Woodworth, D. O Brigham. Another account says Charles Brigham, who was burnt in a currier's store. His remains were afterwards found and identified. The Rev. Mr. Stanford's church [Methodist] was burnt, but $8,000 has already been subscribed for the purpose of rebuilding it. Several patients in the State Hospital were burnt.

The number of votes polled during the presidential election was over 70,000. The democratic majority was 5000. The entire Democratic State ticket was chosen, including Messrs. McDonough and Latham for Congress. In the Legislature the Democrats have 50 out of 27 Senators, and upwards of two thirds of the Assembly.

The rainy season had set in, and copious showers had fallen throughout the State.—The rivers were rising, and the miners were successfully employed in washing out their ore. The dry diggings were fully supplied with water [!] and were expected to yield a rich harvest.

The ship John N. Gooler had sailed for China with 500 Chinese passengers, each with a little fortune.

The price of gold at the mines had advanced to $17 25.

Letters have been recieved from Panama from Maj. Dass, who has been prospecting the mining regions of Chepo. He reports the existence of gold in abundance in every river and stream. He also found great quantities of cinnabar, peruvian bark, &c.

The Panama Star of the 27th Nov. states on what it deems reliable authority, that Santa Anna was about to sail for Carthagena fm. New Grenada, his present residence for Mexico, to place himself at the head of the revolutionists of that ill fated country.

HOMICIDE.—New York, Dec. 13.—On Saturday last, a colored man named Melix was attacked and beaten by a party of rowdies in Water street, when, in self-defence, he drew a sheath knife and stabbed one of his assailants so fatally that he died almost immediately afterwards. Melix is attached to the fishing schooner Louisa, and belongs to Plymouth, Mass., where his family resides. He has been arrested to await the result of the Coroner's inquest.

NEW RAILROAD ENTERPRISE.—A project is on foot, and is pressed with great earnestness by New York capitalists, as well as by many enterprising citizens in Ohio, to construct a line of railway from Orleans, New York, through Pennsylvania and Ohio, to connect with lines leading to Indiana and to Cincinnati, at some suitable point in Ohio. This track to connect with the New York and Erie Road at Orleans, and to be a six foot track, so as to open an unbroken wide gauge from New York to Cincinnati. The proposed line passes down the valley of the Alleghany, say to Warren, Pa., thence into Ohio by Warren and Ravenna, and on to intersect the Pennsylvania and Ohio road at Wooster or Mansfield, branching southwest to Cincinnati.

The ship Lady Suffolk, the captain and mate of which have been arrested at Havana, but at whose instigation does not seem to be ascertained, was built at Baltimore. She is a clipper ship, 520 tons, 132 feet long on the deck. She left New York on the 3d of November and arrived at Mariel on the 15th; sailed thence for Bahia Honda on the 19th, where two schooners arrived from Havana, bringing her slavery equipments. Her Spanish crew consisted of 70 men, and she had 16 guns of 15 lbs calibre, and one long Tom, 150 stands of small arms and a large quantity of cutlasses and pistols. Her commander, Eugenio Viman, is well known for the slaughter which he committed upon an English boat's crew, two or three years since. The Lady Suffolk, it is said, was not built for these Spaniards, but sold to them for $28,000. —Newburyport Herald.

INTERESTING SUIT.—Messrs Spaulding & Rogers have commenced a suit at Baton Rouge, against the corporation of that place, for illegal seizure and the detention of the Floating Palace for exhibiting without a license. They refuse to give security to await the result, and have abandoned the boat to the authorities, by advice of counsel, and will institute a new suit, every day, while the detention continues. They rely upon the opinion of the Judges of the United States Supreme Court, of most of the State Judges, of the Attorney General, and prominent legal gentlemen of the West, who contend that the customary license of the Floating Palace exempts her from taxation for state and municipial licenses on the navigable waters of the United States.

AGAINST FIRE AND LIGHTNING.
PATENT METALLIC
LADDER AND CONDUCTOR.

THIS new and important invention is one that should receive the attention of every person who owns a building, or who is interested in that which presents a "permanent safeguard" against lightning, and at the same time a light, strong and ornamental Ladder, which will securely warrant the inmates of any house the ready means of escape in case of fire.

The above are manufactured by Messrs. Washburn, Holland & Co. of Worcester, Mass., and have received the strongest testimonials of approval from many scientific and practical men. A moment's examination of the Metallic Ladder is sufficient to convince any person of its great utility.

☞ Price per foot, 20 cents; including Lightning Rods and Points of the most approved material.

A NEW RIFLE.—The Boston Post speaks in favorable terms of Col. Porter's newly invented rifle and pistol, which after several years of labor he has succeeded in bringing to perfection, and which are now manufactured at Taunton. It is a light, simple and beautiful gun, and as a revolver may be discharged with accuracy and safety twenty-seven times in a minute, whilst as a self-loader it may be discharged forty times in a minute. It shoots with great force, and is so simple in the machinery of its lock that it may be safely used by any person, and is easily kept in order. The qualities here attributed to this weapon have been fully tested, and its success seems to be placed beyond doubt. The Post adds that government will soon be offered the opportunity of adopting and using this gun, and thinks that the good sense of Congress will induce them promptly to secure the right of manufacturing it for the army and navy.

AN INCIDENT.—A gentleman of this city, desiring, like a good patriot, to serve his country in a lucrative citation under the President that is to be, wrote to a friend in the Northern part of the State to secure his influence to get him the office. Two days after mailing his letter he received a similar missive from his friend mailed the same day and asking his influence for the same office.—Milwaukie News.

"GIRLS, COME OUT WEST!"—So writes Mr. Allen Harper, from Andover, Henry County, Illinois, to the New York Tribune.—He says that for young women who are not afraid to work, there is a first-rate chance in that region. If they desire to become farmers', mechanics', or tradesmen's wives, he says their wishes can be accomplished, and if they prefer to remain single, they can earn at housework or sewing $1.50 to $2 per week, and receive the best of treatment.

THE ROGER WILLIAMS COOKING STOVE.

FOR COAL OR WOOD.

THE attention of all in want of a COOK STOVE is respectfully solicited to a consideration of the merits of this most beautifully modeled pattern; equally adapted for coal or wood, and warranted to operate successfully with either,—which is now offered to the public as the

Most Complete and Efficient

Cooking apparatus ever before introduced in this vicinity. It is an elegant model, with fine smooth Providence castings, fitted together in the most substantial manner. The oven, (by far the most important part of a cooking stove) is of great oil capacity, and in regard to its operation, is unsurpassed by that of any other stove now in the market, it being lined with fire-brick to retain and equalize the heat, and provided with valves for the escape of steam, &c. arising from the roasting of meats—rendering it in this respect superior to the old fashioned but universally admired Tin Kitchen.
The broiling apparatus is constructed on an entirely new and original plan, and will not fail to recommend itself at the first glance, as no smoke or gas arising from that culinary process can escape into the room. The sliding hearth is an improvement not to be found in any other stove.
The popularity of this over all other stoves now in the market, may be inferred from the fact that since its first introduction the last season, over THREE THOUSAND have been put into successful operation in New England and New York City.
Every stove is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction to the purchaser or the money refunded.
Each stove is warranted not to crack for twelve months from date of purchase. It is believed that this stove combines all the improvements that skill can invent, and is by far the most perfect cooking stove ever sold in Portsmouth, and though its price is higher than any other stove offered in this market of late, it is without question the cheapest in the end. All intending to purchase are respectfully invited to give this an examination before purchasing elsewhere.
Also, a variety of cheap Cook, Parlor, and Office Stoves, which are offered low.

WHAT-CHEER STOVE.

THE WHAT-CHEER COAL COOKING STOVE, now offered for sale by the subscribers, is acknowledged by all who have examined it to be the best and most economical Coal Stove ever offered to the public.
The castings are heavy, smooth, and very handsome. The Broiling apparatus is a great improvement over all other Stoves, being constructed in such a manner as to prevent the steam from escaping into the room when cooking.
All persons wishing to purchase a COAL COOKING STOVE, are respectfully requested to call and examine the same. Every Stove warranted to work well, or no sale.
We have also a large assortment of COOKING, PARLOR and STORE STOVES, &c.—for sale cheap for Cash at our Store,
Corner of State and Water streets.

THE IMPROVED
EMPIRE STATE STOVE.

THIS justly celebrated COOKING STOVE having been improved in every way it could be to make its operations more complete, and its plates beautifully ornamented—to expense, time or trouble having been spared to make this the most complete Cooking Stove ever brought before the public—the subscriber feels assured in warranting the IMPROVED EMPIRE STATE superior to any stove in the market, as hundreds can testify who have used them for the past year.
This Stove has a very LARGE OVEN, which makes it desirable on account of doing more cooking with the same amount of fuel than can be done in any other stove. The flues are large, which ensures a good draft in all cases. The castings are very heavy and smooth, and fit together, that one next the fire are extra thick, making it very durable. It is adapted to the use of either coal or wood, and we warrant them to operate as well with one as the other. We furnish them with the very best apparatus; and, altogether, it is the MOST DURABLE, ECONOMICAL and CONVENIENT COOKING STOVE ever made—complete in every respect. We ask the attention of all persons intending to purchase a new, or exchange their old stove, to an examination of the Improved Empire State.
We have also on hand a variety of other Cooking Stoves, called the "Banner," "Belle of the States," "King of the States," "Bay State," "Angelo Saxon," "Pearl of Troy," &c.; with a large lot of PARLOR STOVES, such as the Revere Air-Tight, Star, Revere Parlor Cook, Lady Franklin, for Wood or Coal; Shop, Office and Air-Tight Stoves, of different sizes and prices for either wood or coal.
Also an extensive assortment of HOUSEKEEPING GOODS; Wooden, Willow, Glass, Britannia, Japan, Tin, Hard, Enamelled and Brass Ware; Copper, Cast Iron, and Chain Pumps; Window-Shads, Table Oil-cloths, &c.
All the above goods will be sold lower than can be bought elsewhere in this vicinity.

At New London, the following inscription is found on a grave stone. The records of ancient Rome or Greece do not exhibit a nobler instance of patriotism :

"On the 30th of October, 1782, 4000 English fell upon this town with fire and sword; 700 Americans defended the fort for a whole day, but in the evening about 4 o'clock, the commander of the besieged delivered up his sword to an Englishman, who immediately stabbed him. All his comrades were put to the sword. A line of powder was then laid from the magazine to the sea, there to be lighted and blow the fortress into air. William Hotman, who lay not far distant, with three strokes of the bayonet in his body, behind it said to one of his wounded friends who was still alive—'We will endeavor to crawl to this line, and thus will we completely wet the powder with blood, and with the life that still remains in us, save the fort and magazine, and perhaps a few of our comrades who are only wounded!' He alone had strength enough to accomplish this noble design. In his 30th year, he died on the powder which he overflowed with his own blood. His friends and seven of his wounded companions by that means had their lives preserved."

After this narrative are the following words in large capitals :

"Here rests William Hotman."

THE REWARD OF MERIT.—Died, at Fort McHenry, Baltimore, on the 3d inst., musician Henry Williams, of Light Company A., Second Artillery. He went out to Corpus Christi with Duncan's battery, in 1846, and served in it throughout the entire war. He was engaged in the battles of Palo Alto and Resaca de la Palma, the sieges of Monterey and Vera Cruz, the battles of Cerro Gordo, San Antonio, and Churubusco, the storming of Chapultepec and the Garita of San Cosmo. For his good conduct and gallantry in these actions he received the highest reward a soldier can receive—a certificate of merit from the President of the United States.

So say the papers—but it strikes us that something more substantial might have been added in the shape of promotion or increase of pay,—and that if he leaves a widow or children, a pension or gratuity, in land or money, might not go amiss.

SHOEMAKING BY MACHINERY.—A Bridgewater correspondent of the Plymouth Memorial gives the following account of the progress of stitching by machinery :

Last week we saw in operation what we never happened to meet with before—a sewing machine. The one we saw has lately been brought into the place, and is used for stitching shoes. We understand that these machines are becoming quite common, one shoe establishment in Abington making use of no less than six. It is said that an operator, with the machine, will stitch in a day more than ten times the amount usually accomplished by a "stitcher," and that the cost is very materially reduced. The machine did the work very neatly, and so far as we see very thoroughly.

MISSIONARY ADVOCATE, for December, says Chinese gentlemen never like to walk in the street; they prefer to take the sedan chair of bamboo covered with cloth, with windows. Two coolies will carry one ten miles in a day for about half a dollar. A Chinese gentleman must have a servant to carry his pipe. In the northern part of the empire, a wheelbarrow is used for travelling. The diameter of the wheel is large, and the gentleman and lady balance by sitting on opposite sides.

COLORS AND FASHIONS.—Violet is a hue now become very fashionable. It is the color of Napoleon, and therefore popular in France; while in England it will be worn in token of mourning for the Duke of Wellington.

Seventy three bushels of acorns have been shipped to Belgium and Holland, from Bradford, Pa., with a view to introducing the oak into those countries.

A ROSE IN BLOOM IN DECEMBER.—As an illustration of the remarkable mildness of the season, we are informed that Mr. E. N. Moore has a blush rose bush in his garden, near Porter's in Cambridge, which has been during the summer and now is wholly unprotected against the frost, and which is in full leaf, as green as in June. This morning a bud which it bore burst open, and a beautiful, healthy rose now attracts the attention of passers by.—Boston Journal.

AMERICAN SHANGHAES FOR ENGLAND.—The New York Tribune of Monday says that a coop of four splendid gray Shanghae fowls may be seen at Adams & Co.'s express office in that city, destined for England. They were bred by G. P. Burnham, Esq., of Melrose, Mass., and are sold to Lord Northby, of Aldborough, Suffolk county, England, for £60 sterling, or $300. They are very large, and their form and plumage are beautiful.

LEMMON.—A gentleman, whose letter is published in the New Orleans Picayune, offers Mr. Lemmon, whose slaves were made free in New York recently, as much land in Texas as he may require for farming and stock raising, or the culture of cotton, for a permanent home. He says he has 50,000 acres within the counties of Galveston, Walker, Trinity, and Rusk, and Mr. Lemmon is welcome to make such a selection as he pleases.

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.
PORTSMOUTH:
WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 15, 1852.

CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICTS.

The N. H. Daily Patriot states that there is a bill before the Legislature, dividing the State into three districts for the election of members of Congress, as follows:—

The first district is to be composed of the counties of Strafford, Belknap, Carroll and Rockingham, excepting the towns of Auburn, Derry, Londonderry, Salem and Windham.

The second district is to be composed of the counties of Hillsborough and Merrimack, and the towns above named.

The third district is to embrace the other four counties—Cheshire, Sullivan, Grafton and Coos.

The districts thus proposed are very nearly equal in population—far more so than the old districts, and more so than is usually the case in most States. Taking the census of 1850, the population of the several districts is as follows: The first will contain 109,696 inhabitants; the second 104,590, and the third 103,713.

The political complexion of these districts at the last annual election, was as follows: First district—Democratic vote, 10,742; whig, 7,228; abolition and scattering, 2,964; Democratic majority, 550. Second district—Democratic, 9,724; whig, 6,195; abolition and scattering, 3,887; majority against the Democrats, 358. Third district—Democratic 10,291; whig, 6,427; abolition and scattering, 2,903; Democratic majority, 963.

We learn that the bill is likely to pass in its present form. It would be difficult if not impossible to make a more equal division of the State without dividing counties—which some folks think should be avoided as much as possible; and we see not how the opponents of the Democracy can complain of this division on political grounds, for if they maintain the ground they held at the last election, they can carry one of the three districts, by a union of their forces.

No one we think will complain of the arrangement. It seems to be one of the most natural and equal that could be devised.

WHY IS SILVER COIN SCARCE?

The reason for this troublesome fact is found in a great demand for silver in India, as will be seen clearly stated in the annexed paragraph from the London News:

"As we stated would be the case, in the Daily News of Friday, the price of silver has again experienced an extraordinary advance. The supplies brought in by the Magdalena were sold to-day at 5s. 1-2d per ounce for dollars, and 5s. 1 7-8d. per ounce standard for bar silver. The total advance represented by these figures on the prices realized at the last sale is no less than 3-4d per ounce.

This sudden rise, which is unprecedented within the recollection of the brokers, is almost entirely caused by the strength of the demand for India, to which quarter almost the whole of these supplies is going. We can also state that some considerable parcels of French 5 franc pieces have lately been sold at 5s 1-2d per ounce, a very high price for this article, yet at this rate the operation yields only a very trifling profit. From this fact it will readily be seen that the operation of buying French 5f. pieces for transmission to India is a very extraordinary circumstance, and consequently worthy of especial notice. As surprise is frequently expressed at this extraordinary upward movement of the price of silver, and the causes of it are much canvassed, it may be as well to mention that the movement is perfectly in the due course of trade, and is chiefly caused by the demand for coin for circulation in our vast India possessions, on its arrival in which the metal is duly melted down and coined into rupees of the East India Company.

Having thus got a glimpse of the cause for the evil, it becomes us to look round for a remedy. Additional coinage is one remedy—but as our government has fixed the relative standards of gold and silver, silver dollars and fine silver change will never stay long with us.

Instead of silver dollars we can and do use paper, viz. bank notes, and they answer the purpose very well.

But paper change would not be so popular, though it is and will be used in some places. Our three cent piece is a mixed coin of silver and copper; and this mixture will keep the three cent pieces at home. Why might not our mint coin a six and a twelve cent piece of double and quadruple the size of the threes, and of the same kind of metal? And why will not government give us a small cent, as big as our present half cent?

In a former scarcity, some banks issued bills for $1.25 and $1.50. Many years ago, 50 cent and 75 cent bills were common in New Hampshire, and were found very convenient.

The things that have been done may be done again. We know there is a law in this State against issuing change bills or fractional bills—but that law might be repealed in a moment—and it would be, or suspended, or trampled on, if the legislature wished to go to Boston or elsewhere.

If our Banks cannot supply this want, other banks will—and if change remains as scarce as it is now, till Spring, we shall see change bills among us from other States.

CITY ELECTIONS.—The municipal elections in the cities of Lowell, Newburyport and Worcester, Mass., all resulted in no choice of Mayor. In Lowell the Whig candidate lacked four votes.

Thirty-Second Congress—Second Session

WASHINGTON, DEC. 13.

SENATE.

Messrs. Norris, Soule and Underwood appeared and took their seats.

The Secretary read a letter from Hon. Wm. R. King, who is ill, requesting Mr. Atchison to take the chair. Agreed to.

Mr. Chase insisted that the Senate proceed to fill vacancies in committees. Mr. Underwood moved that the Chair proceed to fill vacancies. Mr. Hale objected. The chair was finally authorized to fill vacancies.

Mr. Hale said he understood that the honorable gentleman had a list of the committees in his hand. He desired to know the names of those committees which were to be appointed. A debate ensued.

Mr. Bright, in answer to Mr. Hale, said he had a list of the committees, which he intended to submit to the Senate, and that they stood nearly the same as last year. Where there were vacancies caused by change of members, Senators of the political party having the majority had met together and named three persons on each committee of five and two on each committe of three. The list was then handed to Senator Pearce, and the Whigs named the remaining members. The Senator from New Hampshire was not on any committee, because the Democratic majority conceived that that Senator was outside of any healthy political organization.

Mr. Hale replied that he was glad to be relieved from the labors of committees, and proud of the cause given for his exclusion.

The rules were suspended, when Mr. Bright offered the list of committees, and moved that it be adopted.

Several petitions were presented, amongst others one against the employment of Chaplains by the United States.

Mr. Chase presented a resolution from the Legislature of Ohio in favor of distributing the public lands amongst the actual settlers.

The Committees of the Senate are precisely as last session except vacancies.

During the session a lady in the gallery dropped her parasol, which fell point downward upon the head of Senator Pearce, causing the blood to flow very copiously. The wound however is not serious.

HOUSE.—Mr. Wilcox introduced a resolution providing that the representatives of this government at foreign courts be instructed to urge such amendments to the existing treaties between the United States and foreign powers, as will secure the same liberty of religious worship to all Americans residing under foreign flags which is guarantied to all foreign citizens residing under the flag of our Union, and that in all treaties hereafter to be made the commissioners shall secure, if possible, a similar provision. The resolution was referred to the Committee on Foreign Affairs.

The debate referring to various parts of the President's Message, was ordered to close on Wednesday. The House went into Committee of the Whole, on the resolution of Mr. Brooks to refer so much of the Message as relates to the tariff, &c., to a special committee.

Mr. Johnson, of Georgia, was in favor of a select committee, and a reduction of the present tariff. Alluding to Cuba, he said she was a dependency of Spain, and hoped she would remain so until that government herself should relinquish the island.

Mr. Seymour of New York, gave notice of an amendment to the eighth resolution, proposing to refer the subject of rivers as well as harbors, to the Committee on Commerce.

The Committee rose without disposing of the subject before it. Adjourned.

N. H. General Court—Nov. Session, 1852.

(Abridged from the Patriot.)

On Saturday the Senate did not sit, and the House had no quorum—106 members were present. They sat an hour and a half in the morning, and two minutes and a half in the afternoon.

MONDAY, Dec. 13.

SENATE.—The Senate met at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Mr. Merrill, from the committee on incorporations, reported the bill to incorporate the N. H. Benevolent Society, with a verbal amendment, which was adopted and the bill ordered to a third reading. Adjourned.

Resolutions presented.—Mr. Hackett of Portsmouth, offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

Resolved, That the joint committee on the State House and State House Yard be requested to inquire into, and report upon, the expediency and expense of making provision for ventilating the Hall of the House of Representatives.

On motion of Mr. Bartlett, of Portsmouth, it was resolved that the select committee on the subject of a State Reform School for juvenile offenders, be instructed to inquire into the expediency of vesting the title of our public lands in trustees, who shall protect, and when proper, sell the same, and pay over the proceeds for the establishment of a State Reform School for juvenile offenders.

Mr. Bartlett made a lengthy speech in explanation of the object of the resolution, and recommending the action it involved as being calculated to further the best interest of the State in the matter to which it had reference. Mr. Hackett of Portsmouth, followed in the same strain.

Bills introduced.—Mr. Graves of Andover, in terms of previous notice, introduced a bill to incorporate the New Hampshire Homœpathic Medical Society, which was read and referred to the committee on incorporations.

Mr. J. H. Wiggins of Dover, in terms of previous notice, introduced a bill entitled "An act directing licenses to be granted to taverners and retailers, and regulating the sale of wines and spiritous liquors."

Resolution on Absenteeism.—Mr. Osgood of Milton, presented the following resolution:

Resolved, That the members of the House who have absented themselves therefrom during the whole, or a part of the present session of the Legislature, or who may hereafter, (without leave of absence) absent themselves therefrom be required to report without delay to this House satisfactory cause for their absence.

After a speech from Mr. Bartlett of Portsmouth, against the resolution—it was laid on the table by a unanimous vote.

NORTH CAROLINA.—At latest advices there had been no election of Senator in North Carolina.

TO NEW SUBSCRIBERS.—For $3, we will give every person who may subscribe between this time and the first of January, a receipt from the time of subscribing (and paying) to Jan. 1st, 1854.

☞ MR. HOYT'S LECTURE at the Cameneum, last evening, before the Portsmouth Lyceum, did not disappoint public expectation. The subject was, Some Evidences or Marks of Progress in Education." One of these was, the increase of attention to Mathematical studies; another was improved Female Education, including the employment of Female Teachers; a third, improved School Architecture; and a fourth, Music in Common Schools. With these topics, handled with the skill of a workman who needed not to be ashamed, he interested, instructed and amused his audience for nearly an hour and a half. We hope to hear him again.

☞ Among the persons injured in the late fire at Sacramento, was Mr. N. A. H. Ball, formerly of this city, while performing the duty of fireman. Mr. B., it will be recollected acquired great celebrity by his zealous efforts in behalf of sufferers by the great flood which occurred at the same place about two years ago.

MAYOR OF BOSTON.

On Monday, Benjamin Seaver, Esq. was re-elected Mayor of Boston. The vote stood Seaver 6020; Dr. Smith 5025; J. Smith, democrat, 909; scattering 30.

Total vote 11,984; Necessary to a choice 5,992; Seaver over all 56; Seaver's official majority 27.

The whole number of votes last year, when Mayor Seaver was elected at the third trial, was 7976. Necessary to a choice, 3989. Mr. Seaver had 3990, and was accordingly elected by one majority.

This year's vote, almost 12,000, is said to be the largest ever thrown there for Mayor. It must not be inferred, from the very diminutive vote of J. Smith, that the Democratic party in Boston numbers less than 1000 voters.—Large numbers of democrats who valued the liquor trade more than their party, are said to have voted for Seaver—others of them who were earnest temperance men have probably voted for Dr. Smith. It is also said that although the great mass of the whigs voted for Seaver, yet a large number of them voted for Dr. Smith.

Mayor Seaver received three hearty cheers from his supporters, after the vote was known—and answered by a speech. The Boston Chronicle was also cheered by its supporters, and responded in an editorial next day.

FIRE.—An Albany despatch of Dec. 13, says a Seminary at Richmondville was destroyed by fire this morning. When the fire broke out there were upwards of three hundred pupils in the building asleep; all escaped however. Loss estimated at $14,000. Insured.

CUBAN MAILS.—The Post Master at New York has received instructions to forward the Cuban mails as heretofore by George Law's line of steamers.

SOAP.—One of the most useful articles—has sometimes been deemed a luxury,—and it is certainly a very pleasant thing to have a chemical agent that can cleanse and restore a valuable garment which has been made vile and odious by accident. This the North American Soap Co. professes to do;—as see their advertisement by their agent, Mr. Bigelow, of Boston.

FROM HAVANA.—A Washington despatch of Monday states that official information has been received there, of the release of the crew of the Lady Suffolk, and the settlement of every difficulty with this country.

FROM TOBASCO.—The city of Tobasco, at the latest dates, was overflowed with water, which stood two or three feet deep in the custom-house; and boats navigated the streets.

MASSACHUSETTS.—The election of Members of Congress on Monday, is as follows:

To fill the vacancies in the present Congress, three whigs are chosen, viz: Fay, Sabine and Loud. For the next Congress, Scudder, Crocker, Edwards, Upham, Dickinson and Goodrich, whigs; Banks, coalition democrat; DeWitt, and Weston, coalition free soil. As pluralities elect, all the vacancies are filled.

NORFOLK COUNTY RAILROAD.—Persons who look at the reports of the Stock Market, have lately observed a rise in this stock. It is the result of two causes, viz. an increase in the present earnings of the road; and the laying out and constructing for 22 miles of road beyond Blackstone, on the air-line road toward New York. This piece of new road will bring it into the line of a large through travel.

CONGRESS.—Yesterday, both Houses took action on Mr. Webster's death. The speeches were, in the House of Representatives, Messrs. Stephens, Stanley, Chandler, and in the Senate Messrs. Davis, Seward and others.

Washington, Dec. 14.—The contract for timber of gun carriages for the army has been awarded to Fuller, Chafee & Co., of Springfield, Mass. It amounts to about $35,000.

New York, Dec. 14.—The U. S. frigate Sarranac arrived at Marahaim 12th November, after grounding on a spit of sand off St. Marcos, and getting off with a slight damage.

A VILLAIN SENTENCED.

The Portland Advertiser of yesterday, gives a brief account of the trial and sentence of Benjamin Getchell, before the court now in session in that city, convicted and sentenced to the States Prison for life, for highway robbery, with intent to kill. The assault and robbery were committed upon the person of David Moore of Poland.

Moore was in court and testified to the principal facts, which were all coroborated by many collateral facts and circumstances testified to by other witnesses. Getchell overtook him on Tukey's Bridge when he was counting his money. Moore went on his way out towards Yarmouth. Getchell overtook him five or six miles out, and entered into conversation, saying he was going the same way, and proposed they should keep company. Very soon he hauled out a bottle and urged him to drink. Moore declined, and Getchell then thrust the bottle into one of Moore's side pockets, saying that he might yet want to drink.. Just before coming to a thick wood, Getchell got over the fence under pretence of getting some apples, and returned with a stake ostensibly for a cane. They proceeded a short distance further, when Getchell struck Moore a heavy blow over the head and felled him to the ground. He then robbed him of his money, struck him another blow over the head, and then dragged him into the bushes, where, the bushes being so thick that he could not strike him, he punched him in the face and eyes with the ragged end of the club, and after jabbing him shockingly with the broken stake, left him for dead—exclaiming, "—— you, lay there, you are dead now."

Moore left alone, managed to crawl to the house of Mr. Henry Sturdivant, of Cumberland, where he was cared for.

The money of which Getchell robbed Moore consisted of two twenty dollar gold pieces; and two such pieces were traced to Getchell which he passed immediately after the robbery.

The small bottle which Getchell thrust into Moore's pocket, and from which he tried to persuade Moore to drink, was found in his pocket and produced in court, together with a small phial of prussic acid which was taken from Getchell at the time of his arrest. The bottle taken from Moore, half full of liquor, had a strong smell of the peach blossom, and of bitter almonds, so characteristic of prussic acid. The contents have not been annalyzed, but it is inferred that the liquor had been drugged with prussic acid, and that if Moore had partaken of it, no blow would have been necessary to have enabled Getchell to have committed the robbery.

Getchell had no counsel, and offered no evidence. The Jury returned a verdict of guilty without leaving their seats, and Judge Wells forthwith sentenced him to the State Prison for life.

Getchell is evidently a cold, hardened villain. The Advertiser hopes he will be allowed to serve out his sentence.

LOSS OF A KENNEBEC WHALER.—A very beautiful clipper-built whaler, rigged as a schooner, was built in Hallowell, or rather in Chelsea, opposite steamboat wharf in Hallowell, a couple of years ago, by Capt. Job Pierce of that town and others, for the purpose of making a whaling voyage in the Atlantic ocean between America and Africa. She was commanded by Capt. Pierce himself, a most excellent man and officer, who had then just returned from a five years whaling cruise as commander of a New Bedford ship in the Pacific; he took with him several of his neighbors, amongst whom was a son of his brother Elbridge G. Pierce of Farmingdale, Me., Charles C. Pierce, as carpenter; a son of the Editor's brother, viz. William Drew of Chelsea, a boy about 16 years old; William F. Underwood of Hallowell, Albert Randall of Vassalboro, and several others of Kennebec origin.

She had obtained a cargo of oil and was on her way home, when she was fallen in with a little this side of Bermuda on the 10th of October, by the Bremen bark Anna, bottom up, and with no signs of human life remaining. Doubtless the "Lively"—for that was her name,—was capsized in a gale of wind that occurred two days before, and there can be but little doubt that all on board perished, not one being left to tell the tale! This is sad tidings to this neighborhood, and brings severe affliction at home to many mourning families.—Augusta Banner.

BLOODSHED IN THE SENATE.—On Monday an incident occurred in the Senate rather out of the ordinary nature of business. A lady in the gallery, it seems, dropped her parasol, accidentally no doubt, which fell, point downwards, upon the devoted head of Senator Pearce, of Maryland, causing the blood to flow most copiously. The Senator was not seriously injured, and remarked that he had a few more "drops" always at the service of the ladies and his country. Perhaps he meant to be facetious.—Boston Mail.

Probably he did—but a man who is not a wit but tries to be witty, appears like an elephant trying to dance.

ARKANSAS.—The Arkansas Senate has passed the Homestead Bill, and a bill making the Supreme Judge, Secretary of State, and other general officers, elective by the people.

HOUSE AND LIFE PROTECTORS
AGAINST FIRE AND LIGHTNING.
PATENT METALLIC
LADDER AND CONDUCTOR.

THIS new and important invention is one that should receive the attention of every person who owns a building, or who is interested in that which presents a "permanent safeguard" against lightning, and at the same time a light, strong and ornamental Ladder, which will securely warrant the inmates of any house the ready means of escape in case of fire.

The above are manufactured by Messrs. Washburn, Holland & Co. of Worcester, Mass., and have received the strongest testimonials of approval from many scientific and practical men. A moment's examination of the Metallic Ladder is sufficient to convince any person of its great utility.

☞ Price per foot, 20 cents; including Lightning Rods and Points of the most approved material.

PATENTS.

American and Foreign Office.
AGENCY FOR BUSINESS
With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,
No. 32 State Street, Boston.

IN 1849 the subscriber was appointed Agent of the United States Patent Office, in accordance with the 10th section of the Act of 1837.

Having relinquished the agency for the transmission of models, and adopting a more expeditious mode of sending them to the Patent Office, whereby a Patent can be procured several weeks sooner, he continues to forward them, as before, free of expense, and to prepare Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all the necessary Papers and Drawings for Patents, and to render advice on legal and scientific matters respecting the same. Patents secured in Europe.

The subscriber aims to present to inventors superior facilities for obtaining patents; and is now prepared to make Specifications and Drawings cheaper by ten to twenty per cent. than those of other agencies. They can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skillful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"PATENT OFFICE, ——.

"R. H. EDDY, Esq., Boston, Mass.

"SIR:—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any other agent I am very respectfully,

Yours, &c. THOMAS EWBANK,
Commissioner of Patents."

Boston, Dec. 7, 1852. eodly

There is a good story told of Jarvis the painter. Starting out one day with two or three companions, for a spree, the very observing eye of the painter was attracted by some boys actively engaged at play, and particularly by one of those geniuses "born to rule," who was leading in their evolutions. "Come here, my man," cried Jarvis,—"what is your name." "My name is John, and I am not your man," quickly answered the boy. "John? why, that is my name," said Jarvis; "what is your other name?" "Wesely, John Wesley?" "That is my name too—any more names? the more the merrier." "Jarvis," said the boy. "Jarvis?—John Wesely Jarvis?—why, who was your father?" was the earnest enquiry.—"He's Jarvis the painter, and mother says he's a very bad man, too."

SPICY.—Last week a gentleman who lately returned from Europe was talking with an old man who resides in one of the towns of Belknap County, about sailing round the world. The old man said that the "sailing round would be easy enough, but the worst of it would be the turnation up-hill work of coming back!"—Manchester Mirror.

The New Brunswicker gives an account of the burning of a house at Mahone Bay, in which two children, the one 3 and the other 12 years old, sons of Mr. Philip Ernest, were burnt to death. The parents were at work some distance from home at the time. The eldest boy succeeded in saving a babe in the bed, and rushed back into the burning building to save another brother, when the roof fell in and covered both beneath the burning ruins. Every thing in the house was lost.

THE ROGER WILLIAMS COOKING STOVE.

FOR COAL OR WOOD.

THE attention of all in want of a COOK STOVE is respectfully solicited to a consideration of the merits of this most beautifully modeled pattern; equally perfect for coal or wood, and warranted to operate successfully with either,—which is now offered to the public as the

Most Complete and Efficient

Cooking apparatus ever before introduced in this vicinity. It is an elegant model, with fine smooth Providence castings, fitted together in the most substantial manner. The oven, (by far the most important part of a cooking stove,) in point of capacity, and in regard to its operation, is unsurpassed by that of any other stove now in the market, it being lined with fire-brick to retain and equalize the heat, and provided with valves for the escape of steam, &c. arising from the roasting of meats—rendering it in this respect superior to the old fashioned but universally admired Tin Kitchen.
The broiling apparatus is constructed on an entirely new and original plan, and will not fail to recommend itself at the first glance, by no smoke or gas arising from that culinary process can escape into the room. The sliding hearth is an improvement not to be found in any other stove.
The popularity of this over all other stoves now in the market, may be inferred from the fact that since its first introduction the last season, over THREE THOUSAND have been put into successful operation in New England and New York City.
Every stove is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, to the purchaser or the money refunded.
Each stove is warranted not to crack for twelve months from date of purchase. It is believed that this stove combines all the improvements that skill can invent, and is by far the most perfect cooking stove ever sold in Portsmouth. And though its price is higher than any other stove offered in this market of late, it is without question the cheapest in the end. All intending to purchase are respectfully invited to give this an examination before purchasing elsewhere.
Also, a variety of cheap Cook, Parlor, and Office Stoves, which are offered low.

n23 Daniel st, Sign of the big Coffee Pot.

STANLEY'S Imperial AIR-TIGHT COAL BURNER.

THE above cut represents the most beautiful, durable and economical
STORE, CHURCH OR HALL STOVE
extant. We sold a number of these stoves last season, and they gave perfect satisfaction.

WHAT-CHEER STOVE.

THE WHAT-CHEER COAL COOKING STOVE, now offered for sale by the subscribers, is acknowledged by all who have examined it to be the best and most economical Coal Stove ever offered to the public.
The castings are heavy, smooth, and very handsome. The Broiling apparatus is a great improvement over all other Stoves, being constructed in such a manner as to prevent the steam from escaping into the room when cooking.
All persons wishing to purchase a COAL COOKING STOVE, are respectfully requested to call and examine the same. Every Stove warranted to work well, or no sale.
We have also a large assortment of COOKING, PARLOR and STORE STOVES, &c.—for sale cheap for Cash at our Store,
Corner of State and Water streets,

THE IMPROVED
EMPIRE STATE STOVE.

THIS justly celebrated COOKING STOVE having been improved in every way it could be to make its operations more complete, and its plates beautifully ornamented, so that no smoke, lime or trouble having been spared to make this the most complete Cooking Stove ever brought before the public—the subscriber feels assured in warranting the IMPROVED EMPIRE STATE to be superior to any stove in the market, as hundreds can testify who have used them for the past year.
This Stove has a very LARGE OVEN, which makes it desirable on account of doing more cooking with the same amount of fuel than can be done in any other stove. The flues are large, which ensures a good draft in all cases. The castings are very heavy and smooth, and those parts that come next the fire are extra thick, making it very durable. It is adapted to the use of either coal or wood, and we warrant them to operate as well with one as the other. We furnish them with the very best apparatus; and altogether, it is the MOST DURABLE, ECONOMICAL and CONVENIENT COOKING STOVE ever made—complete in every respect. We ask the attention of all persons intending to purchase a new, or exchange their old stove, to an examination of the Improved Empire State.
We have also on hand a variety of other Cooking Stoves, called the "Banner," "Belle of the States," "King of the States," "Bay State," "Anglo Saxon," "Pearl of Troy," &c.; with a large lot of PARLOR STOVES, such as the Revere Air-Tight, Star, Revere Parlor Cook, Lady Franklin, for Wood or Coal; Shop, Office and Air-Tight Stoves, of different sizes and prices for either wood or coal.
Also an extensive assortment of HOUSEKEEPING GOODS; Wooden, Willow, Glass, Britannia, Japan, Tin, Hard, Enamel, and Brass Ware; Copper, Cast Iron, and Chain Pumps; Window-Shads, Table Oil-cloths, &c.
All the above goods will be sold lower than can be bought elsewhere in this vicinity.

A GRAND RAILROAD.

The Newburyport Herald contains the following interesting account of the Illinois Central Railroad.

It is stated that less than a dozen go-ahead men, mostly from New England and New York, have in this work become possessed of a first class railroad, 670 miles long, and worth at least $40,000,000, without the outlay of one cent. The history of this road in brief, is as follows:—

The State of Illinois in 1830, commenced this work, when it had a population of only 40,000 small farmers. The State expended on the work $3,500,000 and was them compelled to abandon it and fail. In 1850, the United States granted equal to 2 672,000 acres of land within fifteen miles of the route of the road, to aid in its construction. The dozen gentlemen alluded to stepped forward and proposed to the State to take these lands and build the road with it. The State accepted the offer, and passed an act, Feb. 1851, incorporating the same gentlemen, and endowing them with the 2,672,000 acres, and, in addition, all the old property and remains of the old Central road.

The charter is perpetual, being a mere contract between the State and the company. In consideration of the lands, the company is to put the road in operation. After that it pays the State 7 per cent. per annum on the gross income, in lieu of taxes, forever. The State has then no control over the company, and any dispute between them must be settled in the United States Courts. Fifty miles of this road are nearly ready for the rails, and as soon as the cars run on these fifty miles, the company can proceed to sell its lands. Now the lands are selected in alternate six mile sections, the Federal Government reserving the immediate sections. At minimum prices the company's lands were valued at $21,000,000, more than sufficient to build the road; but the Federal Government has this fall put its alternate sections upon the market, and the prices have ranged from $3 to $7 per acre, where formerly they would bring only $1 25.

At these prices the lands of the company will bring fully $40,000,000. The surface of country over which the road runs is one of the most favorable for such structures to be found in the world.

As the lands will without doubt much more than pay for the value of the road, it follows that the dozen gentlemen referred to, without the expenditure of one single dollar from their own private pocket-books, possess the road. But, after all, these gentlemen are not the only parties who are to reap princely benefits from the completion of this enterprise.

There are on the road 11,000 acres of private lands which sell at an average of $7, when they would not before bring $3—a rise of $41,000,000 already, based upon the availability of the produce for market. The alternate sections of the Federal Government, numbering also 2,650,000 acres, which have been held at the minimum of $1 25, have been sold this fall, as stated above, at an average of $5. The Government will thus realize $9,000,000 of profit in consequence of giving away half its land in that locality. The State of Illinois, at the same time, by having its rich soil opened to the thronging immigrants, is rapidly increasing in population. No city on the whole continent increases more rapidly than Chicago; and as its connection with the rich back country increases, its importance swells. When the Central road was projected Illinois had 40,000 families; it now has 250,090. The region of country through which the railroad runs is of the finest sort, and its availability not only affords fair supplies of produce, but opens up an extensive market for merchandise.

A man named Olmstead has absconded from Albany, after procuring about $1000 from a large number of female pupils, whom he pretended he would learn the art of making "papier mache," whereby they would earn eight or ten dollars, a week. Some of these females had been at work for the swindler for months before he absconded.

A BURNING SHIP.

The Boston Daily Advertiser gives some particulars, condensed from the Valparaiso Mercantile Reporter, of the burning of the steamship City of Pittsburgh, at that port, on Sunday the 24th of October.

The fire is supposed to have been the result of spontaneous combustion, it having appeared in a quantity of 1200 tons of coal lately taken on board in a wet state at Coronel, a Chilian port, whence she arrived on the 22d. She was to proceed on her voyage to Panama and San Francisco, on the 25th. Heat was discovered in the hold at 11 o'clock on the night previous, and the fire became manifest at 3 o'clock. Every effort was made to extinguish the fire by the aid of the boats and engine of the British ship Portland, Admiral Moresby, but without success. It raged for ten hours, and illuminated the harbor during the night. It being understood that she had gunpowder on board, attempts were made to sink her, for which purpose twenty shots were fired at her, but the holes made by the shot were apparently closed by the cold, and they produced little effect.

She sank at last at 1 o'clock P. M., in deep water, stern foremost, in presence of thousands of spectators. She had 53 passengers, and with her crew, 159 persons on board, who lost every thing, many of them not having procured a change of clothing. A subscription of $7000 had been made, among foreigners and Chilians, for their relief.

Admiral Moresby made generous efforts, and so did his officers and men, to save the property of those on board the Pittsburgh, and hospitably received them on board the Portland. Further efforts would be made for the relief of the sufferers, and to procure them a free passage to the place of their destination.

THE OLD FRENCH CLAIMS.

FRENCH SPOLIATIONS.—The Northern, Eastern and Southern members interested in the French claims, are determined to make a bold push and a push altogether, for those claims, this session of Congress. So says a Washington despatch.

We presume so, for this must be their last chance for one more grand swindle—and if successful, would wind up this Galphin administration in a blaze of glory.—State Capital Reporter.

It is no business of ours to defend the administration—nor need we care how it winds up, so that no public damage is sustained; but in regard to the old French Claims, we would respectfully ask the editor of the Reporter if he does not know that committees of both Houses of Congress have repeatedly reported in favor of paying these claims—while no committee has reported against their justice? If he does not, will he please to inform himself?

We would ask him further, whether he has ever looked beyond the newspapers, to know any thing of the merits of such of these claims as are owned in New Hampshire? If he has not, and if he will ride over the Concord Railroad to Portsmouth, we will introduce him to Capt. John McClintock, one of the original claimants, who can satisfy him that his claim is neither swindle nor humbug. We can show him documentary evidence, that the late Elijah Hall, the old Republican Counsellor from this district, believed his claim to be good, and expected our government to pay it to his heirs, several of whom are living, and some of whom are needy. We can show him satisfactory documents in the hands of heirs of Capts. Thomas Brown, John H. Seward and others—all of whom were as much above swindle as he can be.

It has always been a wonder to us, how any well-meaning man could get his mind set against the payment of a set of claims, resting on premises so simple, and proved by evidence so ample as these.

Thirty-Second Congress—Second Session

TUESDAY, DEC. 14.

HOUSE.—The House went into Committee of the Whole, and resumed the consideration of pending resolutions to refer the President's message to appropriate Committees.

Mr. Meade, of Virginia, said his State was engaged in Railroad improvements, and he should vote against the pending proposition submitted by Mr. Brooks, and should seek an opportunity to relieve railroad iron of the present oppressive duty. He expressed himself in favor of appropriating the surplus revenue to the redemption of United States bonds, even if we have to pay 15 or 20 per cent. advance on them.

Mr. Stanton, of Ohio, was opposed to the accumulation of surplus revenue, and in favor of modifying the tariff.

The balance of the session was consumed principally by Mr. Giddings, of Ohio, who delivered a characteristic speech, relative to slavery and kindred topics, after which, and without disposing of the question, under considerable excitement, the House adjourned.

N. H. General Court—Nov. Session, 1852.

(Abridged from the Patriot.)

TUESDAY, Dec. 14.

SENATE.—Mr. Merrill, from the select committee on Temperance, to whom was referred the petition of John F. Moses, praying for an application of the provisions of the Maine Liquor Law to the town of Exeter, reported leave of withdrawal—adopted.

Mr. Merrill, from the Temperance committee, to whom was referred the bill for the suppression of drinking houses and tippling shops, (the liquor bill of the June session,) reported a resolution indemnitely postponing said bill, which was adopted.

The following bills were read a third time and passed; bill to incorporate the N. H. Conference Seminary and Female Medical College; bill in amendment of chap. 72, R. S.; bill in amendment of the charter of the N. H. Christian Benevolent Society.

Mr. Wells, by leave, presented the petition of John S. Brown and others, for a reference of national disputes to umpires—referred to the committee on Military Affairs. The presentation of this petition was accompanied by some very eloquent remarks by Mr. W.

HOUSE.—Petitions presented and referred:—To committee on Education.—By W. B. Wiggin of Dover, of Asa A. Tufts and 77 others, for the action of the Legislature in favor of substituting arbitration for war in settling differences between nations.

To select committee on the subject.—By Mr. Doldt of Milton, of Charles Swazey and others for protection from the evils arising from the sale of intoxicating drinks.

Mr. Fox of Stoddard, from the committee on Agriculture, reported that the petitioners for a law for the protection of pigeon stands, have leave to bring in a bill. Accepted.

Mr. Sargent of Wentworth, from the select committee to investigate the affairs of the N. H. Central Railroad, made a report; which, on motion of Mr. Hackett of Portsmouth, was referred to the committee on Railroads.

The report states that the books and papers of the company were found correct; and that the committee could not recommend the repeal of the charter.

Illness of the Clerk.—Mr. Metcalf of Newport presented the following resolution, which was unanamously passed;

Resolved, That the Assistant Clerk of the House be authorized to employ such clerical assistance as he may deem necessary during the illness of the Clerk.

Anson S. Marshall, Esq., took the oath of office prior to his officiating as Assistant Clerk during the absence of the Clerk, Thomas J. Whipple, Esq.

The joint resolution for the payment of the publishers of the new Liquor Bill of June session, 1852, came up in order for a third reading. On motion of Mr. Adams of Manchester, it was laid on the table, to allow time to consider the fairness of its provisions.

Lake and White Mountains Turnpike.—The act to incorporate the Winipisseogee and White Mountains Turnpike Company came up in order for a third reading.

Mr. Hackett of Portsmouth wished to ask the committee whether there was any hope of the project being carried through in connection with a clause in the bill providing that the stockholders should not receive more than 6 per cent. dividends on their shares.

Mr. Wheeler, of the committee reporting the bill, intimated that the draft thereof was what the proposed company had themselves presented.

Mr. Sargent felt satisfied that there was no objection to the bill.

Mr. Wheeler explained the necessity for the bill. It would shorten the distance from the Lake to the White Mountains some 23 miles—thus reducing the travelling distance from the West one day. The bill was then ordered to a third reading.

When it came up on its third reading, on motion of Mr. Preston of New Hpswich, was laid on the table.

The bill to incorporate the Red Hill Manufacturing Company was read a third time and passed.

The Liquor Bill.—On motion of Mr. Pillsbury of Henniker, the rules were suspended, and that gentlemen, from the select committee on the subject, reported the bill for the Suppression of Drinking Houses and Tippling Shops, with certain amendments.

On motion of Mr. Preston of New Ipswich, the bill was laid on the table, and half-past 3 to-morrow specially assigned for its consideration.

The first section is amended so as to provide against the sale of cider "except at retail for a beverage, in quantities not less than one gallon."

The second section was amended so that "persons not exceeding two" shall be authorized to sell liquors in towns or cities. Other amendments to this section are merely contingent on this alteration: as are also those made to section 3. The seventeenth section is stricken out, and the remainder of the amendments refer to numerical alterations.]

On motion of Mr. Glidden of Unity, the bill in relation to jailers' fees, with Senate amendment, was taken from the table, the amendment adopted, and the bill ordered to be engrossed.

Mr. Seavey of Concord, moved a resolution—which was adopted—that the committee on Division of Towns consider the expediency of amending the bill to establish the city of Concord.

A resolution granting the use of the Representatives' Hall this evening, to the Legislative Temperance Society, was on motion of Mr. Adams of Manchester, laid on the table.

At half past 3 the House took up the subject of special assignment, viz: the consideration of the report of the select committee on the apportionment of public taxes.

The question was on the recommittal of the bill to the committee, with instructions to report a bill taking as their basis of value of railroad stock the appraisal of the Judges of the Superior Court.

A debate ensued.

Mr. Hackett of Portsmouth was of opinion that if the bill was retained under discussion until it was perfect, taxes would have to be raised under some other apportionment. The bill was not free from imperfection; but it was as perfect as the nature of its subject could admit. The various delegations, with but one exception, had approved of it; and, if merely local objections were cast out of view, the bill would be recognized as being as reasonable in its provisions as circumstances and human judgment could make it. He was opposed to a recommittal.

The yeas and nays were called for on a division being demanded, and were taken, when 144 voted to recommit and 110 voted in opposition. The motion was thus adopted by 34 majority, and the bill recommitted to the committee.

SEWARD ON WEBSTER.

In the Congressional notice of Mr. Webster's death and character, Senator Seward of New York seems to have occupied the principal place. His speech is published in several papers. It is a beautiful piece of writing, even as telegraphed, and must have been delightful as an oration. He sketches Mr. Webster's character very happily, dwelling on his strong points, and generalizing all others. He says,

Whatever concerning him has been controverted by any body, the fifty thousand lawyers of the United States, interested to deny his pretensions, conceded to him unapproachable supremacy at the bar.

* * * He overvalued nothing that was common, and undervalued nothing that was useful or ornamental. His lands and equipage; his dwelling, library and apparel; his letters, arguments and orations; everything that he did was as far as possible fit, complete, and perfect. He thought decorous forms necessary for preserving whatever was substantial or valuable in politics or morals; and even in religion, in his regard order was the first law and peace the chief blessing of the earth, as they are of heaven. He therefore desired justice, love, liberty; and he reverenced law as the first divinity of States and of society.

☞ In yesterday's Morning Chronicle, it was stated that the three vacancies in the Massachusetts delegation to the present Congress were all filled by Whigs. The Atlas says not so:—In Fowler's district, Mr. Little, the coalition, is chosen, and not Loud, whig, as stated.

LOCAL.

TO NEW SUBSCRIBERS.—For $3, we will give every person who may subscribe between this time and the first of January, a receipt from the time of subscribing (and paying) to Jan. 1st, 1854.

☞ After January 1st, '53, the Chronicle will not be for sale by the carriers. Persons wishing it left regularly at their residence or place of business, are respectfully invited to leave their names at the office or with the carriers.

MR. HORACE WEBSTER, of this city, was admitted yesterday, at the Superior Court sitting at Concord, to practice as an Attorney in this State. Mr. Webster went through a course of study at the Cambridge Law School and completed his reading in the office of Albert R. Hatch, Esq.—and, we understand will remain in this city.

SHIP TO BE REPAIRED.—The Messenger understands that the owners of the steamship Admiral, a vessel 230 feet in length, plying between St. Johns N. B. and Boston, have applied for and obtained the use of our navy yard dock to take up and repair their vessel. She got damaged somewhat the past season by running aground, and after our carpenters have repaired her frame, she will be recaulked and coppered.

A LECTURE BY SAMUEL E. COUES, ESQ.—A number of the young men of this city have invited Samuel E. Coues, Esq., to repeat his lecture upon the "Theory of the Tides" recently delivered before the Biddeford (Me.) Young Men's Lyceum. Mr. Coues has consented, and Friday evening next has been named for the delivery of the lecture, at the Cameneum, the tickets to which can be obtained at J. F. Shores' book store, and J. H. Thacher's apothecary store, and at the door in the evening. Price 10 cents.

This lecture is intended to be preparatory to a course of Lyceum lectures the present season, and it is requested that those interested in the subject will remain after the lecture, to form an organization and make other necessary arrangements.—N. H. Gazette.

The Biddeford Journal devotes a column to a notice of this lecture of Mr. Coues. We have not room to copy the commendatory remarks. The lecture appears to have given great satisfaction to that audience; and it is spoken of as an address highly beneficial in stimulating the minds of the audience to the examination of scientific subjects. Mr. Coues' idea is that every one of fair education and good common sense can become interested in scientific subjects; and derive much pleasure and profit in the study of the works of nature. The enforcement of this idea, says the Biddeford Journal, was very eloquent and effective.

REV. R. W. CLARK'S NEW WORK.—The Newburyport Herald states that John P. Jewett & Co., Boston, have just published an elegant volume, entitled "Heaven and its Scriptural Emblems," by Rev. Rufus W. Clark. This work will be a most appropriate gift book for the holidays, to aged persons, and all in affliction from the loss of friends. From an examination of its pages, we find that Mr. Clark has discharged the duties of editor of the work with great discrimination and literary ability. The poetical quotations are quite felicitous. The book is illustrated with fine steel engravings, in the best style of art. Its typographical appearance is very creditable to the publishers, while the clear face of the type will make the volume an attractive one to aged persons.

The book is dedicated, by Mr. Clark, to a lady of Newburyport, whose decling years are doubtless cheered by the thought that her four sons are now in the Christian ministry—honored and respected for their talents and devotion to the sacred service to which they were consecrated in their youth. The dedication of the work before us is as follows:

"TO MY BELOVED MOTHER, to whom I am indebted for my earliest impressions of heavenly scenes,
THIS VOLUME
is most affectionately inscribed."

REWARD OF MERIT.—The Portland Advertiser informs us that Captain Joseph Drinkwater, Jr., of Yarmouth, Me., who saved the passengers and crew of the British bark Venilia, wrecked in February last, has just received from the British government a magnificent telescope, and his crew are to receive a gratuity of thirty pounds. On the beautiful mahogany case, containing the instrument, is a silver plate, on which is engraved the following inscription:—

"Presented by the Lords of the Admiralty of Great Britain and Ireland, to Capt. Drinkwater, of the American bark Hero, for his gallant and humane conduct in saving the passengers and crew of the British bark Venilia, wrecked on the 13th of February, 1852."

"THE SOW AND PIGS" LEDGE.—In our ship news columns will be found particulars of the wreck of the bark Avola, a Boston and Charleston packet, with a cargo of rice and cotton, upon the Sow and Pigs Ledge, at the mouth of Vineyard Sound. This is, we believe, the third or fourth wreck at the same place within the past twelve-month, the Light Boat in that vicinity affording no sufficient protection to the navigator. It is confidently asserted by competent judges, that the erection of a Light House upon this dangerous ledge, is not only practicable but comparatively easy of accomplishment; and it is believed that the average losses incurred at that place in a single year, would be more than sufficient to defray the expense of its erection. We trust that a strong appeal will be made to Congress upon the subject at the present session.—New Bedford Mercury.

☞ In ten years sixty thousand houses have been built in London.

DIVIDENDS.—The Boston and Maine Railroad Company have declared a dividend of 3 1-2 per cent. The Fitchburg, it is said, will divide 3 per cent., the same as in July last.

GERMANY.—The Correspondent of the Daily News states that preparations are making just now at Hamburg for the emigration of several hundred persons to Salt Lake City. [Mormons.]

INDIA.—Telegraphic despatches announced the capture of the city of Prome from the Burmese, Oct. 9th, by the British forces under the command of Commodore Lambert and General Godwin.

The campaign was considered virtually at an end, and orders were daily expected from the sent of government for the formal annexation of Pegu (Burmah) to British India.

It was Mrs. Senator Hale, we see it stated, who, being in the gallery during the balloting to fill the vacancies in the Senate Committees, accidentally dropped her parasol, which fell point downward, upon the head of Senator Pearce, causing the blood to flow copiously.—Boston Herald.

QUICK WORK.—A California letter writer relates the following exploit, which may be taken as an illustration of the recuperative faculties of the sufferers by the late fire:

I have been introduced to a single gentleman who mounted his horse during the fire, and while his house was in flames started for a distant saw mill, where he bought an immense amount of lumber. His loss by the fire was about $10,000, while by the speculation he realized about $20,000,—so much for promptitude and action in time of trouble.

The Washington Correspondent of the N. Y. Express states that there are a number of gentlemen in Washington, agents of a company, offering to contract with the government for the building of the proposed Railroad from the Mississippi to the Pacific in four years, and proposing to take pay partly in money and partly in land.

DEATH OF SEGUIN THE VOCALIST.—We learn from the N. Y. Express that Edward Seguin, the vocalist died in that city Monday, of disease of the heart. He had been seriously ill for several weeks. He leaves a wife and four children. Mr. Seguin was, we believe, an Englishman, but has been in this country several years. The Express says that "few were more beloved and respected in life, and few could be more widely and sincerely mourned than this excellent man, and accomplished artist."

Songs for the People!

COMPRISING National, Sentimental, Patriotic, Comic, and Naval Songs, embellished with elegant illustrated engravings. Price $1.00. For sale by JOHN S. HARVEY, d11 No. 7 Exchange Buildings.

SAD EFFECTS OF LOVE.—A correspondent of the Knickerbocker says:

"It is my duty to impress upon you the certain fact that one half of our young people lose their senses when they lose their hearts. One of our party has already written five letters to his lady-love, and he goes about sighing and groaning in a most pitiable manner. He has no appetite, and sleeps up at the top of the house, close to the moon. He cannot stand by one of the columns of the piazza without putting his arm around its waist, and I caught him kissing an apple to-day because it had red cheeks. To these extremities may a man be reduced in the flower of his years by yielding to a sickly sentimentality."

AMERICAN GENIUS.—Harrison Winans left Baltimore a few years ago, a poor boy, but with a mind improved by learning at a country school, with genius, ambition and enterprise. He worked in Europe to the head of the machinists and engineers, and became a leading contractor on the great railroad between Moscow and St. Petersburg, 400 miles long. He made over $1,000,000. On his return to Paris, he married a talented, amiable and beautiful lady, and will soon build a cage for her, in the shape of a villa and a park of three acres, beautifully ornamented, where rich and poor may feast their eyes on indigenous plants and rare exotics. He goes again to Russia to fill a contract with the Emperor on public works, by which he will bring 500,000 in gold for his mental labors.—Washington Telegraph.

The Evening Post states that Hon. Gerrit Smith will bring in a bill this Congress for the purchase of the Island of Cuba.

COOKING STOVE.

FOR COAL OR WOOD.

THE attention of all in want of a COOK STOVE is respectfully solicited to a consideration of the merits of this most beautifully modeled pattern; equally adapted for coal or wood, and warranted to operate successfully with either, which is now offered to the public as the

Most Complete and Efficient

Cooking apparatus ever before introduced in this vicinity. It is an elegant model, with the smooth Providence castings, fitted together in the most substantial manner. The oven, (by far the most important part of a cooking stove,) in point of capacity, and in regard to its operation, is unsurpassed by that of any other stove now in the market, it being lined with fire-brick to retain and equalize the heat, and provided with valves for the escape of steam, &c. arising from the roasting of meats—rendering it in this respect superior to the old fashioned but universally admired Franklin oven. The broiling apparatus is constructed on an entirely new and original plan, and will not fail to recommend itself at the first glance, as no smoke or gas arising from that culinary process can escape into the room. The ash pit hearth is an improvement not to be found in any other stove.

The popularity of this over all other stoves now in the market, may be inferred from the fact that since its first introduction the last season, over THREE THOUSAND have been put into successful operation in New England and New York City.

Every stove is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction to the purchaser or the money refunded.

Each stove is warranted not to crack for twelve months from date of purchase. It is believed that this stove combines all the improvements that skill can invent, and is by far the most perfect cooking stove ever sold in Portsmouth. And though its price is higher than any other stove offered in this market of late, it will prove in addition the cheapest in the end. All intending to purchase are respectfully invited to give this an examination before purchasing elsewhere.

Also, a variety of cheap Cook, Parlor, and Office Stoves, which are offered low.

WHAT-CHEER STOVE.

THE WHAT-CHEER COAL COOKING

STOVE, now offered for sale by the subscribers, is acknowledged by all who have examined it to be the best and most economical Coal Stove ever offered to the public.

The castings are heavy, smooth, and very handsome. The Broiling apparatus is a great improvement over all other Stoves, being constructed in such a manner as to prevent the steam from escaping into the room while cooking.

All persons wishing to purchase a COAL COOKING STOVE, are respectfully requested to call and examine the same. Every Stove warranted to work well, or no sale.

We have also a large assortment of COOKING, PARLOR and STORE STOVES, &c.—for sale cheap for Cash at our Store.

THE IMPROVED

EMPIRE STATE STOVE.

THIS justly celebrated COOKING STOVE having been improved in every way it could be to make its operations more complete, and its plates beautifully ornamented—no expense, time or trouble having been spared to make this the most complete Cooking Stove ever brought before the public—the subscriber feels assured in warranting the IMPROVED EMPIRE STATE superior to any stove in the market, as hundreds can testify who have used them for the past year.

This Stove has a very LARGE OVEN, which makes it desirable on account of doing more cooking with the same amount of fuel than can be done in any other stove. The fires are large, which ensures a good draft in all cases. The castings are very heavy and smooth, and those parts that come next the fire are extra thick, making it very durable. It is adapted to the use of either coal or wood, and we warrant them to operate as well with one as the other. We furnish them with the very best appanatus; and, altogether, it is the MOST DURABLE, ECONOMICAL and CONVENIENT COOKING STOVE now in market, incomplete in every respect. We ask the attention of all persons intending to purchase a new, or exchange their old stove, to an examination of the Improved Empire State.

We have also on hand a variety of other Cooking Stoves, called the "Banner," "Belle of the States," "King of the States," "Bay State," "Anglo Saxon," "Pearl of Troy," &c.; with a large lot of PARLOR STOVES, such as the Revere Air-Tight, Star, Revere Parlor Cook, Lady Franklin, for Wood or Coal; Shop, Office and Air-Tight Stoves, of different sizes and prices for either wood or coal.

Also an extensive assortment of HOUSEKEEPING GOODS; Wooden, Willow, Glass, Britannia, Japan, Tin, Hard, Enamel, and Brass Ware; Copper, Cast Iron, and Chain Pumps; Window Shade, Table Oil cloths, &c.

All the above goods will be sold lower than can be bought elsewhere in this vicinity.

PROPOSED LICENSE LAW.

A Concord correspondent of the Boston Journal gives the following abstract of the bill presented on Monday in the House by Mr. J. H. Wiggins, of Dover, relating to spirit licenses.

It constitutes the duty of Mayors, &c., and selectmen to license annually in April a suitable number of persons of good moral reputation to sell wines and liquors. Taverners applying for and receiving license, to pay fifty dollars annually; and shall be bound to furnish at all times suitable provision for man and cattle, under penalty of revocation of license and ten dollars fine. Retailers to pay one hundred dollars license fee for authority to retail in quantities not less than one pint.—Penalties are exacted for permitting drunkenness or gaming on the premises of taverners, and for keeping open on Sabbaths. Penalties are exacted from retailers for selling less than one pint, amounting to not more than fifty nor less than twenty-five dollars.

Taverners or retailers are bound under penalties not to sell to habitual drunkards or minors. Fines in such cases to be applied to maintain such drunkard or minor, if in indigent circumstances, otherwise to go to the poor. Prosecutions to be carried out at expense of cities or towns. In the event of neglect or refusal of city or town authorities to grant licenses, County Judges of Courts of Common Pleas are empowered to licenses parties approved—the power of revoking such licenses to rest with them. Those convicted of selling mixed or adulterated liquors, to be fined not less than fifty or more than one hundred dollars, and thirty days to six months imprisonment, at the discretion of the Judge before whom convicted. Parties charged with selling to minors, &c., with disposing of less quantities than one pint, with keeping a disorderly house, or selling without license, to recognize in five hundred dollars for appearance to answer, and not to violate the law pending trial. Suppressing evidence in cases of complaint, to subject the party proved guilty to a fine of not less than twenty or more than fifty dollars. Justices refusing to certify cases where parties have been bound over by them to the Court of Common Pleas, to be similarly fined. License moneys received by towns go to the poor of such. Those granted by Judges of Courts of Common Pleas to go to the county poor. The bill authorizes physicians to sell and deliver wines and spirits as medicine. All acts inconsistent with these provisions are repealed, and this act shal take effect on March 31st, 1853.

It will be seen that this is simply a license law of the olden time, with a high tariff of premiums or taxes for licenses. The provision for poor drunkards is humane on paper, but utterly impracticable. No teetotaler has the least idea that such a law could do anything for the promotion of temperance—but would rather work against it. We have no idea that it can pass.

THE MYSTERIOUS TRACKS EXPLAINED.—We have seen the "animal" which made the mysterious tracks, that caused so much speculation last winter; perhaps we should say the instrument. It consists of a stick six inches in length, with one end carved in the fashion of a colt's hoof. It is fastened at the other end with a wooden sandal, to which are attached straps to fasten it to the foot. With a couple of these strapped to their feet, some half a dozen wags made the tracks which excited so much attention; and enjoyed the fun of hearing people talk about them. They had also poles with the same carving on the ends.—These they employed when the snow was too deep for the other contrivance.

They must have taken a great deal of trouble to carry out the joke, and unless they were very small boys, or very fond of fun, without much regard to the quality, we should think that it cost all that it was worth to them. How far this explanation may apply to the similar tracks seen in other portions of the State, we are not able to say. We think it not unlikely, however, that the joke was suggested by seeing in the newspapers an account of the genuine tracks, supposed to have been made by the snowy owl. The boys and the owl will have it all to themselves; the devil, and one or two other distinguished individuals, to whom they were at one time attributed, have evidently no share in the matter.—Providence Journal.

Mr. Kinney, one of the editors of the Newark Daily Advertiser writing from Genoa, says that Uncle Tom's Cabin is producing a mischievous influence against the United States all over Europe. Everybody reads, cries over, and praises it, while, under the excitement of the hour our country is denounced without reserve or discrimination, and with a bitterness of feeling to which, the writer herself is a stranger.

Very likely this is all true. In the latest news from England we see an item which shows which way the fashion as well as the literature of the world is tending.

In London, on Friday evening, 26th, a meeting of the ladies of England was convened by the Duchess of Sutherland, at Stafford House, for the purpose of addressing the ladies of the United States, calling on them to use their influence for the abolition of negro slavery.

PORTSMOUTH:
FRIDAY, DECEMBER 17, 1852.

HAYTI.—The result of Mr. Walsh's Mission to Hayti, is that His Sable Majesty Souloque, (we beg pardon, Faustin I.) will not promise to make peace with his other black neighbors the Dominicans,—yet he will not renew hostilities against them. Mr. Walsh describes His Sable Majesty, as "stout and short and very black, with an unpleasant expression, and a carriage that does not grace a throne."

This is prejudice, no doubt; and we have very high authority, for trying to "conquer our prejudices." Faustin no doubt, deems himself every inch an emperor, and deems it his manifest destiny to re-annex the other end of the island to his own empire. But we must teach the black rascal better manners, and show him that only white men and republicans have any right to be fillibusters. Sauce for the goose is not sauce for the gander.

MRS. SARAH EMILY YORK.

Memoir of Mrs. Sarah Emily York, formerly Miss S. E. Waldo, Missionary in Greece. By Mrs. R. B. Medbury.

One of the incidental results of the missionary enterprises, has been a great and valuable addition to religious biographical literature. Already have some of the choicest biographies in the language been drawn from this source. There is danger, perhaps, that it should come to be regarded too much as a matter of course, that because one has been a missionary, therefore his life should be written and published. This tendency should certainly be guarded against. It is not enough that one has been a foreign missionary—especially now that the romance of such a life has passed away—to warrant the collecting of his correspondence and the facts of his history into a volume of memoirs. There should be that in the intellectual character of the individual, or in his actual achievements, which lifts him above the mass of his fellow laborers, or the thing should not be attempted. Something extraordinary there must be to justify it.

We think Mrs. Medbury and her friends have judged wisely in determining to give to the public these Memoirs of Mrs. York. No one will find that there was not enough in the vigor and culture of her intellect, in the uncommon depth and ardor of her piety, and in the rare beauty and interest of her correspondence, to warrant this brief memorial of her. She deserves a place, and will now receive it, among the missionary heroines of the American Church.

Miss Waldo was a native of Charlestown, Mass.—the daughter of Charles F. Waldo, for many years an officer in the U. S. Navy. She became in early life, while yet at school, deeply and decidedly religious. For several years she taught a small, select school in Boston. While engaged in teaching, she became deeply interested in the Mission of the Baptists in Greece, and after much deliberation, offered herself to the Board as a teacher in one of the schools of the Mission. On the first day of January, 1841, she sailed for Corfu. She remained in Greece for eight years, when, having married an accomplished christian Greek, and her health being feeble, she returned with her husband on a visit to this country. Here, after a few weeks spent among her friends, in renewing the acquaintances of her youth, and revisiting places made hallowed by the associations of the past, she was suddenly called to go up higher.

There are few striking incidents to give interest to the general reader, but the book is composed chiefly of a correspondence rich in elevated thought, in true devotion, and in beauty of language—which no one can attentively read without interest and profit. It is a book which must of course possess special interest for Baptists—those who are of the same religious faith as the subject of it—and yet a book that cannot fail to interest any christian mind.

THE ART OF BEING BEAUTIFUL.—This is a great art, especially when it proposes to clothe bald heads with hair, and turn the bleached locks back again into raven black, or auburn, or chesnut, as the case may be. A certain scripture says, "the beauty of old men is the gray head"—but many men about town, of that doubtful age termed middle age, do not covet such a beauty in their own case, how much soever they may admire it in others. All such are referred to Dr. Jacoby's advertisement of the Berliner Haar Wasche, in our columns to-day, under the head of the "Art of being Beautiful." The ladies need not read it—unless they please.

A gentleman of Windsor, Vt., plucked fresh strawberry blossoms in that town on Thursday, Dec. 9.

EXPORTS OF ACORNS.—Seventy three bushels of acorns have been shipped to Belgium from Bradford, Pa., with a view of introducing the oak into these countries.

FOWLERS & WELLS.—These enterprising and persevering publishers are constantly issuing new works, from their store, Clinton Hall, 131 Nassau street, New York—and as constantly sending out large editions of reprints of their standard works, in answer to orders from all parts of the country. Becoming acquainted with us by the exchange of our "little daily" for their monthly Phrenological Journal, they have forwarded several works as specimens of their publications, which we may notice hereafter, as we read them—but for the present will give only a list of them, which will answer as an acknowledgement to the publishers that their books have reached us, and a brief advertisement of the books to any of our readers who may choose such studies. They are

N. H. General Court—Nov. Session, 1852.

(Abridged from the Patriot.)

WEDNESDAY, Dec. 15, 1852.

SENATE.—Mr. Bennett, from the committee on Education, reported the bill in amendment of chap. 729, pamphlet laws, relating to erection, repairs, or removal of school houses, or purchase of furniture for school houses, with amendments requiring a two-thirds vote to effect such removrl, &c., or in case of a written or printed notification being served on each voter in the district, a majority vote only —report and bill were laid on the table.

The bill authorising certain corporations to aid in construction of the Great Falls and Conway and the Great Falls and South Berwick Branch Railroad, indefinitely postponed.

The bill entitled "An act for the promotion of agriculture, mechanism and the domestic arts," was indefinitely postponed.

Yeas—Messrs. Hoitt, Wells, Shannon, Tuttle, Whittemore, Taylor, Williamson, Rix—8.

Nays—Messrs. Woodbury, Freeman, Bennett, Merrill—4.

Mr. Freeman gave notice of intention to introduce a bill districting the State for choice of members of Congress.

The following bills were read a third time and passed: bill in amendment of charter of Great Falls and Conway Railroad; bill to incorporate the Suncook Savings Bank; resolution in favor of Adna S. Fowler; resolution in favor of Hutchins & Co., and others.

HOUSE.—The bill to incorporate the Wilton Railroad: the act to amend the charter of the Peterborough and Shirley Railroad, and the bill to amend the charter of the Nashua and Epping Railroad; also, the bill to amend the acts constituting the Portsmouth and Dover Railroad, were referred to next session, with orders of notice.

The bill in relation to the amendment of the laws concerning railroad corporations, was ordered to a third reading.

The bill to amend the charter of the Manchester and Candia Railroad, was ordered to a third reading.

Mr. Rust of Wolfborough, from the committee on Banks, reported that the petitioners for a free banking law have leave to withdraw. Accepted.

After some debate, the bill for the union of N. H. Central and Concord and Claremont Railroads, was recommitted to the same committee which reported it, by a vote of 154, a majority of the whole House. The corporation was said to be in a bad state.

The New Liquor Bill was taken up, and it was moved to recommit it—negatived 128 to 134.

Mr. Barker of Westmoreland, moved the indefinite postponement of the bill, when 122 voted for and 144 against the indefinite postponement.

Mr. Walker of Farmington, after the roll was called, had leave to change his vote from no to yes.

Mr. Hurd of Londonderry, moved to amend the bill and amendment so as to prevent all obstruction to the manufacture or sale of cider for any purpose whatever.

Adopted 147 to 116.

REVENUE SERVICE.—Washington, Dec. 15th.—The following appointments have been made today:

3d Lieutenants for the revenue service, John A. Underwood, R. J. Kellum, Samuel Nye, ——Miller, John F. Schulty, James E. Harrison, Austin S. Cushman, Thos. L. Gott, Johnson DeLaquette, William D. Kennon, Wilson McGunnigle, Albert Morsell, Chas. H. Wheeler, S. W. Gilbert, John E. Wilson, Thomas Osborne, John E. Nonegs, D. C. Dunstable, Edwin Halbert.

Further appointments for the same service are understood to be in contemplation but have not yet been decided upon.

BUTTER.—The Alexandria Gazette says:—"Butter is coming into the cities freely, and is declining in price. In Georgetown, supplies from the Canal have fallen one dollar per hundred.

A terrible earthquake occurred in May last in one of the northwest provinces of China. The devastation and loss of life caused was frightful. Upwards of 300 persons were killed; more than 400 seriously hurt, and several thousand houses destroyed. The Emperor has ordered immediate assistance to be rendered to the sufferers.

LOCAL.

TO NEW SUBSCRIBERS.—For $3, we will give every person who may subscribe between this time and the first of January, a receipt from the time of subscribing (and paying) to Jan. 1st, 1854.

☞ After January 1st, '53, the Chronicle will not be for sale by the carriers. Persons wishing it left regularly at their residence or place of business, are respectfully invited to leave their names at the office or with the carriers.

City Council—Dec. 16.

In Board of Aldermen a petition was received from S. E. Coues, for revision of punishment of boy named Hunt, granted.

A report was read from the Chief Engineer detailing the condition of the fire department—representing the same to be in good order—and requiring only 200 feet new Hose, which he had ordered.

Several bills were passed for payment, among which was Capt. Marden's, for enrolling militia, $6.

In Common Council, the Ordinance respecting Billiard Rooms, &c., was read from the Aldermen, with amendments which were concurred in, with one exception, on which a committee of conference was requested.

In Convention, Meshach T. Muchmore was chosen Surveyor of Lumber, vice Evans Ross, deceased.

CITY LYCEUM.—This evening at the Cameneum, Samuel E. Coues, Esq. will give a Scientific Lecture, which we hope will be fully attended, and trust it will be if the weather is in any wise favorable. We wish also for the success of the New Lyceum. The tickets for this evening are only 10 cts. and are for sale by Messrs. Shores and Thacher, and at the door.

The hour we presume will be half-past 7.

POLITICAL.

A correspondent of the Boston Transcript writes from Washington, that there is some chance that the French Spoliation Bill will be got up the present session, first by an effort to clear the Speaker's table, and secondly by overruling the Speaker's decision in regard to the place where he has put the Senate bill.—There is a fair chance that the bill will pass, provided some of its friends can be kept in Washington steadily, instead of being constantly on the wing between there and Boston. It is strange that the House should be unable to pass a bill which has a clearly ascertained majority in that body.

The Ledger's correspondent says, that in regard to the Cabinet of Gen. Pierce, the silence of the President elect is astonishing everybody. Politicians are completely at loggerheads; but begin to admit that Gen. Pierce will have a cabinet of his own, and no restoration of the Capinet of Mr. Polk. Gen. Pierce will not be overshadowed by Presidential aspirants, nor by men who may be committed to a particular policy. He will have a Cabinet of comparatively young but energetic men, if he cannot persuade Gen. Cass to accept the State Department. In the latter case Gen. Cass will remain the Nestor of the Senate. It is estimated that if Mr. Henry A. Wise really prefers the mission to England or France, then there is every prospect of Mr. Hunter becoming Secretary of the Treasury, and Judge Bayley, of Va., his successor in the Senate. The reign of the young men, though not of Young America, is at hand; but by no means that of the fillibusters.

One reason given for the refusal of the Democratic majority in Congress to revise the tariff, this session, is that they cannot trust the data which are furnished them by the Whig Administration. So far as these data relate to frauds in the revenue and are used as arguments in favor of specific duties, they have been, or will be, furnished by the select committee of the Senate, a majority of whom are Democrats. But the proposition pending is, not to disturb the basis of the existing tariff, but to exempt certain articles from duty and thereby reduce the revenue to the standard of economy. The law which will govern the action of the present Congress is, that no new measure shall be adopted, and that the recomendations of the President and his Secretaries shall be wholly disregarded.

It was stated in an act of Parliament passed in the third year of the reign of Henry the Eighth, that the number of prisoners in the kingdom, confined for debts and crime, amounted to more than sixty thousand. One writer asserts that during the same reign of thirty-eight years, seventy-two thousand persons were executed for theft and robbery—amounting to nearly two thousand a year! It thus appears that either rogues are not so numerous in "these degenerate days" as formerly, or that a vast number escape unwhipped and unhanged, who richly deserve it.

A COMPLIMENT—over the left.—The Boston Chronicle says:

"The French are making great fools of themselves by publishing and perusing translations of "Uncle Tom's Cabin." Verily it requires but little capital to build up a great reputation."

If this be so, this country is a paradise of fools,—for almost every body here has read it.

☞ The late Munical Election in Boston must have been most exciting. The Boston Chronicle, under the head of "Good Grit," says:

"When Thomas Cass, of Ward One, whose horse, (worth $700) had been used in bringing voters to the polls, was informed that he had been killed in the service, he exclaimed, "—— take the horse! have you voted? Save the mare, let the horse slide."

This man must have had some direct, personal interest in the election. Probably the craft whereby he has his wealth, was in danger!

THE ART OF BEING BEAUTIFUL.

It has long been a desideratum that some scientific man should apply himself to the study of the human scalp, Dr. JACOBY, the great Pathologist, from Berlin, has done this, and in this new field has attained the most brilliant results.—Satisfied by an analysis of the vitiated colored alcohols and other washes of their deleterious effects, he compounded his celebrated Berliner Haar Wasche, to the efficacy of which thousands of witnesses might be summoned, of the accompanying character:—

BOSTON, Jan 1, 1848.

This is to certify that I have had an article called the Berliner Haar Wasche applied during the past five or six weeks to my head, for the purpose of removing and strengthening the hair. It has been very effective in producing such a result; and I can cheerfully recommend the same to those afflicted with baldness or diseases connected therewith. JONAS CHICKERING.

It frequensely happens that ladies suffer from hair eaters, and apply some of the nostrums prepared by apothecaries, who think, because they can make paper out of water, they can prepare good hair wash. The effect of these is often highly injurious. Ladies, use none of them,—consult Dr. Jacoby, who will eradicate the nuisance and guarantee a beatiful head of hair. His motto is, no cure, no pay.

To those at a distance, the Champoo Washer Nos. 1 and 2, and Haar Wasche, are recommended.—There is, however, no universal specific, and all persons troubled, should if possible see Dr. Jacoby.

In the course of his scientific research, Dr. Jacoby has discovered a Hair Dye that does not stain the skin, will give any shade of color, and will stand exposure in all weather. The accompanying certificate, from a highly scientific source, must satisfy the most incredulous.

BOSTON, Nov. 18, 1851.

I have seen Mr. Moses Jacoby's Hair Dye, used in coloring hair of a deep brownish black, of a beautiful natural color, and can certify that it is perfectly efficient and permanent.

CHARLES T. JACKSON, M.D.,
Assayer to the State of Mass.

Dr. Jacoby's rooms are at No. 9 Franklin street, Boston, where he may be consulted at all hours.—There are always in attendance in both ladies' and gentlemen's rooms the most skilful hair dressers.

THE WEEKLY CHRONICLE

TO BEGIN WITH THE NEW YEAR.

$1 A YEAR, INVARIABLY IN ADV.

FULLY SATISFIED with the entire success of the Daily Chronicle, and in consequence of much solicitation on the part of friends and patrons far and near, the subscribers have made arrangements to issue (as above) a Weekly in connection with the Daily Chronicle. It will be of medium size, printed in the same style as the Daily, and made up chiefly from its columns.

FAMILY NEWSPAPER,

TERMS $1 per annum, invariably in advance. To Clergymen of all denominations, half price.

☞ All papers discontinued at the end of the term for which advance payment is made;—so no patron will long get a paper he does not want.

☞ All Postmasters will act as our Agents; and any person sending us $5, (the papers to be sent to one address) will receive a sixth copy for the service.

TO ADVERTISERS,

We offer the best advantages at the lowest rates. Advertisements will be inserted in both papers without extra charge. The Chronicle is (of course) circulated among a greater variety of readers than any partisan journal.

LATEST NEWS!
BY MAIL, EXPRESS & TELEGRAPH.

STRIKE.—The Navy Yard at Charlestown was empty of workmen yesterday. The men left on account of the new order to begin work an hour earlier in the morning. They number 800.

TEN HOURS A DAY, OR LESS.—In consequence of an order from the Navy Department, requiring the laborers to work one hour longer in the day, those employed in the navy yard at Philadelphia have left work. This was the news day before yesterday.

But a despatch of yesterday from Philadelphia, says, "We understand that an order of the Secretary of the Navy, regulating the hours for Workmen in the navy yard, has been rescinded."

STRIKE IN THE NAVY YARD.—New York, Dec. 16.—In consequence of the recent order from the Department, increasing the number of working hours, the mechanics in the Navy Yard of Brooklyn are on a strike.

HEALTH OF THE VICE PRESIDENT ELECT. —New York, Dec. 16.—A despatch from Washington says that Hon. Wm. R. King is in a very critical situation with regard to health. His lungs are very much diseased, and his cough is incessant. It is thought he will never resume his seat in the Senate.

MORE COUNTERFEITERS ARRESTED.—New York, Dec. 16.—Another gang of counterfeiters were arrested in this city yesterday morning. On their persons were found counterfeit fives on the Long Island Bank of this State, and twenties on the Hamilton Bank of Boston; also, spurious half dollars. Among the gang arrested are Abraham Allen, an extensive coal dealer in Varick street, and John Berker, a family grocer. Large amounts of counterfeit bills on various banks were found on the premises of these persons.

FROM TURKS ISLAND.—Baltimore, Dec. 16. Dates from Turks Island to the 30th ult., have been received. 280,000 bushels of salt remain unsold; prices 11 a 12c per bushel.

The yellow fever has entirely disappeared; deaths occur mostly amongst strangers.

After the first of January, it is expected that the duty on salt will be reduced to 1c per bushel.

The market is almost bare of flour, pork, beef, lard, hams, pilot bread, and cheese.—Rice is also scarce, and provisions are unusually high.

The American brig Sophia sailed the 1st inst. for Alexa, with two men in irons, who mutinied and attempted the lives of the Captain and mate.

The President's Message, with the usual accompanying Documents, was laid on the desks of Members this morning, executed in handsome typography and upon clean and substantial paper. Only one week has been required to perform a service, which even imperfectly rendered, occupied nearly eight months in the last session. So much for the change of system. Now that the humbug of letting out the Public Printing to the lowest and most irresponsible bidders has exploded, it is to be hoped the experiment will never be revived under any state of parties,—N. Y. Courier and Enquirer.

SUICIDE AT ALBANY.—A man named Gilbert Mellen took lodgings at the Merchants' Hotel, at Albany, at 10 o'clock on Saturday night last. He retired to bed at 11, and the next day, at a late hour, as he did not make his appearance, his chamber was entered, and he was found dead in his bed. A paper was found in his room marked "morphene-poison," with a letter addressed to the landlord, declaring that he hid not wish to live, that he was "out of money and deeply in love," and requested that his effects might be sent to his father, Joseph Mellen, at Uxbridge, Mass.,, and said that he had a brother, Lovett Mellen, at Milford. He left also a letter addressed to another brother at Milford, N. H. A coroner's jury was called, who on examination, found a verdict of suicide by morphene.

THE FISHERIES AND RECIPROCITY.—On Tuesday evening, a meeting of the owners of fishing vessels, with some of the skippers who were in the Gulf of St. Lawrence the past season, was held at Gloucester, for the purpose of meeting Mr. Sabine of Framingham, the indefatigable friend of the fisherman.—The subject of the fisheries was fully and freely discussed, as well as the matter of free trade between the Provinces and the United States,as regards the exchange of the products of the sea, forest and soil. A resolution was adopted by the meeting, the purport of which is given by the Telegraph:

"That if the contemplated arrangements be made, we should be willing that the product of the fisheries should come in free, if the fisheries shall be open as free to us as to British subjects; and that we have the right or liberty to hire fishing stands from the inhabitants, for the purpose of depositing materials for the use of the fisheries."

Mr. Thrasher, the editor of the Beacon of Cuba, estimates that the net revenue derived by Spain from Cuba has averaged only $2,000,000 annually; and that for the time to come it will not yield enough revenue to pay for the expense of keeping it up.

At an entertainment recently given to Gen. Pillow, by the citizens of Clinton, Louisiana, the following sentiment offered by Mr. Ward, was drank with great applause:

"The natural boundaries of the United States—The North American continent with the adjacent islands."

Col. Benton comes out strong against the fillibustering attempt to annex Cuba. He considers the movement a part of the grand scheme to form a "southern republic," and dissolve the American Union.

The shock of an earthquake was felt at Port au Prince on the 25th of November.

PATENTS.
American and Foreign Office.
AGENCY FOR BUSINESS
With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,
No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IN 1840 the subscriber was appointed Agent of the United States Patent Office. In accordance with the 10th section of the Act of 1837.
Having relinquished the agency for the transmission of models, and adopting a more expeditious mode of sending them to the Patent Office, whereby a patent can be procured average time of the carrier, he continues to forward them, as before, free of expense, and to prepare Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all the necessary Papers and Drawings for Patents, to render advice on legal and scientific matters respecting the same. Patents secured in Europe.
The subscriber aims to present to inventors superior facilities for obtaining patents; and is now prepared to make specifications and procure patents cheaper by ten to twenty per cent. than those of other agencies. They can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.
R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skillful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"PATENT OFFICE, ———
"R. H. EDDY, Esq., Boston, Mass.
"SIR:—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any other agent I am very respectfully,
Yours, &c. THOMAS EWBANK,
Commissioner of Patents."
Boston, Dec. 7, 1852. oodly

BRIGHTON CATTLE FAIR HOTEL, Dec. 6, 1852.—Cattle on Railroads—Brighton Market.—We left Rochester by the Central railroad, the day before Thanksgiving, with stock for Albany, New York, and this place. The day has been when stockmen preferred to drive their cattle, sheep or swine, even from Ohio and the far West, to Albany, rather than ship by railroad from Buffalo. But now a regard for economy as well as comfort, leads the people to ship by railroad as far as possible.—The rival roads, which are now almost daily opening in nearly every part of this great country of ours, must each have its share of the patronage.

The stock train is about twenty hours on the road from Rochester to Albany. Stock for New York or Brighton is usually fed at Greenbush, before re-loading. About twenty hours is the running time from Greenbush to Brighton. Stock, by the time it arrives here, shrinks in weight very much, and thus takes off materially from the supposed profits of the drovers. This is a great market for cattle, sheep, and swine. A corporation owns the establishment, which consists of a spacious hotel and barns, about one hundred yards for stock, room for two or three hundred cattle in barn, &c. A great amount of buisness is done here in a few hours on Thursday of each week, and money enough changes hands to cure a number of sore eyes.—Rochester Daily Democrat.

THE ROGER WILLIAMS COOKING STOVE.

FOR COAL OR WOOD.

THE attention of all in want of a COOK STOVE is respectfully solicited to a consideration of the merits of this most beautifully modeled pattern; equally adapted for coal or wood, and warranted to operate successfully with either,—which it now only requires to be seen to be sold.

Most Complete and Efficient

Cooking apparatus ever before introduced in this vicinity. It is an elegant model, with fine smooth Providence castings, fitted together in the most substantial manner. The oven, (by far the most important part of a cooking stove,) in point of capacity, and in regard to its operation, is unsurpassed by that of any other stove now in the market, it being lined with fire-brick to retain and equalize the heat, and provided with valves for the escape of steam, &c. arising from the roasting of meats—rendering it in this respect superior to the old fashioned but universally admired Tin Kitchen.

The broiling apparatus is constructed on an entirely new and original plan, and will not fail to recommend itself at the first glance, as no smoke or gas arising from the culinary process can escape into the room. The sliding hearth is an improvement not to be found in any other stove.

The popularity of this over all other stoves now in the market, may be inferred from the fact that since its first introduction the last season, over THREE THOUSAND have been put into successful operation in New England and New York City.

Every stove is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction to the purchaser in every particular, or no sale is intended.

Each stove is warranted not to crack for twelve months from date of purchase. It is believed that this stove combines all the improvements that skill can invent, and is by far the most perfect cooking stove ever sold in Portsmouth. And though its price is higher than any other stove offered in this market of late, it is without question the cheapest in the end. All intending to purchase are respectfully invited to give this an examination before purchasing elsewhere.

Also, a variety of cheap Cook, Parlor, and Office Stoves, which are offered low.

WHAT-CHEER STOVE.

THE WHAT-CHEER COAL COOKING STOVE, now offered for sale by the subscribers, is acknowledged by all who have examined it to be the best and most economical Coal Stove ever offered to the public.

The castings are heavy, smooth, and very handsome. The Broiling apparatus is a great improvement over all other Stoves, being constructed in such a manner as to prevent the steam from escaping into the room when cooking.

All persons wishing to purchase a COAL COOKING STOVE, are respectfully requested to call and examine the same. Every Stove warranted to work well, or no sale.

We have also a large assortment of COOKING, PARLOR and STORE STOVES, &c.—for sale cheap for Cash at our Store

THE IMPROVED
EMPIRE STATE STOVE.

THIS justly celebrated COOKING STOVE having been improved in every way it could be to make its operations more complete, and its plates beautifully ornamented—no expense, time or trouble having been spared to make this the most complete Cooking Stove ever brought before the public—the subscriber feels assured in warranting the IMPROVED EMPIRE STATE superior to any stove in the market, as hundreds can testify who have used them for the past year.

This Stove is fitted with a LARGE OVEN, which makes it desirable on account of doing more cooking with the same amount of fuel than can be done in any other stove. The flues are large, which ensures a good draft in all cases. The castings are very heavy and smooth, and those parts that come next the fire are extra thick, making it very durable. It is adapted to the use of either coal or wood, and we warrant them to operate as well with one as the other. We furnish them with the very best appanatus; and, altogether, it is the MOST DURABLE, ECONOMICAL and CONVENIENT COOKING STOVE ever made—complete in every respect. We ask the attention of all persons intending to purchase a new, or exchange their old stove, to an examination of the Improved Empire State.

We have also on hand a variety of other Cooking Stoves, called the "Banner," "Ruler of the States," "King of the States," "Bay State," "Anglo Saxon," "Pearl of Troy," &c.; with a large lot of PARLOR STOVES, such as the Revere Air-Tight, Star, Revere Parlor Coal, Lady Franklin, for Wood or Coal; Shop, Office and Air-Tight Stoves, of different sizes and prices for either wood or coal.

Also an extensive assortment of HOUSEKEEPING GOODS; Wooden, Willow, Glass, Britannia, Japan, Tin, Hard, Enamel, and Brass Ware; Copper, Cast Iron, and Chain Pumps; Window-Shades, Table Oil-cloths, &c.

All the above goods will be sold lower than can be bought elsewhere in this vicinity.

SOUTHERN FACTS.

The Boston Transcript publishes "by request" the following "facts for the next edition of Uncle Tom's Cabin," from the Martinsburg Gazette:

There died lately in a lower county of Virginia, a mulatto man who had been manumitted by his master, and who was, under our law, one of those persons who was permitted to remain in Virginia. His master had, with his liberty, left him a respectable property, and this man, by industry, accumulated an estate of $25,000. He had purchased his wife, who was a slave; and his children were, therefore, his own property, as well as his wife.

Falling into bad health, he went to Philadelphia sometime during this last summer for medical advice, but learning from the best physicians that his health was worse than he thought, and that he could not live, he wrote to a relation of his old master, to come on for him, which this gentleman did and stayed with him, and brought him back to Virginia at his request. He died shortly after his return, not long since; and by his last will left all his estate to this gentleman, as well as his wife and children, who are thus the slaves of his friend—trusting of course that he would care for them, and provide for them.

Here was an intelligent, wealthy man, who knew the condition of colored people in the Northern States, that preferred to leave his wife and children and all his property to a white man, to sending them out of the State, to live as free persons with a fine estate.

These are notorious and recorded facts, and can be proved if denied; and there are many such occurrences among our colored people which might be made public, to put to shame the exaggerated fictions of Mrs. Stowe and her adherents, if there was any possibility for substituting in the Northern mind, fact for fiction—reason for imagination—and charity in the place of sectional prejudice.

We republish the above statement without any request whatever, partly because we like to give both sides of a question, and partly because we deem it a very strange story. If it is true, the testator is insane, and his will ought to be set aside,—in which case, his wife and children, being his only heirs, would be rich enough to buy themselves, being his slaves,—and when they came to pay, they would merely have to pass the money round, from the right hand pocket into the left.

WHITE MOUNTAINS.—The weather for the fore part of the present month, among the mountains, it appears, was as remarkable for its mildness as in other regions of the north. On the 7th, a party ascended to the top of Mount Washington, to the Glen House, and on the 8th, another party ascended to the same point, and remained in the house on the top of the mountain, all night, and brought down with them mosses as green as in summer. On the 8th, the landlord of the Glen House was engaged in plowing one of his fields at the foot of the mountain.—Portland Advertiser.

Plowing must be over now.

The Baltimoreans will, on the 30th inst., have a grand fete, in celebration of the completion of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad to Wheeling. The President of the United States, the Cabinet, Congress, and the Governors of many States are invited to attend.

Rev. H. W. Beecher's lady has presented him with five little responsibilities in a little better than one year;—two soon after the arrival of Kossuth, and three "the other day."

FEMALE EMIGRATION TO AUSTRALIA.—A society exists in England for the promotion of female emigration to Australia. Under the auspices of this society, about eleven hundred women, mostly distressed needle women, of respectable character, have been sent to Australia, where they find employment, and, we presume, the most of them husbands.

There is good sleighing in Quebec, and the skating clubs are indulging in their favorite sport, in which the ladies join freely. So says an exchange paper. Why should not the ladies in this country take part in the healthy sport of skating. There is here and there one who dares to step over the foolish rules that bind down the American ladies, and take part in out-door exercises; but the great majority of our ladies would be frightened out of their wits if an individual should seriously advise them to go skating. This is all nonsense.—The English women live out of doors, and enjoy infinitely better health than American women. They indulge in all proper kinds of amusement and exercises. There is no more pleasing sight in the world than a lady who is a skillful skater. The movements of such an one constitute the poetry of motion.—Boston Chronicle.

DECEPTIVE VALUATION.—A man who is out of debt, and has money invested in notes, bonds and stocks, is very likely richer at any particular moment, than he reckons himself. For at that very time, when he is adding up his investments, there was a half year's interest partly accrued perhaps, or a semi-annual dividend almost earned which was omitted in his off-hand estimate. Whereas the case with him, who is in debt is the reverse exactly.—When he sums up in his mind the several amounts he owes, he is very apt to take no note of the time the interest has been running, by which politeness of the memory, the oblivious debtor slices off a good many hundred, perhaps thousand dollars, from the shady side of the account of his affairs. This ignoring of the awful item of interest has ruined thousands.

PORTSMOUTH:
SATURDAY, DECEMBER 18, 1852.

CHINESE IN CUBA.

There are now said to be two thousand Chinese laborers in the Island of Cuba, and six thousand more are on their way there.—They are exported at a cost of $125 a head, and receive $5 a month for the eight or ten years for which they are bound to their employer, by whom the expense of their exportation is paid. Those already in the island, it is said, have given great satisfaction by the industry and intelligence they display.

There has been much discussion of the question whether all the races of mankind had their origin in a single pair, or in as many as there are distinct races—and it will be discussed yet more, without arriving at conclusions to suit all, or even to silence either side.

But there is another question, whether the races, or any of them, will remain separate and pure? This question is rapidly being settled in the negative, not so much in theory, as in fixed fact. All nations of the earth will be of one mingled blood—the bounds of their habitation will be the bounds of the globe—and the place of their habitation will be every where. Japheth shall dwell in the tents of Shem: our country will be the world, and our countrymen will be all mankind.

Commerce, stimulated by steam and lightning, will fulfil many glorious prophecies, which have commonly been referred to supernatural events as the only possible means of their accomplishment.

CHEAP POSTAGE FOREVER.—The Boston Post enunciates sound doctrine, when it says: "There is no more reason in requiring the Post Office Department to pay its own expenses, than there would be in requiring our Mediterranean fleet to pay it expenses by bringing home raisins from Malaga and figs from Smyrna." So says the Boston Transcript, and so say we. No money ever appropriated by our government was better expended, than the million which it now costs to oil the wheels of cheap postage for a year.

THE STEAMER GENEVA.—Among those who were injured by the explosion of the steamer Geneva, near St. Louis, 5th inst., was William Rhodes, a deck hand, apparently about thirty years of age, a native of Rhode Island. It seems certain that the explosion was from powder, and not the explosion of the boilers. It is stated by the engineers, and their statement is confirmed by Mr. Johnson, the second clerk, that there was powder on board, stowed in the forecastle, and coals and hot ashes from the furnaces were spread on the icy planks used at the gangway, to keep the men from slipping, as they landed goods on a high bank. The boilers did not burst at all.

The Concord N. H. Daily Patriot, states that Mr. Seaver, the Whig mayor of Boston, is saved "by the skin of his teeth." This is a true bill. The mayor's own party, the whig, were divided on the liquor question—and the democrats came to the rescue. The Boston Daily Advertiser says,

One hundred guns were fired in the Public Garden yesterday morning, by the Washington Artillery, Captain Bullock, in honor of the re-election of Mayor Seaver. This demonstration was originated and carried out by a good Hunker Democrat.

ENGLISH BUTTER ON BOSTON BREAD.—There were 1083 firkins of butter brought to this port by the last steamer from Europe. It is generally of the most delicious sort.—At the same time there are tons of butter held from the market, in New Hampshire, in order to obtain high prices. Butter can be brought from the most distant counties in England, and sold at a lower price than what is demanded for that made in this vicinity. The English article too, is generally much superior. We must import butter if we want it for twenty-five cents a pound, retail.—Boston Bee.

NOT TILL AFTER THE HOLIDAYS.—The Providence Journal has the following not unmerited hit at "a way Congress have:"

As usual, we hear fm. Washington that there will be no business transacted by Congress till after the holidays. There are two periods at which Congress does no business. One is, "before the holidays," and the other is, "after the holidays."

GOSSIP.—Washington, Dec. 17.—A gentleman recently from Concord states on the strength of a personal interview with General Pierce, that he is at present inclined to make no Cabinet appointments from New England, as he considers that section of the country adequately represented in his own person.

DRUNKENNESS.—The latest definition of drunkenness was given in Court on Wednesday. The witness being asked what evidence the accused exhibited of being drunk, replied, "He was trying to put on his boots at the time, and so drunk, he could not find the hole to put his foot in."—Boston Post.

SALE OF A THEATRE.—The Chesnut street Theatre, Philadelphia, was sold on Wednesday, for the sum of $85,000.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

The proceedings in both Houses of our Federal Legislature on Thursday, were of more than usual interest. The interest belonging to the Senatorial doings on that day, was tinged with melancholy, arising from the present indications, amounting almost to a certainty, that the Honorable Mr. King, now President of the Senate, will never more take his seat in that body, nor act as Vice President, though he may possibly live to be inaugurated.

Among the proceedings of the Senate for that day we perceive that Mr. Atchison, pursuant to a written request of Mr. King, took the chair, and that Mr. Hunter moved that by unanimous consent the two bills passed by Congress, and signed by the presiding officers of the two houses, be carried to the President of the Senate, for his signature.

Mr. Badger explained that under the rules all bills were to be signed by the presiding officer in the presence of the Senate. The President of the Senate was too ill to appear in his place, and had therefore signed these bills in his room.

Mr. Hunter's motion was agreed to.

Mr. Butler presented the memorial of the Chamber of Commerce at Charleston, praying for an appropriation for the removal of the bar in that harbor.

[We hope it will be granted.]

The Kentucky election case was taken up and debated by Messrs. Hale, Toucey, Brooke and Miller.

Mr. Douglas then got the floor, when the Senate adjourned till Monday.

In the House, the subject of the Tariff of Duties was discussed in Committee of the Whole. The particular subject pending was, Mr. Brooks' proposition to except from reference to the committee of ways and means so much of the President's message as relates to tariff and customs, and that it be referred to the select committee of seven members, &c.

Mr. Jones moved an amendment to the effect that the ad valorem principle should be recognized in any bill that might be reported by the committee, and reducing the existing duties on imports with the view to the collection of no more revenue than shall be necessary to meet the legitimate expenses of the Government—This was adopted, 84 to 80.

Mr. Hillyer, of Ga., offered an amendment to the effect that an adjustment of the tariff on the principle of protection ought to be abandoned, and that taxes should be levied for the sole purpose of raising the revenue necessary, and that the Committee be instructed to consider the subject referred to them with a modification of the existing tariff, on the principle herein expressed.

Mr. Houston, of Ala., was opposed to the amendment, and to the whole proceeding, but it was adopted—yeas 85, nays 41.

Mr. Howe, of Penn., offered an amendment instructing the committee to report a bill proposing specific duties whenever practicable, with the view to prevent frauds upon the revenue.

Mr. Stanley opposed the amendment, though he said he was a thorough protectionist, yet he did so for the sake of protection, without the humbugging of incidental matters. He said that the Whigs as a general thing were in favor of protection and were opposed to the whole movement upon the question now before the House, it being designed to make buncomb at home.

Mr. Howe's amendment was refected.

Mr. Carter, of Ohio, offered an amendment with the view to ultimate free trade and direct taxation. He thought that the whole subject had better be looked square in the face, and earnestly desired the abolition of all Custom houses, and the saving of the three millions now annually squandered on worthless persons, to corrupt and eat out the purity of the franchise. He believed that direct taxation was more just to every section of the Union than the present mode of collecting revenue.

Mr. Brooks said he made his motion to deplete the treasury and stop the accumulation of the surplus revenue, and to this end desired to enlarge the free list, especially on raw materials.

Mr. Carter's amendment was finally adopted.

Mr. Lockhart offered a substitute for the proposition of Mr. Brooks as amended, instructing the committee of seven to report a bill on or before the fourth Monday in January, to graduate and reduce the tariff to the revenue standard.

Mr. Brooks opposed the amendment, and proposed another, instructing the committee to bring in a bill enlarging the list of free articles, and reducing the duty on such articles of foreign growth or production as do not come in competition with the agriculture or manufactures of our country.

Mr. Sweetser, of Ohio, replied to Mr. Brooks, and accused the present administration of extravagance.

Mr. Brooks replied in defence of the administration, after which both substitute and amendment were rejected.

The question then recurred on the adoption of Mr. Brooks' original amendment, as it had been amended on the motions of Messrs. Jones, Hillyer and Carter,—Yeas 15, Nays 64. There not being a quorum, the question was again taken, when 24 voted yea. The nays were not counted. So the proposition to refer the subject of the tariff to a select committee was rejected.

Mr. Clingman offered an amendment to abolish the duty on rail-road iron as a means of getting rid of the subject of the surplus.

Mr. Chandler, of Penn., opposed the amendment—and pending the consideration of the subject the committee rose and the House adjourned.

If we may infer any thing as to the tone and temper of the House, from this debate, there will be much talk and little action on the tariff this session. There appears to be a strong majority for free trade in theory—but it would be voted down by more than a two-thirds vote, if it were attempted to put some branches of it in practice.

☞ Mr. Cores' Lecture on the Tides, &c., announced for last evening, was postponed (on account of the weather,) to next Thursday evening.

N. H. General Court—Nov. Session, 1852.

(Abridged from the Patriot.)

THURSDAY, Dec. 16.

SENATE.—The following bills were read a third time and passed: bill regulating the appointment of agents in insurance companies; bill in amendment of chap. 729 pamphlet laws; bill in amendment of sec. 2, chap. 42 R. S.; bill in amendment of chap. 1229 pamphlet laws.

HOUSE.—Mr. Sargent of Wentworth, from the Judiciary committee, reported the following resolution in relation to the petition of the Mayor and Aldermen of Portsmouth for the removal of the Justice of the Police Court of that city:

Resolved, That while said committee disapprove of some remarks made by said Justice on the 7th day of July last, which might seem calculated to weaken the authority of the law, yet there is no sufficient cause shown for his removal, and that, therefore, the petitioners have leave to withdraw their petition.

On motion of Mr. Hackett of Portsmouth, the report was laid on the table.

Mr. Weeks of Canaan, from the committee on Railroads, reported the indefinite postponement of the bill to authorise the Great Falls Manufacturing Co. to aid in constructing certain Railroads. The report was accepted.

Mr. Hackett of Portsmouth, from the same committee, reported the bill in relation to the Concord and Portsmouth Railroad, with certain amendments.

On motion of Mr. Sargent of Wentworth, the bill and amendments were laid on the table.

Mr. May of Gilsum, from the committee on roads, bridges and canals, reported a bill for the laying-out of one or more roads over the north and south mill-ponds in Portsmouth, which was read and placed in the orders of the day.

Mr. Folsom of Dover, one of the majority voting on the question, gave notice that it was his intention to move a reconsideration of the vote concerning the extension of the Portsmouth & Great Falls Railroad.

The report of the Bank Commissioner, in the case of enquiry into the affairs of the Cochecho Bank, presented yesterday, states that the bank should be exonerated from all charges made against it—and the committee approve this report.

The following bills, &c., were read a third time and passed:—

Bill in amendment of chap. 140 of the Revised Statutes.

Bill in relation to pilots and pilotage.

The resolution providing for the better protection of the State Lunatic Asylum against fire, [which appropriates $700.]

Liquor Bill.—The question was—shall the first section of the bill as amended be adopted? which was put and negatived by 98 to 65—so the first section stands as reported by the committee.

The several amendments of a verbal character to the remaining sections were put and approved—136 to 27 being the votes on those referring to the amendment to the second section. The 16th section was striken out by an unanimous vote.

Mr. Cutter of Peterborough, moved to amend the second section of the bill, by striking out of the eighth line the words "medicinal and"—thus making the power to sell include liquors for mechanical purposes only. Negatived by a large majority.

Mr. Stanley of Hopkinton, moved to amend the 10th section by striking it out and substituting one instead. The tenth section provides for precedence of trial with the exception of criminal cases, and precludes the court or prosecutor from entering a nolle prosequi.—The substitute provides that those selling spurious or adulterated liquors shall be fined $13,33, to be recovered before any justice of the peace.

The motion to strike out was first put—a division of the question having been called for, the yeas and nays were then taken on striking out the 10th section as follows:—Yeas, 130; nays, 130.

The Speaker gave an affirmative vote for striking out, and the motion consequently prevailed, and the House adjourned.

SUDDEN DEATH OF A CLERGYMAN.—Rev. Oren Sikes, pastor of the Orthodox Church at Bedford, died suddenly at his residence on Wednesday morning last. He had been unwell for several days, but had preached on the Sunday before last. Early on Wednesday morning, a brother clergyman, who slept in the next room from him, heard Mr. Sikes breathe with some difficulty, and called a physician, who pronounced that he was in no danger, and that he would soon recover. The physician then left for his home, but was overtaken by the friend, who had discovered some change in the appearance of Mr. Sikes, but before they could reach him, he breathed his last. A post mortem examination was to have been held yesterday, to enquire into the cause of his sudden death.—His age was 47. His wife, who was a grand daughter of General Henry Knox, died about a year ago, and their family of four interesting children, are now left fatherless and motherless.—Boston Courier.

The Yellow Fever prevails in Barbadoes and Guadaloupe.

PRACTICAL INDEPENDENCE.—In the article on the Australian gold mines in the London Review, the writer gives a rich and ludicrous account of the practical equality which the abundance of gold mines makes between masters and servants. The following is an illustration:

One stockmaster, whose hands had deserted him, went to the diggings to induce them to return and shear his flocks, and made up his mind to submit to their own terms.

"Well, master," said the fellows, "we'll return and do the job, provided"——

"Yes," interrupted the master, joyfully, "I agree"——

"Provided we have the wool!"

As he was going away, they offered their old master "fifteen shillings per day to stay and be their cook!"

FRIGHTFUL INCREASE OF CRIME IN N. Y. In his late oration before the electors of Edinburgh, Mr. Macauley spoke of the recorded belief of Adam Smith and Gibbon, that they would never again be a destruction of civilization by barbarians." But alas! said he,—

"It did not occur to them, that civilization itself might engender the barbarians who should destroy it. It did not occur to them that in the very neighborhood of splendid palaces, and churches, and theatres, and libraries, and museums, vice and ignorance might produce a race of Huns fiercer than those who marched under Attila, and Vandals more bent on destruction than those who followed Genzeric."

A terrible truth is uttered here; a truth that strikes home to the heart, in view of the appalling increase of crime among us here, in the metropolis of the New World. Murder is become a matter of almost everyday occurrence, and the police department of the daily press is little else but a record of the most atrocious crimes, that cease to startle, so much are they become matters of the most ordinary occurrence. It is only a few years ago that the whole city used to be excited when there was bloodshed and life taken in the public streets. It is different, far different, now.—Within the forty-eight hours of the time we pen this, two murders in cold blood and sundry stabbing cases, each likely to end in loss of life, have taken place, apparently without creating in the public mind the least sensitiveness as to the kind of society that is growing up all about and around us.—N. Y. Express.

LATEST NEWS!

BY MAIL, EXPRESS & TELEGRAPH.

DR. GARDINER AND HIS MEXICAN CLAIM. Washington, Dec. 17th.—Letters have been received from Dr. Gardiner, from Mexico, dated 19th ult. He has procured strong additional testimony of the validity of his claim, and expects to return here about the last of this month.

SHIP ASHORE.—New York, Dec. 17.—A ship, name unknown, went ashore on the Romer shoals last night. The sea at last accounts was making a complete breach over her.

GREAT SNOW STORM.—Hanover, N. H. Dec. 17.—A foot of snow fell here during the night, and at this hour (10 A. M.) it is still snowing fast.

NORTH CAROLINA LEGISLATURE.—The North Carolina Legislature has resolved to adjourn on the 22d inst. There had been no further balloting for U. S. Senator.

THE LIEUTENANT GENERALSHIP.—The Richmond Enquirer expresses strong opposition to the project of creating the office of Lieut. General, on the ground that "the increase of offices, honors and titles, is in conflict with the spirit of our republican institutions," and the Richmond Whig "entirely concurs" with it and hopes "no Whig will vote for the proposition." It is not known that these two journals ever agreed upon any public measure before.—Boston Journal.

THE CALORIC SHIP—SUCCESSFUL EXPERIMENT.—We learn that the engine of the caloric ship Ericsson, was put in motion yesterday afternoon, for the first time; and although operating under some disadvantages, answered fully the expectations of the party interested. She made five revolutions per minute while lying at the dock, which is considered equal to ten or eleven when the vessel is under way. The engine will be operated for two or three days to come, by way of experiment, and to run the machinery smooth, in anticipation of the trial trip. The Ericsson is not accessible to visitors at present, but will be at some future time.—N. Y. Jour. Com.

BOLD ROBBERY.—The New Bedford Mercury is informed that one Francis Padra was robbed of three hundred dollars in bills, by John Sylvia and Joseph Silvira, who knocked him down in a street in the South part of the city, on Tuesday night. Silvia and Silvira have been arrested. None of the Money has been heard of.

ARREST OF A FORTUNE TELLER.—Rebecca Christiana Miller, a fortune teller, has been arrested in Philadelphia, charged with obtaining from a Mrs. Mitchell a gold watch worth $100, a lot of jewelry, a quantity of wearing apparel, an infant's cradle and bed clothes, together with other articles, under false pretences. It is alleged that the defendant duped the prosecutrix out of her property by telling her that if she did not give her the property her child would die in a few days; and that by giving up the articles she would soon come into possession of a large fortune, when she could come and redeem them.

THE AZTEC CHILDREN LAW-SUIT SETTLED.—The controversy about the possession of the Aztec children has been finally settled, by compromise. Mr. Morris, has them in charge, having paid to Raymondo Selva, the claimant for possession of them the sum of thirteen thousand dollars for his interest.—N. Y. Jour. Com.

A bill has passed through committee of the whole of the Ohio house of delegates, to protect the rights of persons claimed as fugitive slaves. Its provisions are somewhat similar to the famous Vermont law. It is thought, however, that it will not pass the legislature.

HOUSES FOR THE SECRETARIES.—The Washington correspondent of the Journal of Commerce says, the mansions for the Secretaries and Vice President proposed by the Home Department, will no doubt be provided for at once. A New Yorker comparing the estimate for these eight mansions, with an estimate for as many private houses in New York, will smile incredulously at the proposd sum of $300,000, including land and furniture for some half-dozen houses. But these are to be plain, republican establishments.

GLAD OF WINTER.—The Portland Advertiser is rejoicing over the first sleighing the people have had down east. The snow fell on Monday night, and sleighs came out on Tuesday, for the first time. The Advertiser says:

To those living at the sunny South, we suppose it may seem singular that snow should be welcomed by nearly every person; but such is the case now. Snow in Maine is as necessary in winter to our leading crop, to wit, lumber, as sunshine and rain are to the husbandman for his summer crops.

The want of snow in the woods prevents those lumbering operations which are so extensively carried on in Maine during the winter—for the backwoodsmen of Maine do not like the bear's life in the winter, torpid and inactive; but camping out in rude huts among the deep snows of the forest, thus secure a winter crop, that is the chief element of our prosperity as a State.

The delay in the annual appearance of snow in this section has not however been without its advantages to the farmers particularly.—The crop of hay having been short, the prices have reached the high rates of about $20 per ton in this place and vicinity. The absence of snow has enabled the cattle and sheep to "brouse" out in the fields and woods and thus "pick up" a large portion of their food to this time.

The effect has been to reduce the price of loose hay in this market several dollars below what it sold for a month since. Thus the farmers have been accommodated by the absence of snow, now the lumbermen will be grateful for its appearance.

HOUSE AND LIFE PROTECTORS
AGAINST FIRE AND LIGHTNING.

PATENT METALLIC
LADDER AND CONDUCTOR.

THIS new and important invention is one that should receive the attention of every person who owns a building, or who is interested in that which presents a "permanent safeguard" against lightning, and at the same time a light, strong and ornamental Ladder, which will securely warrant the inmates of any house the ready means of escape in case of fire.

The above are manufactured by Messrs. Washburn, Holland & Co. of Worcester, Mass., and have received the strongest testimonials of approval from many scientific and practical men. A moment's examination of the Metallic Ladder is sufficient to convince any person of its great utility.

☞ Price per foot, 20 cents; including Lightning Rods and Points of the most approved material.

Paralized Limbs

RESTORED to a perfect state of Health by COAD'S PATENT GALVANIC BATTERY, applied by Dr. A. B. BENNETT or J. H. THACHER. d4

DEATH BY DROWNING.—On Saturday evening between seven and eight o'clock, a man—probably intoxicated—walked off the pier at the South Boston new bridge. The tide was setting in, and, as the current at that point is very strong, he was quickly swept beyond the reach of assistance. Two watchmen upon the bridge heard the noise made upon his falling in, and his cries for assistance, and the gurgling sound of the water as he rose to the surface, but they were unable to render any assistance, as they were unconscious of his precise position, and were probably too far from him to be of any service. His name is not known, and his body has not as yet been recovered.—Boston Courier.

George W. Symonds, late proprietor of the Franklin House, in Hudson, N. Y., destroyed by fire, is in prison at that place for various robberies. His wife makes charges against him which, says the Hudson Gazette, will "eclipse, if credited, all former cases of grand and petit larceny ever recorded on our calendar."

Samuel Snoddy, a young man twenty years of age, was stabbed through the heart on the highway near Ogdensburg, N. Y., Dec. 3. The citizens turned out, and after a long search arrested the murderer at about 12 o'clock the same night.

SHIPS SOLD.—A new clipper ship, of 2000 tons, having three decks, and nearly ready for launching, has been sold by Mr. D. M. Kay, of East Boston, to a Baltimore firm, for $125,000. The ship Clara Wheeler, about 3 years old, has been sold to a New York firm for $80,000. The ship Moses Wheeler, 4 or 5 years old, has been sold to Bates & Co., of Boston, for $53,000.

THE ROGER WILLIAMS COOKING STOVE.

FOR COAL OR WOOD.

THE attention of all in want of a COOK STOVE is respectfully solicited to a consideration of the merits of this most beautifully modeled pattern; equally adapted for coal or wood, and warranted to operate successfully with either,—which is now offered to the public as the

Most Complete and Efficient

Cooking apparatus ever before introduced in this vicinity. It is an elegant model, with fine smooth Providence castings, fitted together in the most substantial manner. The oven, (by far the most important part of a cooking stove,) in point of capacity, and in regard to its operation, is unsurpassed by that of any other stove now in the market, it being lined with fire-brick to retain and equalize the heat, and provided with valves for the escape of steam, &c. arising from the roasting of meats—rendering it in this respect superior to the old fashioned but universally admired Tin Kitchen.

The broiling apparatus is constructed on an entirely new and original plan, and will not fail to recommend itself at the first glance, as no smoke or gas arising from that culinary process can escape into the room. The sliding hearth is an improvement not to be found in any other stove.

The boilers for hot water are the best and most now in the market, may be inferred from the fact that since its first introduction the last season, over THREE THOUSAND have been put into successful operation in New England and New York City.

Every stove is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction to the purchaser or the money refunded.

Each stove is warranted not to crack for twelve months from date of purchase. It is believed that this stove combines all the improvements that skill can invent, and is by far the most perfect cooking stove ever sold in Portsmouth. And though its price is higher than any other stove offered in this market of late, it is without question the cheapest in the end. All intending to purchase are respectfully invited to give this an examination before purchasing elsewhere.

Also, a variety of cheap Cook, Parlor, and Office Stoves, which are offered low.

WHAT-CHEER STOVE.

THE WHAT-CHEER COAL COOKING

STOVE, now offered for sale by the subscribers, is acknowledged by all who have examined it to be the best and most economical Coal Stove ever offered to the public.

The castings are heavy, smooth, and very handsome. The Broiling apparatus is a great improvement over all other Stoves, being arranged in such a manner as to prevent the steam from escaping into the room when cooking.

All persons wishing to purchase a COAL COOKING STOVE, are respectfully requested to call and examine the same. Every Stove warranted to work well, or no sale.

We have also a large assortment of COOKING, PARLOR and STORE STOVES, &c.—for sale cheap for Cash at our Stove

THE IMPROVED
EMPIRE STATE STOVE.

THIS justly celebrated COOKING STOVE having been improved in every way it could be to make its operations more complete, and its plate beautifully ornamented—no expense, time or trouble having been spared to make this the most complete Cooking Stove ever brought before the public—the subscriber feels assured in warranting the IMPROVED EMPIRE STATE superior to any stove in the market, as hundreds can testify who have used them for the past year.

This Stove has a large LARGE OVEN, which makes it desirable on account of doing more cooking with the same amount of fuel than can be done in any other stove. The flues are large, which ensures a good draft in all cases. The castings are very heavy and smooth, and those parts that come next the fire are extra thick, making it very durable. It is adapted to the use of either coal or wood, and we warrant them to operate as well with one as the other. We furnish them with the very best appanatus; and, altogether, it is the MOST DURABLE, ECONOMICAL and CONVENIENT COOKING STOVE ever made—complete in every respect. We ask the attention of all persons intending to purchase a new, or exchange their old stove, to an examination of the Improved Empire State.

We have also on hand a variety of other Cooking Stoves, called the "Banner" "Belle of the States," "King of the States," "Bay State," "Anglo Saxon," "Pearl of Troy," &c.; with a large lot of PARLOR STOVES, such as the Revere Air-Tight, Star, Revere Hall Stove, Lady Franklins for Wood or Coal; Shop, Office and Air-Tight Stoves, of different sizes and prices for either wood or coal.

Also an extensive assortment of HOUSEKEEPING GOODS; Wooden, Willow, Glass, Britannia, Japan, Tin, Hard, Enamel, and Brass Ware; Copper, Cast Iron, and Chain Pumps; Window-Shads, Table Oil-cloths, &c.

All the above goods will be sold lower than can be bought elsewhere in this vicinity.

THE WAY TO GET CUSTOMERS.

In Freedley's "Practical Treatise on Business," we find the following, under the head of "How to get customers."

"In the progressive stages of civilization, men have held many erroneous ideas, and have been chargeable with much folly, but I am not aware that at any time or in any age, they considered it sufficient to place themselves in one of the main 'groves of human affairs' and wait for fortune. Mercantile men have certainly never entertained the idea that all that is necessary, in order to do business, is to open a shop or store and stock it with merchandise. To take some means to inform the public of the nature of their business, and solicit their patronage, has ever been a matter of primary importance. In the middle of the seventeenth century, the shop keepers of London made known their business viva voce. The masters or proprietors would take a turn before their doors, crying out, "What d'ye lack, madam?" and then run over a list of the commodities they dealt in, and when tired, the task was assumed by the apprentice' thus making the city a Babel of strange sounds.

The Democratic era was succeeded by the age of signs, which genius soon improved, ornamented by all imaginable devices. Painting, gilding, boars' heads, flying dragons, and flying swans, were conspicious emblems. As the capabilities of the printing press were developed, shrewd men saw in it a chance to 'universalize their sign-board.' They saw they could place upon it not only their name and number, but a full account of their stock and their range of prices; they saw that they could challenge the attention not only of those who passed by their store, but of men in all places and at all times. The present is the era of advertising. Advertising is the best mode of drawing buyers than I can suggest. By means of it, men can sell articles that are valueless, and make fortunes by it! Why should not those who have valuable articles to dispose of? An extensive system of advertising is invariably resorted to by those who have trash to dispose of, and it succeeds; how much easier, then, to sell a useful and valuable article! Advertising and politeness are the main levers to get customers. Advertising will draw them, ability to fill their orders will satisfy them, and politeness will induce them to buy.

HEAVING DOWN.—The Atlas says: The dock at the Charlestown Navy Yard is at present occupied by the ship-of-the-line Vermont, and as there is no other dock large enough to accommodate our clippers, for the purpose of being coppered, recourse is had to the old mode of heaving down. Francis Low & Co., riggers, have already hove down the clipper ship Flying Childers, of 1195 tons; hove down yesterday the Queen of the Pacific, of 1400 tons; and in a few days will heave down the Flying Arrow, of 1200 tons.

The Grand Junction Railroad wharf at East Boston, is the place where the vessels are hove down; and the poetical feature of this revival of an old art is the fact, that the same purchase blocks first used to heave the Constitution frigate down, are now used for heaving out our clippers. Here is a glorious theme for a newly fledged poet to try his wings upon. Blocks may at first appear rather prosy, but to show that they can be warmed into poetry, we quote the following, which probably appeared original in Squire Slack's great speech recently delivered at Chelsea:

REEFING TOPSAILS.

"The sailors now, to give the ship relief,
Reduce the topsails by a single reef;
Each lofty yard with slackened cringle reels;
Rattle the creaking blocks and ringing wheels;
Down the tall masts, the topsails sink amain,
And soon reduced, resume their posts again."

At Cincinnati, Ohio, when Tom Thumb was selling his pamphlet, and greeting the ladies with a kiss, a negro woman bought one, and puckered up her mouth for a salute. Tom drew back, "Ah, ah," said he, "go away, colored person, dis child ain't g'wine to 'malgamate." "Well, please de lor," exclaimed the negro woman, in astonishment, "if he wasn't no bigger dan a mouse, he'd be sure to have suffin against de colored pop'lation."

FISHING FOR POPULARITY.

Nothing appears more suspicious in a politician than publicly disclaiming all desire to gain popularity. A number of years ago, a prominent member of the New Hampshire Legislature, who was evidently anxious to gain the good opinion of his fellow men, embraced every opportunity to declare, that he was actuated solely by disinterested motives—that he would be the last man to flatter the prejudices of his party, or recommend any public measures, merely for the purpose of gaining popularity. After an harangue in the House, which he ended as usual, with a disclaimer of this kind, a shrewd old farmer, who bye the bye, was troubled with an inveterate lisp, arose, and remarked that the language of the gentleman who had just taken his seat, on this and other occasions, reminded him of a circumstance which once came to his knowledge. "A baker," said he, "on entering hith thop one morning, found a thuthpithouth-looking perthon prethent. On being athked what he wanted, he replied that he found the door unfathened and walked in, and wath waiting the entranth of the mather of the thop; 'but' thaid he, 'I athure you thir, I have taken nothing from your thelves—I would thcorn to appropriate to mythelf any of your loaveth, thweet caketh, or thinther-bread.' But the baker, hearing him thuth unethihethiarily dithclaim any evil intention, withely thought proper to thearch him, and on turning hith pocketh inthide out, found them full of cake and thinther bread!"

SHIP CANAL.

The great project of a ship canal through the Isthmus of Darien, by which the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans shall be united, is now about to be executed. The gold of California and Australia has created a state of things which demands this work, and which, at the same time makes it feasible.

From the latest English papers we learn that at a meeting of the Eastern Steam Navigation Company, held at London, it was mentioned by Sir C. Fox, that he with his partners had signed a contract for the construction of a Ship Canal through the Isthmus of Darien. The canal is to be 30 feet deep at low tide, 140 broad locks, to be 400 feet from metre to metre, and 90 feet wide between the gate quoins, and he considered that it would be equal to the trade of the world.

☞ GREENOUGH, the celebrated American Sculptor, whose insanity was mentioned a few days ago, died (as we learn from the Boston Transcript) on Saturday morning, of a short but violent attack of brain fever. The place of his death is not mentioned. We suppose he died at Somerville.

FIRE AND LOSS OF LIFE.

The Boston Mail gives an account of a most distressing case of fire and loss of life, which occurred about 6 o'clock on Wednesday evening last, at Claremont in this State:

A dwelling house occupied by Mr. Peter Jackson, was discovered to be on fire, and before any assistance could be given, was totally destroyed. The fire originated in the room where Mrs. Jackson was confined by sickness, and unable to walk; but it would seem she had dragged herself from the place where she was left, as she was found burnt to death near the outer door. Her remains were taken from the ruins the next morning.

How the fire originated is unknown, as Mr. Jackson had a few minutes before left the house to go to a neighbor's. So rapid was the progress of the flames, that the entire contents of the dwelling were destroyed, together with a considerable amount of grain and other provisions in the cellar.

BEAUTIFUL AND USEFUL.

THE BOSTON ALMANAC, for 1853 is a beautiful little Annual from the press of Damrell & Moore, and George Coolidge. Besides the Calendar pages, memoranda, and a complete Business Directory, the Almanac contains a Description of Ancient and Modern Boston, by Dr. J. C. V. Smith; a map of Boston as it was, and another of Boston as it is; a beautiful vignette title page, representing a busy printing office, &c.; cuts, of the New Tremont Temple, the Williams Market, the New State Insane Asylum at Taunton, and the National Capitol at Washington, as it is to be.

The Almanac is published at 18 Devonshire street, Boston.

NOT SO FAST.—The little paragraph about Mrs. Henry Ward Beecher's five children in a year, is a very fine item, all but one thing, viz. it is not true. Some penny-a-liner has "sold" the newspapers—and the readers.

"THE WHOLE FIGURE."—The following toast was given at an entertainment which the democracy of Clinton, La., recently got up for Gen. Pillow of Tennessee:—

"The natural boundaries of the United States—The North American continent with the adjacent islands."

On which side of this great continental fortification does the General propose to make that "ditch?"

☞ Gen. Scott has reported the state of the Army to the War Department. He mentions the Military Hospital, but does not say whether he has selected a site for it!

SHIP ASHORE.—Last evening, Mr. Caleb Curtis, President of the Neptune Insurances Co., received a despatch stating that the ship Winsor Fay, Capt. Daivs, from Leghorn, was ashore on the Lower Shoals, in New York Bay, full of water. Assistance had been sent down to her.—Boston Herald.

This is the ship which was mentioned in the Chronicle of Saturday, without a name.

DEATH OF AN AGED SCHOOL MISTRESS.—Miss Mary Merriam died at the residence of Mr. Joshua Harlow, in Cambridge, on the 28th day of Nov., aged nearly 89 years. She taught the first school established in Cambridgeport, which was very thinly settled at the time. Her school numbered the first season twelve scholars. Two or three of these pupils are still living. Miss Merriam possessed naturally a feeble constitution, and was subject to much sickness in middle life; yet she enjoyed a remarkable vigorous old age. She was at the time of her decease the oldest resident but one in Cambridge.

HIRED TO STEAL.—In a case of theft which came before the court at New Bedford a day or two since, it appeared that Miller, the defendant, charged with stealing a new pattern of calico, was employed by a calico manufacturer in Haverstraw, and witness testified that it was a common thing for workmen to steal new patterns, and sell them to rival establishments. One witness said he had received $100 per year for doing the same thing.

N. H. General Court—Nov. Session, 1852.

(Abridged from the Patriot.)

In the Senate on Friday last, the Committee on Military Affairs made a very military and patriotic report on the memorial of Geo. C. Beckwith, Secretary of the American Peace Society, and others, upon the subject of "stipulated arbitration as a substitute for war." The gist of the report is, that the committee agree with the memorialists, that war is a great national evil, which should in our judgment be avoided, if possible, consistent with national duty or national honor. But, surrounded as is our country by regal governments, our youths should be trained to look danger in the face!—that the committee think the armies of Europe would not be disbanded should the scheme of the memorialists be adopted, but that they would ever be prepared and stand ready to assail our nation, whenever its weakness or want of preparation for defence would justify it,—and that in consequence of this danger, the Military Committee do not deem it proper to recommend the project of the memorialists—but recommend that the subject be indefinitely postponed. The report was laid on the table.

The resolution providing for protection of the Asylum buildings from fire, with the House amendment changing the appropriation from $300 to $700, was recommitted to the committee on the Asylum. Adjourned over to 4 o'clock Monday afternoon.

HOUSE.—Thos. J. Whipple resigned the office of Clerk.

Read a third time and passed.—Bill to amend an act to incorporate the New Hampshire Mutual Fire Insurance Company.

Bill to facilitate and render less expensive trial by jury.

Bill to incorporate the Walpole Carpet Manufacturing Company.

Bill in amendment of chap. 110 of the R. S., relating to the sealing of weights and measures.

Liquor Bill specially assigned.—On motion of Mr. Preston of New Ipswich, the consideration of the new Liquor bill was specially assigned for Thursday next at half past 3.

Mr. Hackett of Portsmouth gave notice of his intention to introduce a bill to establish the salary of the Treasurer of Rockingham county.

Mr. Bartlett of Portsmouth, from the select committee on the subject of a State Reform School for juvenile offenders, reported the following resolution, which, upon his motion, was laid on the table, and Tuesday next at half past 11 o'clock specially assigned for its consideration.

Resolved, That it is expedient for this State to establish a "State Reform School for Juvenile Offenders," and that the select committee aforesaid be directed to report the proper resolves and bills for that purpose.

Truant children and absentees from school.—The bill relating to truant children and absentees from school, was next put upon its final passage, when Mr. Stilphen of Bartlett moved its indefinite postponement.

Mr. Hackett of Portsmouth explained the absolute necessity which existed for the passage of the bill. It was designed to save the youth, of large cities especially, from growing up in truancy and crime. City authorities had no power in the matter; and that they would require some power was manifest when it was considered that three fire-raisings in Portsmouth were traced to truant children, or those who had careless parents. The bill was not certainly inapplicable to rural districts; but then, again, it was not forced upon them. It was optional with cities and towns to adopt it or otherwise, as they pleased. In view of this necessity, Mr. Hackett hoped the gentleman from Bartlett would withdraw his motion.

Mr. Stilphen, by leave, withdrew his motion, and the bill was read a third time and passed.

The House adjourned to Monday at 3 P. M. —Yeas 162, nays 92—maj. 70.

ONLY ONE REASON.—Horace Mann in his lecture on "Woman" says—"I see but one reason why women should not preach the gospel, and that reason is, that it is ten thousand times better to go about practising the gospel, than even to preach it."

Fresh fruit is never eaten by the Russians till it has been blessed by the priest. This is a sanitary measure, as well as a religious observance, as it never can obtain the blessing till it is perfectly ripe; then it is taken to the church and blessed with great solemnity.

"FEMALE SCHOOL OF DESIGN."—A bachelor writes to us in a very excited state, protesting against the proposed School of Design for Women. He urges that already nine out of ten men are victims to their designs, and if their natural instincts are to be so highly cultivated, not a single man will escape the bonds of matrimony.—Lanters.

An official proclamation appears in the Havana papers, summoning Senora Donna Carlota Mora de Goicouria, and Senora Donna Julia Echarte de Valiente, the wives of two members of the Cuban Junta, in New York, to appear at Havana, and take their trial before the Military Commission, for high treason, or be condemned in contumaciam! These ladies it will be recollected, worked with their own hands, and presented a Cuban flag, to the members of the Junta.

SLAVERY IN VIRGINIA.—The census exhibits some interesting facts relating to the "institution," and we select some data respecting its progress in Virginia. The number of slaves held in that State in 1830, was 470,000; the next decennial census showed a decrease of twenty thousand. The census of 1850, however, exhibits an increase of more than that number, and the total is set down at 473,000. During twenty years the State has about maintained its position as respects slavery. In this time, however, there have been exported from the State 282,000.

LOCAL.

TO NEW SUBSCRIBERS.—For $3, we will give every person who may subscribe between this time and the first of January, a receipt from the time of subscribing (and paying) to Jan. 1st, 1854.

☞ After January 1st, '53, the Chronicle will not be for sale by the carriers. Persons wishing it left regularly at their residence or place of business, are respectfully invited to leave their names at the office or with the carriers.

SUP. COURT, CONCORD—DEC. TERM. FRIDAY, Dec. 17, 1852.

In the case of the P. & C. Railroad vs. Wm. Jones & Son, Chief Justice Gilchrist remarked in substance, that the questions involved in the case were of great importance, some of which concerned the rights of the defendants and their liabilities in the suit, and other questions relating to the rights of the plaintiffs to maintain any suit. [We presume that the latter relate to the legal organization of the corporation.]

It was also stated that similar questions were before the Court, arising in suits in different sections of the State, all of which require the mature consideration of the Court; that they are of so much importance to the corporation and the individuals interested, that the Court deem it proper and expedient to take further time before coming to a final decision—and under the circumstances, the above-named case may be further continued.

PORTSMOUTH & CONCORD RAILROAD.—There have been some reports in circulation here, for two or three days past, that the Judges of the Superior Court had made their decision in the case of the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad vs. William Jones and others, and that it was informally divulged.

But we learn from good authority that none of the Judges of that Court have given the least intimatton of their opinion, and that no decision has been made.

HOURS OF LABOR.—This morning the workmen on the Navy Yard begin work as usual, one hour after sunrise. The same order which was sent to the other Navy Yards, was received here on Wednesday last, and was acquiesced in without an emeute. The order for its suspension was received on Saturday.—We suppose the hours of labor at Navy Yards may now be considered as settled. The present hours of labor were fixed in 1840, during the administration of Mr. Van Buren.

☞ R. Dickerson, Esq., an authorised agent for the Washington National Monument Society, is now in this city, where he spends a few days in visiting the schools, for the purpose of taking collections from the scholars towards erecting a Monument to Washington. He will not call on, nor solicit the citizens generally, but will confine his efforts in the channel above indicated.

☞ Mr. Wenzel's Art Union is proving decidedly a hit. The tickets for his Wednesday evening exhibition, and distribution of Pictures, are mostly disposed of. The arrangement is precisely similar to the American Art Union—every ticket-holder gets something pretty and acceptable, and stands a chance to get a very valuable painting or engraving. There will be a very pleasant gathering at Rechabite Hall, Wednesday evening. The Hall is open to visitors at all times. See Mr. W.'s advertisement.

☞ A brisk business man of Concord, informs us that efforts are being made in that place, to form a company, with a capital of $200,000, to import goods at this place for wholesale interior trade. So mote it be—but Portsmouth citizens should lead in the enterprise.

SHIP RED ROVER.—Our ship news to-day gives the clearance of this fine clipper for San Francisco. During her short stay in New York she has been visited by many connoisseurs, and pronounced to be the finest ship of her class in port. Judging from her remarkable run to that port, although encountering one of the severest storms of the season, and the known energetic qualities of her commander, her admirers predict a short passage to California.

STEREOTYPING.—A New York letter in the Philadelphia Inquirer, says: "I have just been inspecting a number of sterrotype plates cast in gutta percha. The mould is of the same material, and the letters all come up with a fair face. The impressions from these plates are perfect, and if it works as well as it at present promises to, there must be a complete revolution wrought in the business of stereotyping."

MATERIALISM.—An infidel, who had been attempting to prove that men have no souls, asked a lady, with an air of triumph, what she thought of his philosophy. "It appears to me," she replied, "that you have been employing a good deal of talent to prove yourself a beast."

A fossil elephant has been exhumed near Zanesville, Ohio. It is the third of the species which has been discovered in the same bank. The last specimen it said to be nearly twice as large as any known Asiastic or African elephant.

A Company has been formed to put to use the immense water power at Niagara Falls.—Boston Chronicle.

RAILROADS IN THE UNITED STATES.—It appears by the report of the Superintendent of the Census, that the whole number of miles of railroad completed in the United States on the 1st day of January, 1852, was 10,814; and that about the same number of miles additional were in progress of construction. Twelve hundred miles of the last-named is assumed to have been completed during the present year, making in the aggregate of working road at the present time 12,014 miles.

The whole amount of money invested in these enterprises up to January 1852, inclusive of those in progress of construction, was $492,770,000.

The entire length of the railroads of the United States is nearly equal to that in all the rest of the world; at an average cost per mile, however, of little more than one fourth. The first mile of road built in this country was in 1826, and was constructed for freight purposes at the Quincy quarries in this State.

Some idea of the motley character of the San Antonio population may be formed from the circumstance, that at a great land sale lately, the auctioneer and his associates made their offers to conduct the sales in four different tongues, the English, Spanish, German and French.

The most effectual cure for moths, so common in stores of goods, is said to be a moderate dose of newspaper advertisements—in papers having a large and general circulation.

The fair for the shirt sewers in New York, yielded the handsome sum of $1500 above the expenses.

On the 1st of January, 1853, the sale of lottery tickets will be forever prohibited in Virginia.

THE WEEKLY CHRONICLE.
TO BEGIN WITH THE NEW YEAR.
$1 A YEAR, INVARIABLY IN ADV.

FULLY SATISFIED with the entire success of the Daily Chronicle, and in consequence of much solicitation on the part of friends and patrons far and near, the subscribers have made arrangements to issue (as above) a Weekly
FAMILY NEWSPAPER,
in connection with the Daily Chronicle. It will be of medium size, printed in the same style as the Daily, and made up chiefly from its columns.

TERMS $1 per annum, invariably in advance. To Clergymen of all denominations, half price.

☞ All papers discontinued at the end of the term for which advance payment is made;—so no patron will long get a paper he does not want.

☞ All Postmasters will act as our Agents; and any person sending us $5, (the papers to be sent to one address) will receive a sixth copy for the service.

TO ADVERTISERS.
We offer the best advantages at the lowest rates. Advertisements will be inserted in both papers without extra charge. The Chronicle is (of course) circulated among a greater variety of readers than any partisan journal.

LATEST NEWS!

BY MAIL, EXPRESS & TELEGRAPH.

NEW YORK, Dec. 17.—The Freeman's Journal announces that Bishop Ives of South Carolina, has joined the Roman Catholic Church.

BREAKING GROUND.—Cincinnati, Dec. 16. The ceremony of breaking ground on the Cincinnati and Dayton Railroad was performed to-day.

PRICE OF HOGS.—Hogs are selling at 63c; mess pork $17.

Louisville, Dec. 18.—The steamer Western World, was run into near Hurricane Island, by the steamer H. R. W. Hill, and sunk. The vessel is a total loss. Several lives were also lost. The steamer Moro Castle was also sunk near the same place—particulars unknown.

Key West, Dec. 12.—Brig Florida, Drinkwater, Charleston Nov. 12, for Boston, put into this port 5th inst. She encountered a severe gale, lost part of deck load, sprung foremast and leaked badly: has been condemned. Brig Harp has been chartered to take her cargo to Boston, and will commence loading 13th. Several bales of cotton have been damaged, 2 tierces of rice were stove, and 29 bales of cotton were thrown overboard in the gale.

EXCITEMENT AT THE NAVY YARD IN WASHINGTON.—We learn from the Washington News that considerable excitement was caused at the Navy Yard in that city, on account of an attempt to carry out the obnoxious order requiring an extra hour's labor of the workmen daily. On Tuesday, Major B. B. French waited upon the Secretary of the Navy, with the Committee of Mechanics appointed for that purpose, and they were assured by the Secretary, who received the committee with great courtesy, that the obnoxious order should be suspended. An order to suspend the order was subsequently received, the difficulty was settled, and all hands at the Navy Yark went to work again.

New York, Dec. 17.—Orders were received to-day at the Brooklyn Navy Yard to rescind the late order respecting the hours of labor. Nearly all the men have resumed work.

THE HEAVIEST ROBBERY that has occurred in Cincinnati for many years, was perpetrated on Tuesday evening, on board the steamer Editor, lying at the wharf, on her way from Pittsburg to St. Louis. While the passengers were at supper, the state room of Mr. Robert Butcher was pried open with a chisel, and $5231 abstracted from a valise in the room. The valise contained three boxes of similar make, one containing papers, one an accordeon, the third the money in gold, which the scoundrels took, safely getting off.

Mr. Butcher was formerly a resident of Cambria county, Pa., near Johnstown, and was on his way to the West to seek a new home, accompanied by his wife and children. The money was all he possessed in the world, and the shock of the loss was so great upon his wife that it was found necessary to use force to prevent her from throwing herself into the river.

THREE DAYS LATER.

The steamer Africa, arrived at New York on Friday, sailed from Liverpool 4th inst.

In the British Parliament the financial statement was exhibited on the 2d inst.

In the House of Lords on the 2d inst., the Marquis of Clanricarde brought forward notice of a motion to confirm Free Trade, similar to that debated in the lower House. Lord Derby in reply stated that he had no objection to have this matter, involving as it did the future policy of the country, settled by the House. He therefore suggested some verbal amendments merely, and tendered to the Marquis of Clanricarde a resolution, which was accepted as his own.

His Lordship then gave notice that on Monday he would move as follows, viz:—That this house acknowledging the general prosperity, and deeply sensible of the evils attendant upon frequent changes in financial policy, adhere to the commercial system recently established, and would view with regret any attempt to disturb its operations or impede its intentions.

FRANCE.—The votes were counted on the 2d, and the result was laid before the Emperor at St. Cloud by M. Bilault, to which the former replied, saying:—"I take from this day the crown of Napoleon the 3d, because the people have bestowed it upon me with their acclamations; because the Senate has legally proposed it; and because the whole nation has ratified it. Receive here my oath that no sacrifice shall be wanting on my part to insure the prosperity of my country, and that whilst I maintain peace, I will yield in nothing which may touch the honor or dignity of France.

At one o'clock Napoleon made a public entry as Emperor into Paris.

The Imperial Crown ordered, sometime since, is nearly ready. Leomnier, the jeweller on the Place Vendome, is the artist. He is also preparing a casket of jewels for the future Empress.

The Emperor Napoleon has signed a decree pardoning all persons guilty of offences of the press; also 219 political convicts.

General Rybynski, a distinguished Polish general, has forwarded an address to the Emperor, saying that the Poles will range under his banner, should France renew her wars.—A Birmingham manufacturer has received an order to coin 700 tons of copper into the coinage of the new French Empire. Four thousand tons are required in all, and the work will take four years to complete.

General St. Arnaud, Magnan, and St. Castame, have been appointed marshals of France.

A locomotive on the Northern Railway, a few days ago, going at full speed, struck a man upon the track, knocked him between the rails, and the whole train passed over him. Fortunately it broke no bones, but the man said, when he got up, "It gave him a tremendous jar, and he was afraid he should have the headache!"

HOUSE AND LIFE PROTECTORS
AGAINST FIRE AND LIGHTNING.

PATENT METALLIC
LADDER AND CONDUCTOR.

THIS new and important invention is one that should receive the attention of every person who owns a building, or who is interested in that which presents a "permanent safeguard" against lightning, and at the same time a light, strong and ornamental Ladder, which will securely warrant the inmates of any house the ready means of escape in case of fire.
The above are manufactured by Messrs. Washburn, Holland & Co. of Worcester, Mass., and have received the strongest testimonials of approval from many scientific and practical men. A moment's examination of the Metallic Ladder is sufficient to convince any person of its great utility.
☞ Price per foot, 20 cents; including Lightning Rods and Points of the most approved material.

THERE'S NO SUCH WORD AS FAIL!

"EXCELSIOR."

Ho! toiler of the moody brow!
Ho! youth of downcast eye!
Why should'st thou talk of sinking now,
Why heave that bitter sigh?
Come, coin thy thoughts in Hope's bright mould,
And light that cheek so pale;
For youths like thee, so young and bold,
There's no such word as fail!

Art crossed in love? Let beauty frown;
Turn thou to surer game;
Turn to the virtuous deed's renown,
And earn a deathless name.
Turn to the works of godlike men;
Hoist up a daring sail;
And if thou stumblest, try again—
There's no such word as fail!

The Spanish voyager crossed the sea
To seek another world;
And, sickening in despondency,
His weary sails he furled.
But, taking heart, he wended on,
Till land birds filled the gale;
Columbus saw his work was done—
There's no such word as fail!

Thousands who rose from want and gloom
Are now in grandeur laid,
With storied marbles o'er their tomb,
In many a minster's shade;
Whilst noble youths, with bended head,
Think, as the brow they veil,
And learn the glorious art to tread
There's no such word as fail!

And thou, oh youth of moody look,
Cheer up thy sinking heart!
Try a new leaf in life's worn book,
Con o'er a better part.
A mocking devil bids thee fear,
But turn and cry—I fail!
And shout into his aching ear—
There's no such word as fail!

DEATH OF FANNY WRIGHT.—It is announced that this celebrated female, latterly known as Madame D'Arusmont, died very suddenly at Cincinnati, Ohio, on Tuesday last. She was born in Dundee, Scotland, September 6, 1795. Her parents were related to some of the most distinguished families of Scotland and England. She came to this country in 1818, and commenced a proselyting career as a lecturer and writer against revealed religion. Whether her notions were Atheistical or simply Deistical, we do not remember, nor is it important to the world to know — Her public career was a failure; and her private was hardly more fortunate. After preaching against marriage, she finally married a Frenchman, with whom, we believe, she has had many troubles; having been latterly involved in a law suit, which has probably molested her a good deal. She was a woman of masculine powers of mind, in some respects, but seems to have abandoned of late years her hope of bringing over the world to her gloomy notions. In company with Robert Dale Owen, she established in New York an infidel paper, called "The Free Enquirer," which, after lingering a few years, became extinct. The proximate cause of Madame D'Arusmont's death is said to have been a severe fall, she experienced last winter.

North American Soap Co.

MANUFACTURERS, City and Country Dealers and the public are requested to give their Soap a trial. It is cheaper than other good Family Soap; can be used in cold, SALT or HARD water as effectually as the softest; will remove Grease, Tar, Paint, &c., and contains no ingredients injurious to the skin or most delicate fabric; is superior for Woolen Goods, and clothes washed with it require NO BOILING and but little rubbing. Numerous testimonials might be appended, but the properties recommend its use. Sold by the principal Grocers throughout the country. All orders promptly attended to. M. B. BIGELOW,

PATENTS.

American and Foreign Office.

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS
With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,
No. 24 State Street, Boston.

IN 1846 the undersigned established Agent at the United States Patent Office, in accordance with the 10th section of the Act of 1837.

Having relinquished the agency for the transmission of models, and adopting a more expeditious mode of sending them to the Patent Office, whereby a Patent can be procured several weeks earlier, he continues to forward them, as before, free of expense, and to prepare Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, Petitions, Affidavits, Papers and Drawings for Patents, and to render advice on legal and scientific matters respecting the same. Patents secured in Europe.

The subscriber aims to present to inventors superior facilities for obtaining patents, and is now prepared to make Specifications at rates cheaper by ten to twenty per cent. than those of other agencies. They can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skillful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"PATENT OFFICE, ———
"R. H. EDDY, Esq., Boston, Mass.

"SIR:—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any other agent I am very respectfully,

THE attention of all in want of a COOK STOVE is respectfully solicited to a consideration of the merits of this most beautifully modeled pattern; equally adapted for coal or wood, and warranted to operate successfully with either,—which is now offered to the public as the

Cooking apparatus ever before introduced in this vicinity. It is an elegant model, with fine smooth Providence castings, fitted together in the most substantial manner. The oven, (by far the most important part of a cooking stove,) in point of capacity, and in regard to its operation, is unsurpassed by that of any other stove now in the market, it being lined with fire-brick to retain and equalize the heat, and provided with valves for the escape of steam, &c. arising from the roasting of meats—rendering it in this respect superior to the old fashioned but universally admired Tin Kitchen.

The broiling apparatus is constructed on an entirely new and original plan, and will not fail to recommend itself at the first glance, as no smoke or gas arising from that culinary process can escape into the room. The sliding hearth is an improvement not to be found in any other stove.

The popularity of this over all other stoves now in the market, may be inferred from the fact that since its first introduction the last season, over THREE THOUSAND have been put into successful operation in New England and New York City.

Every stove is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction to the purchaser or the money refunded.

Each stove is warranted not to crack for twelve months from date of purchase. It is believed that this stove combines all the improvements that skill can invent, and is by far the most perfect cooking stove ever sold in Portsmouth. And though its price is higher than any other stove offered in this market of late, it is without question the cheapest in the end. All intending to purchase are respectfully invited to give this an examination before purchasing elsewhere.

Also, a variety of cheap Cook, Parlor, and Office Stoves, which are offered low.

WHAT-CHEER STOVE.

THE WHAT-CHEER COAL COOKING STOVE, now offered for sale by the subscribers, is acknowledged by all who have examined it to be the best and most economical Coal Stove ever offered to the public.

The castings are heavy, smooth, and very handsome. The broiling apparatus is a great improvement over all other Stoves, being constructed in such a manner as to prevent the steam from escaping into the room when cooking.

All persons wishing to purchase a COAL COOKING STOVE, are respectfully requested to call and examine the same. Every Stove warranted to work well, or no sale.

We have also a large assortment of COOKING, PARLOR and STORE STOVES, &c.—for sale cheap for Cash at our Store,

THE IMPROVED
EMPIRE STATE STOVE.

THIS justly celebrated COOKING STOVE having been improved in every way it could be to make its operations more complete, and its plates beautifully ornamented—no expense, time or trouble having been spared to make this the most complete Cooking Stove ever brought before the public—the subscriber feels assured in warranting the IMPROVED EMPIRE STATE superior to any stove in the market, as hundreds can testify who have used it for the past year.

This Stove has a very LARGE OVEN, which makes it desirable on account of doing more cooking with the same amount of fuel than can be done in any other stove. The dinner pail large, which ensures a good draft in all cases. The cooking plates are very heavy and smooth, and those parts that come next the fire are extra thick, making it very durable. It is adapted to the use of either coal or wood, and we warrant them to operate as well with one as the other. We furnish them with the very best appanatus; and, altogether, it is the MOST DURABLE, ECONOMICAL and CONVENIENT COOKING STOVE ever made—complete in every respect. We ask the attention of all persons intending to purchase a new, or exchange their old stove, to an examination of the Improved Empire State.

We have also on hand a variety of other Cooking Stoves, called the "Banner," "Belle of the States," "King of the States," "Bay State," "Angio Saxon," "Pearl of Troy," &c.; with a large lot of PARLOR STOVES, such as the Revere Air-Tight, Star, Revere Parlor Cook, Lady Franklin, for Wood or Coal; Shop, Office and Air-Tight stoves, of different sizes and prices for either wood or coal.

Also an extensive assortment of HOUSEKEEPING GOODS; Wooden, Willow, Glass, Britannia, Japan, Tin, Hard, Enamel, and Brass Ware; Copper, Cast Iron, and Chain Pumps; Window-Shads, Table Oil cloths, &c.

All the above goods will be sold lower than can be bought elsewhere in this vicinity.

THE SKELETON OF THE WRECK.

Those who follow the occupation of a mariner are exposed to many perils, among which are shipwreck and starvation. It is a terrible thing to be destitute of food and drink, and to pass day after day in an open boat, or on a shattered wreck or raft, far from human assistance, gradually losing strength and suffering all the cravings of hunger and thirst, until death comes at last, and puts an end to agonies which cannot even be conceived. It is said that a man possessed of a good constitution, may live for seven days without any sustenance whatever; his frame will gradually waste and wither, as the gnawings of hunger increase; and a morsel of bread or a drop of water will then be more valuable to him than all the precious mines or diamond gems in the world. If he falls asleep, he forthwith dreams of rills of clear sparkling water, of gushing springs, of delicious fruits and tempting viands—and suddenly awakens in a few moments to a full sense of the horrors and helplessness of his condition.

One of the most touching descriptions of shipwreck, connected with starvation, was published a number of years ago in an American periodical. It gives a vivid picture of the horrors which surround a poor wretch in that sad condition:

"Many years ago, when the brave Commodore Truxton, in the United States Frigate Constellation, was returning from his famous cruise in the West Indies, the look-out at the mast-head, one morning ere the sun had risen above the horizon, described at the distance of three or four miles, an object, which looked like the wreck of a vessel. The course of the frigate was altered, and in half an hour the Commodore had ascertained that the object was indeed the wreck of a merchant vessel. Her masts were broken off about fifteen feet from deck, and the hull was full of water. They saw no living thing on board—but there was a camboose house on deck, which had apparently been recently patched with old canvas, or tarpaulin, as if to afford shelter to some remnant of her crew. And although it blew a strong gale at the time, the humane Commodore determined to send off a boat with instructions to board the wreck, and ascertain whether there were indeed any human being still surviving, whom the help of his fellow men might save from the grasp of death.

The boat proceeded towards the drifting wreck, and while the men were rowing, and struggling with the difficulty of getting along side, while a heavy sea was running, and shouting all the time as loud as they could, an object which resembled in appearance a bundle of old clothes, was seen to roll out of the camboose-house, apparently against the lee side of the vessel. With a boat-hook, they contrived to seize it, and haul it into the boat—when it proved to be the body of a human being, bent head and knees together, and so wasted as scarcely to be seen in the ample garments, which fitted him when he enjoyed health and strength. He seemed a pigmy in the clothes of a giant. He looked pale and ghostly indeed,—but although he was unable to speak, he still breathed.

The boat's crew hastened back to the Constellation with this miserable remnant of humanity—this poor starving wretch was reduced to such a diminutive size, that a lad of fifteen years old was able to lift him from the boat. When placed on the deck he showed, to the astonishment of all, signs of returning life and consciousness. He tried to move—then opened his parched and blackened lips, and strove to speak. After two or three attempts, he succeeded in uttering in a faint hollow and sepulchral tone, 'There is another man.'

Commodore Truxton immediately ordered the boat to shove off again for the wreck, and after several abortive attempts, the crew succeeded in boarding the wreck. In the camboose-house they found two other human bodies, wasted like the one they had taken on board the frigate, to the very bones, but without a spark of life remaining. Unfortunate men, they had suffered everything which it is possible for men to suffer, and had died the dreadful death of starvation.

The boat's crew, after completing their melancholy survey, returned on board, where they found the attention of the ship's company engrossed by efforts to preserve the life of the poor fellow, who, on being brought on board, seemed to have just life enough remaining to remind his preservers that there was still 'another man,' a companion, to be saved.

It is needless to say that no possible efforts were spared to restore to health this generous sufferer, who seemed a living skeleton. Food was administered to him with caution, and under the direction of the surgeon, who exerted all his skill to save his life. The undertaking seemed a hopeless one; but, strange as it may seem, was finally crowned with success. In a few days, the skeleton began to resemble a living human being. The poor fellow was able to stand, and even to walk—and afterwards rapidly gained strength—and his bones soon became covered with flesh. Before the frigate arrived in port, the crew were astonished to find in the feeble, wasted, corpse-like being, whom they had rescued from a dreadful situation, a stout man, nearly six feet in height. He was no longer "the skeleton of the wreck."

It appeared that the vessel from which this man was thus providentially saved, was a Dutch brig, bound from Curracoa for Amsterdam. It had been capsized in a furious hurricane; the masts broke off, and it righted full of water. The officers and crew, with the exception of three seamen, were drowned. The survivors, for the first few days, managed to obtain a little provision as it floated out of the hatchways. But these resources soon failed them, and the only water they could get to quench their feverish thirst, was the rain as it descended in slight showers from the clouds. Thirty-two days had these poor wretches dragged out a miserable existence on the wreck, growing weaker and weaker every day; and it was only a day or two before the Constellation fell in with the wreck, that two of these miserable men, overcome by their sufferings, died a dreadful death."

PORTSMOUTH:
TUESDAY, DECEMBER 21, 1852.

SCARCITY OF SEAMEN.

Seamen for our merchant ships are in demand, and good seamen are scarce. In our Navy the deficiency of good seamen is felt so severely as to detain and derange almost every expedition we fit out. This is a real difficulty, and its existence is not denied by any one. All are agreed so far. But there is not so general an agreement as to the causes which produce the scarcity; and there is a great diversity of opinions as to the cure of the evil. In regard to the Navy wants, the New York Journal of Commerce says:

"In conversation with an experienced naval officer, yesterday, we were told that it is impossible to get good men, or to retain in service old petty officers, boatswain's mates, gunners and carpenter's mates, &c., while there is no flogging. They will not serve while liable to perform the duties of those who are put in irons, in addition to their own."

The Boston Courier thinks the scarcity of seamen both in the commercial and warlike marine, is the consequence in part, of neglect of the fishing interest by the general government; and would recommend that Congress should foster that interest, and the Executive should protect it, not only for its own sake, but for the sake of commerce and the navy. It says:

"The fisheries of the United States have always been looked upon as the nurseries of seamen, and during the last year a most fatal blow has been struck at their prosperity, which has not excited the attention which it has deserved throughout the country. Good sailors must commence their experience while they are young, and everything which induces lads to enter the marine service, no matter to what branch they may attach themselves, conduces to the prosperity of the whole."

In regard to seamen in the Navy, it is well known that the law which abolished flogging, both there and on board merchant ships, was not called for by Naval Boards, or Secretaries, or the officers generally, but was an answer, and a very imperfect one, to petitions got up by citizens, many of whom knew nothing of marine affairs. These petitions prayed Congress to abolish the spirit ration and flogging in the Navy. There was great opposition to both branches of the proposed change; but by a bare majority flogging was abolished.—The liquor ration was retained, chiefly on the ground that old sailors could not and would not do without it, and therefore would not ship if it was abolished.

Now it happens that American merchant ships in almost every instance, have no liquor whatever dealt out to their crews, and yet sailors, old and young, ship in them, and go to sea without liquor, for the sake of the pay. From this it appears that the spirit ration is not indispensable. It could hardly be deemed unfair, we think, to say, that most of the insubordination, and of the difficulty of maintaining discipline among sailors, arise from their habits of intemperance, which are fostered and kept alive by the spirit ration in the navy. Congress stop midway in a proposed reform, and then talk of going back again because half of a pair scissors do not cut so as to satisfy any body. The people, however, are not ready to be taken back in this thing. They will move, sometime, probably, for the completion of their petitions.

For ourselves, we do not see any reason why the spirit-ration may not be abolished in the navy as well as in the army and merchant service. Couple with this the new plan proposed by the Secretary, of honorary distinctions for meritorious sailors. Encourage the enlistment of apprentices in the navy—and enjoin by law the employment of a certain number of apprentices in every ship, according to her tonnage. Protect and encourage the fisheries: and above all, increase the sailor's pay in the navy, so as to make it nearly equal to that in merchant ships,—and good sailors will be more plentiful then, than poor sailors and doubtful men are now.

NEW THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE IN BOSTON.—The committee which was appointed in April last, to procure a site for a new theatre of large dimensions, have obtained the refusal of the Melodeon estate on Washington street, together with the rear lot on Mason st. lately purchased by the Gas Company, and are now prepared to receive subscriptions to the stock. The estimated cost of all the land and buildings, and the erection of a theatre, is $250,000. It is proposed to divide the capital stock into two hundred and fifty shares of one thousand dollars each, and no subscription to be binding until the whole number of shares are taken. At the last session of the legislature an act "to incorporate the Boston Theatre" was passed.

The Rev. David Oliphant has resigned the pastoral charge of the Congregational church and society in the North Parish of Haverhill.

SIBERIAN LYNX.—Mr. Morrison, of Candia, one day last week, shot "a purty savage crittur" on "the Ledges" at South Deerfield. He was of a light yellowish, silvery gray color, with bushy tufts under each jaw, resembling whiskers. His extreme length was three and a half feet—his tail not more than four inches long. His claws measured an inch and a half in length, when thrown out of their downy sockets. His fore legs were very muscular, as was his whole frame, and altogether, he would prove more than a match for any dog, and would be apt to cause an unarmed man some trouble. His weight was thirty-five pounds. There is at least one more where he was killed, but they are thought to be strangers in these parts.

FIRE AND LOSS OF LIFE IN BOSTON.—John F. Plummer, who kept a grocery store at the corner of Southac and Garden streets, was burned in a shocking manner about half-past seven o'clock on Saturday evening, in consequence of the explosion of a barrel of alcohol. Mr. Plummer was drawing a quantity of liquid from the barrel, when the alcohol took fire from a lamp which had been carelessly placed too near the faucit. The explosion was instantaneous, and the liquid was scattered over Mr. Plummer's person. He was burned in a shocking manner, and, after a night of intense agony, died next morning. The store was fired, and the stock was considerably injured. Mr. Plummer leaves a family.

A CHECK TO PROGRESS.—The Boston Courier remarks that the movement towards the capture or revolution of the Island of Cuba, is entirely killed off for the present. The Southern politicians are against it. The President elect is not in favor of it. If the Cuba population desire a change of Government, they are too pusilanimous to attempt any thing for themselves which shall involve the slightest possible risk.

A despatch from Washington says—

A distinguished Democratic Senator from one of the Southwestern states has, we understand, decided to go against the acquisition of Cuba, in any shape in which the question may come up, on the ground that it would divert planters with their slaves from Texas, and hinder the development of the resources of that state. Several Democratic members of Congress, hailing from slave states, bordering upon the free states, also express themselves opposed to the acquisition of Cuba, as likely to prove disadvantageous to the interests of their own states. There seems to be a strong current setting against the fillibusters generally, and well-informed men are of opinion that Gen. Pierce will take a decided against them.

THE SHEKINAH.—Here we have a neat and elegant Monthly, which is published by Partridge & Brittan, of New York—devoted to Spiritual Phenomena and the Progress of Man. It contains a likeness of Franklin at the beginning, and a legend of Father Moody at the end, with ever so much spiritual matter between.

CONGRESS.—On Thursday, Mr. Smart obtained unanimous consent to introduce a resolution of inquiry concerning an appropriation for a custom house at Belfast.

On Friday, the House passed the bill from the Senate authorizing the registration or enrolment of vessels originally of foreign build, but which had been wrecked and re-built by American citizens—a bill which will obviate the necessity of passing a great many special acts hereafter. Leave was refused to present the memorial of Abelard Guthrie, asking to be admitted to a seat as a delegate from Nebraska; and Mr. Stanley's request to introduce a bill to pay the fourth installment of public money to the several states entitled to it under the act of '36, was also refused. The Senate bill to amend the act of August last in relation to the Mexican Boundary Survey appropriation was passed.

THE LIQUOR LAW.—The Mississippi Legislature was petitioned last winter for a Maine liquor law, by the people of three towns in Hinds county. Accordingly, the law was passed, prohibiting the sale of liquors in these towns, provided the people, by a direct vote, should so decide. The vote was taken at the late election, and the law emphatically sustained. If the present or any succeeding Legislature undertake to abolish the present liquor law of Massachusetts, we hope they will reserve to towns the privileges granted in Mississippi.—Boston Times.

LEX TALIONIS.—We propose that the Legislature of Mississippi, at its next session pass an act declaring that if any citizen of the State of New York shall "import, introduce or bring into" this State any goods, chattels or merchandise, the same shall be declared confiscated, and the proceeds go into "the general coffers of the State." We have as much right to pass such a law as New York had to pass that which now disgraces her statute book on the subject of slaves "imported, introduced or brought into" that State, declaring them free, or no property. That would bring them to their senses. What say our cotemporaries?—Natchez (Miss.) Free Trader, 1st inst.

This fairly crosses the line which separates the sublime from the ridiculous.

MISSIONARIES.—Rev. Wm. Clark and wife, Rev. W. A. Farnsworth and wife, Rev. A. T. Pratt and wife, Miss M. Hayes, Miss M. A. West, Luther Ellis and Charles A. Allen, Missionaries of the American Board, are expected to sail, to-day for Smyrna, in the bark Sultana, from Boston.

LOCAL.

TO NEW SUBSCRIBERS.—For $3, we will give every person who may subscribe between this time and the first of January, a receipt from the time of subscribing (and paying) to Jan. 1st, 1854.

☞ After January 1st, '53, the Chronicle will not be for sale by the carriers. Persons wishing it left regularly at their residence or place of business, are respectfully invited to leave their names at the office or with the carriers.

DANCING.

☞ The Second of the Course of Assemblies by the "Independent Order of Terpsichoreans," comes off on Thursday evening next, at Rechab Hall. Messrs. Haines and Lamprey do up the music, with some assistance.—The ladies promise a good time.

By the way, we neglected to speak of Mr. Lamprey's Exhibition, a week or two since, at the close of his summer term. Mr. L. has the confidence of parents, and his scholars are much attached to him—and good evidence of his ability as a teacher of "the poetry of motion," was furnished by the beautiful and happy little sylphs under his charge. A large number of visiters, including many of our most respectable citizens, were highly entertained.

LYCEUM.—The lecturer this evening is Rev. Henry Hudson, editor of the Churchman, at New York. He is a favorite lecturer on some topics.—The subject of his lecture is not announced.

☞ The New Hampshire Gazette, with today's issue closes the ninety-eighth year of its existence, and is the oldest paper in the United States which retains its original title. The next number will be issued January 1st, in an entire new dress. The publication day will hereafter be Saturday instead of Tuesday.

POLICE COURT.—The four boys arrested some days since for setting fire to buildings, and realeased on their own recognizanze, were brought up again yesterday. No further developments having been made, after some good advice they were discharged.

A number of boys were arraigned for breaking windows in the Haven School House.—Their parents offering to pay for the glass they were discharged.

LEPROSY.

Mr. James C. Richmond, in a letter to Dr. Wainwright of New York, states that the genuine Oriental Leprosy exists in Norway. A Hospital is established for lepers, and a Dr. Danielssen believes that he has effected eight cures among them, the first that have ever been cured by medical means.

The writer thinks there is great danger of the disease being imported into America. It is much the more prevalent upon the Western coast, among the inhabitants of which one in every fifty is a leper; and it is from that portion of the country the increasing emigration takes place.

Dr. Danielssen say she is certain that the diseased will show itself among these immigrants; for he knows leprous individuals who have gone to the United States, and one in particular, quite recently, whom he endeavored in vain to dissuade, and in whom the disease was only beginning to appear.

TWO OF THE MOTHERS.

"I have been young, but now am old."

A correspondent of the Newburyport Daily Union, writing from Ryegate, Vermont, describes two old ladies, whom we will introduce to our readers through extracts from his letter:

Among the older persons, now residing here, I met a Mrs. Whitelaw, formerly Mrs. Harvey, the mother of Peter Harvey, of Boston, whose name has so often been before the public as the confidential friend of Daniel Webster. She is now eighty five years of age, and has in her day been a remarkable woman. As she came into the place when it was an entire wilderness, she must also have witnessed many remarkable events. Her first husband was the agent of a Scottish company who purchased and settled Ryegate. She thus has been the wife of the two first men, of what are now two wealthy and populous towns. The first husband was nearly forty years old when they married; yet she was so young that the united ages of her first three children combined with her own, made but sixteen years, and when her young acquaintances called to see her, the husband would tell her that she might "get the babies to sleep, and go out to play!" She afterwards was mother of twelve other children, of whom she calls Peter "my baby."

Another lady, a Mrs. Brock, now ninety years old, was among the first settlers.—Being in good health and retaining the powers of her mind, she remembers the whole history of the country around, with great distinctness. She seems to have been equally as well adapted to living in, and peopling a new place, as the one named above, and has now living no less than five generations of her descendants. She can say to her daughter, what but few could ever say—"arise my daughter and go to thy daughter, for thy daughter's daughter has got a daughter."

ZINC AS A SHIP BUILDING MATERIAL.—A zinc vessel, of about 100 tons, called the Comte Le Hon, is about to be launched at Nantes. This metal is cheaper than iron plates, and will, it is believed, prove less liable to deterioration in water; but sailors are of an opinion that in hot climates the zinc would be speedily covered with shells to an impeding degree.

MANY friends of Art are daily visiting the Rechabite Hall, and to give all those who have not had the pleasure of seeing these beautiful FRENCH AND GERMAN PICTURES an opportunity to see them, I wish to inform the public that the Hall will be open for a FREE EXHIBITION till Wednesday, Dec. 22d, on which day the THREE HUNDRED PICTURES will be satisfactorily distributed to all those provided with Tickets.

☞ Each Ticket will be entitled to a Picture.

Those who wish to get Tickets can obtain them by applying soon, at Dr. Prescott's, No. 3 Congress Block; Mr. Chas. T. Emery's, No. 10 Market Sqr., and at the Hall, No. 38 Market street.

Price of Tickets $1.00. Distribution of the above Pictures, Wednesday, Dec. 22, at 7 o'clock, P.M. d15

THE WEEKLY CHRONICLE.

TO BEGIN WITH THE NEW YEAR.

$1 A YEAR, INVARIABLY IN ADV.

FULLY SATISFIED with the entire success of the Daily Chronicle, and in consequence of much solicitation on the part of friends and patrons far and near, the subscribers have made arrangements to issue (as above) a Weekly

FAMILY NEWSPAPER,

in connection with the Daily Chronicle. It will be of medium size, printed in the same style as the Daily, and made up chiefly from its columns.

TERMS $1 per annum, invariably in advance. To Clergymen of all denominations, half price.

☞ All papers discontinued at the end of the term for which advance payment is made;—so no patron will long get a paper he does not want.

☞ All Postmasters will act as our Agents; and any person sending us $5, (the papers to be sent to one address) will receive a sixth copy for the service.

TO ADVERTISERS,

We offer the best advantages at the lowest rates. Advertisements will be inserted in both papers without extra charge. The Chronicle is (of course) circulated among a greater variety of readers than any partisan journal.

LATEST NEWS!

BY MAIL, EXPRESS & TELEGRAPH.

MATTERS AT WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, DEC. 19.—It is reported and believed—that a movement exists for placing five millions of dollars at the disposal of Gen. Pierce, the motive being to enable him to resist foreign interference as to Samana and Sonora; also to maintain the Monroe doctrine, should a contingency occur to render action necessary during the recess of Congress.

Mr. Secretary Conrad's recommendation as to the abandonment of New Mexico to the Indians, by the purchase of the property of its civilized inhabitants, is very offensive to members of both Houses.

THE BROADWAY RAILROAD.—New York, December 19.—Mayor Kingsland, last night, vetoed the Broadway Railroad Bill.

The late Mr. Booth, as we learn by the Portland Argus, was brought to that city, during the war of 1812, a prisoner in the British brig Boxer, which was taken by the United States brig Enterprise, in a desperate fight off that harbor, in which the commanders of both vessels were killed.

Louisville, Dec. 18.—A fire last night destroyed eleven brick buildings on the corner of Third and Water streets. Loss $40,000, on which there was an insurance to the amount of $7000. No names given of the sufferers.

☞ A Mr. Smith lost his life at Buffalo on Thursday, by going into a cistern where a charcoal fire had been burning for some minutes. A German went in with him, and both of them, upon inhaling the gas, commenced singing and dancing, and were unable to control their actions sufficiently to escape. Mr. Smith was taken out dead, but the German will probably recover.

NAVAL.—John Montgomery Dale, one of the oldest commanders in the U. S. Navy, died at Philadelphia, on Wednesday evening.

U. S. ship Cyane was at Havana, Dec. 12.

Two men were killed in Bangor on Thursday by the caving in of the earth in the rear of the Commercial Hotel, where they were digging. The names of the unfortunate victims were Jerry Shay and Jerry Hangley, both industrious men about forty years of age, who have left wives and families.

RAILROAD MOVEMENT.—Rochester, Dec. 20. A company has been organized in this city with a capital of eight millions, for constructing a railroad from this city to Troy. Ten per cent. has already been paid in.

JUST PROPOSITION.—In the Ohio Legislature a resolution has been introduced, looking to a provision by law, for appropriating a portion of the earning of the prisoners in the Penitentiary, to the families of such criminals.

Davis, the Seer, in his lecture last evening, says the Cleveland Herald, pronounced sixty per cent of the pretended Spirit-rappings and manifestations, bogus! This was a hard lick at most of the mediums, by one who can see through his skull, or a millstone, when the spell is on.

CALIFORNIA.—The Steamer United States, Capt. Berry, arrived at New York on Monday morning from Aspinwall 9th, and Kingston, Ja. 12th instant. She brings 200 passengers, and $350,000 in gold dust. Among the passengers were the officers of the steamer City of Pittsburg.

The news by the United States is two days later than we had before.

The overland emigrants have nearly all got in.

A young man, named Weymouth, a native of Maine, was drowned in Rogue's River.

Advices from Oregon are to the 10th.—Coal continues to be found in different locations.

FROM MEXICO.—Private letters from New Orleans state that General Carvajal, has crossed the Rio Grande with 400 Texan rangers, and is marching for Monterey. It is said he has been invited by the citizens of Tamaulipas, and that Gen. Cruz, the militia commandant at Camargo, is indirectly aiding the movement.

Later!—The New Orleans mails have been received, bringing dates from the city of Mexico to the 26th of November. The Minister of Foreign Affairs publishes a circular forbidding the landing in numbers of strangers in the Republic. He states that the leader of the revolution in Michoacan is the very man who made proposals to Gen. Scott at the close of the war.

Mr. Stevens has addressed a note to the Minister of Foreign Relations withdrawing his Tehuantepec proposals.

A project is on foot in the Chamber of Deputies, authorizing the government to contract a loan of three millions.

Gen. Persifer F. Smith, with a portion of his staff, left San Antonio 5th instant for Corpus Christi.

The port of "Artata" has been closed, and the introduction of goods is forbidden at the risk of forfeiture. The insurgent forces are increasing, and 4000 men, with 22 pieces of artillery, had moved against the revolutionists of Guardaljara.

STEAMBOAT COLLISION.—A despatch from Memphis, Tenn., states that a collision occurred in the bend of the river, below Princeton, on Tuesday morning, between steamboats Western World and H. W. R. Hill. It is supposed that ten or fifteen lives were lost, as when the H. W. R. Hill struck the Western World she was deeply laden. The Hill's bow ran upon the other, carrying over the upper guards. Being together in that condition, they floated down the stream for an hour and a half. They were then cut loose, when the Western World capsized. She was freighted with 1400 barrels of flour, a large quantity of corn, and sixty or seventy head of cattle, all of which were lost.

JOHN BULL'S NEW TROUBLES.

A man can't have just what he wants and no more;
It never will rain but 'tis certain to pour:
A few years ago, my entire botheration
Was having on hand a too large population.

"Confound it!" I then was accustomed to say,
"I wish I could send half these people away—
These paupers, consuming the fruits of the earth,
And eating up ten times as much as they're worth!"

I could not check their increase and multiplication,
And wish'd I could bring about cheap emigration:
Emigration I've got, with a vengeance, at last,
I'm losing my superabundance too fast.

There won't be a servant for hire to be had;
We shall all have to clean our own boots, Sir, egad!
Our wives will be soon forced to cook us our chops:
And scrub their own floors, Sir, and twirl their own mops.

Can nothing be done to induce folks to stay!
Increasing their comforts might be a good way—
Rebuilding, and draining, and cleansing our towns,
Early closing our shops, and instructing our clowns.

And then, Sir, there's Gold, I should once have cried, "Stuff!"
Had you said I could ever have more than enough;
But now I am plagued with a surplus of riches,
That I can't dispose of in bank, coat, or breeches.

Indeed, I'm afraid, that like Crœsus of old,
That I shall be finally choked with my gold,
It being my doom that hard diet to cram on,
Because I so long have been worshipping Mammon.
—Punch.

GLEANINGS FROM PUNCH.

THE PANTOMIME OF PROTECTION.—The Post says, with respect to the Queen's Speech on Protection: "A constitutional monarch, who speaks by the advice and upon the responsibility of the official administrators of his government, cannot adopt and recast opinions as a clown in the pantomime can change his motley habiliments."

Certainly not. It is only for a Chancellor of the Exchequer to do the bottle trick. By the way, it is said that Mr. Disraeli has already done more than go into a bottle; namely, he has corked himself up.

SUBJECT FOR A STATUE.—(To be placed in the House of Commons.) Disraeli, like Niobe, all Thiers.

THE ART OF BEING BEAUTIFUL.

IT has long been a desideratum that some scientific man should apply himself to the study of the human scalp. Dr. JACOBY, the great Pathologist, from Berlin, has done this, and, in this new field has attained the most brilliant results.—Satisfied by an analysis of the diseased alcoholic and other washes, of their deleterious effects, he compounded his celebrated Berliner Haar Wasche, to the efficacy of which thousands of witnesses might be summoned, of the accompanying character:—

BOSTON, Jan 1, 1848.

This is to certify that I have had an article called the Berliner Haar Wasche applied during the past five or six weeks to my head, for the purpose of renewing and strengthening the hair. It has been very effective in producing such a result; and I can cheerfully recommend the same to those afflicted with baldness or diseases connected therewith. JOSIAH CHICKERING.

It frequently happens that ladies suffer from hair eaters, and apply some of the nostrums prepared by apothecaries, who think, because they can make poor soda water, they can prepare good hair wash. The effect of these is often frightfully injurious. Ladies, use none of them,—consult Dr. Jacoby, who will eradicate the nuisance and guarantee a beatiful head of hair. His motto is, no care, no pay.

To those at a distance, the Champoo Washer Nos. 1 and 2. and Haar Wasche, are recommended.—There is, however, no universal specific, and all persons troubled, should if possible see Dr. Jacoby.

In the course of his scientific research, Dr. Jacoby has discovered a Hair Dye that does not stain the skin, will give any shade of color, and will stand exposure in all weather. The accompanying certificate, from a highly scientific source, must satisfy the most incredulous.
Boston, Nov. 18, 1851.

I have seen Mr. Moses Jacoby's Hair Dye, used in coloring hair of a deep brownish black, of a beautiful natural color, and can certify that it is perfectly efficient and permanent.
CHARLES T. JACKSON, M.D.,
Assayer to the State of Mass.

Dr. Jacoby's rooms are at No. 9 Franklin street, Boston, where he may be consulted at all hours.—There are always in attendance in both ladies' and gentlemen's rooms the most skilful hair dressers.

THE ROGER WILLIAMS
COOKING STOVE.
FOR COAL OR WOOD.

THE attention of all in want of a COOK STOVE is respectfully solicited to a consideration of the merits of this most beautifully modeled pattern; equally adapted for coal or wood, and warranted to operate successfully with either, which it now offered to the public for

Most Complete and Efficient

Cooking apparatus ever before introduced in this vicinity. It is an elegant model, with fine smooth Providence castings, fitted together in the most substantial manner. The oven, (by far the most important part of a cooking stove,) in point of capacity, and in regard to its operation, is unsurpassed by that of any other stove now in the market, it being lined with fire-brick to retain and equalize the heat, and provided with valves for the escape of steam, &c. arising from the roasting of meats—rendering it in this respect superior to the old fashioned but universally admired Tinkitchen.

The broiling apparatus is constructed on an entirely new and original plan, and will not fail to recommend itself at the first glance, as no smoke or gas arising from that culinary process can escape into the room. The sliding hearth is an improvement not to be found in any other stove.

The popularity of this over all other stoves now in the market, may be inferred from the fact that since the first introduction the last season, over THREE THOUSAND have been put into successful operation in New England and New York City.

Every stove is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction to the purchaser or the money refunded.

Each stove is warranted not to crack for twelve months from date of purchase. It is believed that this stove combines all the improvements that skill can invent, and is by far the most perfect cooking stove ever sold in Portsmouth. And though its price is higher than any other stove offered in this market of late, it is without question the cheapest in the end. All intending to purchase are respectfully invited to give this an examination before purchasing elsewhere.

Also, a variety of cheap Cook, Parlor, and Office Stoves, which are offered low.

WHAT-CHEER STOVE.

THE WHAT-CHEER COAL COOKING STOVE, now offered for sale by the subscribers, is acknowledged by all who have examined it to be the best and most economical Coal Stove ever offered to the public.

The castings are heavy, smooth, and very handsome. The Broiling apparatus is a great improvement over all other Stoves, being constructed in such a manner as to prevent the steam from escaping into the room when cooking.

All persons wishing to purchase a COAL COOKING STOVE, are respectfully requested to call and examine the same. Every Stove warranted to work well, or no sale.

We have also a large assortment of COOKING, PARLOR and STORE STOVES, &c.—for sale cheap for Cash at our Store.

THE IMPROVED
EMPIRE STATE STOVE.

THIS justly celebrated COOKING STOVE having been improved in every way it could be to make its operations more complete, and its plates beautifully ornamented—no expense, time or trouble having been spared to make this the most complete Cooking Stove ever brought before the public—the subscriber feels assured in warranting the IMPROVED EMPIRE STATE superior to any stove in the market, as hundreds can testify who have used them for the past year.

This Stove has a very LARGE OVEN, which makes it desirable on account of doing more cooking with the same amount of fuel than can be done in any other stove. The fire-pot is large, which ensures a good draft in all cases. The castings are very heavy and smooth, and those parts that come next the fire are extra thick, making it very durable. It is adapted to the use of either coal or wood, and we warrant them to operate as well with one as the other. We furnish them with the very best appanatus; and, altogether, it is the MOST DURABLE, ECONOMICAL and CONVENIENT COOKING STOVE ever made—complete in every respect. We ask the attention of all persons intending to purchase a new, or exchange their old stove, to an examination of the Improved Empire State.

We have also on hand a variety of other Cooking Stoves, called the "Banner." "Belle of the States." "King of the States." "Bay State." "Angelo Saxon." "Board of Trop," &c; with a large lot of PARLOR STOVES, such as the Revere Air-Tight, Star, Revere Parlor Cook, Lady Franklin, for Wood or Coal; Shop, Office and Air-Tight Stoves, of different sizes and prices for either wood or coal.

Also an extensive assortment of HOUSEKEEPING GOODS; Wooden, Willow, Glass, Britannia, Japan, Tin, Hard, Enamel, and Brass Ware; Copper, Cast Iron, and Chain Pumps; Window-Shads, Table Oil-cloths, &c.

All the above goods will be sold lower than can be bought elsewhere in this vicinity.

KEEPING HOUSE.

Could "line upon line, precept upon precept," make us women practitioners, we should all have become model housekeepers, long ago. It is astonishing to see how much is written of women's household duties by the sterner sex. Scarcely one takes the pen to novelize, lecturize, or even sermonize, without alluding to our incompetency, as they style it, in regard to housekeeping. Could the man in the moon, or any other stranger, read the aforementioned essays, he would conclude that Yankee damsels were the most defective housekeepers extant, and that it was owing to faulty education, wretched example, and natural aversion to the business into the bargain; or, more likely, would believe that men, whose minds should be, with their bodies, banished from kitchendom, were better acquainted with its requirements and fixins than any dame of threescore.

In behalf of my sex I take up the cudgel, and would I could deal a thwack or two to those men who marry merely for comfort and convenience' sake—who chuckle as they cart home tables, provisions and fuel, that they have secured a good housekeeping machine to go with them—and who rejoice, with joy unspoken, that they shall own a priestess who will daily perform sacrifice on the altar of a grim, black and horrible cookstove.

Would that I could impress mankind in general, and my husband in particular, with the fact that a woman cannot be nurse, laundress, cook and lady, all in twenty four hours. In my days of romance, with dreams of love in a cottage, there lived and moved ideal women, who could practice this amazing quartette of duties simultaneously; there were ideal men, too, who wore but one shirt a week, and no dickeys; children who never tore their frocks; and men and children who were contented with bread and milk three times a day. Alas! when the wild but beautiful vagaries of young love fled, and I came down from Honey-moon Heights to travel over the macadamized road of common life, I found my page of romance a great nuisance, and dropped it where I stopped to cook my first dinner. M.

Keeping house and keeping home are widely different. The former may be done at the expense of the latter. I know, within a stone's throw, several women who "keep house" to perfection. Under their roofs, breakfast, dinner, tea, and sleep, succeed each other more methodically than the four seasons. Every stick of wood burns by rule; every broom-stick is regulated like a pendulum; every article of furniture walled into its place. The poor, fettered husband is the only unmanageable and unmanaged affair on the premises; he is rarely seen, save when he comes in with an empty stomach. If he can reach the dining table without putting things out of place, he congratulates himself; and flies, as soon as his hunger is appeased, from the queendom to the republic outside.

The woman who devotes all her energies and time to the oversight and performance of domestic duties, will soon become the worse half, where she hoped to be the better. She falls below the level of her partner daily, and as months and years pass on—as he becomes more absorbed in business—as her family cares increase, she finds she must exist without the tit-bits of sentiment and affection which were gathered up after the marriage supper, and sink "inglorious," if not "mute," into the region of wash-tubs and kettles. Servants may partially perform the drudgery, but she must watch, plan and direct, from dawn till dark, the complicated movements of home machinery.

Having relieved myself of the weight on my mind, meantime neglecting a huge basket of buttonless shirts, large and small—hose, out at the heel, the toe and the ball—aprons of all sizes, stringless and rent—I beg leave to say a few words to a very new wife, and then I'll to my work.

Don't aim at being a pattern housekeeper. Let not your husband be led to believe, by your constant presence in the pantry and the laundry, that they contain all the raw material for the concocting of his comforts. Don't spend the best part of the morning in beating eggs, or fricasseeing chickens by the cook book, or put yourself into a fever for fear the dishes will not be set symmetrically on the table. If he is a sensible man, he had rather dine from one simple dish, if you are beside him with bright eyes, heartborn smiles and a neat dress, then feast with the most exquisite gourmand in christendom. Don't try to make your boys and girls despise dirt. They may believe it unlucky, but while the sun shines on their first six summers, they will not believe it unhealthy. Spare poor Willie's face from such everlasting scrubbings, and don't break Nellie's heart with lamentations over her soiled frock.—They, innocent ignorants, cannot comprehend why the table cloth, like the Union, must be preserved immaculate; and your audible groans over fingered window panes and littered floors are fun to them, though death to your lungs and annihilation to your patience. What if the stairs are unswept, the parlor undusted, the blinds not washed, the baking put off till Saturday; is it not better to leave all or a part of these performances for another time, than meet your husband with a pale cheek, a weary step and dull eye, your whole being saying to him, audibly as spoken words, "I have toiled all day, am ill, weary, dispirited; I have no heart to welcome you, no wish but to lie down and gather strength sufficient for to-morrow's labor and care?" Surely this is a deal to be read at a glance; but many a man has read and re-read it, till it ceased to be a sorrow and was regarded a necessity.

Would you, young wife, preserve youth, beauty, elasticity of spirits, all, indeed, that made you attractive to your liege lord and master, strive, ere it be too late, to keep yourself, as well as your house. Shun all burdensome luxuries of food, dress, and furniture.—Banish all unnecessary labor from each department of home. Your fireside is for your family, not for your neighbors; and though the model housekeeper shake off your dust as a testimony against you—though Fashion laugh at the unaltered dress—though Sirs Guzzle and Gourmand dine but once at your simple board, and Etiquette toss her haughty head at your management, yet the solid comforts of life will be yours. You will remain the better half of him you promised to live for. His affection for you, if sincere at first, will be unchanged.

The echo of your light, springing footstep, or a strain of song, will be sweeter music to his ear than the bubbling of gravies or the hiss of hot fat. Glass may glitter, silver shine, cobwebs vanish, dust and disorder be annihilated to outward appearance; but you know the cost. Keep yourself; and when those who started with you in married life, worn, wearied and worried out, ground to dust with incessant care and toil, have dropped off the domestic platform, and mothers in law have assumed the privilege of being put through the same mill, you shall still live and thrive, with the charm of early days lingering near you, and the beams of a buoyant and contented spirit, over which Time's broad wing casts no shadow, still making glad and light all hearts in your own dear home. DAILY
Morning Chronicle.
PORTSMOUTH:
WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 22, 1852.

PILGRIM'S DAY.

This day, the 22d of December, is Forefathers' Day, the anniversary of the landing of the Pilgrims at Plymouth, where they laid the foundations of the New England Commonwealths and the New England Churches. Out of the Old Colony, grew directly and naturally, much that is valuable in our institutions, civil and religious.

Portsmouth, to be sure, was not a puritan colony; but its second influx of inhabitants was of a semi-puritanic character; and although there were strong mutual prejudices between the Churchmen and Royalists who lived here, and the Independents and democratic colonists who lived in other colonies; yet friendships sprung up between them, and prejudices softened with the lapse of years—until most that was valuable in the puritan character has become ingrained into our community—and our peculiar character has in turn softened and abated something of the unnecessary harshness and stiffness which was cultivated elsewhere. We have a profound respect for the memory of the forefathers at Plymouth, as some of the best of imperfect, fallible men—the day of their landing will not pass away into oblivion, we trust, for many generations yet—the memory of their virtues cannot perish while virtues' self endures.

Correspondence of the Chronicle.

MATTERS ON CAPE COD.

ORLEANS, CAPE COD, Dec. 18.

Messrs Editors:—One word from this land of sand banks and moss covered trees and windmills. Whatever attractions Cape Cod may possess in the summer season to gratify pleasure seekers, they are certainly obliterated by the first cold blasts of December. The stranger-entertaining gaiety, has given place to that quiet happiness which surrounds the firesides of homes—at this season the husbands, fathers and brothers are welcomed from their summer's toil upon the ocean, to a peaceful vacation upon this their native soil. This narrowing of domestic comfort seems to make it all the sweeter here. The towns and villages that are dotted at intervals of ten or twelve miles, all around this "Boot Coast," are in a very flourishing condition; like the children hereabout, they are growing. The mackerel and cod fishing business is carried on with constantly increasing capital, and of course with good success. Salt making from ocean water, has in years past been a source of large profit here, but for a few recent years the price of foreign salt has ruled so low as to very much decrease the profits on the home production; and although you may frequently see salt works in operation now, yet there are no new ones built, and those in existence will not be renewed when used up.

The Cape Cod Railroad now terminates at Sandwich, about sixty miles from Boston; arrangements have been made, and the stock taken up, to extend it this season to Hyannis, fifteen miles farther. The demands of the travelling public in this quarter are great, and there is no doubt that at no distant day the iron horse will be driven through the sand hills, all the way down to that most flourishing of Massachusetts towns—Provincetown. This will give increased activity to the business of the Cape, and add more laurels to the statistical wreath of trade, commerce and manufactures, which the old Bay State now boasts.

The incidental pickings from wrecks, upon the shores of this peninsula, have been rather scanty so far, this season (God be thanked) that there have been but few wrecks. The schooner Albert M. Hale, bound from New York to Portsmouth, was wrecked near this place on Tuesday last, as reported; the second night thereafter the stern of the vessel came on bodily, and being loaded principally with flour and corn, the corn was of course washed out by the waves and lost; the flour—about five hundred barrels—has been nearly all saved, in a damaged state; and some other articles taken as freight. The storm of yesterday finished the hull, breaking it up entirely, and scattering it as the winds and waves listed. The exceeding looseness of the sand upon the beaches on this coast, renders the transportation of heavy articles rescued from the deep to a place of re-shipment, very difficult and expensive; to realise this, it is only necessary for one to walk a few miles, with the "hang-fire" gait which the sand imparts—'tis very hard for the uninitiated. I learn that there is a great saving of labor in the native step, the secret of which is that in walking the knees are bent but very slightly, if at all, with a light, easy hitch of the body from side to side; each shank is drawn up in turn and put down again, about four feet ahead.

But I will not trespass upon your patience further. The crayon pencil of Dickens would find subjects here needing no caricature, or if Mr. Willis, of the Home Journal, would come here and tell us his observations with a few touches of his graceful pen, they would not fail to be as acceptable as his "Recallings to Memory" of "Negroeratic Hayti," it would be a pleasing contrast of the frigid with the torrid. P.

N. H. General Court—Nov. Session, 1852.

The Senate met at 4 P. M. on Monday, and adjourned without transacting any business. The House met at 3 P. M. and after doing a little business pro forma, discovered there was no quorum.

[Special despatch to the Boston Journal.]

TUESDAY, Dec. 21.

This forenoon, E. A. Hibbard of Plymouth, was elected clerk of the House of Representatives, in place of Thomas J. Whipple; and A. Marshall of Concord, assistant clerk. They were both elected unanimously by resolution.

To-morrow at eleven o'clock, Hon. Ira Perley will deliver an eulogy on the late Daniel Webster, before the Executive and Legislature.

Thirty-Second Congress—Second Session.

WASHINGTON, DEC. 20.

SENATE.—The Secretary read a letter from Mr. King, Vice President elect, enclosing his resignation as President of the Senate.

Mr. Bright offered a resolution electing Mr. Atchison President pro tem. of the Senate. Adopted. Mr. Atchison took the chair and returned thanks for the honor conferred upon him.

Mr. Davis offered a resolution returning thanks to Hon. Mr. King for the courtesy and dignity with which he had presided over their deliberations.

Mr. Gwin of California offered a resolution for printing 10,000 copies of the Congressional eulogies on Daniel Webster. Adopted.

The Kentucky election case was then taken up and debated, Mr. Douglas of Illinois speaking in favor of the right of Mr. Dixon.

Mr. Rusk of Texas followed Mr. Douglas, and advocated the claims of Mr. Dixon, believing the precedent and will of the Legislature was clearly expressed in his favor.

Mr. Seward also spoke at some length, and was strongly in favor of Mr. Dixon's taking his seat. He was followed by Mr. Mason of Virginia, who fully coincided in the views expressed by Mr. Douglas. After Mr. Mason had concluded, Mr. Borland of Arkansas moved that the subject be postponed.

Mr. Badger moved an amendment. Lost.

Several Senators having expressed a wish that the vote be taken, the Senate proceeded to vote upon Mr. Jones's resolution declaring Mr. Dixon duly elected a Senator from Kentucky, and that he be now admitted to his seat. Adopted—yeas 27, nays 16—whereupon Mr. Dixon was sworn in, and the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE.—Mr. Brown of Mississippi submitted an amendment to the rules providing for the appointment of a committee of fifteen members to be called a general committee on claims, whose duty it shall be to report a general bill at each session, making an appropriation for the payment of private claims. A separate vote may be taken on any one of the items. He made a brief explanation, showing the defects of the present system of legislating on claims. A debate followed Mr. Brown's proposed amendment, and it was finally rejected by 89 to 74.

Mr. Ewing of Kentucky submitted a resolution instructing the committee on the judiciary to enquire into the expediency of reporting a resolution for an amendment to the Constitution for choice of Presidential electors by districts instead of by the whole state, except in the case of the Senatorial electors. Adjourned.

PUBLISHING THE LIQUOR BILL.—A committee of the Legislature has recommended the payment of the enormous sum of four dollars to be paid to each newspaper which published the liquor bill! which at the regular rates of advertising would amount to between twenty and thirty dollars. This is scarcely enough to pay a journeyman for setting up the types, and just what the members get for Saturday and Sunday. Well, (says the Capitol Reporter) we must be thankful for small favors, we suppose, and therefore will not complain, be it what it may; but we won't publish another bill, at that rate, by a jug full.

The Newspapers in New Hampshire, we think, are in no danger of being corrupted by the abundance or liberality of legislative patronage.

HOUSEKEEPING.—On the first page of this morning's paper, is a good essay on Housekeeping, quite out of the common course. The writer is evidently conscious of women's rights, not perhaps in a technical sense, but certainly in some very important particulars. She understands the value of life, and is disposed to set it above fashion, or feasting, or finery. The piece appears as a communication in that excellent newspaper, the Salem Register. To new housekeepers, or new wives about to become so, it may be invaluable as a serious essay. To those who never mean to keep house, it has its value in its wit and humor.—If the writer handles her broom as skilfully as she does her pen, she may be rather "a tidy hussy" after all.

☞ Signor Blitz is amusing and deceiving the citizens of Concord. He performs there this afternoon and evening, and to-morrow afternoon and evening.

Hon. Abbot Lawrence, it is said, has appropriated $5000 for the purpose of furnishing poor and deserving families with food, fuel, &c., during the winter. [Contradicted.]

The Cincinnati Enquirer thinks it a pity that Miss Emma Snodgrass was not consulted before she was born, about her choice of sexes.

HUTCHINSON FAMILY.—It has been wrongly reported that this family is in California. Jesse is there with the Alleghanians, giving concerts and drawing in slugs of gold in a way that astonishes the "band of brothers," left behind. John, Judson and Asa are now giving concerts with great success in different parts of New England.—Manchester Mirror.

LOCAL.

TO NEW SUBSCRIBERS.—For $3, we will give every person who may subscribe between this time and the first of January, a receipt from the time of subscribing (and paying) to Jan. 1st, 1854.

☞ After January 1st, '53, the Chronicle will not be for sale by the carriers. Persons wishing it left regularly at their residence or place of business, are respectfully invited to leave their names at the office or with the carriers.

Police Court—Dec. 21.

[Before Justice Parker.]

A number of young men were arraigned before the Court for an assault upon the person of a Mr. Dustin. It appears in the evidence that the parties arrested, on the night of the 18th inst., went into the drinking shop of Dustin, in Penhallow street. While there a dispute arose, and in the general melee which followed, Dustin received a severe cut over the left eye from a slide of a stove which was thrown at him. The evidence not showing who cut the person of Dustin, the Court acquitted the accused, and they were accordingly discharged.

W. H. Hackett for the prosecution—I. B. Claggett for Respondents.

CHRISTMAS.

☞ An arrangement has been made among all the dry goods men and booksellers, and many other storekeepers and mechanics, not to open their stores or places of business on Saturday next.

We think the idea a good one, and hope the day's leisure from business may be well spent by old and young. Christmas is gradually coming to be more and more generally observed in New England.

☞ The Lecture before the Portsmouth Lyceum last evening, was by Rev. Henry Hudson, of New York, editor of the Churchman newspaper. The subject was Shakespeare's Characters of King Henry IV. and V. His readings of the great dramatist were admirable, and his lecture interesting to keen lovers of the drama. It had charms for us, but not for all.

The lecturer announced for next Tuesday evening, is Rev. Mr. Bodwell, of Framingham, Mass., who lectured here last Winter on the English Church and the Dissenters. The subject of his lecture for next week was not stated.

☞ A LADIES' FAIR, in aid of the Howard Benevolent Society, is now in a course of preparation. It is to come off, as we understand, on New Years' Eve.

☞ To-Day is the last oportunity to see Mr. Wenzel's beautiful exhibition. The distribution of Pictures takes place this evening.

DISSOLVING VIEWS.—Reference to our advertising columns will show that two exhibitions are to be made of Dissolving Views, and Pyramic Fires, at the Temple on Thursday and Friday evenings.

Among the Views are, Mount Lebanon, the Departure of the Israelites, Prisoner of Chilon, City of Edinburg, Tower of London, &c.—exhibited by the Drummond Light. The Misses Macomber will sing their favorite Songs, Duetts, &c.

☞ It is a fact somewhat remarkable, that of nearly a thousand Irish residents in this city, but one Irishman is an owner of real estate here—only one owns the house he lives in.

ORIGIN OF A MUCH QUOTED SAYING.—The following extract from a familiar letter, written by Mr. Webster last April, explains the origin of a saying that has been often quoted, and has been attributed to different persons:

Trenton, N. J. April 14, 1852.

2½ o'clock—just before dinner—up to my chin in musty records and law parchments.

Twenty years or more, Judge Samuel Thacher, a good man, who had been a member of Congress in Gen. Washington's time, and myself, were seated at Cambridge Court, awaiting our causes, when we amused ourselves composing certain odd sayings of men and things. Among other things was this: "Good lawyers—they live well, work hard, and die poor." Now Judge Thacher was, and I am and ever shall be, a bright exemplar of the truth of this. I have heard it attributed to others, but its true origin was in Cambridge Port, Middlesex County, Massachusetts, Anno Domini 18—. Now, my dear friend, may you always look well, never work too hard, nor die poor."

THE AUTHOR OF UNCLE TOM'S CABIN.—The Traveller learns from good authority that Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe, author of Uncle Tom's Cabin, is about to visit Great Britain, with her husband. She has lately received a letter from Dr. Wardlaw, tendering her in behalf of a number of ladies and gentlemen of Glasgow, an invitation to visit England at their expense. This invitation she has accepted; and she will soon leave for Liverpool.

BALTIMORE & OHIO RAILROAD.—The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company have resolved to proceed at once with the construction of one hundred miles of double track—sixty miles between Baltimore and Cumberland, and forty between Cumberland and Wheeling. $100,000 of additional securities have been ordered, and $2,500,000 worth of bonds are to be issued to cover the cost.

SNOW AT THE NORTH.—In the northern parts of Vermont the snow is over a foot deep on a level. On Friday morning last the passenger train from Rutland for Boston, got stuck in a snow bank a few miles this side of that place, and remained fast for an hour and a half, until another engine, with a snow plow, reached them.

GOING WEST.—Rev. L. B. Mason, of the Summer street Universalist Church in Haverhill has accepted a call to settle over a society in Chicago.

LATEST NEWS!

BY MAIL, EXPRESS & TELEGRAPH.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.

It is understood that Gen. Cass will address the Senate to-day in favor of the proposition to confer the rank of Lieut. General upon Gen. Scott.

A bill is drawn and will soon be presented to the House, authorising the Postmaster General to employ Engineers to survey and thereupon to construct a railroad by the shortest possible route between Washington city and New York for the transmission of the United States mails.

GALE ON LAKE ONTARIO.—Oswego, N. Y., Dec. 18.—One of the severest storms ever experienced is now prevailing. The wind is from the north-west, of unequalled violence, and accompanied with snow squalls. The scene presented from government pier is most terrific. It is feared that several vessels are out on the lake and will be unable to withstand the violence of the storm.

THE CIRCASSIAN WAR.—DEFEAT OF THE RUSSIANS.—The London correspondent of the N. Y. Tribune furnishes intelligence of the disastrous defeat of a Russian army of 30,000 men by the mountaineers of Circassia. The fact has not yet reached the London journals, but is received through private sources at Constantinople. It is stated that the Circassians captured sixty pieces of cannon.

MISSIONARY INTELLIGENCE.—New York, Dec. 21.—Nine missionaries to Africa will leave this port to-morrow, in the barque Martha Clark. The following are their names:—Dr. Cold, Miss Maguire, Mr. and Mrs. Burton, Miss Aldrich, Mr. and Mrs. Thompson, Mr. Officer and Miss Saxton. A crowded farewell meeting was held last evening in the Rev. Henry W. Beecher's church, in Brooklyn.

MURDER.—In Hyde, Tyrrel county, N. C., Washington Carrowan, some fifty years of age, and many years a Baptist preacher, lately, on some frivolous pretext, knocked his wife down with a chair, and beat her with it until the chair broke to pieces, and then seized a large stick and continued to beat her, until a man named Lassiter, who boarded in the house, interfered to prevent her being murdered. Whereupon Carrowan took his gun to shoot Lassiter; but he disarmed him and left the house.

A few days afterwards, Carrowan shot Lassiter dead, dragged him to a swamp, and covered him over with brush, and then made his escape. It is supposed he has pushed for the south. He had been a hard working man, and accumulated some $5000 or $6000 worth of property. He had been married three times, and circumstances have since come out that strongly indicate that both of the deceased wives came to their deaths by his hands!

WOMAN BURNT TO DEATH IN LYNN.—On Saturday, an aged lady named Babb, wife of Mr. James Babb, was burnt so terribly that she died in the most agonizing pain in a few hours. She was left alone in the kitchen, when her clothes took fire from the stove. An Irish girl who was in the upper part of the house, upon descending to the room found her sitting in a chair completely enveloped in flames. She ran into the street, and shouted for assistance, when Mr. George Little being near, rushed into the house and found the unfortunate victim lying upon the floor in a state too shocking for narration; her clothes were entirely burnt from her body and her flesh burnt to a crisp, penetrating so deep that the flesh opened in large seams, in various parts, disclosing the bones. What makes the accident more painful is that she was almost entirely helpless, having suffered from a stroke of the palsy some years previous.—Times.

ACCIDENT IN BOSTON HARBOR.—On Saturday last, Mr. George Graham, a seaman on board brig Emma, bound to Norfolk, fell from the bowsprit, when about a mile from Lovell's Island. The brig passed over him, and those on board not seeing him, the vessel kept on her course, but Mr. Graham swam for Lovell's Island, nearly one mile, which he reached, and was hospitably entertained by Mr. Samuel Murch, who landed him at Hull.

SINGULAR AFFAIR.—A demand was made in New York, a day or two since, by the British Consul, for the rendition of Augustus Barr, a German immigrant, who was accused of killing a fellow passenger named Dressner, while at sea on board the British ship St. James. It is now said that Dressner is not dead; that he is now said that Dressner is not dead; that he was stabbed by Barr, but on arriving at quarantine, he was taken to the marine hospital, whence he escaped, and cannot now be found.

ACCIDENT AT THE WIERS.—It will be recollected by all our readers that a terrible destruction of life, and maiming and bruising of limbs happened on the Boston, Concord and Montreal Railroad, at the Wiers, on the second day of our State Fair, last October. The Manchester Mirror understands that the railroad has settled with all those injured and not killed, by paying them satisfactory sums, all along from $500 to upwards of $2000. Thomas W. Murdough Esq. of Wakefield, who had both legs broken, is getting along well, neither leg being amputated.

BEATING SPEARS INTO PRUNING HOOKS.—Mr Byrant, of the Evening Post, writes from England, that in the scarcity of agricultural laborers, the soldiery were sent into the field to gather the harvest. It is a great pity that all the standing armies of Europe could not be employed in the same peaceful occupation. —Prov. Jour.

THE IMPORTANCE OF A DATE.—No election for Congressmen was held in Bolton, on account, as the Clinton Courant says of an informality in the warrant, in which the meeting was called for the "second Monday in December next," while the instrument itself was also dated in December, thus making the election illegal until December, 1853.

GLEANINGS FROM PUNCH.

A NEW FORM OF HERO-WORSHIP.—The robbery committed upon a French author by our Chancellor of the Exchequer, when he was expatiating on the virtues of Wellington, was intended after all as a compliment, for Disraeli thought he could not pay the memory of the departed hero a greater honor than by taking something more from the French.

THE POPE AND THE FINE ARTS.—We learn from a Modena paper that the Pope has given an order to the sculptor M. Jacometti for his fine group of "The Kiss of Judas." The Pope must, no doubt, feel and deeply appreciate the subject. For what a kiss did Pio give to Roman liberty—and how he has helped to crucify her!

TICKLED BY A STRAW.—A new paper manufactured entirely of straw has been discovered. Perhaps the most appropriate purpose it can be put to, will be for men of straw to draw and accept their bills upon.

STRAXON STUFF.—A newspaper paragraph states that a vessel arrived from Demerara, has brought a parcel of crabs' oil. What sort of stuff this can be we do not know, but suppose its use is to lubricate machinery; however, we should think crabs' oil would be likely to make locomotives go backwards.

THE POLITICAL TRAPPIST.—Disraeli digging his own grave with a pair of scissors.

THE QUART BOTTLE TRICK MADE EASY. We think the Chancellor of the Exchequer is in a beautiful condition to perform the above trick, for he has made himself so small by his late robbery upon a French author, that he could get into any vessel, however little—even a lachrymatory. Perhaps, however, it would be dangerous to tempt him with the latter, for if he saw anything resembling Thiers at the bottom, he would be slipping into it directly.

TWO SUBJECTS RIGIDLY EXCLUDED FROM GENIAL CONVERSATION.—The Rights of Woman, and the Wrongs of Ireland.

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS

With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,
No. 28 State Street, Boston.

IN 1840 the subscriber was appointed Agent of the United States Patent Office, in accordance with the 10th section of the Act of 1837.

Having relinquished the agency for the transmission of models, and adopting a more expeditious mode of sending them to the Patent Office, whereby a Patent can be procured several weeks earlier, he continues to forward them, as before, free of expense, and to prepare Specifications, Assignments, and all the necessary Papers and Drawings for Patents, and to render advice on legal and scientific matters respecting the same. Patents secured in Europe.

The subscriber aims to present to inventors superior facilities for obtaining patents; and is now prepared to make Specifications at rates cheaper by ten to twenty per cent. than those of other agencies. They can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of Claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skillful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"PATENT OFFICE, ——

"R. H. EDDY, Esq., Boston, Mass.

"SIR.—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any other agent. I am very respectfully, Yours, &c. THOMAS EWBANK,
Commissioner of Patents."

THE ROGER WILLIAMS COOKING STOVE.

FOR COAL OR WOOD.

THE attention of all in want of a COOK STOVE is respectfully solicited to a consideration of the merits of this most beautifully modeled pattern; equally adapted for coal or wood, and warranted to operate successfully with either,—which is now offered to the public as the

Most Complete and Efficient

Cooking apparatus ever before introduced in this vicinity. It is an elegant model, with fine smooth Providence castings, fitted together in the most substantial manner. The oven, by far the most important part of a cooking stove, is in point of capacity, and in regard to its operation, is unsurpassed by that of any other stove now in the market, it being lined with fire-brick to retain and equalize the heat, and provided with valves for the escape of steam, &c., during the roasting of meats—rendering it in this respect superior to the old fashioned but universally admired Tin Kitchen.

The broiling apparatus is constructed on an entirely new and original plan, and will not fail to recommend itself at the first glance, as to smoke or gas arising from that culinary process can escape into the room. The sliding hearth is an improvement not to be found in any other stove.

The popularity of this over all other stoves now in the market, may be inferred from the fact that since its first introduction the last season, over THREE THOUSAND have been put into successful operation in New England and New York City.

Every stove is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction to the purchaser or the money refunded.

Each stove is warranted not to crack for twelve months from date of purchase. It is believed that this stove combines all the improvements that skill can invent, and is by far the most perfect cooking stove ever sold in Portsmouth. And though its price is higher than any other stove offered in this market of late, it is without question the cheapest in the end. All intending to purchase are respectfully invited to give this an examination before purchasing elsewhere.

Also, a variety of cheap Cook, Parlor, and Office Stoves, which are offered low.

WHAT-CHEER STOVE.

THE WHAT-CHEER COAL COOKING

STOVE, now offered for sale by the subscribers, is acknowledged by all who have examined it to be the best and most economical Coal Stove ever offered to the public.

The castings are heavy, smooth, and very handsome. The Broiling apparatus is a great improvement over all other Stoves, being constructed in such a manner as to prevent the steam from escaping into the room when cooking.

All persons wishing to purchase a COAL COOKING STOVE, are respectfully requested to call and examine the same. Every Stove warranted to work well, or no sale.

We have also a large assortment of COOKING, PARLOR and STORE STOVES, &c.—for sale cheap for Cash at our Store,

THE IMPROVED

EMPIRE STATE STOVE.

THIS justly celebrated COOKING STOVE having been improved in every way it could be to make its operations more complete, and its plates beautifully ornamented—no expense, time or trouble having been spared to make this the most complete Cooking Stove ever brought before the public—the subscriber feels assured in warranting the IMPROVED EMPIRE STATE superior to any stove in the market, as hundreds can testify who have used them for the past year.

This Stove has a very LARGE OVEN, which makes it desirable on account of doing more cooking with the same amount of fuel than can be done in any other stove. The flues are large, which ensures a good draft in all cases. The castings are very heavy and smooth, and those parts that come next the fire are extra thick, making it very durable. It is adapted to the use of either coal or wood, and we warrant them to operate as well with one as the other. We furnish them with the very best appanatus; and, altogether, it is the MOST DURABLE, ECONOMICAL and CONVENIENT COOKING STOVE ever made—complete in every respect. We ask the attention of all persons intending to purchase a new, or exchange their old stove, to an examination of the Improved Empire State.

We have also on hand a variety of other Cooking Stoves, called "Union," "Belle of the States," "King of the States," "Bay State," "Anglo Saxon," "Pearl of Troy," &c.; with a large lot of PARLOR STOVES, such as the Revere Air-Tight, Star, Revere Parlor Cook, Lake Cranklin, for Wood or Coal; Shop, Office and Air-Tight Stoves, of different sizes and prices for either wood or coal.

Also an extensive assortment of HOUSEKEEPING GOODS; Wooden, Willow, Glass, Britannia, Japan, Tin, Hard, Enamel, and Brass Ware; Copper, Cast Iron, and Chain Pumps; Window Shads, Table Oil-cloths, &c.

All the above goods will be sold lower than can be bought elsewhere in this vicinity.

GENERAL PIERCE.

This gentleman has been in Boston within the last few days. The Traveller gives this account of his visit to a school:

The President elect, Gen. Frank Pierce, accompanied by Hon. Amos Lawrence, President Hopkins of Williams College, and others, visited the Mather School at South Boston, on Saturday morning. The party first entered the Grammar department where were gathered three hundred misses. After examining the library of the association, Gen. Pierce was formally introduced to the young ladies by Josiah A. Stearns, the Principal. He made an appropriate address, urging them to improve the opportunities presented for self culture. The visitors then repaired to the boys' room, and after examining the philosophical instruments and other apparatus with which the school is provided, Gen. Pierce addressed the boys, saying:—"The success and honor of an American citizen depend much, very much, upon his own exertions. Every boy before me, whether of American or foreign origin, is here fitting to be an American citizen, and so let him improve his opportunities that he may become a blessing, an honor, a support to his country." He concluded by an earnest appeal to the boys to be industrious, for each one, he remarked, has a duty to perform, and the school is the place to become fitted for the station which he will hereafter be called to fill. The scholars entertained their visitors with two or three songs, and a brief exhibition of some of their studies, and the guests then retired to the Primary School, in the same building, kept by Miss Emily Baxter. Here also Gen. Pierce briefly addressed the scholars, and then retired, expressing himself highly delighted with his visit.

And the Times gives the following item on his attendance at a funeral:

A DEMOCRATIC SIGHT.—To see the President elect of the United States marching on foot through the streets, with the mud ankle deep, following to the grave an old and esteemed companion in arms. This sight was beheld in Boston yesterday, and elicited unrestrained expressions of admiration from crowds of citizens. Among the many sorrowing mourners at the obsequies of our late valued friend, Dr. Justin E. Stevens, we believe none were more sincere than Gen. Franklin Pierce.

Dr. Stevens was a Surgeon in the United States Army, and served in Mexico in the 9th Regiment, under Gen. Pierce. His funeral was attended by a large number of citizens, and detachments of the Fusileers and the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Companies.—Besides Gen. Pierce, Gen. Cushing, Major Lally, and several others, who served in Mexico, with the deceased, were present, and followed the body to the grave.

AN ALTERED BILL.—One of the most successful cases of altering bills from a small to a large denomination was discovered in the Suffolk Bank, Boston, on Monday morning. The bill in question was altered from $1 to a five hundred, and so perfectly was the thing done that the foreign money-teller of the Suffolk Bank took it without suspicion, and the cheat was only discovered by the scrutiny of the accountant. The bill was of the issue of the Central Bank, of Middletown, Conn., Henry D. Smith, Cashier, and Charles Woodward, President. It is lettered A., No. 8. The vignette is a horse dashing at full speed over a prairie. The cheat was accomplished by cutting off the two ends of the bill, and pasting on in their stead the denomination of $500. On the left hand are the figures 500 at the top and bottom, between which is a figure of a boy and girl, with a ship in the distance. In the centre, the figures 500, and the words five hundred are printed. On the right hand is a male and female head, one above the other. Whether the sum obtained by this villany, or its execution, is considered, the cheat is one of the most successful attempted in this vicinity for a long time.—Boston Journal.

THE MAMMOTH CAVE—ITS COST.

In one of Mr. Willis's recent letters to the Home Journal, is the following paragraph relating to the original purchase of, and the amount paid for the Mammoth Cave in Kentucky:

"Colonel Croghan, to whose family it belongs, was a resident of Louisville. He went to Europe some twenty years ago, and as an American, found himself frequently questioned of the wonders of the Mammoth Cave—a place he had never visited, and of which, at home, though living within ninety miles of it, he knew very little. He went there immediately on his return, and the idea struck him to purchase and make it a family inheritance. In fifteen minutes bargaining, he bought it for $10,000, for his purchase. In his will he tied it up in such a way that it must remain in his family for two generations, thus appending its celebrity to his name.

There are nineteen hundred acres in the estate—three square miles above ground—though the cave probably runs under the property of a great number of other land owners. For Year of those who might dig down and establish an entrance to the cave on their own property, (a man's farm extending up to the zenith and down to the nadir,) great vigilance is exercised to prevent such subterranean surveys and measurement, as would enable them to sink a shaft with any certainty. The cave extends ten or twelve miles in several directions, and there is probably many a backwoodsman sitting in his log hut within ten miles of the cave, quite unconscious that the most fashionable ladies and gentlemen of Europe and America, are walking, without leave, under his corn and potatoes."

HOUSE AND LIFE PROTECTORS AGAINST FIRE AND LIGHTNING.

PATENT METALLIC

LADDER AND CONDUCTOR.

THIS new and important invention is one that should receive the attention of every person who owns a building, or who is interested in that which presents a "permanent safeguard" against lightning, and at the same time a light, strong and ornamental Ladder, which will securely warrant the inmates of any house the ready means of escape in case of fire.

The above are manufactured by Messrs. Washburn, Holland & Co. of Worcester, Mass., and have received the strongest testimonials of approval from many scientific and practical men. A moment's examination of the Metallic Ladder is sufficient to convince any person of its great utility.

☞ Price per foot, 20 cents; including Lightning Rods and Points of the most approved material.

DAILY Morning Chronicle.

PORTSMOUTH:
THURSDAY, DECEMBER 23, 1852.

DISPUTED SEAT.

Mr. Merriwether contested the seat of Senator Dixon of Kentucky, in Congress. Mr Clay, it is well known, resigned his seat in Congress, the resignation to take effect on a certain day. The legislature accepted the resignation, and chose Mr. Dixon to supply Mr. Clay's place, from and after said day.—Before the day arrived, Mr. Clay died, and this event left a vacancy betwen him and his successor, Dixon. The legislature of Kentucky not being then in session, the Governor, as he was bound to do, appointed a Senator to fill the vacancy, viz: Mr. Merriwether, who took his seat and held it, as he ought, during the last session of Congress. The law gave the Governor of Kentucky power to fill the vacancy only till the next meeting of the legislature. But as it has not met since, Mr. Merriwether absurdly claimed his seat at the present session, and at one time it looked as if the Senate would give it to him. It was evidently plain, however, that the spirit of the law gives the Governor power to appoint a Senator only until the legislature shall have opportunity to fill the vacancy; and as in this case they had filled it already, it was quite clear that Mr. Merriwether's office died on the day when Mr. Clay's accepted resignation took effect. Yet he came to Washington, and his claim has occupied a day's time in the Senate, with the result of being thrown out by a vote of 27 to 16. A telegraphic despatch says: "The old southern nullifiers and the free soil senators act with the whigs in standing by Kentucky."

Besides these, Senator Douglas, neither free soiler, whig nor nullifier, made a speech in favor of his holding his seat.

THE LEGISLATURE.—To-day the Legislature enters upon the sixth week of its session, with a fair prospect of extending it at least two weeks longer. None of the important measures of the session have yet been disposed of, and to an "outsider" they seem as far from a settlement as they were three weeks ago. It is difficult for the people to understand why so little has been done in a session which has already exceeded the average length; and we doubt whether members will tell their constituents frankly the reason.—Daily Patriot of Wednesday.

Perhaps the editors of the Patriot never knew Toppin Maxwell—but we remember him perfectly. Toppin was an Irishman, and a roaring Republican: he was also a tanner, and used to work in Portsmouth near the spot now occupied by the Concord Railroad Depot. He had a horse, which he used to work just as it happened, sometimes very hard, and sometimes not at all. He had once laid idle for some days, and when he was next harnessed into the cart, he shook his head, and ran round, and backed, and finally stood, immovable. You've got a bad horse, Mr. Maxwell,—said a by-stander. No, no answered Toppin—he's only acting federal. We think the legislators have too much leisure, and when they get into the State House they act federal. The Patriot don't like to say so, probably, for a majority call themselves democrats.

A BOARD OF CLAIMS.—To show the absolute necessity of some action for the establishment of a board of claims by Congress, it is sufficient to say that it has been very recently stated, on the floor of the House of Representatives, that there was not a day during the whole of the late very long session of Congress, in which it was in order, in that body, for the Committee on Claims to make a report!—National Intelligencer.

The rules and orders of the House are a great humbug. A five minute rule for cutting off speeches, would be better than the whole of them.

The projected Committee on Claims was voted down by a small majority in the House—only 89 to 74. And it is strange what objection the 74 could have.

Some expedient of that kind ought to be resorted to, for the purpose of relieving Congress of the separate claims, and at the same time doing something like justice to the claimants.

POLITICAL AMUSEMENTS.

A correspondent of the New York Times, who is, we dare say, a whig, writes from Washington, that he thinks there is not perfect unanimity among the democratic leaders there, and says, "The curtain is just rising; and the play promises to be a singular medley of Tragedy, Comedy, and Farce."

We have no doubt at all, about the Tragedy. There will be a terrible "Slaughter of the Innocents" about the middle of March, when office-holders of all grades will be brought to the block, and the foreign ambassador as well as the tide-waiter will be decapitated with little ceremony. We will not anticipate the rest of the programme.

NEWBURYPORT.—Henry Johnson was, on Monday, at the second trial, re-elected Mayor of Newburyport, by a majority of 249.

N. H. General Court—Nov. Session, 1852.

[Abridged from the Patriot.]

TUESDAY, Dec. 21.

In the Senate, a resolution was passed, fixing on Jan. 1, 1853, as the day of adjournment.

In the House, the bill to amend the act relating to married women was read a third time and passed.

It was resolved, that the use of the Representatives' Hall be given, to-morrow evening, to the Legislative temperance society.

Resolutions were passed in regard to the Webster Obsequies, that they be held on Wednesday at 11 o'clock in the Representatives' Hall, Judge Perley being the orator, and that the Judges of the Superior Court be invited to attend.

The Great Falls and Conway Railroad Bill was discussed, and at half past 4, the House adjourned to three o'clock on Wednesday.

Thirty-Second Congress—Second Session.

The proceedings in the House of Representatives on Tuesday, were mostly on the Tariff, which finally was committed to the Committee of Ways and Means. This amounts to a vote not to meddle with the Tariff this session.

In the Senate there was an interesting debate on creating Gen. Scott a lieutenant general.

The joint resolution authorizing the President to confer the rank of Lieutenant General by Brevet for military services, was then taken up.

Mr. Shields said that this was not a new question. Two years ago a similar proposition was before the Senate, but was lost in the House. He was in favor of an act of justice—military justice to General Scott. The Committee considered and reported it. The resolution does not confer the rank of Lieut. General on General Scott by name. Congress had no such power; but it was well understood that the creation of the rank was intended for him. Of all the officers engaged in the Mexican war, General Scott was the only one who had not additional pay or additional rank for his services. He proceeded at some length, eulogising the conduct of General Scott in the Mexican war, and declaring that life and property were better protected in the city of Mexico during the presence of General Scott than ever they had been before, since the downfall of Montezuma.

Mr. Cass followed in support of the resolution, and spoke at length of the character of General Scott, and of the fitness and propriety of bestowing the proposed honor upon him.

Mr. Borland of Arkansas followed Mr. Cass, opposing the resolution under discussion, and submitting a substitute creating General Scott Lieutenant General.

Mr. Shields said that the Constitution required that all appointments should be made by the President.

Mr. Chase of Ohio opposed the proposition on principle, and thought the honors and renown gained in civil pursuits exceeded those obtained from military actions.

Mr. Shields of Illinois remarked that if the country was placed in an alarming exigency, he would prefer one company of disciplined men to a thousand peace societies.

Mr. Adams of Mississippi said he had voted once to create this office, and he regretted it ever since. He would now vote against the resolution.

Mr. Hale of New Hampshire was strongly opposed to the whole thing, for the same reason that men in the British Parliament refused to vote thanks to the British officers for victories gained over the American colonies. Those men could not discriminate between voting thanks for victories gained in an unjust war and voting to justify that war.

Mr. Clemens of Alabama followed, and made an eloquent appeal in favor of the resolution, and, in the course of his remarks, was very bitter in his allusions to the course of Mr. Hale upon the subject.

Messrs. Adams, Charlton of Georgia, Pratt of Maryland, and Chase continued the debate, after which Mr. Borland withdrew his substitute, when the question was taken and the resolution passed—ayes 34 nays 12.

The nays were Messrs. Adams, Bradbury, Bright, Cathcart, Chase, Felch, Hale, Hamlin, Norris, Sumner, Toucey and Walker.

It is rather a remarkable fact that our Senator Norris voted with his colleague Hale on this question, and more remarkable still that both our Senators should be in the small minority of twelve out of forty six. We think our Senators voted right—though if any man is entitled to such a compliment, it certainly belongs to Gen. Scott.

The California papers say there is no probability of the gold of that country being exhausted for many years to come, if ever.—They predict that in proportion to the increase of mining population, will be the increase of the yield, and two years from this time, if not sooner, it is not at all unlikely the shipments by each semi-monthly steamer will be double what they are now.

PARTY POLICY.—The Newburyport Herald says, in regard to the change of administration—

"The party coming into power, cannot consistently with its own professions allow the French to colonize any portion of Mexico, nor even to take possession of St. Domingo."

Can it be possible that the Oregon Boundary business is forgotten? Mr. Polk and his cabinet found it prudent to settle the line a good way to the south of 54 40,—and we think they did right in that.

If Mr. Pierce should happen to be inconsistent in some point, by correcting an error or abating some extravagant pretension, we have no doubt the people will forgive him.

LOCAL.

TO NEW SUBSCRIBERS.—For $3, we will give every person who may subscribe between this time and the first of January, a receipt from the time of subscribing (and paying) to Jan. 1st, 1854.

☞ After January 1st, '53, the Chronicle will not be for sale by the carriers. Persons wishing it left regularly at their residence or place of business, are respectfully invited to leave their names at the office or with the carriers.

"NEWSPAPORIAL."

Portsmouth newspapers seem to be flourishing. Our citizens never were so well supplied with local papers as the coming year gives promise of. The old Gazette is to change its dress and day of issue—as we have already noticed; the already-big-enough Journal is to be made still larger, without any increase of price—and the little Messenger has just donned an entire new suit, and looks well enough without change. The Journal probably now prints the largest number of any paper published in Rockingham County—though some others may circulate more in the county. We are glad to see our local press thus improving, and shall endeavor not to be left behind.—There is room for all. In our Weekly we shall give as much reading matter as any other paper in the State, for the same money—and as good a variety—see advertisement.

By the way, our neighbor of the Messenger has a word to say of us in his yesterday's issue:—

"The Chronicle gives notice that the paper will not be sold by carriers after the first of January, and that a weekly will be issued at the same office and containing the same matter as the daily. One would naturally suppose that the result would be that the two would kill each other; but the boys are bound to have a time and spend their money."

We confess we can't understand this—how one paper circulated out of town, and another circulated in the city, are to "kill each other." With the liberal patronage guaranteed us, before we issued the first number of the Daily, we never had any doubts as to its success—but regarded it as established from the start.

We thought our citizens would prefer a Daily to a slow-coach of a Weekly—and have seen no reason to change the opinion. We also think the success of the Daily warrants us in issuing a Weekly in connection,—as nearly all the dailies in the country do. If we print on Saturday, it will give Portsmouth three weeklies on that day—though the Weekly Chronicle will circulate chiefly out of the city.

We beg the Messenger not to worry at all about our "spending our money"—we assure the editor we shan't send him our bills to pay. "We shall see what we shall see."

ORDINATION ON CHRISTMAS EVE.

On Friday evening, the usual Christmas Services will be attended in the Stone Church, commencing at a quarter before seven o'clock. Sermon by the Parson, Rev. Dr. Peabody.

In addition to the usual services, Mr. Thomas William Brown, of this city, is to be ordained as a minister of the gospel, and as pastor of the Unitarian Church at Trenton, New York, to which field of labor he has received a unanimous call.

The other clergymen who are to take parts in the ordination services, are Rev. Charles Lowe of New Bedford, Rev. S. K. Lothrop, D. D., and Rev. Calvin Lincoln of Boston, Rev. Charles F. Bowen of Newburyport, and Rev. Edgar Buckingham.

☞ Mr. Coues's Lecture on the Theory of the Tides, is to be delivered in the Cameneum this evening at half past seven o'clock. The tickets for this lecture are fixed at ten cents. It is proposed at the close of the lecture, to organize a City Lyceum, if those who are interested in the matter see fit to move in it promptly and vigorously.

☞ The ladies fair are not to be "Fair" ladies on New Year's Eve, as we stated yesterday. Their Tea Party comes off some time next week, perhaps Wednesday—but not on Friday. The exact time and the place have not been decided on.

☞ The grocers have agreed to close their stores on Christmas at one o'clock.

HEAVY RAILROAD APPROPRIATION.—The Legislature of South Carolina, previous to adjournment on Thursday night, passed an appropriation of $1,250,000 for the Blue Ridge Railroad.

South Carolina is going into internal improvements with a rush.

READING VS. PREACHING.—A comfortable individual sat in church in New Bedford, on Sunday, and read a newspaper while the clergyman was preaching his sermon, which so much annoyed the latter, that, after once ineffectually requesting the reader to desist, he declared he would stop the sermon unless the newspaper was laid by. This had the desired effect.

Under the stimulus of the Australian market, business in England is beating at a fever heat. In Manchester alone, no less than eighty new factories, each of them with an average capital exceeding five hundred thousand dollars, are now in course of erection.

THE WEEKLY CHRONICLE.

TO BEGIN WITH THE NEW YEAR.

$1 A YEAR, INVARIABLY IN ADV.

FULLY SATISFIED with the entire success of the Daily Chronicle, and in consequence of much solicitation on the part of friends and patrons far and near, the subscribers have made arrangements to issue (as above) a Weekly
FAMILY NEWSPAPER,
in connection with the Daily Chronicle. It will be of medium size, printed in the same style as the Daily, and made up chiefly from its columns.

TERMS $1 per annum, invariably in advance. To Clergymen of all denominations, half price.

☞ All papers discontinued at the end of the term for which advance payment is made;—so no patron will long get a paper he does not want.

☞ All Postmasters will act as our Agents; and any person sending us $5, (the papers to be sent to one address) will receive a sixth copy for the service.

TO ADVERTISERS,

We offer the best advantages at the lowest rates. Advertisements will be inserted in both papers without extra charge. The Chronicle is (of course) circulated among a greater variety of readers than any partisan journal.

LATEST NEWS!

BY MAIL, EXPRESS & TELEGRAPH.

PROMOTIONS IN THE NAVY.—Washington, Dec. 21.—In executive session of the Senate to-day, a great number of promotions in the navy were made, and two new pursers were confirmed. The list of promotions laying over since last session on account of Capt. Cales being overslaughed, (?) his death last week removed the difficulty. The list embraces officers from midshipmen to captains, and advances assistant surgeons.

CONCORD, 23d.

INVITATION OF GENERAL PIERCE TO THE CITY OF BOSTON.—The Committee on the part of the City Government of Boston, consisting of the members of the Council and the Board of Aldermen, commissioned to tender the hospitalities of the city to Gen. Pierce when on his way to Washington, arrived here this morning, and took rooms at Gibson's new Eagle Hotel.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—Last Monday evening a gravel train, consisting of a locomotive, tender and seven cars, on which were 33 laborers returning from work, fell through a bridge on the Hudson River Railroad, near Spuyten, Tayfel Creek, in consequence of the drawer being carelessly left open. The fireman was instantly killed, the engineer had both legs broken. Two or three are missing.

TEXAS.—The New Orleans papers state that the cholera was raging to a great extent in Polk county, Texas; nearly 60 slaves on the plantation of the widow of DIXON H. Lewis had died from it.

TAKING UP THE RAILS.—On Saturday last a portion of the rails on the Buckfield (Me.) Branch Railroad were removed, after the cars had passed from the main track. This was done by the owners of the land over which the road passes, on the ground that the road had been illegally constructed.

FIRE AND LOSS OF LIFE.—On Monday about 1 o'clock P. M., (says the Newburyport Herald,) the house of Mr. John Smith, about two miles from Newburyport on Turkey Hill road, was destroyed by fire; and his daughter, aged 28 years, perished in the flames. A child 3 years old was also badly burned on the hands and face. Mr. Smith and wife were in town, having left the young child and a boy 8 or 9 years of age, in charge of their daughter, who is blind, but has been frequently left in charge in the same way. Mr. Goodrich, of West Newbury, was passing the house as Miss Smith came out of the door with her clothes all afire, and he extinguished the flames as soon as possible, but she was so badly burned that she died in a few minutes.

Miss Smith was an amiable and intelligent girl, and received a good education at the Asylum for the blind. The boy who was left with her does not appear to have been in the house at the time of the accident, and it is not known how the fire originated. It is possible that she was replenishing the fire, and that her dress first caught. The house was entirely consumed, and the barn took fire just before the engines arrived, but was speedily extinguished.

There is $300 insurance on the house, at the Atlantic office, Exeter.

CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICTS.—We copied an article from the N. H. Patriot the other day, giving the outlines of a bill for districting the state, which will probably become a law. We did not object to that, but we have since seen a better division, proposed in the Dover Enquirer, which is as follows:

1*st District* — Rockingham, Strafford and Carroll. Population 100,506.

2*d District* — Hillsborough, Cheshire and Sullivan. Population 106,996.

3*d District*— Merrimack, Belknap, Grafton and Coos. Population 110,362.

This would constitute each district of contiguous territory. The districts would be much more compact than they are by the bill now before the legislature. The excess of population in the 3d district over the 1st, as shown by the census of 1850, if not now equalized by the more rapid increase of the 1st, would be so in four or five years. Nor could there be any objection to such a division on political grounds as the 1st and 3d districts would contain democratic majorities, according to the vote at the last annual election, while the 2d district would contain a whig and free soil majority.

The New York City Democracy have settled their troubles by a compromise, having, in general committee on Saturday evening, by a vote of 33 to 16, decided that the inspectors of elections for the new committee should be named by the ward delegations separately. This was done. The result is considered as a triumph by the "Barnburners" or "Soft Shells" as they are now called, and Uncle Simon kept his disciples out of the wigwam.

The Whaleman's Shipping List says that there are no less than six ships now in course of construction in New Bedford for the whale fishery, all of which are to be completed during the ensuing Spring. Five of these vessels are intended for the sperm fishery. In addition to these evidences of activity in the business, the List hears of several houses in pursuit of good merchant ships for the whaling business.

A firm in N. York have received a despatch from New Orleans stating that all ships and brigs in that port were engaged.

The yellow fever was very prevalent at St Thomas, 6th inst., there being cases on board every vessel that had been detained there a week or two.

AN IMPORTANT DISCOVERY.—A scientific correspondent of the New York Courier, has made an important discovery in voltaic electricity, which may be practically applied to the cure of weak nerves. It is this :—

"If a cylindrical piece of zinc is placed near the top of a broom handle, and another about fifteen inches below, connection being made between the two by means of a wire, a person taking hold of the top piece with the right hand, while the left is placed on the copper or lower piece, the piece forms a voltaic circle, which becomes more powerful as the broom is used. The hands must be without gloves so that the metals are in contact, and the windows of the room should be open when the broom is used, so as to admit the air freely. The discovery is invaluable to females in a weak state for want of active life, and for males it can be applied to axe handles."

PERIODICAL STORMS.—A correspondent of the Newark Advertiser calls attention to the fact that we have had a succession of rainy Fridays, and mentions some instances in which storms occurred at similar intervals of seven days each. We can say a word on this point. Some years since a Society of students in Harvard College made a large collection of meteorological tables from all parts of the country, extending over a considerable length of time. An extensive examination of these tables showed that this principle, or coincidence, prevailed to an unexpected ext nt in the return of stormy days. In some cases for ten, twelve, or even more weeks, the same day would be entered rainy or stormy; then would come [illegible] or long-continued prevalence of fine weather, and some other day of the week would take the rain. So far as we know no regular report of the Society referred to was ever published.

THE ROGER WILLIAMS
COOKING STOVE.
FOR COAL OR WOOD.

THE attention of all in want of a COOK STOVE is respectfully solicited to a consideration of the merits of this most beautifully modeled pattern; equally adapted for coal or wood, and warranted to operate successfully with either, which is now offered to the public as the

Most Complete and Efficient

Cooking apparatus ever before introduced in this vicinity. It is an elegant model, with fine smooth Providence castings, fitted together in the most substantial manner. The oven, (by far the most important part of a cooking stove,) in point of capacity, and in regard to its operation, is unsurpassed by that of any other stove now in the market, it being lined with fire-brick to retain and equalize the heat, and provided with valves for the escape of steam, &c. arising from the roasting of meats—rendering it in this respect superior to the old fashioned but universally admired Tinkitchen.
The broiling apparatus is constructed on an entirely new and original plan, and will not fail to recommend itself at the first glance, as no smoke or gas arising from that culinary process can escape into the room. The sliding hearth is an improvement not to be found in any other stove.
The popularity of this over all other stoves now in the market, may be inferred from the fact that since its first introduction the last season, over THREE THOUSAND have been put into successful operation in New England and New York City.
Every stove is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction to the purchaser or the money refunded.
Each stove is warranted not to crack for twelve months from date of purchase. It is believed that this stove combines all the improvements that skill can invent, and is by far the most perfect cooking stove ever sold in Portsmouth. And though its price be higher than any other stove offered in this market of late, it is without question the cheapest in the end. All intending to purchase are respectfully invited to give this an examination before purchasing elsewhere.
Also, a variety of cheap Cook, Parlor, and Office Stoves, which are offered low.

WHAT-CHEER STOVE.
THE WHAT-CHEER COAL COOKING
STOVE, now offered for sale by the subscribers, is acknowledged by all who have examined it to be the best and most economical Coal Stove ever offered to the public.
The castings are heavy, smooth, and very handsome. The broiling apparatus is a great improvement over all other Coal Stoves, being constructed in such a manner as to prevent the steam from escaping into the room when cooking.
All persons wishing to purchase a COAL COOKING STOVE, are respectfully requested to call and examine the same. Every Stove warranted to work well, or no sale.
We have also a large assortment of COOKING, PARLOR and STORE STOVES, &c.—for sale cheap for Cash at our Store,

THE IMPROVED
EMPIRE STATE STOVE.

THIS justly celebrated COOKING STOVE having been improved in every way it could be to make its operations more complete, and its parts beautifully ornamented—no expense, time or trouble has been spared to make this the most complete Cooking Stove ever brought before the public—the subscribers feels assured in warranting the IMPROVED EMPIRE STATE superior to any stove in the market, as hundreds can testify who have used them for the past year.
The Cooking Stove has a LARGE OVEN, which makes it desirable on account of doing more cooking with the same amount of fuel than can be done in any other stove. The flues are large, which ensures a good draft in all cases. The castings are very sharp and smooth, and the parts that come next the fire are extra thick, making it very durable. It is adapted to the use of either coal or wood, and we warrant them to operate as well with one as the other. We furnish them with the very best appanatus; and, in short, it is the MOST DURABLE, ECONOMICAL and CONVENIENT COOKING STOVE ever made—complete in every respect. We ask the attention of all persons intending purchasing a new, or exchanging their old stove, to an examination of the Improved Empire State.
We have also on hand a variety of other Cooking Stoves, called the "Banner," "Belle of the States," "King of the States," "Bay State," "Anglo Saxon," "Pearl of Troy," &c.; with a large lot of PARLOR STOVES, such as the Revere Air-Tight, Star, Revere Parlor Cook, Lady Franklin, for Wood or Coal; Office and Air-Tight Stoves, of different sizes and prices for either wood or coal.
Also an extensive assortment of HOUSEKEEPING GOODS; Wooden, Willow, Glass, Britannia, Japan, Tin, Hard, Enamel, and Brass Ware; Copper, Cast Iron, and Chain Pumps; Window Shads, Table Oil-cloths, &c.
All the above goods will be sold lower than can be bought elsewhere in this vicinity.

GEN. PIERCE—GOV. SEWARD.

The Newburyport Herald says:

Gen. Pierce will have an opportunity to construct a good Cabinet. The democratic party never contained more talent than at the present time. In the middle and the western States, the democratic party possesses leaders of much greater ability than the Whigs. With the exception of Gov. Seward, the Whig party of the great middle States has no man of eminent ability sufficient for the party to rally under, and it is doubtless to this that its disastrous defeat is in a great measure to be attributed. Gov. Seward is unquestionably the strongest man so far as ability is concerned, who is left in the Whig ranks. The veteran leaders are dead, or retired, or have deserted. Unfortunately Gov. Seward's higher law speech and his defence of the conspirators against the Michigan railroad, greatly injured his influence, and in fact completely destroyed it for the present. It is doubtful whether he can now ever become a popular leader. He will always, however, when he exerts himself, exercise a marked influence upon the political history of the country, even when in the minority. Notwithstanding he has been in a minority in the U. S. Senate, no other Senator has exercised so much influence or carried so many points as Mr. Seward has done for several years past. Many measures passed by the majority, have received material modifications in consequence of his speeches and his motions.

It may be unfortunate for Mr. Seward, if he wishes to be either a president or a leader, that he has lost his influence;—but if he can be kept in Congress and can influence the majority when against him, to modify their measures, he will do more good to the country than in any other way. It is by no means likely he will be president—but he may at some future time be in a strong Cabinet. In the mean time, cases may arise in Pierce's administration, wherein Mr. Seward's influence may be as important to him, as Mr. Webster's was to Gen. Jackson in the days of Nullification. There can be no doubt of President Pierce's opportunity and ability to select strong men for his cabinet.

PERSIAN HOUSEKEEPING.

The usual mode of living in one house seemed pretty nearly the same in all that fell under the range of Mr. Burton's observation. They get up at sunrise, when they have a cup of coffee. The few hours in the day in which the Persians condescend to labor in any way, are from sunrise until 8 o'clock in the morning. After that the heat becomes so intense (frequently 108 or 109 degrees in the shade) that all keep within doors, lying about on mats in passages or rooms. At 10 they have their first substantial meal, which consists of mutton and rice, stewed together in a rude saucepan, over a charcoal fire, built out of doors. Sometimes, in addition to this dish they have a kind of soup, or "water-meat," (which is the literal translation of the Persian name, made of water, mutton, onions, parsley, fowls, rice, dried fruits, apricots, almonds and walnuts, stewed together. But this, as we may guess from the multiplicity of the ingredients, was a dainty dish. At four o'clock, the panting Persians, nearly worn out by the heat of the day, take a cup of strongly perfumed tea, with a little bitter orange juice squeezed into it; and after this tonic they recover strength enough to smoke and lounge. Dinner was the grand meal of the day, to which they invited friends. It was not unlike breakfast, but was preceded by a dessert, at which wine was occasionally introduced, but which always consisted of melons and dried fruits. The dinner was brought in on a pewter tray; but Mr. Burton remarked that the pewter dishes were very dingy. A piece of common print was spread on the ground, and cakes of bread put on it. They had no spoons for the soup, "water-meat," but soaked their bread in it, or curled it round into a hollow shape, and fished up what they could out of the abyss. At the Mirza's they had spoons for the sour goat's milk, which seemed to be one of their delicacies. The ice is brought down from the mountains, and sold pretty cheaply in the bazaars. Sugar and salt are eaten together with this iced sour goat's milk. Smoking narghilahs beguiles the evening hours very pleasantly. They pluck a quantity of rose-blossoms, and put them into the water, through which the smoke passes; but the roses last in season only a month. Mirza Oosan Koola had a few chairs in the house, for the use of the gentlemen of the embassy.—Household Words.

CURIOUS RAFFLE.

A publican in the city of London will distribute, one day this week, previous to Christmas, by lot, the most curious assortment of prizes that we have ever seen advertised to tempt the gambling propensity. He has issued 10,000 tickets at one shilling each, to draw 700 miscellaneous prizes, while the remaining ticket holders, to console them for drawing blanks, we suppose, will each receive four penny worth of ale or gin. The first prize consists of a best cabin free passage to Australia, with the materials for a jollification to a party of twelve friends before the emigrant's departure. The said materials are to comprise a turkey, a goose, joints of meat, pudding ingredients, and a dazzling array of bottles of choice wines and spirits.

The second prize consists of a second cabin passage, with the wherewithal for a less costly symporium. The third is a suit of new clothes, with a gold watch and chain. Another prize entitles the holder to the silk and "trimmings" for a lady's dress. Another consists of a bedroom set of furniture. A sixth and seventh sundry articles for the parlor and kitchen. Then there are several articles in which a ton of coal is the most conspicuous attraction; while geese and sucking pigs are scattered around with a liberal hand.

The objects of this curious lottery, seem to be, to give the publican a chance to make a pile of money, and a few other lucky individuals the means of keeping a merry Christmas on Saturday next.

HOUSE AND LIFE PROTECTORS
AGAINST FIRE AND LIGHTNING.

PATENT METALLIC
LADDER AND CONDUCTOR.

THIS new and important invention is one that should receive the attention of every person who owns a building, or who is interested in that which presents a "permanent safeguard" against lightning, and at the same time a light, strong and ornamental Ladder, which will securely warrant the inmates of any house the ready means of escape in case of fire.

The above are manufactured by Messrs. Washburn, Holland & Co. of Worcester, Mass., and have received the strongest testimonials of approval from many scientific and practical men. A moment's examination of the Metallic Ladder is sufficient to convince any person of its great utility.

☞ Price per foot, 20 cents; including Lightning Rods and Points of the most approved material.

Specimens of the article may be seen at the office of the subscriber.

DAILY Morning Chronicle.

PORTSMOUTH:
FRIDAY, DECEMBER 24, 1852.

CHRISTMAS DAY.

Christmas is the high day, the grand religious festival of the Roman Catholic and Greek Churches, of the English Church, of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States, of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, and to a limited extent of the same Church North. It is also observed by the English Methodists, and by some Unitarian, Universalist and other churches and ministers. The Lutherans on the Continent also observe it. In no part of Christendom is it so little observed or regarded in any way as in New England, where the early Puritan interest was set against it; and as a curious piece of history it may be worth while to remark, that although every reason for the old opposition to it has long since ceased, yet a "masterly inactivity" on the subject has so prevailed throughout this part of the country, that the Methodists throughout the Northern States have rarely been able to collect large audiences on that day.

The tendency of things, however, is in the direction of a more general observance of Christmas in New England—progressed so far as to be no longer opposed to it—but the community in general, especially in cities, lay by their active business, and unite to some extent with those who keep it as a holy day.

The services usually held on Christmas Eve, at the Stone Church, will take place there this evening at a quarter before 7 o'clock, and will derive additional interest from the ordination of one of our townsmen to the ministry.

Religious Services appropriate to Christmas Day will be held in St. John's Church as usual to-morrow. The morning service will commence at a quarter past 10 o'clock.

WEBSTER OBSEQUIES AT CONCORD.

These ceremonies, as the reader is already apprized, were by order of the Legislature of New Hampshire, and were attended by the members of both Houses. On the morning of Dec. 22d, Forefather's Day, a delegation arrived from Boston, consisting of Aldermen Reed and Ober, and Councilmen Hobart, Spinney and Kimball of Boston, who were introduced to Gen. Pierce. Their object was to tender the hospitalities of the city to the President elect, while on his way to Washington. The invitation was accepted, and the delegation accompanied Gen. Pierce to the State House, where the Hon. Ira Perley pronounced an eulogy on Daniel Webster. It was a masterpiece of oratory. The hall of the House of Representatives was crowded to its utmost capacity. Many distinguised persons were present, including Judges of the Supreme Court of New Hampshire, Hon. Chas. G. Atherton, Hon. Edmund Burke, besides the leading members of the Whig party in the State. A great number of ladies were present. After the ceremonies at the State House, the Boston civic delegation entertained Gen. Pierce and a few of his most intimate friends, by a dinner in Gibson's Eagle Hotel.

NEW YORK AND VIRGINIA.

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—Gov. Johnson has sent a communication to the Virginia legislature relative to the discharge of the Lemmon slaves in this city. He says the decision of Judge Paine is in conflict with the opinions of other distinguished jurists, and without a single precedent to support it, and declares it to be a case of the first magnitude and without a parallel. But if the Statne of New York has been rightfully expounded, and is not in conflict with the constitution of the United States, it is proper that Virginia should know it. The same sovereign power by which New York enacts her laws and gives them force within her limits pertains to Virginia within hers, and to them she will have to look for redress.

We have no doubt Judge Paine expounded the law correctly—no doubt that the Statute of New York is constitutional. Nor have we the shadow of a doubt that Virginia also has the right to pass laws regulating her own internal police in all particulars which do not conflict with the constitution of the United States. It is a question, however, for each state to settle, whether it will pass laws against its own interest and reputation, or against those of its people. Therefore, if the State of New York deems it for her interest, to have saves brought into her territory from one State, to be shipped to another, she will repeal the law. And if Virginia deems it against her interest to admit immigrants or traders of any class within her borders, she will keep them out—if she can.

We think, on the whole, this Lemmon case has been pretty well squeezed, on both sides, and is getting to be rather dry picking. But if such things come along by telegraph, we must dish them up, somehow.

In Fairfield county, Ct., Miles H. Wakeman obtained $100 damages and costs from Amzi Pearce for marrying a girl to whom he was engaged. The lady promised to marry Wakeman in January, but Pearce persuaded her to marry him in December.

N. H. General Court—Nov. Session, 1852.

[Abridged from the Patriot.]

THE GENERAL COURT, on Wednesday, did very little, beyond attending the obsequies of Daniel Webster.

In the Senate the following bills were read a third time and passed: in amendment of sec. 29, chap. 1 R. S.; relative to foreign attachments or the trustee process. And the bill in relation to married women was indefinitely postponed.

In the House, which met at 3 P. M., three or four bills to incorporate Engines were read a third time and passed. Mr. Bartlett of Portsmouth, offered a resolution thanking Judge Perley for his Eulogy on Mr. Webster, and requesting a copy for the press—which resolution passed unanimously. On motion of the same gentleman, the resolution from the Senate, to adjourn on New Year's day, was laid on the table.

A resolution to loan State muskets and a cannon to the People's Literary Gymnasium at Pembroke, was laid on the table, 136 to 114.

Thirty-Second Congress—Second Session.

WEDNESDAY, Dec. 22.

SENATE.—Mr. Borland reported from the Committee on Conference on disagreement, the bill granting a pension to Gen. Worth's widow, and moved that the House recede from its amendment. Concurred to.

Mr. Borland introduced a bill explanatory of the appropriation for the removal of the raft in the Red River.

It provides that a contract be made for keeping the navigation open and for the removal of the raft, instead of simply removing the raft. Read a third time and passed.

Mr. Gwinn introduced a bill for the construction of a railroad and branches, and for the establishment of postal arrangements between the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans, and for affording facilities for commerce and travel. He moved that it be made the special order for the 10th of January. After debate the bill was finally laid on the table, and the bill of last session on the same subject was taken up and made the subject of a special order for the 10th of January.

Mr. Felch reported the house bill granting to the Sackett's Harbor and Edinburgh railroad the right of way through the military reservation at Sackett's Harbor. Passed.

The Senate then took up the bill to change the mode of compensation for members of Congress, repealing all former laws, and providing a salary of $2000 per annum to each Senator and Representative, and allowing the same sum for mileage as is now paid, the distance to be computed by an air line; pay to be deducted for absences, except in cases of sickness.

Mr. Badger moved that the bill be indefinitely postponed. Agreed to, yeas 21, nays 10.

The Senate then adjourned.

HOUSE.—Mr. Florence presented petitions from soldiers of the war of 1812, and the proceedings of a public meeting in Philadelphia, recently, on the subject of asking Congress to pass a law giving them 160 acres of land. Also a similar petition from Wilkesbarre, Pa., and a memorial from widows and children of the soldiers, asking a similar grant. Referred to Committee on Public Lands.

Resolutions were adopted to pay John S. Littell pay and mileage from the commencement of the 31st Congress to Sept. 17th, 1850, while contesting the seat held by John Robbins of Pa.; also of Hendrick B. Wright, from the commencement of last session to the 2d of July, while contesting the seat held by Mr. Fuller of Pa.; and John Taliaferro, of Va. per diem and mileage while contesting his seat in 1811. Adjourned.

SHIP ARRIVING ON FIRE.—The Boston Daily Advertiser informs us that the ship Affghan, of New York, arrived in Boston harbor on Wednesday evening from New Orleans, on fire in the hold, it having been discovered in the afternoon, and endeavors made by Capt. Rasmussen and crew to smother it. On her arrival she was taken to Union wharf, and application was made to the city authorities to extinguish the fire. Mr. Nourse, Chief of Police, immediately gave the alarm for fire in the first district, when the department assembled, and were occupied some hours in filling the hold with water, by which means the fire was extinguished. There was much fire among the cargo, which is of course badly damaged by both water and fire, and the injury to the hull must be considerable. The Affghan is 362 tons burthen, built on the Penobscot several years since, and had a cargo of 1093 bales cotton, 71 do wool, and 1167 kegs lard.

This will remind some of our readers (one at least who was on board her) of the ship Westchester, which was struck by lightning at sea, and after burning several days, came into Portsmouth harbor on fire, which was put out at our wharves by the fire engines.

ROBBERY BY MEANS OF CHLOROFORM.—Mr. W. P. Morrell of Arkansas, while on his way home on the 8th inst., on board of the steamer Fanny Smith, having the sum of four thousand dollars in bank notes with him, was robbed, after he had retired to his berth, by somebody who broke open his state-room door and administered chloroform. The money was in a belt around his body.

THE CALORIC SHIP ERICSSON.—To gratify public curiosity in regard to the experiments making on board this ship, we state that her machinery was again put in operation yesterday, and was kept in motion ten hours. During this time her paddle wheels made six and one-fourth revolutions per minute, upon 420 pounds of coal, weighed and put into the furnaces each hour. In consequence of working the furnaces upon a draft purposely checked, this amount of coal was not all consumed.—Journal of Commerce.

LOCAL.

TO NEW SUBSCRIBERS.—For $3, we will give every person who may subscribe between this time and the first of January, a receipt from the time of subscribing (and paying) to Jan. 1st, 1854.

☞ After January 1st, '53, the Chronicle will not be for sale by the carriers. Persons wishing it left regularly at their residence or place of business, are respectfully invited to leave their names at the office or with the carriers.

CHRISTMAS.

To-morrow being Christmas Day, we shall issue no paper from this office. We are pleased to announce a more general closing of stores on the occasion, than has commonly been the practice here. The Book stores and Dry Goods stores are to be closed for the entire day, and the Grocery stores at one o'clock.

City Council—Dec. 23.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.—Two Gas Lights were surrendered to the City and accepted, viz. one on the corner of State and Atkinson streets, and the other on the corner of State and Pleasant streets.

Daniel Randell was appointed City Gas Lighter.

Several bills were passed for payment.

The Committee to whom was referred the petition of Messrs. Yeaton, Simes and Tredick for damages on account of their building destroyed in Bow street, reported—that they had examined the premises, and were satisfied that the act of destroying said building was necessary to insure the safety of the adjoining buildings, and that the petitioners have leave to withdraw. Adopted unanimously.

The papers, relating to damages caused by firing minute guns in honor of Daniel Webster, were taken from the table, and referred to a Committee who were directed to confer with Capt. Towle, and report on Thursday evening next.

☞ This evening at the Temple will be the last chance for the present, of seeing the Dissolving Views, and of hearing the Misses Macomber sing and play. See advertisement.

☞ Mr. Coues's Lecture, appointed for last evening, was again postponed on account of the snow-storm—and is to be delivered on Monday evening next, at the Cameneum—wind and weather permitting.

☞ In the Police Court yesterday, the case of Levi Brackett for an assault upon the person of George Smart was again brought up. Brackett was bound over in the sum of three hundred dollars to appear at the Court of Common Pleas.

ACCIDENT.—A little girl in this city returning from school yesterday forenoon, slipped on the ice on the sidewalk and broke her left arm.

WHITE BLUE NOSES.—This is an awkward name for potatoes—but the potatoes themselves are good. See advertisement.

SUDDEN DEATHS.

A telegraphic despatch from Philadelphia informs us that on Tuesday evening a man named Abraham Lisk was found on the road between Little York and Easton in a dying condition from fatigue and exposure. He was carried into the farm house of Mr. Samuel Duckorh, whose wife was so shocked at the sight of the dying man that she fell to the floor and instantly expired. Lisk also died in a few moments after having reached the house.

Besides the sadness which comes over the reader at the recital of the woman's death, there is a womanly beauty in her sympathy for human suffering, in the person of the unfortunate and forlorn wanderer, which must command the admiration of all who are themselves pitiful and kind.—Doubtless the good wife's nerves were weak, but she had a great soul.

THE VICE PRESIDENT ELECT.—Hon. William R. King, it will be noticed, has sent in his resignation as President of the Senate, and Mr. Atchison has been chosen in his stead. Mr. King, the Express says, is 72 years of age. His symptoms are very aggravated, and he suffers as Mr. Clay did in his last illness. His cough commences in the evening and lasts till ten or eleven o'clock, when, exhausted, he falls asleep. He awakes again about two in the morning, and coughs violently and incessantly till seven or eight.—Nothing seems to give him relief, and unless a change speedily takes place, he cannot survive. His friends seem to have no expectation of his recovery.

Some papers are expressing the confident opinion that, in case Mr. King dies before the votes are counted, the Senate will be obliged to elect Mr. Graham Vice President. This is all moonshine. The Senate will elect one of its own members to preside over it, in the same way as Mr. King has been acting Vice President since the death of Gen. Taylor transferred Mr. Fillmore to the Presidency. Mr. King has been actually chosen Vice President. The case in which the Senate chooses from the candidates is, when no person has received a majority of the votes of the electors. That contingency has not occurred, and the Senate will not go outside of its own chamber to fill the vacancy, under these circumstances, should it occur either before or after the votes are counted.—Salem Register.

LATEST NEWS!

BY MAIL, EXPRESS & TELEGRAPH.

MOVEMENTS AT HAVANA.—New York, Dec. 24.—A letter from Havana dated the 5th, states that on the day previous, soon after the Cherokee left the port, the Spanish war steamer Isabel Segunda began to fire up, and at 2½ steamed out of port on a secret mission. Her orders were to proceed to the principal port of the Spanish Republic, St. Domingo, Hayti, and land Don Mariano Torricnte, the special agent appointed by Gen. Cahedo to negotiate and offer assistance to that republic for the prevention there of American colonization, and to watch the movements of fillibusters, who it is pretended are about to rendezvous in that quarter.

LATER FROM NASSAU, N. P.—BURNING OF A BARK FROM FRANCE.—Charlestown, Dec. 22. The schooner Time arrived to-day, from Nassau. The bark Ovando arrived in distress at Nassau 5d of Dec., 55 days from Havre with 149 passengers, and was burnt on the 6th to the water's edge. All her cargo was not burnt, but was damaged so much as to be almost valueless. The emigrants in the Ovando sailed on the 15th in the brig Pedrassa, for Charleston.

The cholera is abating at the Bahama Islands. The late disturbances have been settled amicably.

LATER FROM ST. DOMINGO—MOVEMENTS OF THE FRENCH.—New York, Dec. 23.—The Herald of this morning says, "We understand from a captain in the French Marine, who arrived yesterday from St. Domingo, that there is a fleet of the Emperor already in the undisputed possession of the harbor of Samana. It is further announced that it is the intention of Louis Napoleon to send all the necessary reinforcements to keep the prize he has secured, and there is not the slightest doubt among the French residents of the Island, that the ground taken by the Emperor will be defended by the whole force of the Empire.

ADDRESS OF SENATOR DOUGLASS—THE MEXICAN BOUNDARY COMMISSION.—Washington, Dec. 23.—General Cass having declined to deliver an address on placing the equestrian statue of General Jackson on the 8th of January, before the Democratic Association, the invitation has been tendered to Senator Douglass, who has accepted it.

The Mexican Boundary Commissioner, under Mr. Maurice Chandler, had arrived at Fork Duncan at the last dates, having been compelled to abandon their works on the Rio Grande, on account of the loss of their boats in the rapids.

The Mexican authorities were verp strict, and would permit no armed American parties to cross the river at cape pass.

STARTLING CRIME.—Buffalo, Dec. 22.—Mr. John Brown, a wealthy citizen of Pembroke, started from that town on Monday last, in his own team and accompanied by his wife and eldest son for the purpose of making a visit to this city. This morning his dead body was found on the plank road near the Alden Station, with his clothes torn and pockets rifled. His wife and son are also missing and are supposed to have been murdered. The team is also gone.

Cincinnati, Dec. 21.—The Jury in the case of James Perkins, a lad of 14 years, on trial in Perry county, Mississippi, for the murder of his father, returned a verdict of manslaughter in the second degree. A new trial has been ordered.

ANOTHER TESTIMONIAL OF RESPECT TO MR. WEBSTER.—New York, Dec. 23.—At the business meeting of the New England Society yesterday, Moses H. Grinnell, Esq., was chosen President for the ensuing year.

Mr. William H. Evarts offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That a subscription be opened under the auspices and sanction of the New England Society of the city of New York, to raise a fund from the contributions of the city of New York, of New England origin, for the pupose of procuring a bronze statue of Daniel Webster, to be presented to the city of New York, that it may stand in some public position as a perpetual monument of his greatness and his fame.

A committee of five was appointed to make the necessary arrangements. The cost is estimated to be about $15,000, and it is intended to have the statue executed by a New England artist.

Washington, Dec. 22.—The Intelligencer of this morning contradicts authoritatively the report that the Secretary of the Interior had refused to award any new contracts for the extension of the Capitol. It says that the Secretary will continue to discharge the duties imposed on him by law until his successor is appointed.

THEFT.—Baltimore, Dec. 22.—A master's mate of the sloop of war St. Marys, had about $35,000 in Pennsylvania bank bills stolen from him. He believes that three men who were with him at the depot robbed him. It is supposed they have gone to Philadelphia. Two of them were called Saunders and Cutter.—The latter was a seaman in the St. Marys.

Washington, Dec. 23.—The Union of this morning says that Senator King is much improved in health, and that there is no longer need for the attendance of a physician. He will probably take his seat in the Senate in a few days.

Raleigh, Dec. 21.—Another unsuccessful ballot for United States Senator was had. On the last trial Mr. Dobbin required only one vote. General Saunders cast his vote for Dobbin.

The dwelling house of Paul Otis, situated on the Concord road in Nashville, N. H., was consumed by fire on Wednesday morning.

Two barns, with all the contents, including a large lot of hay and twenty sheep, the property of Mr. Gambol, were consumed by fire, last Saturday evening, in Hillsborough, N. H.

THE ROGER WILLIAMS
COOKING STOVE.
FOR COAL OR WOOD.
THE attention of all in want of a COOK STOVE is respectfully solicited to a consideration of the merits of this most beautifully modelled parlor stove, adapted for coal or wood, and warranted to operate successfully with either,—which is now offered to the public as the
Most Complete and Efficient
Cooking apparatus ever before introduced in this vicinity. It is an elegant model, with fine smooth Providence castings, fitted together in the most substantial manner. The oven, (by far the most important part of a cooking stove,) is point of capacity, and in regard to its operation, is unsurpassed by that of any other stove now in the market, it being lined with fire-brick to retain and equalize the heat, and provided with valves for the escape of steam, &c. arising from the roasting of meats—rendering it in this respect superior to the old fashioned but universally admired Tin Kitchen.
The broiling apparatus is constructed on an entirely new and original plan, and will not fail to recommend itself at the first glance, as no smoke or gas arising from that culinary process can escape into the room. The sliding hearth is an improvement not to be found in any other stove.
The popularity of this over all other stoves now in the market, may be inferred from the fact that since its first introduction the last season, over THREE THOUSAND have been put into successful operation in New England and New York City. Every stove is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction to the purchaser or the money refunded.
Each stove is warranted not to crack for twelve months from date of purchase. It is believed that this stove combines all the improvements that skill can invent, and is for the most perfect cooking stove ever sold in Portsmouth. And though its price is higher than any other stove offered in this market of late, it is without question the cheapest in the end. All intending to purchase are respectfully invited to give this an examination before purchasing elsewhere.
Also, a variety of cheap Cook, Parlor, and Office Stoves, which are offered low.
J. E. CHAPMAN,
n29 Daniel st., Sign of the big Coffee Pot.

STANLEY'S Imperial AIR-TIGHT COAL BURNER.
THE above cut represents the most beautiful, durable and economical
PARLOR HALL STOVE
extant. We sold a number of these stoves last season, and they give perfect satisfaction.
Four sizes of this capital article in store, and for sale at MORRISON'S,
n9 15 Daniel st.

WHAT-CHEER STOVE.
THE WHAT-CHEER COAL COOKING STOVE, now offered for sale by the subscribers, is acknowledged by all who have examined it to be the best and most economical Coal Stove ever offered to the public.
The castings are heavy, smooth, and very handsome. The Broiling apparatus is a great improvement over all other Stoves, being constructed in such a manner as to prevent the steam from escaping into the room when cooking.
All persons wishing to purchase a COAL COOKING STOVE, are respectfully requested to call and examine the same. Every Stove warranted to work well, or no sale.
We have also a large assortment of COOKING, PARLOR and STORE STOVES, &c.—for sale cheap for Cash at our Stores,
Corner of State and Water streets,

Wholesale and Retail Warehouse.
THE IMPROVED
EMPIRE STATE STOVE.
THIS justly celebrated COOKING STOVE having been improved in every way it could be to make its operations more complete, and its plates beautifully ornamented—no expense, time or trouble having been spared to make this the most complete Cooking Stove ever brought before the public—the subscriber feels assured in warranting the IMPROVED EMPIRE STATE superior to any stove in the market, as hundreds can testify who have used them for the past year.
This Stove has a large LARGE OVEN, which makes it desirable on account of doing more cooking with the same amount of fuel than can be done in any other stove. The flues are large, which ensures a good draft. The castings are light and very heavy and smooth, and those parts that come next the fire are extra thick, making it very durable. It is adapted to the use of either coal or wood, and we warrant them to operate as well with one as the other. We furnish them with the very best appanatus; and, altogether, it is the MOST DURABLE, ECONOMICAL and CONVENIENT COOKING STOVE ever made—complete in every respect. We ask the attention of all persons intending to purchase a new, or exchange their old stove, to an examination of the Improved Empire State.
We have also on hand a variety of other Cooking Stoves, called the "Banner," "Belle of the States," "King of the States," "Bay State," "Anglo Saxon," "Pearl of Troy," &c.; with a large lot of PARLOR STOVES, such as the Revere Air-Tight, Star, Revere Parlor Cook, Lady Franklin for Wood or Coal; Shop, Office and Air-Tight Stoves, of different sizes and prices for either wood or coal.
Also an extensive assortment of HOUSEKEEPING GOODS; Wooden, Willow, Glass, Britannia, Japan, Tin, Hard, Enamel, and Brass Ware; Copper, Cast Iron, and Chain Pumps; Window-Shads, Table Oil-cloths, &c.
All the above goods will be sold lower than can be bought elsewhere in this vicinity.

THORVALDSEN'S FIRST LOVE.

Some fifty-five years ago, a young woman of prepossessing appearance, was seated in a small back room of a house in Copenhagen, weeping bitterly. In her lap lay a few trinkets and other small articles, evidently keepsakes which she had received from time to time. She took up one after the other, and turned them over and over; but she could scarcely distinguish them through her blinding tears. Then she buried her face in her hands, and rocked to and fro in agony.

"Oh!" moaned she, "and is it come to this? All my dreams of happiness are vanished—all my hopes are dead! He will even go without bidding me farewell. Ah, Himlen! that I have lived to see this bitter day! Lovet vers Gud!"

At this moment a hasty tap at the door was followed by the entrance of the object of her grief. He was a young man about twenty-five years of age, his person middle-sized and strongly built, his features massive, regular and attractive—his long hair flaxen, his eyes blue. This was Bertel Thorvaldsen—a name which has since then sounded throughout the world as that of the most illustrious sculptor of modern times. His step was firm and quick, his eyes bright, and his features glowing as he entered the room, but when he beheld the attitude of the weeping female, a shade passed over his countenance as he gently walked up to her, and laying his hand on her shoulder, murmured: "Amalie!"

"Bertel!" answered a smothered voice.

The young Dane drew a chair to her side, and silently took her tear-bedewed hands.—"Amalie," said he, after a pause broken only by her quivering sobs, "I am come to bid thee farewell. I go in the morning."

She ceased weeping, raised her face, and releasing her hands, pushed back her dishevelled hair. Then she wiped her eyes, and gazed on him in a way that made his own droop. "Bertel," said she in a solemn tone, but void of all reproach—"Bertel, why did you win my young heart?—why did you lead me to hope that I should become the wife of your bosom?"

"I—I always meant it: I mean it now."

She shook her head mournfully, and taking up the trinkets, continued: "Do you remember what you said when you gave me this—and this—and this?"

"What would you have, Amalie? I said I loved you: I love you still—but——"

"But you love ambition, fame, the praise of men far better!" added she bitterly.

Thorvaldsen started, and his features flushed; for he felt acutely the truth of her words.

"Yes, you will leave gamle Denmark—you will leave your poor, fond, old father and mother, whose only hope and only earthly joy is in you—you will leave me, and all who love the sound of your footstep, and go to the distant land, and forget us all!"

"Min Pige! you are cruel and unjust. I shall come back to my old father and mother, come back to thee, and we shall all be happy again.

"Never, Bertel!—never! When once you have gone there is no more happiness for us. In heaven we may all meet again, on earth never! O no, never more will you see in this life either your parents or your poor broken-hearted Amalie! and again her sobs burst forth.

Thorvaldsen abruptly rose from his chair and paced the room in agitation. He was much distressed, and once or twice he glanced at Amalie with evident hesitation. His past life, the pleasures of his youth, the endeared scenes and friends of his childhood, the affection of Amalie, the anguish of his parents at the approaching separation, all vividly passed in review, and whispered him to stay and be happy in the city of his birth. But a vision of Rome rose also, and beckoned him thither to earn renown, wealth, and earthly immortality. The pride of conscious genius swelled his soul, and he felt that the die was cast forever.

He rescated himself by the side of Amalie and once more took her hand. She looked up, and in one glance read his inmost thoughts. "Go," said she, "go and fulfil your destiny. God's will be done! You will become a great man—you will be the companion of princes and kings, and your name will extend the fame of your country to the uttermost parts of the earth. I see it all; and let my selfish love perish! Only promise this when you are hereafter in the full blaze of your triumph, sometimes turn aside from the high-born lovely dames who are thronging around, and drop one tear to the memory of the lowly Danish girl who loved you better than herself. Bertel, farvel."

The next day, Thorvaldsen quitted Copenhagen for Rome, where he resided nearly the whole remainder of his long life, and more than realized his own wildest aspirations of fame. But the prophecy of poor Amalie was literally fulfilled—he never more beheld his parents, nor her, his first true love!

Nearly half a century had elapsed, and again the scene was Copenhagen. The streets were densely crowded with eager, sorrowing spectators, and every window of every house was filled with sadly expectant faces. At length the cry, "They come!" was echoed from group to group, and the crowds swayed to and fro under the sympathetic swell of one common emotion.

A withered old woman was seated at the upper window of a house, and when the cry was taken up, she raised her wrinkled countenance, and passed her hands over her eyes, as though to clear away the mist of more than seventy winters. An immense procession drew nigh. Appropriate military music preceded a corpse being conveyed to its last earthly abiding place. The king of the land, the royal family, the nobility, the clergy, the learned, the brave, the gifted, the renowned walked after it. The banners of mourning were waved, the trumpets wailed, and ten thousand sobs broke alike from stern and gentle breasts, and tears from the eyes of warriors as well as lovely women showered like rain. It was the funeral of Bertel Thorvaldsen, with the Danish nation for mourners! And she, the old woman who gazed at it as it slowly wound by—she was Amalie, his first love! Thorvaldsen had never married, neither had she.

"Ah, Himlen!" murmured the old woman, wiping away tears from a source which for many long years had been dry; "how marvellous is the will of God! To think that I should live to behold this sight! Poor, poor Bertel! All that I predicted came to pass; but, ah me! who knows whether you might not have enjoyed a happier life after all had you stayed with your old father and mother, and married me. Ah, Himlen, there's only One can tell! Poor Bertel!"

Four years more sped, and one fine Sabbath morning an aged and decrepit female painfully dragged her weary limbs through the crowded rooms of that wondrous building known as Thorvaldsen's Museum. She paused not to glance at the matchless works of the Sculptor, but crept onward until she reached an open doorway leading into the inner quadrangle, in the centre of which a low tomb of gray marble encloses the mortal remains of him whose hand created the works which fill the edifice. Step by step she drew close to the tomb, and sank on the pavement by its side. Then she laid down her crutch, and pressed her bony hands tightly over her skinny brow. "Ja ja!" murmured she, "they told me he lay here, and I prayed to God to grant me strength to crawl to the spot—and He has heard me. Ah, Himlen, I can die happy now!

She withdrew her hands, and peered at the simple but all comprehensive inscription of "BERTHEL THORVALDSEN," deeply cut on the side of the tomb. Then she raised her fore-finger, and earnestly traced with it every letter to the end. Smiling feebly, she let fall her hand, and complacently sighed, while an evanescent gleam of subtle emotion lighted up her lineaments. "'Tis true; he moulders here. Poor Bertel, we shall meet again—in heaven!"

Her eyes closed and her head slowly sank on her breast, in which attitude she remained until one of the officers of the museum, who had noticed her singular behavior came up.—"Gammel kone" (old wife) said he, "what are you doing?"

She answered not; and he slightly touched her shoulder, thinking she was asleep. Her body gently slid to the ground at the touch, and he then saw that she slept the sleep of death!

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.
PORTSMOUTH:
MONDAY, DECEMBER 27, 1852.

GOVERNMENT OF SEAMEN.

Practical men are fond of facts: and all the the rising in the world is unsatisfactory to such men, unless they know something of the facts on which theories are founded. One of our nautical readers, who takes a deep interest in the welfare of our seamen and the honor of our country, has given us the means of testing, in one ship, at least, the comparative value and efficiency of flogging disobedient and disorderly seamen, as was formerly done, and of confining and ironing and bucking them, as these punishments are now taking place, since flogging has been forbidden by law.

We are introduced into the penitentiary department of a ship of war, and we survey the record of crimes and punishments for a period of 34 months, 13 of them while flogging was allowed, and 21 of them after it was abolished.

In the term of 13 months, 124 sentences of flogging were executed, or 9 7-13 each month. During the subsequent period of 21 months, 269 sentences of solitary confinement, irons, double irons, bucking, straight jacket, &c. In the latter time, the punishments were 12 9-21 a month, or an increase of about one quarter in the number of seatences. Besides this increase of inflicted punishments, it is represented that the general order of the ship was not so good as before.

Among the offences, drunkenness brought 21 culprits to the gangway to be flogged, while flogging was allowed, and confined 38 men after flogging went out of fashion. Fighting—flogged 33 and confined 45. Disobedience, 15 and 35. Neglect of duty 14 and 27. And insolence, 5 and 23. Petty offences and annoying negligence, have increased more under the present code, (if it be a code), than heinous crimes.

We are happy to be confirmed, as we are in this instance, by a practical and judicious man, in the opinion already expressed, that if the spirit ration were abolished among seamen, the lash might safely be abolished with it—but that the present system of punishments is ineffectual,—and yet something to answer the same or a better purpose, is indispensable.—While the temptation to drunkenness and consequent fighting and disobedience is kept up,—there must be some force also kept up and used, to preserve order, without which, on ship-board, there can be neither efficiency nor safety. Were the temptations removed, the rules of the navy might stand as they are, and order be entirely preserved,—and if the Secretary of the Navy can have his recommendations carried out, to reward good sailors, as well as punish the bad, and to pay better wages to the whole,—the service will be placed at once on better footing.

Discipline must by all means be maintained. The problem is to maintain it with the greatest possible ease and comfort both to officers and men.

THE LATE DISASTER.

SCHOONER ALBERT M. HALE.—The following particulars of the loss of this vessel, are furnished by gentlemen who have visited the wreck:

On Wednesday, 7th inst., the sch. Albert M. Hale, of Orleans, Mass., Smith, captain, sailed from New York with freight to Portsmouth. On the 14th she foundered at Cape Cod, and on the 18th the storm and wind completely tore her into pieces and scattered all her parts. On board were about 500 bbls. Flour and 21 boxes of Coffee, (saved and sold on Monday last upon the Beach at Orleans,) consigned to J. & H. Eldredge; about 8 tons of Iron to Spalding & Parrot, (reshipped via Chatham;)—also a lot of Lead and Shot consigned to Raynes & Neil (reshipped.) Some furniture, &c., belonging to Rev. Mr. Armitage, was mostly saved in a damaged state and reshipped.

Dr. G. G. Brewster had instruments and stock in his professional line which amounted to $438; lost, with the exception of about $20 worth of stock saved.

Alfred T. Joy had on board about $100 worth of Feathers. None were insured, excepting the consignment to Messrs. Eldredge in Portsmouth.

There were also 250 bushels Corn, which of course was lost.

IRISH HOUSES.—In noticing our statement that only one of our Irish families owns a house, the Newburyport Herald says, "several of the Irish residents in Newburyport, own the buildings they occupy, and some of them own several dwelling houses."

So they will here in a few years—for the industry and economy of the sober men among them will bring them to wealth.

The Irish have been settled in Newburyport longer than in this city.

N. H. General Court—Nov. Session, 1852.

[Abridged from the Patriot.]

THURSDAY, Dec. 23.

SENATE.—The bill in amendment of the laws in relation to railroad corporations, passed July 13, 1850, relating to half fares, season tickets, free passes, &c., was put on its second reading, and an amendment proposed by Mr. Freeman—pending action on which the bill was laid on the table.

The consideration of the bill relating to the transportation of wood, bark, lumber, &c., on railroads, was resumed, the question being upon its third reading, upon which the yeas and nays were called and resulted—

Yeas.—Messrs. Hoitt, Wells, Woodbury, Shannon, Whittemore, Taylor, Williamson, Merrill, Rix—9.

Nays.—Messrs. Freemen, Bennett—2.

So the bill was ordered to a third reading.

HOUSE.—Read a third time and passed.—Bill in relation to Railroads.

Bill to incorporate the Keene Steam Power Company.

Bill to incorporate the New Hampshire Homœpathic Society. [This bill reads, "Homœpathetic," and was passed so.]

Bill to incorporate the Literary and Biblical Institute at New Hampton.

Bill to amend the act to incorporate the Pittsfield and Concord Railroad Company.

Bill to amend chap. 145 of the R. S., concerning damages on floated timber.

Bill to equalize and establish the salaries of Judges and Registers of Probate in this State.

Bill in relation to trespass, in amendment of chap. 1230 of the Pamphlet Laws.

The bill for the protection of pigeon stands was discussed on a motion by Mr. Barker of Westmoreland, to indefinitely postpone its consideration, after which the motion was put and, on a division, carried by 122 to 103.

The bill to set off a part of Lyndeborough and annex the same to Mount Vermon, on a division, was passed by 126 to 116. A call for the yeas and nays were declared out of order—the bill having been declared passed.

The Liquor Bill was taken up and discussed till the hour of adjournment,—without any remarkable displays of logic or eloquence.

FRIDAY, Dec. 24.

SENATE.—The following bills were read a third time and passed, under a suspension of the rules:

Bill in amendment of charter of Hopkinton Academy; bill relating to houses of correction; bill to incorporate Lafayette Engine Co. No. 3 of Nashua; bill relating to Concord Engine Co. No. 4; bill to incorporate the Concord Female Charitable Society; bill to incorporate the Red Hill Manufacturing Co.; bill relating to the transportation of wood, bark, lumber, &c., on railroads.

The bill in amendment of charter of Merrimack Co. M. F. Ins. Co. was read a third time and laid on the table.

The Senate then adjourned over to Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

HOUSE.—Mr. Bartlett of Portsmouth, reported a joint resolution in favor of Lucius M. Rosebrook & Co., authorizing them to erect a building on the summit of Mount Washington. Read and placed in the orders of the day.

The following bills were read a third time and passed:—

Bill in relation to School District Meetings.

Bill to disannex certain lands from Hooksett and annex the same to Allenstown.

Bill to incorporate the White Mountain Plank road Company.

Unfinished Business—the Liquor Bill.—This was again debated, by Messrs. Preston, Wiggins, and Cushing. [It does not appear likely to pass the House;—and certainly would not pass the Senate. There is little prospect of passing any liquor bill this season.]

Mr. Bartlett of Portsmouth, assuming that the practice was to be carried out of adjourning on Saturday, and that no exception would be made of Christmas day, moved that the bill be laid on the table, and made the special order for Tuesday next at half past 3 o'clock—adopted.

Adjourned to Monday at 3 P. M.

Thirty-Second Congress—Second Session.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.

SENATE.—Mr. Mason submitted a substitute which he intended to offer for the bill providing for the payment of the Texas creditors. He also submitted a resolution calling for a copy of the official notes addressed by the Governments of Great Britain and France, inviting this country to unite in a tripartite convention that neither government would permit the Island of Cuba to be taken from Spain. After debate the subject was postponed until next Tuesday week.

HOUSE.—A bill was reported for paying Chas. G. Ingersoll, mileage and per diem allowance, while contesting the seat of Charles Naylor in the 26th Congress—pending the further consideration of which, the House adjourned.

What constitutes the States of Illinois, Indiana, and Wisconsin, having twenty-three Representatives and six Senators in Congress, was, says the Newburyport Herald, not many years ago, one Congressional District; and the delegate who then represented all this territory is yet living.

Letters received from Bishop Ives, of North Carolina, and from members of his family now in Europe, make no mention of his having joined the church of Rome, as has been reported. The story is said to have originated with the Freeman's Journal, the Catholic organ in New York.

In Albany, N. Y., a young lady has started a "Ragged School," in which she now has forty or fifty children, picked up in the streets.

The contract to build the State Pauper Asylum at Tewksbury, Mass., has been taken by Mr. Albert Carrier, of Newburyport. The building will cost $40,000.

Louis Napoleon is said to be deeply fascinated with a beautiful Spanish lady of rank, who is supposed to entertain the ambitious hope of becoming empress instead of the Princess Vasa.

ORDINATION.

MR. THOMAS WILLIAM BROWN, of this city, was ordained on Christmas Eve, in the Stone Church, as Pastor of the Unitarian Church in Trenton, New York.

Introductory prayer by Rev. Charles Lowe, of New Bedford, Mass. Sermon by Rev. A. P. Peabody, D. D., of Portsmouth. Ordaining prayer by Rev. S. K. Lothrop, D. D., of Boston, Mass. Charge by Rev. Calvin Lincoln, of Boston, Mass. Right hand of fellowship by Rev. Edgar Buckingham. Concluding prayer by Rev. Charles J. Bowen, of Newburyport, Mass. Benediction by Rev. Mr. Brown.

THE CITY LYCEUM.

☞ Mr. Coues's Lecture on the Theory of the Tides, which has been twice postponed on account of bad weather, is to be delivered this evening at half past seven o'clock, in the Cameneum.

The tickets are 10 cts. each. It is intended to get up a course of Lyceum Lectures, chiefly scientific, if encouragent can be found for the undertaking.—The subject will be considered at the close of this lecture.

For the Morning Chronicle.

MR. BROWN'S ORDINATION.

Messrs. Editors:—The services at the Stone Church, on Christmas Eve, were interesting and instructive to a large audience, principally females. I regretted that the walking was so bad as to prevent many gentlemen from attending, but woman, "last at the cross and first at the tomb," is always in the way of her duty.

The music was excellent. The bass of the first piece was too much like loud talking, but when the female voice attained the ascendant it became good. In fact, if the bass was wholly excluded, our church music would be vastly more suitable to the place. I think that the music of churches should be performed by females, with the organ alone to accompany them.

The first speaker in the ordination services, an elderly man, stated that the Council were satisfied with the course of the Church at Trenton, and that an examination of the candidate for ordination showed his acquirements to be perfectly satisfactory. A young man read several appropriate selections from the Scriptures. The sermon by the pastor, was from the words in Luke, "Unto you this day is born a Savior." He made a few remarks appropriate to the text and the day, but his discourse was mainly on preaching, and the duty of preachers. He said many preachers spoke as if their congregations were walking in the footsteps of Christ, urging them to persevere—but they omitted the fact that a large majority of their hearers were sinners, who required constant admonitions to duty. The sermon was eloquent and pathetic; a believer could not but reflect how infinitely removed were the most of us from the path delineated by the preacher as the path of the christian; and mentally exclaim, "If this is so, who then can be saved?" But there has been so much preaching for eighteen hundred years, and so little good accomplished, that it is possible the import of words is not understood or believed. The charge was an excellent effort, and many parts of it would suit the workshop as well as the pulpit; it was sensibly felt by the whole audience, and will make a lasting impression on the young man and other hearers. The right hand of fellowship was given in an affectionate, highly interesting and instructive manner. The ordaining prayer by an elderly gentleman, was highly impressive, and commanded the breathless attention of the whole audience. The whole ceremonies were well calculated to make a lasting and salutary impression. A HEARER.

We give the above as "a hearer" wrote it—but don't exactly endorse all his views, those respecting the bass in music especially.—EDS.

LIVING IN PARIS.—Mr. Rives our minister in France, says:

The expense of fuel is a very heavy charge: here wood alone, for the most part is burnt here, and the price of that is from fourteen to sixteen dollars the cord. The expense of a family in Paris may be judged of by the common articles which enter into its consumption—butcher's meat, for example, being fifteen cents per pound, and double that price for the delicate portions; ham from thirty to forty cents the pound, and a pair of fowls nine francs, or a dollar and seventy-five cents of the currency of the United States, and other things in like or even greater proportion.

He speaks of these things, in showing that our Ambassadors cannot live on their salaries in Paris.—We copy them, wondering how the poor live there at all.

Rev. Joseph Crehore has accepted the invitation of the Universalist Society of Bath, Me., to become their pastor.

CUBA.—Within a few weeks, southern politicians have been manifesting a "sober second thought" upon the Cuban business. They have been counting up the 200,000 free blacks, and 400,000 wild slaves, many of them imported from Africa. They have counted the probabilities of the re-enactment of the scenes of St. Domingo, and calculated the force necessary to hold these blacks in slavery, and whether the north would readily contribute blood and treasure for that purpose. And upon the whole, they seem to be fast coming to the conclusion that Cuba had better be let be she is for the present.

Most women had rather have any of their good qualities slighted, than their beauty.—Yet that is the most inconsiderable accomplishment of a woman of real merit.

MARKETS.

LIVERPOOL CORN MARKET, Dec. 10th.—The Corn market was very animated in the early part of the week, at a further advance of 2d per bu. on wheat, and 1s per brl. on flour; but speculators having ceased for the time, the following quotations are given: white Wheat 7 a 8s, red 6s6d a 7s4d per 70 lbs; Western Canal Flour 29s a 29s3d; Philad., Balt. and Ohio 29s6d; Canadian 28s6d a 29s3d per brl; white Corn 38s, mxd 34s a 34s6d per qr.

Entertainment by the Ladies of the City
IN AID OF THE
Howard Benevolent Society.

THE Ladies of Portsmouth, responding to the call which the low state of the funds of the Howard Benevolent Society has made, propose to give an ENTERTAINMENT

AT CONGRESS HALL,
ON WEDNESDAY EVENING NEXT, DEC. 29.

They hope to make the evening interesting by all the usual accompanyments of such occasions. The GLEE CLUB will favor them with music, and sing occasionally through the evening. TABLES OF REFRESHMENTS will be provided, and all the little et ceteras which give vivacity and sociability to the visitors, will be attended to.

Admittance 12½ cents. The doors will be open at 7 o'clock.

Should the circumstances warrant, the Entertainment may be continued on Thursday evening; if so, notice will hereafter be given. d27

Bills of Exchange on England & Ireland.

JOHN S. HARVEY, No. 7 Exchange Buildings, will furnish Bills of Exchange on England or Ireland for sums of £1 or upwards to any amount, on the well known house of Messrs. T. Wiggin & Co., London. d27

1853. Magazines. 1853.

GRAHAM'S American Monthly Magazine.—The American favorite Magazine has been greatly enlarged, giving nearly as much reading as Harper's and is much more highly illustrated.

Godey's Lady's Book, vol. 46—commences in Jan. with immense increase of reading matter, without any reduction of its splendid Steel Engravings and Full Fashion Plates.

Peterson's Ladies' National Magazine. Edited by Mrs. Ann S. Stephens. Terms $2 per year. The best Ladies' Magazine in the world.

Harper's New Monthly Magazine. Containing over 1700 pages of interesting and useful reading with numerous illustrations.

The National Magazine, of Literature, Art and Religion. Edited by Abiel Stevens. Terms $2 per year.

Putnam's Monthly. A new Magazine. Intended to be one step above any American Magazine.—A sort of an aristocrat amongst all others. It combines the character of a Magazine and Review. To read a list of its promised contributors will not fail to give a magnificent idea of the Magazine.

Littell's Living Age. Weekly—$6 per year. This good Magazine needs but to be known to be appreciated.

The Ladies' Repository. A Literary and Religious Monthly. Terms $2.

The Family Circle and Parlor Annual. Devoted to fathers, mothers, sons and daughters. Terms one dollar.

The Christian Parlor Magazine. Two dollars.

The Farmer's Monthly Visitor. A New Hampshire Publication—devoted to Agriculture, Horticulture, Mechanic Arts and Education.—$1.

THE WEEKLY CHRONICLE.

TO BEGIN WITH THE NEW YEAR.

$1 A YEAR, INVARIABLY IN ADV.

FULLY SATISFIED with the entire success of the Daily Chronicle, and in consequence of much solicitation on the part of friends and patrons far and near, the subscribers have made arrangements to issue (as above) a Weekly

FAMILY NEWSPAPER,

in connection with the Daily Chronicle. It will be of medium size, printed in the same style as the Daily, and made up chiefly from its columns.

TERMS $1 per annum, invariably in advance. To Clergymen of all denominations, half price.

☞ All papers discontinued at the end of the term for which advance payment is made;—so no patron will long get a paper he does not want.

☞ All Postmasters will act as our Agents; and any person sending us $5, (the papers to be sent to one address) will receive a sixth copy for the service.

TO ADVERTISERS,

We offer the best advantages at the lowest rates. Advertisements will be inserted in both papers without extra charge. The Chronicle is (of course) circulated among a greater variety of readers than any partisan journal.

VALUABLE PROPERTY FOR SALE

IN FRAMINGHAM, MASS.

THE house heretofore known as the FRAMINGHAM HOTEL, situated in Framingham Centre, Mass., having been put in complete and thorough repair throughout, is now offered for sale. The main house is 100 feet on the street, 60 feet of which has a piazza, and contains 30 rooms, including a large hall; has a large and dry cellar, Ice House, and the best of water. The whole premises have been occupied the past year as a private residence, during which time many improvements have been made in and about the house and grounds, the front yard having been enclosed, set with large trees, and grassed. The house is well calculated for a genteel Boarding House or Hotel, for which it is much wanted; and the Board of Education have decided to remove the State Normal School, now located at West Newton, to Framingham, the site for which is only a few minutes' walk from the premises, makes this property particularly desirable for this purpose, as it will secure, in connection with boarders from the city, a profitable business the year round.

It is also desirable as a private residence, having every convenience as such, and being situated in close proximity to the Common, several Churches, High School, (free,) and only a few minutes' walk from the depot. The size of the House, to any one having a large family, would not be objectionable, as the hall and other parts could be fitted up in a manner which would add much to the convenience and comfort of a residence in the country; or a part of it could be so used, and the remainder let, without inconvenience. To persons, therefore, in pursuit of property for either of the above purposes, or for investment, an opportunity offers rarely to be met with. Terms of sale will be liberal, and possession given at any time.

For further information, apply by letter or otherwise, to L. WIGHT, Framingham, or in Boston to J. K. PORTER & CO., 27 Water st.

LATEST NEWS!

BY MAIL, EXPRESS & TELEGRAPH.

FIRE AND LOSS OF LIFE.—A fire was discovered in Blake's court, leading from Washington street to Harrison Avenue, in Boston on Thursday afternoon. The fire caught in a room occupied by an Irish woman named Doherty who had gone out to work, leaving her two children locked in, and after the fire was extinguished and upon entering the room, mournful to relate, the two children, Bernard, aged 4 years, and Mary Ann Elizabeth, aged 2 years were found dead, probably smothered by the smoke.

The fire was extinguished before destroying the building.

HUMBUG ROBBERY.—Baltimore, Dec. 23.—The reported robbery last night, is believed to be a humbug. The pocket-book has been found, and contained only $28, instead of $35,000. It is believed that all the recently reported robberies have been mere inventions.

[Of whom? the telegraphic reporters? or of somebody who sold them?]

FRENCH SPOLIATIONS.—The Washington correspondent of the New York Journal of Commerce writes under date of the 21st, that,

"There has been a meeting here of parties interested in the Bill before the House for the payment of claims for French Spoliations prior to 1800. It appears to be the belief that if the bill does not pass now, it never will. It is, therefore, of some importance to the parties, to know what the temper of the House in regard to it actually is. Present indications are adverse to it. There does not seem to be any general disposition to touch it at all; and the probability is, that it will be suffered to die on the Speaker's table, where it now is, and without even a direct vote upon it. This bill comes within that class of important measures which the majority of the House are adverse to act upon, and which they intend to turn over to the next Congress and the next administration."

PETITIONS TO CONGRESS.—By Mr. Hibbard—Charles M. Howe of Benton, N. H., praying for compensation for military services, as heir of Abraham Safford. By Mr. Scudder—Selina C. Sumner, wife of Capt. Thomas Sumner, who is now insane, asking pecuniary aid for him and his family, as a reward for his scientific discovery, by which a ship's position at sea may be ascertained when no observation of the sun can be had. Also, of Geo. Marston and 70 others, for a beacon to be erected on the "Deep Hole Rock," in the Vineyard Sound, Massachusetts.

FROM EUROPE.

The news by the Canada is seven days later, viz. Liverpool to Dec. 11. The Canada experienced a succession of violent gales.—She has £2500 in specie.

Cotton has experienced a decline of 3-8*d*.

The Board of Trade returns for the month ending the 25th, are published; the exports have amounted to $4,855,666, varying little from the average of the two preceding years.

FRANCE.—The Emperor has set at liberty a great number of political prisoners, and an article has been published in the Moniteur, offering the imperial pardon to all exiles—except those guilty of the highest crimes—who are suffering for their former disobedience to the Government, upon promising that they will abstain from similar conduct in future.

The Ministry of the Empire have resolved not to sanction any more new railways in any part of France until those now in the course of construction are completed, or at all events further advanced.

Prince Albert of Saxony, is a rival to Louis Napoleon for the hand of the Princess Neacola Vasa of Sweden; the intended alliance of the Emperor with the Neapolitan Princess is still currently spoken of in Paris.

BELGIUM.—The law regarding the press had passed the Chambers; its provisions are very stringent.

DISCHARGES AT CHARLESTOWN NAVY YARD.—The Boston Herald states that about 35 yard laborers were paid off and discharged from the Charlestown Navy Yard on Friday forenoon, together with the quartermen, Messrs. Anderson and Smith. This makes about 60 who have been discharged during the week. Most of the men discharged have families, and their deprivation of work at this season of the year will be a hard blow for them.—Atlas.

ANOTHER FEMALE ADVENTURER.—A young lady, wearing the bifurcated garments, giving her name as Merriam Kirkpatrick, belonging in Canada, and on her way to the gold diggings of Australia, was taken into custody in New York a few nights since.

The New Bedford Mercury, in noticing the frequent change in the editorial management of the organ of the Free Soilers in Boston, says that "the Boston Commonwealth continues to make a perfect 'Dissolving View' of itself.

Edwin Forrest, and Mrs. Sinclair, his late wife, by a singular coincidence, have effected engagements at the rival theatres of Buffalo, to come off at the same time.

BOOTH.—The Portland Argus having stated that Booth, the tragedian, was brought to Portland during the war of 1812, a prisoner in the British brig Boxer, which was taken by the United States brig Enterprise, the Philadelphia Inquirer says: "The Argus, we think, must be mistaken. During the war, Booth was playing in London, where, in 1814, he was driven from the stage by the friends of Kean."

CAUTION.—Mrs. Eliza W. Chapman is soliciting subscribers for the "Orphan's Advocate" and other objects, and appropriating the money to her own use. This is to caution all persons not to pay her money. She is partially insane. She is probably in the County of Essex. Any information respecting her present abode, will be gladly received by A. & E. C. Fellows, Boston, or at Mr. Ball's office, Salem.

PATENTS.

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS

With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,

No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IN 1840 the subscriber was appointed Agent of the United States Patent Office, in accordance with the 10th section of the Act of 1837.

Having relinquished the agency for the transmission of models, and adopting a more expeditious mode of sending them by Express, (which he believes he pioneered several weeks earlier,) he continues to forward them, as before, free of expense, and to prepare Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all the necessary Papers and Drawings for patents, and to render advice on legal and scientific matters respecting the same. Patents secured in Europe.

The subscriber aims to present to inventors superior facilities for obtaining patents; and is now prepared to make Specifications at rates cheaper by ten to twenty per cent. than those of other agencies. They can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being SITUATED, for journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. B. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. B. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There we saw few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skillful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure them speedily and favorably at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

PATENT OFFICE, ———,

"R. B. EDDY, Esq., BOSTON, Mass.

"SIR:—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any other agent. I am very respectfully, Yours, &c. THOMAS EWBANK,
Commissioner of Patents."

Boston, Dec. 7, 1852. eodly

THE ART OF BEING BEAUTIFUL.

IT has long been a desideratum that some scientific man should apply himself to the study of the human scalp. DR. JACOBY, the great Pathologist, from Berlin, has done this, and in this new field has attained the most brilliant results.—Satisfied by an analysis of the red colored alcohols and other washes, of their injurious effects, he has compounded the celebrated Berliner Haar Wasche, to the efficacy of which thousands of witnesses might be summoned, of the accompanying character:—

Boston, Jan 1, 1848.

This is to certify that I have had an article called the Berliner Haar Wasche applied during the past five or six weeks to my head, for the purpose of removing and strengthening the hair. It has proved effectual in both cases, and therefore I can cheerfully recommend the same to those afflicted with baldness or diseases connected therewith. JONAS CHICKERING.

It frequently happens that ladies order from hairdressers, and apply some of the compounds prepared by apothecaries, who think, because they can make poor soda water, they can prepared good hair wash. The effect of these is often highly injurious. Ladies use none of them.—Consult Dr. Jacoby, who will eradicate the nuisance and guarantee a beautiful head of hair. His motto is, no cure, no pay.

To those at a distance, the Chaarpoo Washee Nos. 1 and 2, and Hair Wash, are recommended. There is, however, no universal specific, and all persons troubled, should if possible see Dr. Jacoby.

In the course of his scientific research, Dr. Jacoby has discovered a Hair Dye that does not stain the skin, which is easy of application, and will stand exposure in all weather. The accompanying certificate, from a highly scientific source, must satisfy the most incredulous.

Boston, Nov. 28, 1851.

I have seen Mr. Moses Jacoby's Hair Dye, used in coloring hair of a deep brownish black, of a beautiful natural color, and can certify that it is perfectly efficient and permanent.

CHARLES T. JACKSON, M.D.,
Assayer to the State of Mass.

Dr. Jacoby's rooms are at No. 9 Franklin street, Boston, where he may be consulted at all hours.—There are always in attendance in both ladies' and gentlemen's rooms the most skilful hair dressers.

North American Soap Co.

MANUFACTURERS, City and Country Dealers and the public are requested to give their Soap a trial. It is cheaper than any soap in use. Soaps can be used in cold, SALT or HARD water as effectually as the softest: will remove Grease, Tar, Paint, &c., and contains no ingredients injurious to the skin or most delicate fabric; is superior for washing goods, and other articles as well with or without NO BOILING and but little rubbing. Numerous testimonials might be appended, but the proprietors rest upon its merits. Sold by the principal Grocers throughout the city. All orders promptly attended to. M. B. BIGELOW,
153 Washington st., up stairs, Boston.

HOUSE AND LIFE PROTECTORS

AGAINST FIRE AND LIGHTNING.

PATENT METALLIC

LADDER AND CONDUCTOR.

THIS new and important invention is one that should receive the attention of every person who owns a building, or who is interested in that which presents a "permanent safeguard" against lightning, and at the same time a light, strong and ornamental Ladder, which will securely warrant the inmates of any house the ready means of escape in case of fire.

The above are manufactured by Messrs. Washburn, Holland & Co. of Worcester, Mass., and have received the strongest testimonials of approval from many scientific and practical men. A moment's examination of the Metallic Ladder is sufficient to convince any person of its great utility.

☞ Price per foot, 20 cents; including Lightning Rods and Points of the most approved material.

JACK WARHAWK,

OR THE ARKANSAS COWARD.

The beautiful little town of Van Buren, on the Arkansas River, near the Cherokee line, during its early history, was famous for the number and ferocity of its deperadoes, being the principal meridian and focus of rendezvous for gamblers, Indian traders and all sorts of adventurers who had found it necessary to change their domicile from lands governed by the administration of a rigid criminal code.—The half-breed "brave" from the Cherokee nation also flocked to the same site, to drink, carouse, take a hand at cards, and exhibit their powers in sanguinary "set to's" with pistols and long knives. Such a state of society may be imagined—it cannot be described. Not a sun performed its circuit that did not witness some dreadful single combat with or without murderous weapons, while now and then dozens at a time and by mutual agreement, marched from the grocery out into the public square, and encountered in mortal strife.

At this period Thomas A. Myers emigrated to Arkansas, and opened a large grocery store at Van Buren, acting himself as keeper and retainer. Such an occupation at that time required a man of the most determined courage, as the store had always a back room or shed attached, especially appropriated to gambling, both by day and night, and where the players were supplied with the choicest liquors at the bar, and would be sure to bully the grocer out of his reasonable charges, unless restrained by fear.

For a while, however, Myers succeeded admirably. The half-breeds, loafers and chartered fighters, as they called themselves, held a caucus, and unanimously voted that the new arrival was a dangerous subject, and had better be let alone. This verdict was altogether owing to the stranger's personal appearance, as military as might well be conceived. Tall, manly, and symmetrical in shape, with great endowments, both in strength and agility, he would have had few equals in the arms of a naked nature. But, by the cunning inventions of art, iron, and lead, and the thunder and lightning of gunpowder, are made to fight for the feeblest bosom; and thus dwarfs and giants, provided both are alike the heirs of true courage, now stand on the same dead level.—It was believed, also, that Myers possessed the resolute will to handle those awful engines of destruction whose life and death hung on the touch of a trigger. His countenance betokened the perfection of bravery. His face wore generally a stern expression, and when that melted into a smile, the smiles seemed sterner still. His eyes were exceedingly black, wild, penetrating and restless, and had that cold gleaming metallic look, which may be regarded as the surest sign of desperation. Besides he carried an appalling supply of pistols, and a bowie-knife fourteen inches in the blade. Hence, everybody was respectful and obliging to the ostensible hero for a period of several weeks, during which an unusual calm reigned in the village.

At length a terrible affray took place in Myers' grocery. Half a dozen fire-arms exploded in quick succession, and the deafening roar so frightened the keeper that he took to his heels and fled from his own establishment. The fact settled public opinion as to his character.

"What a chicken-hearted coward, to run from his own castle," exclaimed General Cole, the Napoleon of frontier duellists and gamblers.

"Why, he hasn't the spunk of a dead possum!" lisped Will Green, the dandy loafer, combing his "soap locks" with his long rosy nails.

"Let's drink his liquor and smoke his segars, and not pay for them, because as how he's a coward," said Jack Warhawk, a huge half breed; and having enunciated this enthemene of a genuine Cherokee logic, Jack leaped over the counter and began to fill glasses and hand out segars, crying—"Toast the brave my boys! We'll never want while the world has chickens of the white feather."

The firing in the grocery having ceased for more than an hour, and being replaced by a din of most boisterous mirth, Myers by a great effort mustered the spirit to return. He found the customers helping themselves with a vengeance, and thought to overawe them by the assumption of heroic airs. He snatched his revolver from his pocket, and pointing it at Warhawk's breast, sternly ordered him to leave the house.

"If that's what your arter," shouted Jack unsheathing his big bowie, and springing back over the counter, "here's what will give you a ladle full."

Myers still kept the revolver presented, but his hand shook like a leaf in the tempest, and his very lips grew white with terror, and his very feet involuntarity retreated backwards by short quivering steps. The two feelings, physical fear, and moral courage, were struggling for the mastery. He was endeavoring to act bravely, but his nerves refused their concurrence, and he remained, so to speak, in equipois—totally incapable of acting at all. He was impotent to fight, and as powerless as a fly.

There was no such hesitation in the conduct of Jack Warhawk. Brandishing his big knife with his right hand, he seized the flowing locks of Myers in his left hand, roared at the top of his lungs—

"Down, coward; down on your marrow-bones, or by the blue blazes I'll cut your throat."

Incredible as it may seem, Myers, still holding his deadly revolver loaded with six rounds, cowered to the floor like a beaten hound, and begged most pitiously for his life—a prayer which the mocking half breed granted on condition that he would treat the crowd for a whole week.

From that time the unfortunate Myers was subject to every species of insult and outrage.

The loafers would pull his nose for mere amusement, the half breeds would spit in his face to make him treat, and Gen. Cole, when intoxicated, would strike him with his cane to cure him of cowardice, as he said. The poor grocery keeper booked all these gross indignities with the patience of a martyr; and would sometimes meekly remonstrate:

"Gentlemen, it is ungonerous to abuse me thus, for I confess I have no courage. I cannot fight."

Concluded to-morrow.

DAILY Morning Chronicle.

PORTSMOUTH:
TUESDAY, DECEMBER 28, 1852.

REMOVALS FROM OFFICE.

We have seen several expressions of hope, and even of expectation, by whig papers, and some by independent papers, that the administration of President Pierce will be a sort of era of good feelings, a little after the Monroe fashion, and that the President himself will be one of the most liberal and least partisan which we have had for a long time.

We have been somewhat disposed to wonder where these papers picked up such impressions, and gathered such hopes—but have hitherto forborne to say much on the subject, preferring to let some other paper speak first.

The New Hampshire Daily Patriot, of Saturday, introduces the subject, by saying:

"Since the Presidential election the federal press has indulged in much speculation in regard to the course to be pursued by General Pierce in the matter of removals of political opponents from office. Many of them [them what?] seem to hope much for their friends from his known magnanimity, and, to keep alive their hopes as well as apparantly to deter him from doing justice to the great majority of his countrymen, they have been publishing extracts from a speech upon this subject made by him in the Senate in 1841, so garbling it as to make it appear that he was then opposed to all removals of political opponents."

The Patriot then goes on to show that General Pierce was not opposed to such a proscription,—but that he and Mr. Calhoun were opposed to the whigs for proscribing proscription first, and practising it afterwards. On the contrary, the Patriot maintains that the democratic party does, and Mr. Pierce will, go upon the well-known principle, to the victors belong the spoils.—After offering some reasons, the Patriot adds:—

"Furthermore, the administration will be under no obligations to exercise forbearance towards its opponents, and because the Democratic party gave no pledges, during the contest, to do so, but on the contrary everywhere proclaimed that their success would involve a general change of officers.

* * * * * * *

The people demand, the very existence of the Government requires, that the Augean stables shall be cleansed. Corruption, imbecility and infidelity must give place to integrity, energy and fidelity, even if the removal of every office holder in the country is required to effect it. The people expect this; they elected Gen. PIERCE to accomplish it, and we have every reason to believe that it will not be his fault if their reasonable expectations, in this behalf, are not fully realized."

Those who know what sort of a politician the president elect has shown himself in his own state, will be more disposed to credit what the Patriot says in the premises, than to believe that he is now about to contradict and rub out all he has been doing for years.

Any "Friends of the federal press," who have voted for him, may stand some chance when the offices are distributed—no others need apply.

DEBATE ON CUBA.

In the U. S. Senate, a day or two ago, in speaking of President Fillmore's refusal to join in the tripartite treaty guaranteeing Cuba to Spain, Mr. MASON of Virginia, said:

I can trace to but one cause, a belief on the part of those governments that there is a tendency in the popular mind in this country to take Cuba, and the invitation was intended as an intimidation. I am here free to declare, representing as I do a section of the country, I apprehend, as deeply interested in the future relations of Cuba to this continent as any other, in my place as a Senator from the south, and upon my responsibility as a statesman of America, that I am content that Cuba shall remain in the possession of Spain, unless it can be acquired from her by voluntary cession on her part, or unless the people of Cuba by their own act shall sever the political connection with her European mother, and voluntarily propose annexation.

Spain is a weak power, and it is fortunate for us and our peaceful relations with the continent of Europe she is so. Cuba is her property, as fully, exclusively and entirely her property as Oregon or New Mexico is ours, and any attempt, whether made by individuals in violation of the laws of this country, or made by the government in its politic capacity, to dismember Cuba from Spain, would tarnish forever our national fame.

Mr. GWIN of California, said no State was more interested in Cuba than California. She sent her millions within sight of Cuba every fortnight. He desired to be heard. California was also interested deeply in other matters pertaining to foreign affairs. Texas and California would have to look somewhat into the annexation by France of Sonora on the southern boundary of California. He thought also in speaking of ripe fruit, Senators ought not to forget the Sandwich Islands. They were now fully ripe and fit to be gathered.

THE BEST THANKSGIVING STORY for 1852.—The editor of the Chicago Democrat, John Wentworth, member of Congress from the Chicago district in Illinois, the other day published for Gov. Duncan a proclamation for Thanksgiving, without even consulting him. The first the Governor knew of it he heard it read from the pulpit. All the Chicago clergymen noticed it, however, and the day was kept in the customary manner, wherever the proclamation was known. The sermons were as able, the dinners were as good, and the balls and evening parties as agreeable, as if the proclamation had been a genuine one.

BOSTON DAILY ADVERTISER.—This paper the oldest daily in Boston, has been edited for many years by Nathan Hale, Esq., under whose management it has acquired a high degree of worth and wealth. The Advertiser of yesterday informs us that Mr. Charles Hale has become a co-proprietor of the paper, and at the beginning of the ensuing year he will enter upon the duty of a co-editor. He will in consequence discontinue the publication of the "To-Day," as announced in the closing number of the second volume, which appeared on Saturday last.

The new editor, we presume, will carry the lively descriptive pen of To-Day, into the sanctum of the Daily Advertiser—and we trust he will also carry and use the same literary scalped with which he has criticised the new publications. It is not a pleasant occupation to cut up writers, but there must be some doctors in literature, as well as elsewhere.

For the Chronicle.

MUSIC AND PICTURES.

Messrs. Editors:—Music and Pictures are matters of taste, entirely. If they please us we like them,—if they do not, we dislike them. Another man's taste imposes no laws on mine. Therefore I will not, for the present, say one word against songs or operas, sung in Italian, or Latin, or French or Cherokee. If the tune is pleasant, I like it, even though the words are not understood. I will not now find fault with singing a song or glee in English words, yet so mouthed and swallowed, or so pronounced, that they might as well be in one language as another. But I will say, that I like better to hear and understand the plain English words of a good English or American song, to a pleasant tune. For this reason I must praise the singing of the Misses Macomber, who gave us at the Temple on Christmas Eve, three or four songs, sung by three ladies, who accompanied their voices by excellent playing on the guitar, violin and violoncello; the sounds were all pleasant and musical—they were natural rather than artistic—easy rather than strained—substantial and audible rather than die-away and languishing.

The Dissolving Views exhibited at the same time, were worthy of notice and patronage,—though, on account of the very bad weather and walking, both on Thursday and Friday nights, and of other public assemblies, their encouragement was quite limited, and the audiences not large. Those who were present were highly gratified. H

PENITENTIARY AT SOUTH BOSTON.

His Honor, the Mayor, in company with the directors of this institution at South Boston, paid it a visit of examination on Wednesday. This institution (says the Boston Chronicle) has long been considered the model prison of this land, and no one who visits it can question the justice of this award.

Of the prisoners, the editor says:

One is struck with the moral discipline exerted over these men; in the iron shop 130 men are employed; they are at liberty in the shop; they handle large bars of iron and steel, and swing sledge hammers at the forge and anvil. No man is allowed to remain idle; and no one is permitted to hold conversation with his associate. Yet two men keep this great force in order; they wear no arms and have no weapons of defence, and yet the discipline of the whole shop is perfect, and the subordination prompt and cheerful. All who obey the rules are treated well; but the least act of insubordination is visited with prompt and merited punishment. The discipline of this institution is designed to prevent rebellion, rather than to punish it.

One great aid in the government of these convicts is the moral and religious culture imparted to them. The chaplain is the Rev. Mr. Burrell, of Quincy. He devotes every day to the welfare of these men, and addresses them each night, just before they retire to their cells. A new chapel, over the workshop, is now in the process of erection, and soon ample accommodation will be had for all to attend religious worship on the Sabbath. The Sabbath School, the choir, and public worship and reading, employ the Sabbath; and the effect of all this moral influence upon the conduct of the men is most marked.

This Institution is at present quite crowded. The 300 cells are all occupied, and cots are made up outside of the cells for many of the prisoners. Among the present number of convicts, a large proportion are young persons. This holds true of both sexes. But nearly all are foreigners, and persons just arrived in this country; and the remedy is to take care of this class, thus exposed on their arrival, and before they fall into temptation and crime.

Upon the arrival of a prisoner at South Boston, he is introduced into the bath house, stripped of his clothes, treated to a warm bath, handed over to the barber, clothed in the prison garb and sent into the shop to work—and personal cleanliness is allied to moral and religious instruction, to hold the prisoner in subjection.

FATAL ACCIDENTS IN BOSTON.—James Cannavan, 45 years of age, fell down a flight of stairs, at house No. 2, Langdon Place on Monday, striking his head on a pail that was left at the bottom, and was so severely injured that he died in a few hours.

A little girl named Mary Carragan, about two years old, was burned so badly on Monday, by her clothes accidentally taking fire, while her mother was out of the room for a few moments, that she died on Tuesday.—This is the second child that has been burned so badly as to cause death, within the week past.

LOCAL.

TO NEW SUBSCRIBERS.—For $3, we will give every person who may subscribe between this time and the first of January, a receipt from the time of subscribing (and paying) to Jan. 1st, 1854.

☞ After January 1st, '53, the Chronicle will not be for sale by the carriers. Persons wishing it left regularly at their residence or place of business, are respectfully invited to leave their names at the office or with the carriers.

CITY LYCEUM.

Mr. Coues's Lecture on the "Theory of the Tides," at the Cameneum, on Monday evening, was popular and able; questioning and denying the Newtonian theory, that the moon's motion is the cause of that of the tide—and asserting that both are the results of one common, but unknown cause.

At the close of the lecture a number of gentlemen assembled and chose Albert R. Hatch, Esq., Chairman. On motion of Rev. Mr. Rust, a committee was chosen to procure a lecturer for some future evening, and announce the same—and also to devise and arrange some plan for a course of lectures under the title of the City Lyceum. Messrs. Rust, Coues, Nichols, Hatch and Jackson were appointed.

POLICE COURT.—William Blaney was arrested for running toll at the Portsmouth bridge, and assaulting the tollgatherer. It appears in evidence that he, with two other young men, came over the bridge, and on toll being demanded by a Mr. Stimpson, a temporary tollgatherer, they refused to pay, on the plea that they had no money. Mr. Stimpson still followed them. Blaney picked up a stave and struck at Stimpson, the blow falling on his arm. They then escaped to this city.—The Justice decided there was sufficient evidence to convict, and fined Blaney two dollars and costs of Court.

DRAWINGS.—We invite attention, first, to the specimens of Mr. Gerry's two Crayon Drawings, at Mr. Shores' Bookstore, and then to Mr. G's. advertisement in this morning's Chronicle, wherein he purposes to teach the art of drawing pictures as beautiful as any he exhibits. Those who have both taste and leisure, may gratify the one and employ the other, to good purpose, by taking lessons.

LIGHTNING ROD LADDER.

The following from the Springfield Republican, sets forth the advantages of the Patent Metallic Ladder, advertised in our columns.

There have been frequent notices in the papers, of an iron ladder invented by Messrs. Holland & Hills of Worcester, which serves as a permanent ladder for buildings, and, properly attached to continuations and points, as a lightning conductor. They meet everywhere with favor from the insurance companies, some of which, we understand, have already taken a practical stand in favor of their universal adoption. Some of the large mills, at Chicopee, are furnished with them, and several private houses in Springfield have them. These ladders have manifest advantages. They are permanent, and a fixture, neither to be borrowed nor lent. They are indestructible, being preserved from rust by painting. They can be made of any length required, and are always ready for use. They form a capacious conductor of electricity, more so than any conductor in use. The utility of a house ladder, as an instrument of safety, in escaping from fire, as well as in putting out fire, needs no discussion, and the contrivance which we notice is certainly the best we have ever seen.

The invention covers also a "valise ladder" to carry absolutely in the valise. We have one, weighing seven pounds, occupying really but a very little space, each link of which has been tested with a weight of 600 pounds, while it is long enough to let a man out of a five story hotel. A man with this ladder in his valise will never need to inquire, like the Irishman, whether the hotel is insured. In case of fire, and difficulty of escape, he could let down his trunk and valise, draw back his ladder, hitch it upon the window, and go down himself. So goes the world—what next?

WANT IT MODIFIED.—A memorial of ship owners and merchants, addressed to Congress, praying that the term of five days, now imposed upon vessels from foreign ports, before discharging, may be modified to three, is in general circulation in our commercial ports, and is signed by many of the most eminent merchants in the country.

So said many of the papers. But the Boston Chronicle, which represents one large class of business men, replies to it as follows:

Every one acquainted with custom house business knows full well that the term of five days is not more than is required for consignees of cargoes to enter their goods. For example, some party acts here as an agent for a New York or Philadelphia house. The goods are shipped to this port. But the agent cannot enter them until he communicates with his principal, and receives the invoices.—Three days would not be sufficient for the communications to pass and repass.

The effort to change grows out of the high rate of freights, and the demand for vessels. But there are two sides to all questions, and the interests of the importer are no less important than those of the ship owner. They are mutually dependant, one upon the other, and what benefits one, in the long run, will benefit the other. If the merchants generally desire such a change as is proposed, of course we have not a word to say, but it strikes us at a first glance that it would prove a hardship in a great many cases, and would not operate so well as the friends of the measure may anticipate.

THE WEEKLY CHRONICLE.

TO BEGIN WITH THE NEW YEAR.

$1 A YEAR, INVARIABLY IN ADV.

FULLY SATISFIED with the entire success of the Daily Chronicle, and in consequence of much solicitation on the part of friends and patrons far and near, the subscribers have made arrangements to issue (as above) a Weekly

FAMILY NEWSPAPER,

in connection with the Daily Chronicle. It will be of medium size, printed in the same style as the Daily, and made up chiefly from its columns.

TERMS $1 per annum, invariably in advance. To Clergymen of all denominations, half price.

☞ All papers discontinued at the end of the term for which advance payment is made;—so no patron will long get a paper he does not want.

☞ All Postmasters will act as our Agents; and any person sending us $5, (the papers to be sent to one address) will receive a sixth copy for the service.

TO ADVERTISERS,

We offer the best advantages at the lowest rates. Advertisements will be inserted in both papers without extra charge. The Chronicle is (of course) circulated among a greater variety of readers than any partisan journal.

MILLERS & GRAY.

Entertainment by the Ladies of the City

IN AID OF THE

Howard Benevolent Society.

THE Ladies of Portsmouth, responding to the call which the low state of the funds of the Howard Benevolent Society has made, propose to give an ENTERTAINMENT

AT CONGRESS HALL,

ON WEDNESDAY EVENING NEXT, DEC. 29.

They hope to make the evening interesting by all the usual accompaniments of such occasions. The GOOD CHEER will grace their seats, and Music occasionally through the evening. TABLES OF REFRESHMENTS will be provided, and all the little et ceteras which give vivacity and sociability to the visitors, will be attended to.

Admittance 12½ cents. The doors will be open at 7 o'clock.

Should the circumstances warrant, the Entertainment may be continued on Thursday evening; if so, notice will hereafter be given. d27

Bills of Exchange on England & Ireland.

JOHN S. HARVEY, No. 7 Exchange Buildings, will furnish Bills of Exchange on England or Ireland for sums of £1 or upwards to any amount, on the well known house of Messrs. T. Wiggin & Co., London. d27

1853. Magazines. 1853.

GRAHAM'S American Monthly Magazine.—GRAHAM'S American favorite Magazine has been greatly enlarged, giving nearly as much reading as Harper's and is much more highly illustrated: Godey's Lady's Book, vol. 46—commences in Jan. with immense increase of reading matter, without any reduction of its splendid Steel Engravings and Full Fashion Plates.

Peterson's Ladies' National Magazine. Edited by Mrs. Ann S. Stephens. Terms $2 per year. The best Ladies' Magazine in the world.

Harper's New Monthly Magazine. Containing over 1700 pages of interesting and useful reading with numerous illustrations.

The National Magazine, of Literature, Art and Religion. Edited by Abiel Stevens. Terms $2 per year.

Putnam's Monthly. A new Magazine. Intended to be one step above any American Magazine. A sort of an aristocrat amongst all others. It combines the character of a Magazine and Review. To read a list of its promised contributors will not fail to give a magnificent idea of the Magazine.

Littell's Living Age. Weekly—$6 per year. This good Magazine needs but to be known to be appreciated.

The Ladies' Repository. A Literary and Religious Monthly. Terms $2.

The Family Circle and Parlor Annual. Devoted to fathers, mothers, sons and daughters. Terms one dollar.

The Christian Parlor Magazine. Two dollars.

The Farmer's Monthly Visitor. A New Hampshire Publication—devoted to Agriculture, Horticulture, Mechanic Arts and Education.—$1.

Merry's Museum—a Girl's and Boy's Magazine.—The best Christmas present you can make your children. One dollar per year.

Many other Magazines, and a large assortment of NEWSPAPERS, Cheap Books, Annuals, Toy Books, Fancy Goods and Stationery may be found at the subscriber's Periodical and Newspaper Store, No 29 Congress street.
d27 JOSEPH P. MORSE.

FRAME, AND SOLID SIDE COASTING SLEDS.—Some with very heavy runners. A handsome assortment for sale at MORRISON'S.

LATEST NEWS!

BY MAIL, EXPRESS & TELEGRAPH.

FIRE.—New York, Dec. 27.—The naptha factory of Messrs. Harrington, Page & Brown, situated at Red Hook, Brooklyn, was burned on Saturday night, together with 700 bbls. of rosin and oil. Loss $10,000—insured for $3000.

FIRE AND LOSS OF LIFE.—The dwelling of Abraham Colby, of Eaton, N. H., was burned on Thursday afternoon, together with extensive out-buildings. Mr. Colby was so badly burned that he lived but a few minutes after being extricated from the flames. Mrs. C. was badly burnt. Mr. Colby has done a very large business in his day, and has been a member of the New Hampshire Legislature.

MADEIRA WINE.—A New York despatch of Dec. 26 says, By the arrival of the brig Eliza Waite, 30 days from Madeira, we learn that the quantity of wine produced by this year's crop, will fall far short of the usual quantity. Consequently the operatives are in considerable distress. Provisions were scarce and high.

ST. DOMINGO.—Advices from St. Domingo of the 30th of November have been received at New Orleans. They make no mention of any French movement at Samana, nor of the colonization scheme.

SUPPOSED SLAVER.—By advices from Praya, to the 18th ult, we learn that the Sch. Advance of New Orleans, had been captured by the U. S. Squadron, on suspicion of being engaged in the Slave trade, and had been sent to Baltimore.

The value of foreign dry goods imported into New York, week before last, was $1,604,615. In the corresponding week last year, the amount was only $800,940.

The City Government of New York have just paid the remainder of Mr. Howard's bill for boarding the Hungarians at the Irving House, of nearly $3,800. The whole bill was $13,299 87. This last payment has brought the sum total expended by the city of New York for the reception of Kossuth, up to $20,800.

HEAVY LOSS.—Large quantities of hogs, slaughtered in Columbus and Cleaveland, Ohio, and shipped to New York by railroad, have been entirely spoiled by warm weather. Twenty-eight car loads in one train became so putrid, that the stench was an intolerable nuisance to the villages they had to pass through.—Cincinnati Gazette, Dec. 21.

The New Bedford Mercury, in noticing the frequent change in the editorial management of the organ of the Free Soilers in Boston, says that "the Boston Commonwealth continues to make a perfect 'Dissolving View' of itself."

The late English papers announce the death of Sir John Guest. He was one of the most extensive iron-masters in Wales, and frequently employed upwards of two thousand men.

They also announce that Miss Mary Berry, the intimate friend of Horace Walpole, whose hand and coronet she declined, is dead, in her 90th year. She was a very brilliant woman, and clever writer, and with her sister Agnes, enjoyed a wide spread reputation in English society, for more than seventy years.

BURNING OF LIGHT-HOUSE ON BEAR ISLAND.—The Bangor Mercury states that the light-house and dwelling-house on Bear Island, near Mt. Desert, were consumed by fire on Saturday morning last about daylight. It is said the provisions and furniture of the keeper were mostly saved, but all the stores belonging to the United States were destroyed. The origin of the fire has not transpired, but government will probably order an investigation. It is a matter of regret that the excellent harbor, so much resorted to by vessels in the winter, must be without a light the present winter.

FORTUNATE.—Our young friend, the Rev. L. M. Cohen, of the Baptist Church, who, the reader will recollect, was graduated at the Furmen University at this place last summer, has had the good fortune to receive a legacy of $30,000 from a remote female relative in England. It is known by the friends of Mr. Cohen that he is by birth a Jew, and that for reasons satisfactory to himself, he has seen fit to embrace the Christian faith, and become a preacher of the gospel, after the persuasion of the Baptists. We learn that the grand matden aunt, from whom Mr. Cohen receives his legacy, a few days previous to her death, also embraced the Christian religion.—Greenville (S. C.) Mountaineer, 16th.

FATAL RENCONTRE.—Louisville, Dec. 23.—Two cadets at the Frankfort Military Institute, named Powell and Ingram, had an encounter to-day. Powell was shot, the ball passing through his lungs. Ingram had his skull cleft by a hatchet in the hands of Powell.

CAPTURE OF SLAVERS.—New Orleans, Dec. 22.—The Empire City reports the British frigate Vesta, arrived at Havana on the 19th, with the notorious slave schooner and two other slavers, creating much excitement in Havana.

THE SHORTEST AFTERNOON.—The Boston Journal says—"In good old times now passed away, in which noon always occurred precisely at 12 o'clock, the sun, on the 21st of December, rose later and set earlier than on any day in the year: but since the introduction of mean or equated time, into general use, this has not been the case, and the 9th of Dec. is now, in our latitude, the day on which the sun sets the earliest, and the 1st of January that on which he rises the latest in the year.—The shortest day, or the least interval between the rising and setting, occurs, however, as formerly, on December 21st, in the solstice, or when his declension is the greatest.

THE WORLD AS IT IS.

BY THE LATE MARSHAL W. BECK.

The world is not so bad a world
As some would like to make it;
Though whether good or why whether bad
Depends on how we take it;
For if we scold and fret all day,
From dewy morn till even,
This world will ne'er afford to man
A fortaste here of heaven.

This world's in truth as good a world
As e'er was known to any,
Who have not seen another yet—
And those are very many;
And if the men and women, too,
Have plenty of employment,
These scarcely must be hard to please
Who cannot find enjoyment.

This world is quite a clever world,
In rain or pleasant weather,
If people would but learn to live
In harmony together;
Nor seek to burst the kindly bond
By love and peace cemented,
And learn the best of lessons yet;
To always be contented.

Then were the world a pleasant world,
And pleasant folks were in it,
The day would pass most pleasantly
To those who thus begin it;
And all the nameless grievances,
Brought on by borrowed troubles,
Would prove, as certainly they are,
A mass of empty bubbles.

A LITTLE WORD.

A little word in kindness spoken,
A motion or a tear,
Has often healed the heart that's broken,
And made a friend sincere.

A word—a look—has crushed to earth
Full many a budding flower,
Which had a smile but owned its birth,
Would bless life's darkest hour.

Then deem it not an idle thing
A pleasant word to speak;
The face you wear—the thoughts you bring—
The heart may heal or break.

IMPORTANT ARRIVAL.

THE SUBSCRIBER takes great pleasure in announcing to his numerous friends and patrons, and the public generally, that he has just received and has now open for public exhibition, a recently selected stock of goods designed for the

THE IMPROVED
EMPIRE STATE STOVE.

THIS justly celebrated COOKING STOVE having been improved in every way it could be to make its operations more complete, and its plates beautifully ornamented—no expense, time or trouble having been spared to make this the most complete Cooking Stove ever brought before the public—the subscriber feels assured in re-arranting the IMPROVED EMPIRE STATE superior to any stove in the market, as hundreds can testify who have used them for the past year.

This Stove has a very LARGE OVEN, which makes it desirable on account of doing more cooking with the same amount of fuel than can be done in any other stove. The flues are large, which ensures a good draft in all cases. The castings are very heavy and smooth, and those parts that come next the fire are extra thick, making it very durable. It is adapted to the use of either coal or wood, and we warrant them to operate as well with one as the other. We furnish them with the very best apparatus for using both together, it is the MOST DURABLE, ECONOMICAL and CONVENIENT COOKING STOVE ever made—complete in every respect. We ask the attention of all persons intending to purchase a new, or exchange their old stove, to an examination of the Improved Empire State.

We have also on hand a variety of other Cooking Stoves, called the "Banner," "Belle of the States," "King of the Stoves," "Bay Mesic," "Anglo Saxon," "Pearl of Troy," &c.; with a large lot of PARLOR STOVES, such as the Revere Air-Tight, Star, Revere Parlor Cook, Lady Franklin, for Wood or Coal; Shop, Office and Air-Tight Stoves, of different sizes and prices for either wood or coal.

Also an extensive assortment of HOUSEKEEPING GOODS; Wooden, Willow, Glass, Britania, Japan, Tin, Hard, Enamel, and Brass Ware; Copper, Cast Iron, and Chain Pumps; Window Shade, Table Oil cloths, &c.

All the above goods will be sold lower than can be bought elsewhere in this vicinity.

HIRAM JONES, 61 Market street,
s27 Portsmouth, N. H.

WHAT-CHEER STOVE.

THE WHAT-CHEER COAL COOKING STOVE, now offered for sale by the subscribers, is taken or hedged by all who have examined it to be the best and most economical Coal Stove ever offered to the public.

The castings are heavy, smooth, and very handsome. The Broiling apparatus is a great improvement over all other Stoves, being constructed in such a manner as to prevent the steam from escaping into the room when cooking.

All persons wishing to purchase a COAL COOKING STOVE, are respectfully requested to call and examine the same. Every Stove warranted to work well, or no sale.

We have also a large assortment of COOKING, PARLOR and STORE STOVES, &c.—for sale cheap for Cash at our Store,

JACK WARHAWK,

OR THE ARKANSAS COWARD.

[Concluded.]

This continued for a whole year, when a change occurred that caused the insulters to rue their ignoble persecutions. He had a beautiful wife whom he loved with the tenderest passions.

One day, when the husband was absent, the hideous half breed, Jack Warhawk, instigated to the damning deed by the persuasion of General Cole, went to the grocery keeper's private residence and maltreated his lady in the most shameful manner.

Myers returned home to find his beloved one drowned, as it were, in tears. He heard the harrowing tale without external manifestations of joy or emotion. His face, it is true, became somewhat pale—his lip quivered an instant, and then settled to an expression rigid as a mouth of iron; and his wild black eye, as it may be, shot a few more beams of penetrating fire; but he did not mutter curses. He muttered not a whisper of menace; he did not condole or even sympathise with his afflicted wife. He only armed himself with a bowie knife fourteen inches in the blade, from hilt to point, and started for the village.

He came within sight of his enemy, then promenading the public square and boasting of his villainous achievement. At this vision Myers' lip curled into a horrid smile, and his dark eye melted in a stream of tears. He approached till he stood nearly touching the half breed, and then said in a horrid whisper:

"Wretch, be quick, draw! for by St. Paul one of us must die!"

And he waited until the other should be ready for the strife on equal terms. He did not have to wait long, for Jack understanding that cold, glittering, snaky smile, and those hot gushing tears, as the certain tokens of murderous madness, immediately unsheathed at the same moment with his adversary, and they began the dreadful combat, which was soon decided. Myers parried three furious blows of the hateful half breed, and then grasping his foe's clothing with his left hand, with his other plunged the knife up to the hilt in his heart. The Cherokee expired without a groan.

And now the inward and terrible passions of Myers found vent in appalling explosions His curses were fearful to hear—he spurned his fallen enemy with his foot, and wished aloud he had a hundred lives so that he might enojy the pleasure himself of killing him a hundred times over. His wrath then changed for his other insulters. He flew at the loafer Bill Green, and tore out his "soap locks" by handfuls. He sprang upon Gen. Cole and pulled his nose till it was flattened between his fingers—all the while that gory knife dripping with blood in his right hand. His enemies were so taken by surprise, terror stricken, stupified, that for a space they seemed utterly incapable of voluntary motion.

The coward had suddenly become the bravest of the brave. The equipoise of opposing feeling was destroyed forever; the sheer power of pure will had conquered physical fear. Does any one doubt our strange story? Let him address a letter of inquiry to Hon. G. W. Pachel, of Van Buren, late judge of the Supreme Court of Arkansas, and the fullest confirmation can be obtained.

On the same evening Gen. Cole called a special council of his friends to consult on the course he should pursue. There was but one opinion—that he had been insulted by a direct and gross public indignity, he must call his foe to the field of honor. Accordingly on the following day a challenge was despatched which Myers promptly accepted, and fixed the time at noon the same day—the weapons to be double barrelled shot guns—distance, ten paces.

The parties met on the sand beach, under the banks of the river, above the village, and hundreds collected to witness the issue. The mortal belligerents were placed in a position by their seconds, and the death dealing guns—enormous double barrels—rested with dark, yawning muzzles on the sand, in their hands. The spectators were much astonished at the strong contrast exhibited in their appearance. Gen. Cole was an old experienced duelist, who had shot his man before he was eighteen, and had often been engaged in affairs of the kind.

On the contrary, Myers was unacquainted with fire arms; and had always hitherto been deemed an unmitigated poltroon. And yet, singular to record, the duelist stood up nervous and agitated, almost trembling, while the reptaed coward was calm, firm, steady as a rock, with that appalling smile upon his curling lip, and a few scattered tear drops gleaming in the sun, on his cheek.

Gen. Cole's second gave the word. Fire—one—two—three! He need not, however, to count so many, for with the echo of the sound "fire," Myers elevated his piece as quick as thought, and touched the trigger. There was a tremendous roar, and Gen. Cole, the duelist, fell dead. His head was pierced with twenty buck shot.

No one ever again called Myers a coward in Arkansas—no one even thought of the term, as his shadow gleamed by sunlight.—He had taken his degrees in the college of desperation, and his diploma was written in blood.

He became a politician of great notoriety, a leader in that section of the State; was repeatedly elected to the Legislature, where he acquired distinction by his talents, but still more by his fearless daring, and he is said to be yet in progress of ascension, having recently obtained the commission of Major General of the militia. We may expect before long to see his name in the roll of Members of Congress. Nature made him a coward; love for his insulted wife rendered him brave; bravery has conferred honor.

At the burning of the Valley Hotel, at Bellows Falls, on Monday morning, two girls jumped from the third story, and fell with great force upon the frozen ground beneath, one of them having her back broken and the other her ribs. They are not expected to recover.

The Cincinnati Atlas says that there are over three hundred Spiritual Circles in that city, which meet nightly. In this city there are probably a thousand or fifteen hundred deeply engaged every evening in the investigation of spiritual intercourse.—St. Louis paper.

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.

PORTSMOUTH:
WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 29, 1852.

THE NEXT CONGRESS.

The next Congress will have a large majority of members belonging to the Democratic party, in both branches. It therefore President Pierce and his advisers should bring forward any new measures which they desire for the benefit of the country, they have the power to make them into laws of their own framing. We may expect to see Democratic principles carried out by their professors and advocates; and it would not be surprising to see such laws as the Homestead Bill, a National Bankrupt Law, Ocean Penny Postage, Reciprocal and Liberal Trade with the Canadas, and Reciprocal Free Fisheries and free markets for Fish, enacted and carried out by the party now coming into the full exercise of power. Every one of the above measures are eminently democratic in character and tendency. Every one of them is called for by the wants of the people, by the well-being of the nation.

The Democratic Party now coming into power, have no great work to undo, as has often been the case when administrations have changed. The reason for this is plain:—viz. that the whig party have had no legislative majority since the days of John Tyler. A few things which they did in the extra session, were speedily undone when the majority changed,—and not one party measure, good or evil, have they been able to carry through, for these eight or ten years.

Should it be remarked that we have not included Free Trade among the possible movements of the new administration, we would reply that the thing is impossible, though the words are easily pronounced. The idea of free trade includes direct taxes on lands and goods, to maintain government;—and this we can never see in this country while slavery has any political power.

The present tariff, (that of 1846, mainly,) had its origin in the democratic party. It may be modified, and made better, or possibly, worse, for American manufacturers, though there is little danger of the latter, as we think.

A national bankrupt law is greatly needed, for purposes of justice and equity, no less than mercy, as business has gone on for ten years past. It is more needful still, as one preparation for the grand crash we shall certainly have, consequent on our present overtrading. The tens of thousands of democratic merchants, traders and speculators who have failed and will fail, will call on Congress for relief, and they will have it.

NATIONAL HONOR — PRESERVED.

We have no king here, to say, I am the State, and to have all the nation sneeze when he takes snuff. But every man is, in some important sense, the State—and therefore an insult offered, or an injury done, to a fisherman on the Banks, or to his vessel, is as really a national affront as if it had been offered or done to a Commodore, or a ship of the line.

The following just remarks are from the New York Herald.

We shall not startle any of our readers when we say that no nation is less jealous of its national honor, or less solicitous of the welfare and safety of its citizens abroad, than the United States. Outrages are offered to our flag and indignities to Americans travelling abroad, which would not be suffered by any first class nation but ourselves. The injured parties appeal in vain to the government for redress; a meaningless promise of protection, or, perhaps, a sharp reprimand for their impatience under insult, is the only consolation they can obtain or expect. When the United States treats with foreign nations on high political or commercial questions, we are proud to believe that her statesmen have never evinced a want of zeal or dignity; but when the interference of the government is claimed by individuals, no more practical results flow from the application than if it had been addressed to the Emperor of China.

In praising the speeches of Gen. Cass and Mr. Mason, as foreshadowing the foreign policy of the Pierce administration the Newburyport Herald says,—

We hope new energy will be infused into the fishery question, as well as other matters. If the provinces or the English government manifest any ugliness in the matter, let us meet them upon the threshold, and give them to understand that if they insist upon carrying out their rights to the utmost, we shall meet them on the line, with the whole force of the country, and see to it most rigidly, that, collision or no collision, they shall not molest one hair's breadth beyond it. Our government has not acted with proper spirit in this matter. They should have sent, as Gov. Seward counselled, a fleet equal if not superior to the British force in those waters, and should have exacted gentlemanly treatment for American fishermen of the British officers, and seen to it that they were protected up to the precise limits of the treaty, and not condemned without the most conclusive evidence.

SATURN'S RINGS.—The new monster telescope of Rev. Mr. Craig, in England, has revealed the fact that what was supposed to be Saturn's rings, are not rings at all, but in reality, arches of the most geometrical formation.

NEW YEAR'S DAY.

New Year's Day in some cities to the south of us, is kept as a holiday. On that day, in New York, the ladies stay at home, and the gentlemen visit or call, from house to house, freely.

At every house it is expected that the ladies offer refreshments, especially wines or liquors. The natural consequences follow. We need not say what they are.

The custom of keeping New Year is extending. It has reached Bangor, in our sister State of Maine, and was kept there last year. A writer in the Courier, of that city, more than intimates that some young men were intoxicated that day for the first time, from the glass proffered by fair hands. He depicts a widow, anxious for the safety of her only son:

"Ah yes, she thinks of the past. She remembers how only a year ago this day many a young man who went forth clear headed in the morning came staggering home at night, or was seen riding through the streets with such noisy mirth, and in such companionship, as, (if he remembered it at all) on the morrow, must have mantled his pale cheek with blushes."

INDIANS — AND DAILY PAPERS.—In the Bangor Daily Courier of Christmas Day, Jabeson Cawshawgance, the Indian lecturer, gives notice that he will deliver a lecture at the City Hall—and in the same paper of Monday last, there is an advertisement of the celebrated Indian Doctor, Jos. Saukabasin, who advertises his medical profession, backed up by certificates of cures.

Indians, advertising in Daily Papers! What an idea is that.

BILLY BOWLEGS.—This distinguished gentleman of the forest is still bent upon continuing under his own vine and fig tree. He repudiates his agreement with his great father at Washington on the ground that he was drunk from the time he left home until his return. It was a pleasant summer excursion for Billy, and gave him an opportunity of drinking with the President and other notables of the land. Kossuth travelled at the expense of Uncle Sam, and why not every other lover of home and country, who is seeking to retain his foothold in his native land.—Winyah Gazette.

CUSTOM HOUSE CLAIMS.—Washington, Dec. 28.—It appears that owing to a defect in the law of 1844, relative to weights and measures, several custom houses claim the fees for their officers, instead of fixed salaries. The whole amount claimed is nearly $1,000,000; and will go principally to Boston and New York, giving some of the claimants $40,000 apiece. Mr. Attorney General Crittenden has given an opinion twice, in favor of the claimants, but the Secretary of the Treasury hesitates.

HEALTH OF MR. KING.—A Washington despatch of the 27th Dec. says the Hon. Wm. R. King improves gradually, and his friends are more hopeful. He has had no medical attendance since Thursday. He is not confined to his chamber, but goes down to his meals regularly. He sleeps better, and his cough is much abated.

A PRINTERS' STRIKE at St. Louis, Missouri, has passed away, with the effect of filling the offices with new hands from a distance, insomuch that the Union has now voted that its members may go to work; but the old journeymen with families can find no work, and the roving ones who made the strike have left the city.

CONGRESS seems to be on a strike, or on a Christmas frolic; at all events, the two houses adjourned early on Monday, one of them for lack of a quorum—the other we suppose for lack of industry.

☞ We saw a half dollar yesterday, with the progressive sentiment, "Vote the land free," deeply sunk on its face. One way to circulate the documents.

INSTILLATION.—Rev. George Darling will be installed as pastor over the Appleton street Church and Society, in Lowell, on Thursday, December 30.

ACCIDENT.—It is with great regret we have to state that the worthy Dr. Weed our oldest and time honored physician, fell on Sunday evening upon the ice and fractured his hip bone. He suffered severely during the night, but is now more comfortable. He was immediately attended by Docts. Wood, Gilman and Davels; every attention was shown that his case required.—Portland Advertiser.

"A FIXED FACT."—The Hon. R. M. T. Hunter, is to be Secretary of State of the United States, during Gen. Pierce's administration. This is a fixed fact, as Gen. Cushing would say. Let there be no more telegraphing or paragraphing on this subject.—Mr. Hunter is at present in this city, and yesterday, in company with the President elect, visited Bunker Hill Monument.—Boston Cour.

Rev. B. F. Parsons, late of Wanhegan, Iowa, has received and accepted an unanimous call from the First Church and Society in Dover, N. H. The installation will take place on the 12th of January.

Punch says that the heirs of Robinson Crusoe have instituted a suit for the recovery of Juan Fernandez, on the ground that their great ancestor was monarch of all he surveyed.

LOCAL.

TO NEW SUBSCRIBERS.—For $3, we will give every person who may subscribe between this time and the first of January, a receipt from the time of subscribing (and paying) to Jan. 1st, 1854.

☞ After January 1st, '53, the Chronicle will not be for sale by the carriers. Persons wishing it left regularly at their residence or place of business, are respectfully invited to leave their names at the office or with the carriers.

PORTSMOUTH LYCEUM.

The lecture before this institution on Tuesday evening, was on the Social Life of London; and when we ascribe very lively descriptive powers to the orator, and state that he was a dissenting-minister in England for several years, we have laid the foundation of an interesting and somewhat exciting lecture. Such an one he gave us; and the audience gave him in return the most fixed attention. The lecture was not of that kind which is easily arranged into heads, or of which an abstract can give a clear idea—but rather more like a string of anecdotes or statements, of which any one gives about as good an idea, as a single brick would give of a house.

Among the sad perversions of trusts, he noticed Christ's Hospital for Poor Boys, now enjoyed almost wholly by the sons of the rich—and among those perversions that are at once innocent and ludicrous, that of the Church where Cromwell was married and where Milton lies buried. This church possesses an old fund, left by some pious Catholic of the olden time, the interest of which was to buy faggots to burn heretics. But as this amiable use of the money has gone out of fashion, the wardens at the present time come as near to the letter of the law as they can, by using the same money in purchasing coals to warm the same heretics whom the faggots were designed to burn.

The same lecturer, Rev. Mr. Bodwell, is announced for next Tuesday evening.

NEW PAPER.—We have received the first number of a neat paper called the Olive Leaf, published in Exeter, N. H. and edited by Rev. R. O. Williams. It is announced by the editor as "a New Hampshire Universalist Family Newspaper," designed to circulate especially in Rockingham County. Publishers, Currier & Co.—price $2 per annum, or $1.75 in advance.

☞ The Hutchinsons are coming to this city, and will give one Concert at the Cameum on the 12th of January.

THE HUTCHINSON FAMILY, at the Concert in Biddeford on Thursday evening, gave the song of "A Ship on Fire"—in which Judson, who is quite a ventriloquist, gave the distant cry of "Fire! Fire!" with such fine effect that at least a third of the audience thought it was a bona-fide alarm upon the street, and rushed for the door and windows. The doorkeeper endeavored to turn back the rush that came upon him, with assurances that all the cry heard came from the stage—but one fellow was not so easily to be turned back from his duty, and earnestly demanded that the door be opened, as he was "a member of the Engine Company."—Biddeford Journal.

N H. General Court—Nov. Session, 1852.

[Abridged from the Patriot.]

MONDAY, Dec. 27.

SENATE.—Met at 4 o'clock, and of course, did little or nothing.

HOUSE.—The House met at 3 o'clock.

Mr. White of Concord, from the committee on the Division of Towns, reported the bill to establish the city of Concord, with some amendments.

After some discussion, it was read, and, on motion of Mr. Bartlett, recommitted to the committee with instructions to have the bill reported in a connected and legible draft.

A resolution in favor of Lucius M. Rosebrook & Co., authorizing the occupancy of a space of ground on the top of Mount Washington, whereon to build a hotel, was ordered to a third reading.

[Respecting the title of the State to the land in question it was stated that no claim, beyond that assumed by the State, could be found to exist; and that the grant was given in order to keep the parties receiving it from annoyance by squatters and others, jealous of their deserved success. The resolution reserves the right to repeal the privilege.]

There was also a debate (of no great interest to any but printers) about paying for publishing the liquor bill at the request of the Senate.

Thirty-Second Congress—Second Session.

MONDAY, Dec. 27.

SENATE.—Mr. Gwin offered a resolution directing that the returns of the census of California taken by that State be appended to the report of the census of the United States.

Mr. Gwin's resolution was changed to a joint resolution and passed.

One or two private bills were also passed, when at half past one the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE.—A resolution of inquiry was offered on the propriety of printing 100,000 copies of the census report for the use of members. An attempt was made by Mr. Stephens, of Georgia, to get the rules suspended, for the purpose of considering the Senate resolution, authorizing the President to confer the title of Lieut. General for eminent services upon Gen. Scott. Objection was made, and a motion was offered to postpone the consideration until Monday next, on account of the slimness of the House. Suspension of the rules was refused by 74 yeas to 70 nays, two-thirds being necessary.

Mr. Lane introduced a bill giving bounty lands to officers and soldiers who served in the wars in Oregon, and a bill providing for the location of the bounty lands there. No quorum being present, the House adjourned.

SPIRITUAL WRITINGS.—In Putnam's Monthly is an article on Modern Spiritualism, in which it is stated that the Hon. James F. Simmons, late U. S. Senator from Rhode Island, and widely known as one of the clearest and keenest observers, has recently had a remarkable experience; having witnessed with his own eyes the tracing of the letters of his son's name (James D. Simmons) on paper with a pencil without visible agency. The letters were distinctly and deliberately written. Mrs. Simmons was present and witnessed the phenomenon.

A PHYSICIAN TURNED DRAYMAN.—The Chicago Tribune says:

"A physician brought his family direct from Dublin to this city. When he arrived here his funds were so much exhausted that he was unable to maintain the appearance of his profession; besides, he found the city full of young physicians, waiting till the city grew. Having no mechanical trade, he purchased a horse and dray, and at once began to earn a livelihood for himself and family. We call this a noble specimen of man."

MEDICINE.—The town agent of East Greenwich, R. I., where the Maine law is in operation, has within the last four months sold, in the required doses, three hogsheads of New England rum, fifteen casks of brandy, and other liquors in proportion, for the use of sick people.

In Boston, Mr. Eben G. Andrews to Miss Eliza Clay.

DEATHS.

In this city, Dec. 28, Mr. George L. Brewer, aged 25 years.

In Dover, 24th inst., Lydia Ellen, oldest daughter of Capt. Samuel Drew, aged 19 years, 9 mos.

[For nearly a year the deceased has been suffering unrepiningly from a settled consumption, but not until recently has she been confined to her room. When last seen by the writer, who had the pleasure of her acquaintance, she had the same happy, hopeful disposition as when in days of perfect health, though conscious of the near approach of death; and took the same interest as ever in the pleasures of social life. Truly "death loves a shining mark."]

In Newburyport, Lucy L. Woodwell, youngest daughter of Gideon Woodwell aged 19 years.

VALUABLE PROPERTY FOR SALE

IN FRAMINGHAM, MASS.

THE house heretofore known as the FRAMINGHAM HOTEL, situated in Framingham Centre, Mass., having been put in complete and thorough repair throughout, is now offered for sale. The main house is 100 feet on the east, 60 feet of which has a piazza, and contains 30 rooms, including a large hall; has a large and dry cellar, Ice House, and the best of water. The whole premises have been occupied the past year as a private residence, which time and many improvements have been made in and about the house and grounds, the front yard having been enclosed, set with large trees, and grassed. The house is well calculated for a genteel Boarding House or Hotel, which it has been wanted; and the Board of Education have decided to remove the State Normal School, now located at West Newton, to Framingham, the site for which is only a few minutes' walk from the premises, makes this property particularly desirable for this purpose, as it will secure, in connection with boarders from the city, a profitable business the year round.

It is also desirable as a private residence, having every convenience as such, and being situated in close proximity to the Common, several Churches, High School, (free,) and only a few minutes' walk from the depot. The size of the House is adapted to any one having a large family, would not be objectionable, as the hall and other parts could be fitted up in a manner which would add much to the convenience and comfort of a residence in the country; or a part of it could be so used, and the remainder let, without inconvenience. To persons, therefore, in pursuit of property for either of the above purposes, or for investment, an opportunity offers rarely to be met with. Terms of sale will be liberal, and possession given at any time.

For further information, apply by letter or otherwise, to L. WIGHT, Framingham, or in Boston to J. K. PORTER & CO., 27 Water st.

LATEST NEWS!

BY MAIL, EXPRESS & TELEGRAPH.

FROM TURK'S ISLAND.—Baltimore, Dec. 27.—Schooner James N. Muir arrived here after a short passage from Turk's Island, and reports that the salt season is nearly closed up, and that there are but 30,000 bushels to be shipped. It being supposed that no more will be raked before May or June, vessels were daily departing in ballast.

The yellow fever was still prevailing at St. Thomas, and Turk's Island was healthy.

FIRE IN A LUMBER YARD.—New York, Dec. 28.—The extensive lumber yard of Augustus Studwell, at the foot of Bridge street, Brooklyn, together with several adjoining buildings, was burnt last night. Loss $15,000; insurance $5,000.

GLOUCESTER FISHERMEN.—The Telegraph records the loss of another fishing vessel belonging to Gloucester—the schooner Henry A. Holbrook, which sailed November 10, for George's Bank, and was last seen coming off the Bagk Nov. 21, with 70 qtls. fish, and 1000 lbs. halibut. Nothing has been heard of her since, and she is given up as lost, with all on board, eight in number. Six of the men were married and leave families in Gloucester; two were unmarried. Thirteen vessels have been lost out of the Gloucester fleet this year—five of them with their crews of thirty-nine men.—They were insured at $36,700, and their value, with their outfits, will not fall short of $45,000.

The correspondence between Mr. Webster and the Boston gentlemen who invested a sum of money to procure an annuity for him and his family, several years ago, is honorable to both parties, and shows the injustice of the scandal which many of Mr. Webster's enemies in and out of Congress, have frequently uttered concerning the matter. It would have been wise to have published the correspondence at the time, and it would have at once and forever put at rest these attacks; but Mr. Webster's pride or offended dignity, induced him to keep silence, and the contributors had too nice a sense of delicacy in the matter, to propose publicity.

ANOTHER FLUID ACCIDENT.—On Wednesday evening, Mr. Albert Bogger, residing at 141 Fourth street, South Boston, was shockingly burned upon the face and head by the bursting of a fluid lamp. It is stated that "the lamp was left on the mantel over a brisk fire, and the fluid became so heated as to generate gas which ignited the instant the match was touched to the wick, causing the explosion which followed." Great caution was used in lighting the lamp, but it is feared that the tube was too small, affording an outlet to a current of gas from the inside.

The Washington correspondent of the Syracuse Star states that the well known case of the Woodworth planing machine patent, has been settled by compromise. The owners of the Woodworth patent, it will be recollected, sued Mr. Bradlee of Albany, for an infringement, but by compromise, they acknowledge that his machine was a bona fide invention, and brought up his claim, guaranteeing him a bonus of $40,000 for the use of his patent-right.

DREADFUL TREADY.—Extract of a letter from Louisville, Ky., Dec. 22, to Messrs. Willis & Co., of Boston:—

"I have to inform you of a most distressing domestic calamity, experienced by Mr. H. N. Newcomb, of this city. Mrs. Newcomb, having been indisposed for several weeks, became deranged last evening, and in the absence of Mr. Newcomb, threw their four children from an attic window. Two of them fell upon the pavement, fracturing their skulls —one (the second boy) died shortly after; and the little girl, the youngest, died this morning. The third boy, it is thought, may survive; and the eldest (falling upon the grass) is apparently not much injured. He was sleeping quietly when I left the house an hour since.

Mr. Newcomb is well known in this quarter as the head of one of the principal houses at the West.

BUSINESS OF THE NEW YORK CANALS.—The Albany Argus of Saturday gives comparative statements of the transport of merchandise on the Erie and Champlain canals to and from Albany in the two last years, from which the following results are deduced:

The aggregate tonnage of property arriving at Albany, this year, is 1,019,307 tons—against 922,710 tons last year—being an increase this year over last of 96,597 tons. The aggregate tonnage of property cleared at Albany this year is 177,034 tons—against 135,475 tons last year—being an increase of 41,559 tons this year over last. Aggregate increase of tonnage of property arriving and cleared at Albany, this year over last, 138,156.

The value of the property arriving at Albany this year, is $27,439,186, against $22,456,561 last year—being an increase this year over last, of $4,982,625. Value of the property cleared at Albany this year, $31,476,375, against $22,862,627 last year—being an increase this year over last, of $8,613,748. Aggregate increase of the value of the property arriving and cleared at Albany this year over last, $13,596,373.

The tolls collected at the Albany office, this year, on property, &c. cleared here, falls below the amount last year, by $41,000. Tolls this year $317,541. Last year $358,539. Thus, it will be seen, that the reduction of the rates of toll, which on the greater portion of the up freight amounts to 50 per cent., whilst it has slightly diminished the tolls received at this point, has drawn to the Canals a largely increased amount of business—to and from tidewater.

FIRE.—A fire at Charleston, S. C. Friday destroyed the grocery establishment of Valentine Heidt. Loss $15,000 on stock: on building $6000. Several of the adjoining buildings were injured, as were several firemen; among them Robert Forsyth, whose recovery is improbable.

THE THINKER AND THE DOER.

One sits at home, with pale and impassive brow,
Bent on the eloquence of lifeless letters;
Noting man's thoughts from Mind's first dawn, till now,
When Truth seems, Heaven inspired, to burst her fetters.

Another plies the force of stalwart limbs,
And keen wit sharpen'd by the whirl of action;
For midnight lore no studious lamp he trims,
Curtain'd and muffled from the world's distraction.

Two destinies—converging to one end,
The glorious issue of all human labor;
Where in harmonious union softly blend
The praise of God, the profit of our neighbor.

Each has his gift—the stamp affix'd at birth,
That marks him for the servant of a Master;
The chosen steward of His realm of Earth;
The shepherd watching for a higher Pastor.

Each has his crown—of earthly laurels here,
Gather'd and woven by the hand of mortals;
And when the Spirit City's towers appear,
Dropp'd on his brows by angels at its portals.

Judge not which serves his mighty master best,
Haply thou mightest be true worth's detractor;
For each obeys his nature's highest behest,—
The close-pent thinker, and the busy actor.

Gas was introduced into Charlestown for the first time on Monday night last. The gasometer, containing twelve hundred hogsheads of water, was filled by four fire engines on Thursday last. Pipes are laid in nearly all the principal streets, and before the close of the next summer will go through all the public streets in the city.

Thirty-six years ago there were seven daily papers in New York city, whose united circulation was but 9,500 copies. Of these seven, the Commercial Advertiser and Evening Post are the only survivors. In 1852, the aggregate circulation of but three of the New York dailies is over 100,000 copies.

IMPORTANT ARRIVAL.

THE SUBSCRIBER takes great pleasure in announcing to his numerous friends and patrons, and the public generally, that he has just received and has now open for public exhibition, a recently selected stock of goods designed for the

THE IMPROVED

EMPIRE STATE STOVE.

THIS justly celebrated COOKING STOVE having been improved in every way it could be to make its operations more complete, and its plates beautifully ornamented—hoping, at the same time no trouble having been spared to make this the most complete Cooking Stove ever brought before the public—the subscriber feels assured in warranting the IMPROVED EMPIRE STATE superior to any stove in the market, which can testify who have used them for the past year.

This Stove has a very LARGE OVEN, which makes it desirable on account of doing more cooking with the same amount of fuel, as can be done in any other stove. The flues are large, which ensures a good draft in all cases. The castings are very heavy and smooth, and those parts that come next the fire are extra thick, making it very durable. It is adapted to the use of either coal or wood, and we warrant them to operate as well with one as the other. We furnish them with the very best apparatus; and, altogether, it is the MOST DURABLE, ECONOMICAL and CONVENIENT COOKING STOVE now made—complete in every respect. We ask the attention of all persons intending to purchase a new, or exchange their old stove, to an examination of the Improved Empire State.

We have also on hand a variety of other Cooking Stoves, called the "Banner," "Belle of the States," "King of the States," "Bay State," "Anglo Saxon," "Pearl of Troy," &c.; with a large lot of PARLOR STOVES, such as the new Parlor Air-Tight, Star, Revere Parlor Cook, Lady Franklin, for Wood or Coal; Shop, Office and Air-Tight Stoves, of different sizes and prices for either wood or coal.

An extensive assortment of HOUSEKEEPING GOODS; Wooden, Willow, Glass, Britannia, Japan, Tin, Hard, Enamel, and Brass Ware; Copper, Cast Iron, and Chain Pumps; Window Shade, Table Oil-cloths, &c.

All the above goods will be sold lower than can be bought elsewhere in this vicinity.

WHAT-CHEER STOVE.

THE WHAT-CHEER COAL COOKING STOVE, now offered for sale by the subscribers, is acknowledged by all who have examined it to be the best and most economical Coal Stove ever offered to the public.

The castings are heavy, smooth, and very handsome. The Broiling apparatus is a great improvement over all other Stoves, being constructed in such a manner as to prevent the steam from escaping into the room when cooking.

All persons wishing to purchases COAL COOKING STOVE, are respectfully requested to call and examine the same. Every Stove warranted to work well, or no sale.

We have also a large assortment of COOKING, PARLOR and STORE STOVES, &c.—for sale cheap for Cash at our Store.

HOUSE AND LIFE PROTECTORS
AGAINST FIRE AND LIGHTNING.

PATENT METALLIC

LADDER AND CONDUCTOR.

THIS new and important invention is one that should receive the attention of every person who owns a building, or who is interested in that which presents a "permanent safeguard" against lightning, and at the same time a light, strong and ornamental Ladder, which will securely warrant the inmates of any house the ready means of escape in case of fire.

The above are manufactured by Messrs. Washburn, Holland & Co. of Worcester, Mass., and have received the strongest testimonials of approval from many scientific and practical men. A moment's examination of the Metallic Ladder is sufficient to convince any person of its great utility.

PARTICULARS ABOUT CUBA.—The population of Cuba is about 1,200,000. Of these there are 500,000 white inhabitants; 100,000 free mulattos; 80,000 free blacks; 20,000 mulatto slaves and 500,000 black slaves.—Cuba is 780 miles in length, averaging 52 in breadth, and covering an area of 43,500 square miles. It lies across the mouth of the Mexican Gulf, being only 120 miles from East Florida; 95 from Yucatan in South America; 42 from St. Domingo, and from Jamaica 75 miles. There are fifty fine harbors on the cost of Cuba, some of which are spacious bays, affording anchorage and protection to the largest class of vessels. The climate is very fine, the warmest month averaging 82 degrees Fahrenheit's thermometer, and the coldest 70, at Havana. Ice rarely forms, and snow never falls. It is traversed by chains of mountains, whose peaks, in some instances, are 8,500 feet high; the plains beneath are proverbial for their fertility, though comparatively a small portion of its 34,000,000 of acres of land are yet cultivated. Besides the staple articles of sugar, tobacco, and coffee, the soil is favorable for the growth of rice, corn, wheat and vegetables. Fruit is abundant, embracing the plantain, orange, lemon, cocoa nut, and a vast variety of other kinds peculiar to tropical climates.

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY—MARINE PAINT.—In a report recently made and published in the city of New York, addressed to the President and Directors of the New Jersey Zinc Company, it is averred—over the respectable signatures of C. E. Detmold, Horatio Allen and John C. Hitchcock—that "late experiments made at the United States Navy Yard at Gosport, have established, by the most conclusive tests, the decided superiority of the white oxide of zinc as a marine paint, over all others subjected to the same test, namely—white lead, red lead, marine paint manufactured at Philadelphia, verdigris and coal tar. These experiments prove, that timber covered with two coats of white zinc is neither attacked by worms, nor do barnacles attach to it, when immersed in salt water; whilst all other paints tried, offer comparatively no protection against these two great evils."

AN IMPOSTOR.—A colored man professing to have escaped from bondage, within a fortnight, from the neighborhood of Ellicott's Mills in Maryland, and evidently well acquainted in that locality, is seeking to excite the sympathy of the public in all this region toward himself, and to obtain money, clothes, &c. for himself, wife and three children, on their way to Canada—using the names of distinguished benevolent men falsely, to accomplish the work of imposture. The knave obtained large contributions in Boston, considerable in Danvers &c. Money was raised for him here last week, but before it was paid him, the imposition was discovered.—Lowell Courier.

A Virginia gentleman, writing from Florence, in Italy, says of Hart, the sculptor:—"Talking about what is doing in Florence, I must mention a head which Mr. Hart has just finished, intended as a present to the society of ladies in Richmond for whom he is now executing a statue of Mr. Clay. It is one of the most beautiful things I have ever seen. It has a sweet, sad expression, representing 'Virginia mourning for her son.' He is now working on the statue of Mr. Clay, and has been engaged for some time in making, with his own hands, an instrument of his own invention, for executing it in Marble, so that it will be as perfect as man can make it. This instrument is considered by those who have seen it, as one of the greatest inventions of the age."—Richmond Times.

TRIAL FOR SELLING CIDER.—The case of Deacon Hollis, of Braintree, Mass., for selling two quarts of cider in violation of the liquor law of 1852, came before the Court of Common Pleas, Judge Bishop presiding, in Dedham, last week. Deacon Hollis defended himself. The case was given to the jury in the forenoon, and at a late hour in the afternoon, they sent word to the court they had not agreed, and there was no probability that they would agree.

CIRCUMSTANTIAL EVIDENCE.—The Skowhegan (Me.) Clarion mentions a singular circumstance, and one which warns us not to place entire reliance on circumstantial evidence. A few years ago a man by the name of Johnson, a pedler, stopped at the house of one Hughes, in Madison, and was never afterwards heard of until recently. Some time after Johnson stopped with Hughes the latter was drowned, and his wife became insane. She declared her husband the murderer of Johnson, and circumstances gave plausibility to her story. Now Johnson turns up in California, and the children of Hughes are thus relieved of the stigma of being the offspring of a murderer.

[An expedition will hardly be projected to Cuba at this season of the year. Certainly it will not be encouraged by any of the Creole planters, or by any men acquainted with the business or the interests of the Islanders. The busy season is coming on, when it is important that political quiet should be maintained. Next June, when the crop has all been shipped, we may expect some strong filibustering demonstration, unless our Government interpose in the matter.]—Newburyport Herald.

A CLERICAL IMPOSTER.—The "Rev. Alfred Thomas Wood, D. D.," is under remand at Hull on the charge of obtaining money by false pretences. He levied contributions on the charitable for the alleged support of a church in Liberia. He told one of the witnesses against him that George and Eliza Harris, mentioned in Uncle Tom's Cabin, were "members of his church," and that Cassy died six weeks after her arrival at Liberia.—English paper.

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.
PORTSMOUTH:
THURSDAY, DECEMBER 30, 1852.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

Congress is not doing a great deal. On Tuesday, the 28th, the Senate adjourned for want of a quorum, and the House did nothing worth one line of record.

The New York Tribune's Washington correspondent states that Secretary Everett has recently purchased Gov. Marcy's house in Washington city, which looks as if he intended to stay there—and it is hinted that the legislature of Massachusetts may choose him as their Senator.

Among the other Washington gossip, Gov. Brown of Miss., states that a despatch just received from Concord, gives Hunter of Va., the Department of State; Slidell of La., the Treasury; Dix of New York, the War; Johnson of Ark., the Navy; Bright of Ind., the Interior; Medary of Ohio, the Post Office; and Nicholson of Tenn., the Attorney Generalship. Cabell says that the South must have Cuba or the Sandwich Islands under any pretext.

Of course we do not undertake to vouch for the correctness of these statements, but give them as we find them.

DEATH OF B. F. McINTIRE.

We learn from the Boston Post, that Mr. Benjamin Franklin McIntire, late of this city, died in Lawrence, Mass. two or three days ago.

Mr. McIntire was a native of York, Me.: he learnt the trade of a printer in this city, and in company with the late Michael W. Beck, published the Saco Democrat for some time. He then returned to Portsmouth, and was one of the printers of the Washingtonian, with Mr. Wm. H. Foster. Afterwards, in partnership with Mr. Whittem, he got up and published the Republican Union, which they sold to be united with the N. H. Gazette. The same partners, after this sale, commenced the Rockingham Messenger—and while thus engaged, Mr. M. was elected a Representative from Portsmouth in our State Legislature. Finally he became editor of the Lawrence Sentinel, in which occupation he died.

His age, we believe, was about 37. Good-natured, cheerful, careless in manner and easy in conversation, he was well calculated to win friends, gain subscribers, and add life to the editorial profession. Others might be more thorough and profound—he was content to be on the pleasant surface, and there he spent his life,—not without its trials and errors and vexations—but his fund of good temper kept him comfortable in his own person, and rendered him a pleasant neighbor.—The fraternity will feel his loss.

BEAUTIFUL MAPS.

We call the reader's attention to the advertisement of Colton's New Maps, inserted in the Chronicle of this morning.

An inspection of the advertisement will show that these new and large maps are descriptive, one of New England on a large scale—the other of the Whole Union. And an inspection of the Maps themselves will show them to be clear, distinct and beautiful. In regard to the latter trait, viz. that of beauty, it may be well to remark, that Colton's establishment is the only one which sends out large Maps from steel plates.

As to accuracy, the publisher claims a very high rank for these Maps; having availed himself of the Coast Survey by U. S. Officers, of the several railroad surveys, &c. &c.

This map of New England, containing such improvements, and being highly finished, handsome in appearance, and very accurate, as will be seen on inspection, has been got up at a vast expense.

Every school-house in New England ought to have a copy of this work on its walls; the large scale adopted, the distinctness of lines and letters, and the truth of its geography, render it peculiarly well adapted for educational purposes.

"No. 1. PUTNAM'S MONTHLY, Jan. 1853."—This is a copy of the printed title on the colored cover of a new Magazine.—It has great literary merits. Besides, the first article, on Cuba, is valuable as a political and historical essay. Virginia in a novel form—Uncle Tomitudes—and Modern Spiritualism—are all excellent articles in their kind.

This number has one fine engraving—but it makes no parade of pictures.

It is published in New York, by G. P. Putnam & Co.;—and sold in this city by J. F. Shores, jr. who will receive subscriptions at $3 per annum, or 25 cts. per copy.

☞ Pres. Woods, of Bowdoin College, recently delivered an Eulogy on Daniel Webster before the City Government of Portland, and has published it. The Portland Advertiser praises the tone and spirit of the Eulogy,—but points out half a dozen political errors in that part of it relating to his speech on March 7, 1850.

Correspondence of the Chronicle.

AFFAIRS IN PROVIDENCE.

PROVIDENCE, Dec. 27, 1852.

Dear Chronicle:—It is to be supposed that you and all your readers have heard of the fair city of Roger Williams, where the theory of civil and religious liberty was first reduced to practice, and Puritan magistrates were taught that it was not the peculiar duty of their offices to relieve unoffending Quakers of their ears, or to honor Baptists with a place in the pillory. Not intending to write a geography—while there are so many excellent ones—for the benefit of your readers, it is quite unnecessary to tell how far Providence is from the restless Atlantic; or what is its latitude and its longitude; or how many human souls, out of all the nations of the earth, sleep under its roofs. The inquisitive stranger forgets dull statistics as he wanders delighted and amused among the most varied exhibitions of enterprising and profitable industry. How innumerable the disciples of venerable Tubal Cain—he of antediluvian memory—workers in brass and silver and iron! What an eternal clinking of hammers! Let Lowell boast of her cotton mills; and your own Portsmouth of her lawns; as for Providence, she is ready, with true Yankee facility, to supply the diversified wants of a world.—Huge engines to force mighty ships through fierce waves and opposing winds; solid bands to embrace the broad continent and unite great oceans; innumerable fabrics of cotton and woolen; prints to please the most fastidious maid; astronomical instruments enough for the use of the world, if they should all turn astronomers; silver ware for the table; sparkling rings for delicate fingers, and ornaments (!) of gold for long-eared belles.—Apropos to the last allusion, one cannot but admire the unshrinking heroism so frequently displayed by ladies, who would be at all other times delicate as pinks, and cruelly disturbed even by the breath of a zephyr. Well, this much can be said in commendation of the practice; it is one of the savage virtues—and you know we are frequently exhorted to imitate the model which untutored nature furnishes—the only pity is that civilized dames do not, in respect of auricular and nasal ornaments, imitate more closely their barbarian sisters. Dr. Dick tells us of sage savages who "pierce the nostrils, lips, or cheeks, and place in them feathers, the bones of fishes, and other similar ornaments." Our New Zealand friends even, are in this respect, quite in advance of us; though we boast of being civilized and wearing ear-rings, and all that.—Their pride is to dangle from their pierced ears the bones of birds, twigs of wood, and especially the rusty nails they get from the ships of the pale stranger; and it is in this last case, that they display the wisdom of their choice; for what can be more beautiful or economical?

Perhaps you will pardon this digression from the description of the manufacturing wonders of Providence, when you consider how naturally one would pass from the latter to the former. There are many matters of interest in the earlier history as well as in the present condition of this city and state—the great "states of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations," which may be considered at another time. SPECTATOR.

ART UNION.—The American Art Union, as our readers may be aware, was declared an illegal, unconstitutional body, by the New York Courts, because of its distribution of prizes by lot, bringing it under the ban as a lottery, which it certainly was, in this respect.—This concern is now winding up, and will shortly be a nonentity.—Of course it can no more encourage American Artists.—But does this prevent similar doings in another form? Not entirely.—We see by an advertisement of the London Art Union, inserted in Boston papers, that an annual subscription of $5,50, (half a dollar more than the American,) will insure two engravings. Those for the current year are "The Surrender of Calais," and "Christ led to Crucifixion."

So the English Artists will get the money, and not the Americans,—a respectable bookseller in Boston will get a good commission on the business—and the operation of the law in this case, is to encourage the fine arts abroad, and to discourage them at home.

The Rochester Union has the following:

"The fact that a large quantity of acorns have recently been shipped from this country to Holland, reminds us of an enterprising Englishman who traversed the United States in the years that intervened between those of 1820 and '23, collected the seeds of our most desirable American forest trees, and planted an extensive nursery in England. He engaged in a novel enterprise of obtaining from the forests of Niagara County, planks of black walnut, oak, whitewood and maple, of the fullest length and width the largest trees would furnish, which he transported to London, and exhibited as specimens of the trees he had planted. His next enterprise was a voyage to Hindostan, to collect seeds and plants.—While in search of the objects of his visit, in the Himalaya Mountains, he and his party were attacked and destroyed by wild beasts."

☞ The public schools in Boston are to be closed on New-Year's Day.

LOCAL.

LADIES' FAIR.

The Ladies' Fair at Congress Hall last evening, was the most brilliant affair we have had the pleasure of attending for a long time, and passed of with great eclat. It must have added a handsome sum to the fund of the Howard Benevolent Society, in whose behalf it was held.

Owing to a great pressure of business, we were unable to be present till late in the evening, but when we did get there were amazed at the bevy of beauties which presented themselves to our view. To a person unaccustomed to see beautiful women and pretty girls the sight might have produced serious consequences, but as we have passed the most of our days in Portsmouth, the sensation caused by the sight of so much loveliness was but momentary.

Some of the best singers in Portsmouth enlivened the evening with their songs, but we think they were rather independent of each other in some of their pieces.

There is to be a similar entertainment this evening, commencing at 7 o'clock—to wind off with an Auction at 9. Go, for your own sake, the ladies', and the cause. JR.

☞ Our citizens are to have an opportunity to listen to the enchanting strains of Miss Julia Wheelock, on Monday evening next.—Mr. Moses is to give another of those interesting Concerts, which gave such universal and entire satisfaction a few weeks since. The Cameneum will not be found too large.

A WARM CHRISTMAS.—The warm and moist weather of last Friday and Saturday, did not fail to remind some persons among us, of December 24, 1806.—On that day St. John's Church, a wooden edifice, was destroyed by fire; and it is distinctly remembered that the day was as mild, and the walking as bad as on the corresponding day this season.

LICENSED HOUSES.—There is not much prospect now that any liquor law will pass our legislature this session. A few weeks ago, when there was a prospect that something would be done, the question was raised, What shall we do, if we wish for strong drinks? An old inhabitant made answer, that he had always understood that the old Globe Tavern, alias Elm House, has a perpetual license,—and that he had more recently learnt that the Rockingham House has a similar license, irrevocable. We cannot vouch for the correctness of either statement, though we believe both. It is said, that a former owner of the Globe Tavern, gave a deed of the Training Field on the Plain, to the Town of Portsmouth,—and that one of the conditions of the deed was, a perpetual license of the House, as a Tavern. This license is quite harmless now, for nobody lives there—but if we had a Maine Law, or something like it, there would be a train of pilgrims to the Globe, like that which goes to Mecca—except that one class worship Mahomet and the other sacrifice to Bacchus.

The license to the Rockingham is said to be contained in the charter.

N H. General Court—Nov. Session, 1852.

[Abridged from the Patriot.]

TUESDAY, Dec. 28

SENATE.—The Senate resumed the consideration of the bill to facilitate and render less expensive proceedings in jury trials, and the Senate was divided 6 to 6, on a question of laying on the table a motion for the indefinite postponement of the bill.

HOUSE.—State Reform School.—Mr. Bartlett of Portsmouth moved that the resolution concerning the expediency of establishing a State Reform School for juvenile offenders be taken from the table and considered, to which the House assented. The resolution was debated by Messrs. Bartlett, Sargent and Cushing, and finally made a special order for Wednesday at 3½ P. M.

A number of bills and resolutions, of minor importance, were passed; among them was a resolution in favor of the officers and privates of the first company of the 1st regiment.

The Liquor Bill.—The House took up the consideration of the motion, to indefinitely postpone the consideration of the bill for the suppression of drinking houses and tippling shops.

Mr. Cragin of Lebanon made a long speech in favor of the bill, and in opposition to the arguments used against it during last week's discussion. No question taken.

A WARNING TO NEWSPAEER THIEVES.—A man named Archibald Hamilton of Providence, has been convicted of stealing the Providence Journal from the door step of a subscriber. The cost of the operation was about $10.

The Christian Era speaks of Madame Sontag as "Miss Sontag, an opera girl from Europe." Madame is a grandmother.

Commander Ringgold, of the exploring expedition to the Chinese Seas and Behring's Straits, is detained for want of men, and will be unable to get away in less than a month.

SOUTHERN MANUFACTURES.—The Charleston (S. C.) Courier of Friday says, with natural pride, that its issue of that day "is printed on paper of domestic fabric, having been manufactured by the South Carolina Paper Manufacturing Company, near Grantville."

☞ Emma Snodgrass, the girl in pants, was brought before the Boston Police Court on Wednesday morning—but she was discharged, as nothing appeared against her purity or propriety in any way, except her change of garments. She must be slightly insane, and her friends should take care of her.

TEMPERANCE IN FLORIDA.—A bill has passed the Senate of Florida by a vote of 14 to 2, prohibiting the retailing of intoxicating drinks in any district where the majority of the voters are opposed thereto.

There are six acres of barrelled pork, three tiers high, at Louisville, and about six acres of live hogs in pens.

That is, we suppose, about twenty-four acres of pork, in the whole.

THE WEEKLY CHRONICLE.

TO BEGIN WITH THE NEW YEAR.

$1 A YEAR, INVARIABLY IN ADV.

FULLY SATISFIED with the entire success of the Daily Chronicle, and in consequence of much solicitation on the part of friends and patrons far and near, the subscribers have made arrangements to issue (as above) a Weekly

FAMILY NEWSPAPER,

in connection with the Daily Chronicle. It will be of medium size, printed in the same style as the Daily, and made up chiefly from its columns.

TERMS $1 per annum, invariably in advance. To Clergymen of all denominations, half price.

☞ All papers discontinued at the end of the term for which advance payment is made;—so no patron will long get a paper he does not want.

☞ All Postmasters will act as our Agents; and any person sending us $5, (the papers to be sent to one address) will receive a sixth copy for the service.

TO ADVERTISERS.

We offer the best advantages at the lowest rates. Advertisements will be inserted in both papers without extra charge. The Chronicle is (of course) circulated among a greater variety of readers than any partisan journal.

LATEST NEWS!

BY MAIL, EXPRESS & TELEGRAPH.

LATER FROM CALIFORNIA.

ARRIVAL OF THE UNCLE SAM.

The steamer Uncle Sam, from Aspinwall, with dates from California to the 1st inst., arrived at New York on Tuesday evening. She has 200 passengers, and over $500,000 in gold dust, brought down by the Cortes.

The steamer Columbus left San Francisco Nov. 29th for Panama. The steamer Independence left for San Juan on the 1st of Dec., and the steamer Panama left the same day for Panama, with the mails and $2,700,000 in gold. The latter had not arrived at Panama on the evening of the 17th.

The Uncle Sam left Kingston, Ja., at noon, on the 22d, making her passage thence to New York in six days.

General Bean, Commander of the Militia of the South, was shot at an exhibition of rope dancers at San Gabriel, and died about 24 hours afterwards.

The mining prospects in the Winter diggings were never more favorable for an abundant yield. The rains had been very favorable for mining.

Capt. Gorham, of the ship Albany, was undergoing an examination on the charge of murdering A. Stuart, one of the crew of said ship, on the high seas.

The Land Commissioners were busily employed at Los Angelos, and had proved nearly all claims.

Snow had fallen in many places, and in some localities, was four feet in depth.

FROM THE ISTHMUS.

By advices to Dec. 17, it appears that the rainy season had closed, and travelling on the Isthmus was good, passengers being enabled to cross in 22 hours.

In the evening of the 4th, the city of Acapulco was visited by a terrible earthquake, and a number of the largest buildings were destroyed. Continued shocks were being felt up to the period of the steamer's departure. A burning mountain was visible some 60 miles at the rear of Acapulco. Thirty buildings were ruined. Loss, $200,000.

A very severe shock was also felt on the 8th, and a repeated shock on the 9th. The Fulton hotel was one of the buildings destroyed by the first shock. No lives were lost.

There was an unusual amount of business at Panama.

KINGSTON, JA.—Advices from Kingston are to the 22d.

The British screw steamer Dauntless had arrived at Carlisle Bay, from Port Royal, with 33 cases of yellow fever on board.—Thirteen deaths had taken place, among whom were eight officers. The fever had also broken out in the garrison at St. Lucia.

At St. Pierre, Martinique, a French dramatic company, recently arrived, had lost 16 of their number by yellow fever.

SANDWICH ISLANDS.—Dates from the Sandwich Islands are to November 6th; 116 whale ships were in the port of Honolulu on the 4th.

The ship Isaac Howland had arrived at Honolulu, with four Japanese sailors, picked up at sea, from on board a junk, in a famishing condition.

The Polynesian says that the past season has been a most successful one for the whaling business. More oil will be received there than any previous season. The most successful voyage was that of the Niagara, Capt. Clough, 12 months out, with 3200 barrels of whale oil, 50,000 lbs bone. Six merchant vessels had already filled up with oil and bone for the United States, and four others had been engaged at San Francisco, and were daily expected over.

The San Francisco Herald insists that Mare Island, selected for a Navy Yard, already belonged to government, and that the sale is a swindling operation.

POLYGAMY.—Mrs. Catharine Trippe, of Boston, came to this city on Thursday, looking for a man named John D. Blanchard, on suspicion that he had illegally married an interesting young woman about 17 years old, at her house in Boston, about six weeks since, where Blanchard has been staying for some time. Marshal Seaing put her upon the track, with officer Bachmeyer, who arrested Blanchard on Friday. Subsequent investigation showed that he had a wife and ten children in Rockaway, Morris Co.; his wife appeared here, from whose testimony his previous bad character was elicited, leading to the suspicion that he has deceived other women in the same manner. In his trunk were $120; a gold watch and chain belonging to him was in the possession of his young wife, who has returned to Boston in company with Mrs. Trippe, intending to go to her father in Nova Scotia. Blanchard also owns considerable property in Rockaway. He was fully committed by Justice Ford.—Newark (N. J.) Adv.

ANOTHER VETERAN GONE.—A correspondent informs us of the death of the venerable Capt. Ebenezer Woodbury of Dunbarton, which occurred on the 22d inst. He was about 92 years of age. Our correspondent says he has been a uniform supporter of Democratic principles ever since he became a voter, and has voted at every Presidential election, and at nearly every other election, since the adoption of the U. S. Constitution. He was at the polls on the 2d of November, and cast his vote for Pierce & King.—Daily Patriot.

NEW RAILROAD BETWEEN NEW YORK AND WASHINGTON.—We learn from the New York Tribune that Mr. Doty of Wisconsin, has prepared and is about to introduce into the House, a bill having for its object the construction of a direct post railroad from Washington to New York, and that it will probably pass that body at the present session. It is stated that the route between Baltimore and Philadelphia has been surveyed. The difficulty will be in establishing a road through New Jersey, the present company having a monopoly, all attempts to break through which have heretofore proved unavailing. It is on this road that much of the detention occurs, though the lines south are very inefficiently managed. The time between New York and Washington might be shortened one half.

A White Crow?—A gentleman from Augusta, who has taken up his residence in our city, brought with him the stuffed and mounted skin of a crow, purely white. He took two of the kind with one black one from the same nest, near Augusta, and kept them alive for a while, when they suddenly died, he supposed from something poisonous which they had eaten, and he had this one stuffed.—Portland Advertiser.

The San Antonio Ledger informs us that three hundred men are now assembled on St. Joseph Island. It is thought they are Cuban volunteers, and that another invasion is contemplated.

The skeletons of a cat and a rat, in excellent preservation, have been found in Gerard's Hall crypt, London. The rat was firmly held in the mouth of the cat. It is thought they had lain there 480 or 500 years.

An Austrian, being asked for a definition of Paradise, said, "I believe it to be a kingdom where you can travel backwards and forwards without a passport."

THE IMPROVED

EMPIRE STATE STOVE.

THIS justly celebrated COOKING STOVE having been improved in every way it could be to make its operations more complete, and its plates beautifully ornamented—no expense, time or trouble having been spared to make this the most complete Cooking Stove ever brought before the public—the subscriber feels assured in warranting the IMPROVED EMPIRE STATE superior to any stove in the market, as hundreds can testify who have used them for the past year.

This Stove has a very LARGE OVEN, which makes it desirable on account of doing more cooking with the same amount of fuel than can be done in any other stove. The fire-box large, which ensures a good draft in all cases. The castings are very heavy and smooth, and those parts that come next the fire are extra thick, making it very durable. It is adapted to the use of either coal or wood, and we warrant them to operate as well with one as the other. We furnish them with the very best apparatus; and, altogether, it is the MOST DURABLE, ECONOMICAL and CONVENIENT COOKING STOVE ever made—complete in every respect. We ask the attention of all persons intending to purchase a new, or exchange their old stove, to an examination of the Improved Empire State.

We have also on hand a variety of other Cooking Stoves, called the "Banner," "Belle of the States," "King of the States," "Bay State," "Anglo Saxon," "Pearl of Troy," &c.; with a large lot of PARLOR STOVES, such as the Revere Air-Tight, Star, Revere Parlor Coal, Lady Franklin for Wood or Coal; Shop, Office and Air-Tight Stoves, of different sizes and prices for either wood or coal.

Also an extensive assortment of HOUSEKEEPING GOODS; Wooden, Willow, Glass, Britannia, Japan, Tin, Hard, Enamel, and Brass Ware; Copper, Cast Iron, and Chain Pumps; Window-Shads, Table Oil-cloths, &c.

All the above goods will be sold lower than can be bought elsewhere in this vicinity.

HIRAM JONES, 61 Market street,
s27 Portsmouth, N. H.

WHAT-CHEER STOVE.

THE WHAT-CHEER COAL COOKING STOVE, now offered for sale by the subscribers, is acknowledged by all who have examined it to be the best and most economical Coal Stove ever offered to the public.

The castings are heavy, smooth, and very handsome. The brushing apparatus is a great improvement over all other Stoves, being constructed in such a manner as to prevent the steam from escaping into the room when cooking.

All persons wishing to purchase a COAL COOKING STOVE, are respectfully requested to call and examine the same. Every Stove warranted to work well, or no sale.

We have also a large assortment of COOKING, PARLOR and STORE STOVES, &c.—for sale cheap for Cash at our Stores.

PATENTS.

American and Foreign Office.
AGENCY FOR BUSINESS
With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,
No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IN 1840 the subscriber was appointed Agent of the United States Patent Office, in accordance with the 10th section of the Act of 1837.

Having relinquished the agency for the transmission of models, and adopting a more expeditious mode of sending them to the Patent Office, whereby a Patent can be procured several weeks earlier, he continues to forward them, as before, free of expense, and to prepare Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all the necessary Papers and Drawings for Patents, and to attend to and act on legal and scientific matters respecting the same. Patents secured in Europe.

The subscriber aims to present to inventors superior facilities for obtaining patents; and to have prepared such applications at rates cheaper by ten to twenty per cent. than those of other agencies. They can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skillful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"Patent Office, ——

"R. H. Eddy, Esq., Boston, Mass.

"Sir:—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any other agency. I am very respectfully, Yours, &c. THOMAS EWBANK,

HOW ANNE DARNED STOCKINGS.

BY FANNY SMITH.

Really my friend Annie Woodruffe was to be pitied. I called to see her a few months after her marriage, and found her nearly crying over a pair of her husband's stockings, which she was darning.

"Why Anne," said I, "I thought you were never going to mend a pair of stockings after you were married."

"Isn't it too bad" replied she, laughingly. "I used to say I would never marry a man without he was rich enough to keep a seamstress for me, to do all my sewing and mending, and here I am poking over these things," and she gave them a contemptible toss.

"But," and she laughed again, "Frank would make me marry him, you know, and I forgot to make an agreement about a seamstress."

Poor Anne! I believe there never was a woman in the world who did not hate darning thread and needles, but Anne's dislike to the articles nearly amounted to a mania.

Before a girl can scarcely pull a stocking on, she dreads the time when she will have to darn it. Many a Miss in her teens suddenly remembers a lesson which she had forgotten to learn, if a prudent, thrifty mamma suggests that she is old enough, now, and has a little spare time, and she ought to darn her own stockings.

In truth, the girl sees that her mother shirks the work if possible; that superannuated grandmothers, and maiden aunts, and poor cousins take the stocking basket as naturally as if all the contents were their own: and as they always have the most unpleasant part of the sewing to do, she is sure in her own mind that she shall not like it.

So it had been with Anne. It was even whispered at a boarding school, that she did not always look at her own stockings which had come from the wash, before putting them in her trunk; and after she left school she made a contract with her grandmother, who resided with them, that if the old lady would darn her stockings, she in return would quill her cap borders.

I have known many a woman who would do all the fancy work of the family, hemstitch, crochet, embroider slippers, suspenders, chair-covers, &c., without a murmur, but I never knew one who did not consider darning stockings an outrage on her genius.

Anne had been married about three years when I called one day again. Taking up my little namesake from the floor, I exclaimed—

"Why don't you put short clothes on this child, Anne? She will never learn to walk with a yard of muslin and flannel under her feet."

A strange expression passed over my friend's face. For a moment it puzzled me. Then I said—

"My gracious Anne, you don't keep long clothes and socks on the child for fear of having its stockings to mend?"

"Something like it, to be sure?"

"Why, you unnatural mother! it will outgrow its stockings for the next two years, before it will outwear them.

But as time passed on, and Anne's family increased, her cares increased with it.

The huge family patch basket was appalling. The poor soul thought the labors of a Hercules trifling compared with her own.

"Nothing but patch and darn, and darn and patch," said she to me, one day, when I went in and found her as busy as usual with her basket. Indeed, the much talked of and much written of horrors of washing day, were play to her compared with the troubles of Wednesday, when shutting herself up in the nursery, she denied herself of all visitors, except myself, and sat down with one foot on the rocker of the cradle, and a lap full of stockings which she was to assort.

Well she was to be pitied. One of the children was certain to have the toothache, or a burned finger, or a cold in the head, just as certain as Wednesday came round.

One of these fatal days, when I happened to be there, I pitied her terribly. The whole brood of little ones were at home. Some of the children in the school had the measles, and she thought it wiser not to let her own go.

Another baby in long clothes and socks, had just been bathed and rocked to sleep. The weather was too cold for the children to go out of doors; so after repeated commands to them to keep quiet, Anne took up the dreaded stocking basket.

First came a pair of her own hose. A sigh of relief escaped her, as she ran her hand in and found no rent; and then they were rolled up and placed away. A second pair passed under a like review, and only a thread had given way and that was soon repaired.

Mr. Woodruff's stockings came next. Anne directed a glance of despair at me.

"What queer kind of feet he must have," said she, petulantly, "here are two pairs of new stockings without a darn in them, and now look at this!—look what immense holes in the toes!"

"They are too short, I suspect, Anne," replied I, hastily.

"Well, I'll take care to get them long enough the next time. I shall mend them this once, and if they break again, I will throw them aside and buy new ones. Stockings are cheap enough, dear only knows, without slaving one's life out in mending them."

I was dressing a doll for my little namesake, and again Anne's darning proceeded quietly for a while.

But presently I heard her exclaim—

"Jenny, for mercy's sake give me those scissors."

And I looked up to see Miss Jenny sitting on the floor, screwing her little face around with every turn of the scissors, cutting out paper babies and Lilliputian frocks and aprons.

After a few moment's silence, interrupted only by the rocking of the table, I heard Anne say again—

"Tom! do look now, what are you doing I declare, making the hole in that stocking twice as large as it was, by putting your marbles through it"—and there was master Tom, holding one of the unmended stockings up at full length, dropping the marbles through one by one, studying the laws of gravitation.

Little Carry, who seemed to have none of her mother's dislike for stocking mending, was as busy as a bee sewing all the tops together and darning the toes fast to the middle of the legs.

"Carry, do hand me the darning cotton—how you plague me; and goodness gracious! see what the child has done. It will take half an hour to rip all that out."

But Carry looked up wonderingly at her mother, for she was fully convinced that her work was admirable, and said—

"Indeed, mamma, I haven't got the cotton."

"Why, where can it be then?"

But happening to look on the lounge, she saw George drawing out strand after strand, tying the ends together, and as busy in weaving catch-cradles with it, as his sister had been in darning.

"Oh, dear," exclaimed the nearly distracted mother, "what a grand time Eve must have had with no stockings to mend; I declare I almost wish that I was a Hottentot."

A few months ago Anne came to me to know if I could find her a good seamstress.

"Thank fortune," said she, "Frank's business is very prosperous, and I feel as if I could keep a girl to do my sewing without being too extravagant. Only think, Carry! no more stockings to darn! can you believe it?"

Since that time Anne Woodruff has been a perfectly happy wife and mother.

PATENT METALLIC

LADDER AND CONDUCTOR.

THIS new and important invention is one that should receive the attention of every person who owns a building, or who is interested in that which presents a "permanent safeguard" against lightning, and at the same time a light, strong and ornamental Ladder, which will securely warrant the inmates of any house the ready means of escape in case of fire.

The above are manufactured by Messrs. Washburn, Holland & Co. of Worcester, Mass., and have received the strongest testimonials of approval from many scientific and practical men. A moment's examination of the Metallic Ladder is sufficient to convince any person of its great utility.

☞ Price per foot, 20 cents; including Lightning Rods and Points of the most approved material.

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.
PORTSMOUTH:
FRIDAY, DECEMBER 31, 1852.

OUR WEEKLY—TO ADVERTISERS.
The first number of the Weekly Chronicle will be ready for delivery to-morrow morning.
Persons about making arrangements for yearly advertising, will do well to consider the advantages offered by the issue of the Daily and Weekly Chronicle. In addition to the fact that our independence of partizanship gives us an increased and varied circulation, the like of which can be attained by no party sheet,—we give advertisements the benefit of the circulation of both papers. Our terms are low—call and see.

NATHANIEL ROGERS.

Died in Buffalo, N. Y., Dec. 24, Mr. Nathaniel Rogers, aged 50, proprietor of the Phelps House in that city.

The Buffalo Express states that Mr. Rogers came to that city three or four years since, "and during that time has attached to himself a large circle of friends, by his singular amiability, modesty and genuine goodness of heart. He was universally beloved by people of all classes, and has left behind him many a monument to perpetrate his memory. He was an active member of the North Presbyterian Church—a warm friend to the poor—an upright and energetic man,—a wise counsellor and a firm friend. His death will leave many weepers, to whom may Heaven be merciful."

Mr. Rogers was a native of Eliot, Me. and a great grandson of Rev. John Rogers of Kittery, now Eliot, who was great grandson of Rev. Dr. John Rogers of Harvard College, who was a descendant of the Rev. John Rogers who was burnt at Smithfield, and canonized in the New England Primer.

Nath'l Rogers was for some years a resident here, where he married, and where he was for some time our most efficient police officer. He was brought up to keep a grog-shop, and for a time kept one in this place, with some success. But he heard Hewitt, "the Temperance Apostle," and gave up his business from motives of conscience. After a little time he was invited to Boston by the owners of the Eastern Stage House, to keep their Hotel. To their surprise he insisted upon making it a Temperance House. He did so—raised the reputation of their House, and put money in their purse—and in his own. The owners of the Marlborough Hotel next invited him to their establishment, where he remained several years, and became favorably known to people from every part of the country. Thence he was again translated to the Delaware House in Albany—and lastly to Buffalo, where he died.

He was active, energetic, calm, and firm. He had a clear head, a warm heart, a good voice, and a pleasant countenance. In his character, honesty, simplicity and earnestness, "gave the world assurance of a Man."

DOINGS OF CONGRESS.

These on Wednesday, were somewhat interesting.

In the Senate, Mr. Weller presented several petitions from merchants and others, in California, praying for a law allowing the receipt of ingots and bars in payment of duties at the Custom House.

Such a law ought to be passed, and probably will be.

A joint resolution was passed, allowing further time to the owners of steamers to bring their vessels within the requirements of the act of last session, known as the steamboat bill.

Also a bill authorizing the issue of a new register to the ship Prentice, and changing her name to Leoni.

Several private bills were taken up and passed.

In the House on the same day, an effort was made to adjourn to Monday, but it did not succeed.

Mr. Stanley offered a resolution that the reporters of the House be directed hereafter not to report in the Daily Globe, as part of the proceedings of the House, speeches that have not been made in the House, without leave of the House being first obtained.

In support of this resolution, Mr. Stanley said it appeared from the Daily Globe of yesterday that the gentleman from Maine, Mr. Smart, had offered a resolution relative to the seizure and confiscation by the Spanish Government of the bark Georgia and schooner Susan Loud; after this the report went on to state that Mr. Smart made the speech appended which occupies four columns of that paper; and the report adds that the question was taken and the resolution adopted; whilst the fact was that not one word was mentioned on that floor.

This shows the report in the Globe to be rather a humbug. But Mr. Smart explained, that he had hard work to get the resolution in, and could get no chance to make his speech—therefore he sent it to the reporters, as others did. It does not appear that he explained the erroneous report of the passage of the resolution.

The view, which the House took of the matter, may be inferred from the fact, that after some debate, Mr. Stanley's resolution was adopted.

THE WEEKLY CHRONICLE.

We print to-day the first number of the Weekly newspaper hereafter to be issued from our press. When the Daily was established, it was not our intention so soon to start a Weekly, though nearly all the dailies in the country do this; but the cordial reception and complete success of our Daily sheet, has at length induced us to accede to the numerous requests and oft-repeated suggestions of patrons and friends.

We intend this shall be fully equal in all respects to any Weekly published in this vicinity—and $1 a year is cheap enough for any good weekly paper. The Weekly will of course be without interest to the readers of our Daily, as the one is made up from the other. A complete family newspaper, we shall attempt to make our Weekly. The Daily, we are gratified to learn direct from many of them, gives satisfaction to most its patrons. Trusting its slower but not less complete coadjutor will do likewise, we leave it to speak further for itself.

SANDWICH ISLANDS.—We shall soon be annexing them—and President Fillmore will be set down as ultra-conservative for too promptly and decidedly rejecting the offer of them last year.

The mail that left Honolulu on the 2d November for San Francisco, was the largest ever despatched from the Islands at any one time. It included 1,963 letters, 1,128 of which were pre-paid. About 600 newspapers were sent in the same mail.

Pretty soon, we shall have clearances from our ports to the Sandwich Islands coastwise. Practically, they are close by San Francisco.

CELESTIAL EMIGRANTS.—In the late California news it is stated that the clipper ship Eureka, Captain Welsh, had sailed for Hongkong with three hundred Chinese passengers. She will touch at the Sandwich Islands, where forty of them will remain. She also carried away the sum of $70,000 in gold dust. This is the largest number of Celestials that have left in one vessel.

The dwelling-house of Rev. Prof. Shepard of Bangor, was set on fire, recently, from the over-heating of the funnel near wood-work. The mantle-piece and a piano forte, near by, were on fire, and the case of the piano about spoilt. The fire was extinguished without much damage.

Professors of all sorts ought to know enough about natural science, not to get funnels near wood-work at all.—Brick, stone and iron are much better substances to stand fire. Fix your fire-works all safe,—and then blaze away.

RAIL ROAD TO ROCKPORT.—The project of a rail road to the end of the Cape, which to many appears to be a laughable idea, is fast assuming a more tangible shape, and many years will not elapse before it will become a fact. The people at Rockport are determined in the matter, and are at work making the necessary arrangements. A petition is now in circulation in that place, to be presented to the Legislature for a charter, with permission to run their trains upon the tracks of the Gloucester Branch and Eastern Railroads. After obtaining a charter, if the Eastern Rail Road corporation will not build the new branch, the people at Rockport will build it themselves. It is estimated that it will cost about $60,000 to build the road, and subscriptions to about two-thirds of that amount have already been obtained.—Gloucester Telegrapu.

This paragraph is all right. We have travelled over the proposed route repeatedly, and seen the business and people of Rockport. There are rocks enough in the quarries there—fish enough in the sea close to the rocks,—and men enough to dig the one and catch the other. It is a hard place—abounding in hardy men—who want a railroad and will have it.

LITERARY.—The Boston correspondent of the New York Herald, under date of Dec. 27, says:

"I understand that a biography of Mr. Rantoul, to be accompanied with selections of his writings and speeches, is in preparation, by Mr. Peabody, of Portsmouth, N. H., a relative of Mr. Rantoul, and a gentleman abundantly capable of doing the subject justice.—Two or three years before his death, Mr. Rantoul told me that Mr. Peabody and himself were about to write something on ancient and modern commerce, and the modern department fell to his share. I know that he made large collections of materials, to the end of treating the matter fully; but it is probable that the demands of political life were too great and pressing to allow of his writing much on a subject not to be handled carelessly.

☞ The Year is closing over us, like a tale that is told, or as a watch in the night when it is ending. In prospect it was long, in the retrospect it is brief. Less than a single day remains of it now—and the very few hours before the date changes ought not to be spent in unavailing regrets at what has been done amiss or left undone,—but in cheerful thankfulness that so much has been done, and so well—and in cheerful hope and honest purpose for the future.

PERSONAL.—Rev. Henry Giles, the lecturer, recently had his trunk stolen, containing among other things, several manuscript lectures. He was unable to lecture at Worcester, Gloucester, and other places, in consequence.

LOCAL.

☞ The Daily Chronicle will not be for sale by the Carriers after January 1st. The only way to get the paper regularly, is to leave orders with our carriers or at the office to that effect.

City Council—Dec. 30.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.—The gas post on the corner of Vaughan and Deer streets was surrendered and accepted by the city.

A notice was received from Thos. D. Baily, Esq. agent for the Slade estate, accepting the award for removing steps from sidewalk in Vaughan street.

Several bills were passed for payment; among them the bill of Capt. Geo. W. Towle for firing minute guns in honor of Daniel Webster—also bills for damages sustained by individuals in consequence of the firing.

ERRORS.—We are assured, on the authority of a gentleman living at the Plains, that his grandfather sold the training field to the town of Portsmouth, for money. He had often heard the story to which we alluded, about the gift of the training field and the license of the Globe Tavern, but pronounces it wholly untrue. We are not only open to correction—but invite it, from any quarter.

We are informed also, that there are five Irishmen in this city, who own their houses.

SHIP FRANK PIERCE.

This fine ship arrived at the Bar, mouth of the Mississippi, in 22 days from this port.—Letters have been received from Capt. Marcy, who speaks in the highest terms of her sailing and sea-going qualities. She experienced severe weather during the whole time, which accounts for her somewhat protracted passage, as will be seen by the following extract from his letter:

"Before we got round the Isles of Shoals the wind took me from the E.N.E.; brought the ship by the wind till next morning, when it fell calm for about two hours and changed to S. S. E.; could not weather Nantucket shoals, as it blew very heavy, and brought the ship down to double reefed topsails. The gale continued very severe for two days.—We made the Hole in the Wall in 9 days from Portsmouth, although we had only 24 hours' fair wind, during which time we run 286 miles, with main royal set. When within 3 miles of the Isaacs it fell calm, and then we drifted out of the Gulf with a four knot current. A gale sprung up soon after, from the S. S. E., with a strong current. Tried to get on the banks, but could not; beat for three days, losing about 40 miles per day. Finding there was no alternative but to return to the Hole in the Wall again, we did so, thus making two passages for one. After passing the Hole in the Wall the second time, we were 80 hours to the bar."

LECTURE TO YOUNG MEN.—If the weather is favorable, a Second Lecture to Young Men will be delivered at the Middle Street Church, on Sabbath evening next. Services to commence at 7 o'clock.

[The lecture of last Sunday evening was of a high order of excellence, and was listened to with attention by a large audience.]

N H. General Court—Nov. Session, 1852.

[Abridged from the Patriot.]

WEDNESDAY, Dec. 29.

SENATE.—The Senate resumed the consideration of the bill to facilitate and render less expensive trials by jury; the question being upon its indefinite postponement.

A debate ensued, which was participated in by Mr. Wells in favor of postponing, and Messrs. Woodbury, Williamson, Bennett and Rix in opposition.

The question was taken, and resulted, yeas 4, nays 8. So the Senate refused to postpone.

The bill and amendments were then recommitted to the Judiciary committee, and the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE.—Mr. Knowlton of Hopkinton, from the committee on Manufactures, reported the bill relating to the inspection of flour and meal, with certain amendments. On motion of Mr. Bartlett of Portsmouth, the bill and amendments were laid on the table.

Union of Concord and Claremont and N. H. Central Railroads.—Mr. Hackett of Portsmouth, from the committee on Railroads, reported the bill to unite the Concord and Claremont and N. H. Central Railroads in one corporation, under the title of the Merrimack and Connecticut River Railroad Company, with certain amendments thereto.

Mr. Bartlett of Portsmouth moved that the bill be laid on the table, the amendments printed, and distributed; and that Tuesday next at half past 11, be specially assigned for the consideration of the same. The House assented.

In the afternoon the vote was reconsidered, and made the special order for Thursday P. M.

State Laws.— The following Resolution passed.

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Court convened, That the report of the Commissioners appointed in pursuance of a resolution passed at the last session of the Legislature, to compile the laws, with the accompanying papers, be recommitted to the same committee, with instructions to proceed with the compilation, and include therein the acts of the present session, and report on the first day of the meeting of the next Legislature.

Liquor Law.—This was debated, (Mr. Bartlett of Portsmouth in the chair) by Messrs. Sargent, against the law, and Abbott and Pike in favor.

The Prometheus, arr. at New York, brings dates one day later from California, but there is no news of importance.

☞ A Committee of Spiritualists met in Boston, on Wednesday, and remained in session yesterday. They "call spirits from the vasty deep"—and "they come"—or something comes, or raps, or writes.

The police of Montreal recently visited the baking establishments of that city, and seized about three hundred and fifty loaves, short of their full weight, which have been distributed amongst the poor of the city.

LATEST NEWS!

BY MAIL, EXPRESS & TELEGRAPH.

Special Correspondence of the Chronicle.

LIQUOR BILL POSTPONED.

CONCORD, Dec. 30.

In the House of Representatives to-day, the Liquor Bill was indefinitely postponed by a vote of 147 to 128.

NEGOTIATIONS WITH ENGLAND.—New York, Dec. 30.—A telegraphic despatch from Washington states that the negotiations between Messrs. Everett and Crampton on the fishery question, have resulted in the draft of a treaty, and that it now requires to be sanctioned by the British Parliament to make it complete, so far as England is concerned; after that it will be submitted to the consideration of the Senate of the United States for rejection or ratification.

It is also stated that the question between this Government and the Hudson's Bay Company has been taken up by Mr. Everett.

WASHINGTON, DEC. 30.—The Secretary of the Treasury will send in by about New Year's day his estimate of the revenue from the Customs, from June 13th, 1853, to June, 1851. It is said the estimate will be from 48,000,000 to $50,000,000.

The Department of State has given official notice that by a recent decree of the king of the two Sicilies, colored cotton goods imported at Messina for consumption, are exempt from entrance duties.

FIRE.—New York, Dec. 80.—The rosin oil factory of S. P. Higgins, in South Brooklyn, was burnt yesterday, together with a considerable amount of stock. Loss about $5000; partially insured.

BROADWAY RAILROAD.—New York, Dec. 30.—The Board of Aldermen, last evening, notwithstanding the veto of the Mayor, and the injunction granted by Judge Campbell, adhered to their former action in the matter giving permission to Jacob Sharp to construct a railroad in Broadway.

ANOTHER DECISION AGAINST THE MAINE LAW.—The Boston Journal states that in the U. S. Superior Court in Washington, last week, Judge Curtis delivered an opinion to the effect that the liquor law as passed by the Rhode Island Legislature, is unconstitutional. The opinion will shortly be published.

Per Contra.—The Boston Courier pronounces the statement incorrect—deems it likely Judge Curtis entertains such an opinion—but says he has had no opportunity to give it at Washington. The statement is at least premature.

BURNING OF THE SOUTH BOSTON GLASS WORKS.—On Wednesday evening last, two or three cheap wooden structures connected with the American Glass Works, at South Boston, were destroyed by fire. The packing-room, cutting-house, and pot-room, were entirely consumed, nothing but the chimneys being left standing. The loss is estimated at $30,000, which includes stock, machinery, &c. Insurance on the property for the full amount of the estimated loss was effected recently.

LIFE IN CALIFORNIA.

The State Journal is informed by Mr. Samuel Chase, just arrived in Sacramento from Weaverville and Shasta, that flour is selling from 50 to 55 cents per pound, and in the vicinity of Yreka at 80 and 90 cents; that in this region snow is from two to three feet deep, several mule trains having suffered much loss thereby. Owing to the weather, which he reports bad, the miners are not doing so well as formerly, and feel most sensibly the present high price of provisions.

The Downieville Mountain Echo, says:—Snow is four feet deep in the mountains. Wood is twenty dollars a cord, and cold as blazes. [Rather a bad phrase. "Cold as charity" is better.] Flour is scarce, and selling at 40 cents per pound. We are compelled to give one dollar for a small loaf. Beef is selling at 35 cents per pound. We hope that a few mule loads may arrive soon from below, for prices of provisions are fairly above living prices.

MONEY AND BUSINESS.—The Bangor Courier says,

There are thirty millions of dollars in specie in circulation in this country, over that of last year. There is no panic in any department of the general business of the country. The shipping interest is now very profitable, and there is a sufficient demand to quicken the building of more vessels. There is a healthy demand for manufactures, and that kind of stock now pays well and is in demand and rising in value. There is no glut in the agricultural market, and the products of the farm bear a good price. The railroad and other stocks are rising in value, and there is unbounded confidence in the essential paying value of railroad stocks. The holders of capital are seeking investment in real estate, and great changes have recently taken place in the ownership of real estate in New York, in Portland, and other cities. There can be no question, we think, that real estate will generally rise considerably above the present figure.

"J. S. P." begins his letters from Washington, this winter, with the following sentence:—

"The last session was spent principally in preparing for the Presidential contest, and this will be mainly occupied in disposing of its fruits." The history of the two sessions of Congress, in three lines!

RAPID TRAVELLING.—The express which left Boston Sunday, to carry the British steamer's mails South, ran to Springfield, 100 miles, in one hour and fifty-five minutes—which is probably the quickest time ever made by a locomotive on any of our railroads.—It arrived in New York in six hours, and the mails reached Washington at 10 o'clock on Monday.

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS

With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,

No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IN 1849 the subscriber was appointed Agent of the United States Patent Office, in accordance with the 10th section of the Act of 1837.

Having relinquished the agency for the transmission of models, and adopting a more expeditious mode of sending them to the Patent Office, whereby a Patent can be procured several weeks earlier, he continues to forward them, as before, free of expense, and to prepare Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all the necessary Papers and Drawings for Patents, and to render advice on legal and scientific matters respecting the same. Patents secured in Europe.

The subscriber aims to present to inventors superior facilities for obtaining patents; and is now prepared to make Searches at the Patent Office for ten to twenty per cent. than those of other agencies. They can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and those who have employed him, will attest the skill, fidelity, and success.

Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"PATENT OFFICE, ———

"R. H. EDDY, Esq., Boston, Mass.

"SIR:—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any other agent. I am very respectfully,
Yours, &c. THOMAS EWBANK,
Commissioner of Patents."

THE IMPROVED

EMPIRE STATE STOVE.

THIS justly celebrated COOKING STOVE having been improved in every way it could be to make its operations more complete, and its plates beautifully ornamented—no expense, time or trouble having been spared to make this the most complete Cooking Stove ever brought before the public—the subscriber feels assured in presenting the IMPROVED EMPIRE STATE superior to any stove in the market, as hundreds can testify who have used them for the past year.

This Stove has a very LARGE OVEN, which makes it desirable on account of doing more cooking with the same amount of fuel than can be done in any other stove. The flues are large, which ensures a good draft in all cases. The castings are very heavy and smooth, and those parts that come next the fire are extra thick, making it very durable. It is adapted to the use of either coal or wood, and we warrant them to operate as well with one as the other. We furnish them with the very best apparatus for using both, and it is the MOST DURABLE, ECONOMICAL and CONVENIENT COOKING STOVE ever made—complete in every respect. We ask the attention of all persons intending to purchase a new, or exchange their old stove, to an examination of the Improved Empire State.

We have also on hand a variety of other Cooking Stoves, called the "Banner," "Belle of the States," "Star of the States," "Bay State," "Anglo Saxon," "Pearl of Troy," &c.; with a large lot of PARLOR STOVES, such as the Revere Air-Tight, Star, Revere Parlor Cook, Lady Franklin, for Wood or Coal; Shop, Office and Air-Tight Stoves, of different sizes and prices for either wood or coal.

Also an extensive assortment of HOUSEKEEPING GOODS; Wooden, Willow, Glass, Britannia, Japan, Tin, Hard, Enamel, and Brass Ware; Copper, Cast Iron, and Chain Pumps; Window-Shads, Table Oil-cloths, &c.

All the above goods will be sold lower than can be bought elsewhere in this vicinity.
